Drowning Prompts Study Of Cascade Reservoir Issues

Proposed Solutions Range From Drainage To Off-Limit Posting

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A grim group of 17 Mill Valley residents and six top city officials, shaken by the drowning Wednesday of a 12-year-old San Franciscan, last night discussed problems at Cascade Reservoir with solutions ranging from draining the popular reservoir to putting it completely off limits to the public.

It appeared that two almost certain results of the meeting will include placement of a full-time police guard at the reservoir and establishment of tow-away zones on roads near it.

Mill Valley Mayor Dean N. Meyer indicated that the added policeman and other proposals on Cascade would be discussed at the city council's session at 8 p.m. Monday at the golf clubhouse.

Last night's informal meeting had been scheduled by Meyer to discuss residents' complaints of illegal swimming, camping, nude bathing, litter, parking and other problems before the drowning of Francis Crow of San Francisco Wednesday afternoon.

Meyer, who termed the drowning "disappointing," stressed to the residents that the city repeatedly has put up signs and barricades to bar swimming at the reservoir only to have them torn down and destroyed.

"We're on the borderline of saying 'drain it,' " he said. "The fire hazard is the only problem that's kept us from that. If not from that, I'd say to heck with it as a passive recreation area; it's too much of a problem."

Earlier, Asst. Fire Chief Joseph Regalia said that a water line from the reservoir is the only line in the Cascade Drive-Lovel Avenue area around the reservoir that supplies enough

Suppression Asked On Cascade Hearing

Newly elected Mill Valley School District Trustee John G. Eliot Jr. last night asked the Independent-Journal and the Mill Valley Record "as a personal courtesy" to suppress reports of a meeting with city officials on problems at Cascade Reservoir.

Eliot said press reports of remarks he made at a city council meeting last fall, during which he decried "wine and pot parties . . . fornication in broad daylight . . . obscenities yelled at women and children," resulted in more young people flocking to the popular reservoir.

He said he feared making last night's discussions public would result in the same thing.

Attending last night's meeting, less than 24 hours after the death by drowning of a San Francisco youth in the reservoir, were 17 reservoir area residents and six top city officials.

The officials were Mayor Dean N. Meyer, Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, new City Mgr. William Cunningham, Police Chief Dan Terzich, Asst. Fire Chief Joseph Regalia and Donald Dimitratos, parks and recreation director.

Eliot, elected to the school board in April, made the request after 75 minutes of discussion, saying that the meeting was supposed to have been an "informal" one between concerned citizens and city officials. No public announcement of the time or place of the meeting had been made.

Eliot was joined in his request that no reports be published by David Birenbaum of 524 Cascade Drive.

Meyer, who called the meeting, told Eliot and Birenbaum he felt the press could be trusted to provide "sober" reports of the meeting.

Reporters for the I-J and the Record did not reply to Eliot's request or comments.

Ecuador Nabs Seven U.S. Tuna Boats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven U. S. fishing boats were seized by Ecuador this morning and are being taken into Ecuadorian ports, according to preliminary reports received here.

One of the American vessels was fired upon by the Ecuadorians, industry-connected sources said.

The State Department immediately began checking into the affair. Initial reports came from radio dispatches from the vessels.

At San Diego, the American Tunaboat Association said six— rather than seven — U.S. tuna boats were shot at and seized by a patrol boat from Ecuador for allegedly violating Ecuador's territorial waters.

The latest incident comes on the heels of a running argument with Ecuador, Peru and some other Latin American countries on fishing off Latin American shores, and the first seizure by Ecuador since the capture of the Day Island Dec. 10.

Hayakawa Predicts College Changes

By DAVID DIETZ

SAN FRANCISCO — The only commotion at San Francisco State College now is the rat-tat-tat of construction on new facilities. At the eastern fringe of the campus, a new life biology-science building and an addition to the library are being erected, while at the opposite end new residence halls are going up.

Elsewhere, the scene is peaceful. A miniskirted coed waits alone for a street car outside the main college entrance on 19th Avenue. In a faculty parking lot, a pipe-smoking campus policeman leisurely tickets an illegally parked car. A music student crosses Holloway Avenue unsteadily, a cumbersome bass in his arms.

The only vivid reminders of the riotous campus scene seven months ago are militant exhortations swirled in green spray paint on a wooden fence outside the administration building. Gone are the blue-helmeted police and the bustling knots of demonstrators, the fights with fists, clubs and stones, the bombings and the struck classes.

The violent student strike ended in a negotiated truce last April. San Francisco State has been quiet since then — and Mill Valley's S. I. Hayakawa, acting college president, believes it will stay that way.

"It looks now as if the college will be considerably deradicalized," he said, looking ahead to a new term in the fall. "I think we'll have a quieter campus and a firmer sense of purpose."

Hayakawa explained that moderates had won control of the Academic Senate and that representatives of "nonviolent and independent" parties had defeated all militant comers in the May student body elections.

"For three administrations before mine, the Academic Senate had reduced the president's powers to the point where the college had almost become a rudderless ship," Hayakawa said. "Now the majority of the faculty that believes the central admininstration should have the power to guide the ship as established a majority in the senate.

"Also, for the first time in years, we've had student body elections of unimpeachable honesty supervised by outside, professional poll watchers. This resulted in a complete sweep for the SAT (nonviolent) and independent parties with not one Power to the People candidate being elected to student office."

Hayakawa said about 12 to 15 per cent of the student body voted — which he considered an average turnout.

If Hayakawa and the militant Black Student Union and Third World Liberation Front groups are to clash again this fall, it probably will be over one of these issues: rehiring of Nathan Hare, controversial sociologist who was to have headed the black studies department; admittance of more minority students and elimination of the Air

Strike Sanction Won By County Probation And Social Workers

The executive board of the Marin Central Labor Council last night voted unanimous strike sanction for Marin County's probation and social workers, if a new contract is not signed with the county by July 1.

Randall Serrurier, field representative for the county's 57 social workers and 63 probation workers, said the strike sanction means Marin labor organizations would honor picket lines if the probation and social workers decide to strike. Workers on the Hall of Justice building and the memorial auditorium at the Civic Center would stop working, said Serrurier.

Serrurier expressed hope that bargaining between the county and the Probation and Social Workers Union, Local 535, AFL-CIO, would make progress between now and July 1. The present agreement expires June 30. He noted that the old contract could be extended into the new fiscal year by mutual consent, if real progress was being made in the negotiations.

The main bottleneck in the negotiations is caseload limits said Serrurier. He said four-week vacations also is an issue, but not a main one.

County Administrator Alan Bruce and members of the county negotiating team attended last night's meeting of the Central Labor council executive board, at the invitation of the board.

Bruce argued that a strike sanction should bedeferred since the unions and the county are in the midst of bargaining. At the time he left the meeting last night, Bruce said no vote had been taken.

When informed this morning that the strike sanction had been voted, the county administrator said he was "not alarmed."

"I would view it simply as a normal precaution by two union chapters (probation and social workers) as the termination of both contracts get closer. We will continue to bargain in good faith to a satisfactory conclusion."

Bruce said the county was willing to call in, jointly with the unions, a state mediator or conciliator if necessary. The county is also willing to extend the old contract for a reasonable period beyond July 1, said Bruce.

Nixon Eyes New Pullout Of 260,000

New Viet Timetable Extends Through '70

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon holds out hope for a war-ending timetable that could see more than 260,000 U.S. combat troops withdrawn from Vietnam by the end of 1970.

At his nationally televised 32-minute news conference last night, Nixon acknowledged however that there still remains a "long hard road" to an honorable peace and noted there has been no encouraging enemy response to his announcement that 25,000 American fighting men would be pulled out of Vietnam this summer. (See other Nixon stories, page 3.)

Nixon spoke of withdrawing all U.S. ground combat forces before the end of next year if peace prospects brighten and the communists show any indication of a reciprocal withdrawal.

A Defense Department spokesman said today the ground combat forces referred to by the President would amount to approximately 60 per cent of the Army and Marine manpower in Vietnam. As of June 14, the Army listed 358,000 men in the fighting zone and the Marines had 81,000.

Sixty per cent of that total would be 263,400 ground combat men.

Regents Finance Unit Backs Housing Plan

BERKELEY (UPI) — A committee of the University of California board of Regents will not support leasing of the People's Park area to the city of Berkeley.

Instead, the committee on grounds and building voted yesterday to recommend development of the controversial 2.3-acre area into student residential housing "as expeditiously as possible."

Construction still won't start on such housing for at least a year, however, and the committee left undecided what interim use would be made of the property.

The interim use was called "crucial" by both U.C. President Charles J. Hitch and Berkeley Chancellor Roger Heyns.

At a meeting today, the regents' finance committee adopted a motion declaring construction of the housing to be financially feasible. The full board of regents was to meet later in the day, and Gov. Ronald Reagan arrived to participate.

The nine-member grounds and building committee rejected Hitch's recommendation to lease the area to the City of Berkeley for seven years, with a one-year cancellation clause. The vote was 5-3 against with one abstention.

An alternate proposal to lease the land to the city for 18 months while the university got ready to construct housing was narrowly defeated 4-4 with one abstention.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke then proposed swift construction with a parking lot and university-run park for the university community sharing the area in the interim. It lost, 7-2.

Finally, regent De Witt Higgs

Hoffa Trial Key Witness Is Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward Grady Partin, the key government witness at the trial of Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of conspiring with three Louisiana concrete suppliers to monopolize trade in concrete products.

Partin and Ted F. Dunham Jr., an officer of the three firms, were also charged with extortion.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the five-count indictment, returned in U. S. district court in New Orleans, charged the two men, the companies and unnamed co-conspirators with conspiring since early 1966 to force industrial purchasers of concrete products to buy exclusively from the Dunham companies.

Police Chief Admits Rifle Unauthorized In Park Feud

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Berkeley Police Chief Bruce Baker acknowledges that one of his men carried an unauthorized high-powered rifle in the May 15 battle of the People's Park, the San Francisco Chronicle said in a copyright story today.

Baker declined to name the officer, who wore badge 101, saying "discipline is an internal matter" and "that is the way it will be handled in this case."

Baker said the case has been under investigation since June 10, when a photograph of the officer holding the rifle was brought to his attention.

The rifle was identified as a 30-40 Krag-Jorgensen, which is extra-powerful and not included in the Berkeley police arsenal. There was no reason to believe the officer had fired it, Baker said.

The Chronicle said that according to the photographer, whom it did not name, the picture was taken at 1:30 p.m. at Telegraph Avenue and Parker Street, shortly after the street fighting began.

Baker refused to say what punishment would be meted the officer, but said it could be anything from "advice given" to outright dismissal.

Baker said results of the investigation would be reported to the Berkeley-Albany chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, which supplied the picture to him.

Sniper Atop Bridge Keeps Police At Bay

PITTSBURGH (AP) — While his mother watched on television, a young student stood atop a downtown bridge for more than an hour shooting at police. Then he critically wounded himself in the head with a pistol.

Robert Michniak, 22, described by his mother as quiet, withdrawn and often nervous, climbed nearly 100 feet to the top of the span yesterday and fired four shots into the air. Police were called.

For 75 minutes, as police crouched in doorways and behind cars and armored trucks and hundreds of spectators stood behind barricades three blocks away, Michniak held his perch.

Three patrolmen wearing bulletproof vests and helmets cautiously made their way up an aerial ladder and found him lying on the beam.

"He was lying there and moaning," said Patrolman Dan Butler. "He said his head hurt."

Michniak was taken to Allegheny General Hospital where he underwent brain surgery. Doctors said his condition was serious.

Conservatives Claim Victory

DUBLIN (AP) — Prime Minister Jack Lynch's conservative Fianna Fail party appeared today to have won a razor-thin majority in Ireland's parliamentary elections. Lynch called it "a great victory."

Lynch

With 17 of the 143 contested seats still undecided, the Fianna Fail—Soldiers of Destiny—held 66 seats in the Dail, the lower house of Parliament. The Centrist Fine Gael—Irish party—had captured 44 seats, and the leftist Labor party won 16.

The vote confounded politicians and writers who had predicted that Lynch's party would lose its two-seat edge in the Dail and said the prime minister would have to form a minority government or call for new elections in the fall.

Crusade Popular

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 156,000 persons have flocked to Billy Graham's New York Crusade since it opened a week ago.

They come to Madison Square Garden in an average of 200 chartered buses each night, and by car, subway and the trains which rumble into Penn Station in the basement of the Garden.

Although 95 per cent come from the metropolitan area, there have been delegations from 10 states. One group came from London.

Soviet Proposal

CAIRO (AP) — A close confidant of President Gamal Abdel Nasser said today the Soviet Union soon will present counter-proposals to a 13-point U. S. peace plan for the Middle East.

Muhammad Hassanein Heikal, editor fo the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram, said Nasser discussed the proposals with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrie A. Gromyko during his four-day visit to Cairo last week.

Japanese Quake

TOKYO (AP) — A fairly strong earthquake shook wide areas of southern Hokkaido and northeastern Honshu, two major Japanese islands, today. The Central Meteorological Agency said there were no reports of damage.

More Testimony

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — Three more withesses testified today that the Australian carrier Melbourne was not fully lighted when she sliced into the U. S. destroyer Frank E. Evans before dawn on June 3 in the South China Sea.

Lt. John L. Clarke, commander of the Melbourne's 816 aircraft squadron, said he was on the flight deck four minutes before the collision and could not recall any lights on the ship other than spotlights on the center section of the flight deck.

Similar testimony was given by Lt. Cmdr. Colin J. Patterson, the Melbourne's flight deck officer, and by Sub-Lieutenant Brian S. Twyman, officer of the watch of the New Zealand destroyer Blackpool.

Twyman also also said the U. S. destroyer replied "rather later than I expected to the Melbourne's message that the two ships were on a collision course."

Gear For Riots

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Herbert Klein, communications director of the Nixon administration, says the Army and Justice Department have detailed plans to help handle any disorder this summer in American cities.

Klein said yesterday the Army has trained troops specifically to cope with outbreaks of violence and the Justice Department has formed trouble-shooting teams of lawyers and social workers to cool down community tensions which could grow into riots.

Klein told the Los Angeles chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, "The Army must be looked upon as a last resort," to be called on only if local and state officials are unable to handle a disorder.

Rhodesians Voting

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesians began voting today on a final break with Britain and constitutional changes that would entrench white supremacy into the middle of the next century. The predominantly white electorate was expected to say "yes" to both.

Press Squeeze

SAIGON (AP) — Publishers of daily newspapers in South Vietnam must submit three copies of each issue to the government two hours before they go on sale, the Information Ministry announced today.

A spokesman said if an issue contains articles "harmful to the national policy or helpful to the Communist cause," it could be confiscated and the publisher charged with violateion of the government press code.

To Be Retired

VALLEJO (AP — The oldest U. S. Navy submarine on active duty — which is also the first to fire a guided missile is scheduled to return to Mare Island Sunday for retirement.

The USS Tunny, built and commissioned at Mare Island in 1942, is returning from operations in Southeast Asia where she operated as a transport submarine.

Built as a fleet type submarine, the Tunny became the first submarine to fire a missile when she launched a Regulus guided missile in 1953.

The Aral Sea is an inland lake in the Soviet Union.

Air Traffic Controllers Back On Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congestion crisis that threatened chaos at key airports around the country on one of their busiest days apparently ended this morning with the settlement of a dispute resulting from air controllers' complaints of being overworked and undermanned.

F. Lee Bailey, attorney for the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, signaled an end to the dispute when he said this morning the group had urged its members to return to work on a normal basis.

BEGAN YESTERDAY

The controllers either called in sick in unusually high numbers yesterday or applied Federal Aviation Administration safety rules so strictly that planes were up to four hours behind schedule and airlines canceled flights.

Bailey, reached at his Boston home, said it would be misleading to say an agreement had been reached between the FAA and PATCO, since that "implies some organized effort to have the controllers not show up."

But he said the association had urged the men to go back to work following a four-hour meeting last night in Washington between PATCO officials and the FAA in which some understandings had been reached over basic controller complaints.

BACK AT POSTS

Airports around the country reported controllers were showing up to work in usual numbers and operations were returning to normal following Bailey's sending out word the dispute was over.

"People who have been calling in asking for sick leave have suddenly gotten well," a supervisor at the air traffic control center for the Chicago area reported.

The controllers have been demanding more help, improved working conditions and better career opportunities. Bailey said the FAA had agreed to consider these problems.

FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer said today he was pleased with the controllers' action.

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — Cancellation of the Manned Orbiting Laboratory (MOL) program has left the Air Force with the problem of what to do with more than $1 billion in space hardware and 14 highly trained astronauts.

The $3 billion program was dropped in an economy move that Defense Department officials said saved more than $1.5 billion but there was no accounting of the money spent over the past five years.

Most of this, an amount estimated at more than $1 billion, was for an undisclosed number of huge Titan 3M boosters and satellits already built or on order.

What's going to happen to all that hardware; to the men that hardware was to carry into space, and to $30 million in launch facilities, now 90 per cent complete?

Air Force spokesmen say the launch facilities, which were to begin hurling two-man crews aloft on science-and-surveillance missions in 1971, will be finished on schedule in September because they would have to be paid for anyway. But beyond that there are no official answers.

When completed the MOL launch probably won't stand idle long. It can be used, with little modification, to fire unmanned space-spy craft that would perform much the same function as the MOL.

Plans called for the 10-by-49-foot MOL to have a pressurized 14-foot-long section capable of housing two-man crews in orbit for 30 days. This section now can be filled with automatic cameras and sensors instead of life-supporting equipment.

The launch complex's 315-foot gantry was built to handle future rockets far bigger than the 170-foot Titan 3M-MOL combination. Engineering for these so-called "maximum growth vehicles" is continuing and presumably they will be fired—unmanned—when developed.

Ten miles north of the launch pad are a $1.3 million MOL administration building and a $1.6 million medical and training structure. These are on the main base and could be adapted for much-needed office space.

Largely wasted, however, will be a $333,000 astronaut motel, also on the main base—43-by-209-foot structure, complete with two-story handball court, which would have housed four teams of two astronauts each during the final days before launch. Because of its unusual design—four two-bedroom suites with a common kitchen and dining room—no alternate use has been envisioned.

Homosexuality Study In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —An official of the Institute for Sex Research, commonly known as the Kinsey Institute, began work here today on a three-year study of homosexuality.

Thomas Maurer, field director for the $575,000 project, began lining up candidates for 1,600 interviews, each of which will last two hours and involve 300 questions.

Police Chief Admits Rifle Unauthorized In Park Feud

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Berkeley Police Chief Bruce Baker acknowledges that one of his men carried an unauthorized high-powered rifle in the May 15 battle of the People's Park, the San Francisco Chronicle said in a copyright story today.

Baker declined to name the officer, who wore badge 101, saying "discipline is an internal matter" and "that is the way it will be handled in this case."

Baker said the case has been under investigation since June 10, when a photograph of the officer holding the rifle was brought to his attention.

The rifle was identified as a 30-40 Krag-Jorgensen, which is extra-powerful and not included in the Berkeley police arsenal. There was no reason to believe the officer had fired it, Baker said.

The Chronicle said that according to the photographer, whom it did not name, the picture was taken at 1:30 p.m. at Telegraph Avenue and Parker Street, shortly after the street fighting began.

Baker refused to say what punishment would be meted the officer, but said it could be anything from "advice given" to outright dismissal.

Baker said results of the investigation would be reported to the Berkeley-Albany chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, which supplied the picture to him.

Sniper Atop Bridge Keeps Police At Bay

PITTSBURGH (AP) — While his mother watched on television, a young student stood atop a downtown bridge for more than an hour shooting at police. Then he critically wounded himself in the head with a pistol.

Robert Michniak, 22, described by his mother as quiet, withdrawn and often nervous, climbed nearly 100 feet to the top of the span yesterday and fired four shots into the air. Police were called.

For 75 minutes, as police crouched in doorways and behind cars and armored trucks and hundreds of spectators stood behind barricades three blocks away, Michniak held his perch.

Three patrolmen wearing bulletproof vests and helmets cautiously made their way up an aerial ladder and found him lying on the beam.

"He was lying there and moaning," said Patrolman Dan Butler. "He said his head hurt."

Michniak was taken to Allegheny General Hospital where he underwent brain surgery. Doctors said his condition was serious.

Rockefeller Revises Tour In Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) tended his visit to Paraguay one day, until tomorrow and agreed to a change of destination in Uruguay, his next stop, because of threatened demonstrations there.

After a week of clashes between police and students in Montevideo, Uruguayan officials announced Rockefeller would bypass their capital and fly to the secluded resort of Punta del Este for his talks with President Jorge Pacheco Areco.

Rockefeller was to meet today with President Alfredo Stroessner of Paraguay, who has prepared a request for $115 million in long-term American loans for Rockefeller to take back to President Nixon.

The New York governor arrived to a warm welcome at Asuncion airport yesterday where several thousand persons cheered him. Rockefeller told them he was "encantado"—very pleased—then went over to shake hands with a crowd in a roped off area.

But some Paraguayan students said they will try to stage a demonstration before Rockefeller leaves.

In Montevideo today terrorists attacked a General Motors building, setting fire to the structure and causing damage estimated at $1 million.

Police said two persons dressed as police officers and armed with machine guns tied up two watchmen at the suburban G.M. center, then sprayed offices and automobiles with a hose attached to a gasoline pump.

Most of the offices in the building and at least six automobiles were reported destroyed by the time firemen arrived.

Motorcyclist Suffers Scrapes And Bruises

James Watson, 24, of 10 McCoy Road, San Rafael, was treated for scrapes and bruises on the right knee at Marin General Hospital after his motorcycle was hit by a car driven by Joseph Ray Schuerman, 26, of 326 Mission Street, San Rafael.

SAYS RFK ISSUED ORDER

Nixon Backs FBI Chief In King Wiretap

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon says he "checked personally" and found that Robert F. Kennedy as attorney general did authorize FBI wiretapping of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s telephone. (Story on Nixon and Vietnam, page 1.)

Nixon interjected himself into the growing dispute over the tapping of the slain civil rights leader's phone at his yesterday news conference when he came out in support of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who claims Kennedy not only authorized the King surveillance, but originated the idea.

But the two men who succeeded Kennedy as attorney general accused Hoover and the FBI of making unfair attacks on the two slain men.

The controversy over wiretapping took on a new dimension when The Washington Evening Star reported in a copyright story yesterday that Hoover had disclosed contents of two memorandums, one saying Kennedy had expressed concern about reports that King was a student of Marxism and was associating with a New York man with known Communist connections.

Courtney Evans, then assistant director for the FBI and liaison man with the Justice Department, wrote the memorandum to Hoover in June 1963, The Star said. According to the article, Evans reported the substance of a conversation in which Kennedy expressed concern about possible infiltration of the civil rights movement by Marxists, and asked about the feasibility of installing electronic devices on King's telephones.

Hoover was quoted by the Star as saying FBI officials at that time advised against electronic surveillance of King because of possible political repercussions.

The FBI later informed Kennedy it would be feasible to tap King's telephones at the headquarters of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Atlanta, Ga., and at a New York location. The Star said a notation on this memorandum to Kennedy indicated it had been signed by the attorney general Oct. 10, 1963, and this was cited by Hoover as authorization for the wiretapping.

"I found that it had also been approved by the attorney general, as Mr. Hoover testified in 1964 and 1965," Nixon said. "As far as this administration is concerned, our attitude toward electronic surveillance is that it should be used very sparingly, very carefully, having in mind the right of those who might be involved, but very effectively to protect the internal and external security of the United States."

As Nixon was backing Hoover, former attorneys general Ramsey Clark and Nicholas Katzenbach issued statements criticizing the FBI for saying the wiretap idea originated in Kennedy's office.

"Mr. Hoover's statement that Robert F. Kennedy proposed the FBI wiretapping of Dr. Martin Luther King is unfair and deceptive," Clark said. "It is unfair because it comes after Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King have been murdered in the service of humanity and are unable to defend themselves. The truth of the matter cannot be derived through release of selected materials from FBI files."

Clark said it also is deceptive to depict Hoover as a reluctant eavesdropper.

FINCH'S WORRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has tossed back his old friend Robert H. Finch the decision—and possible embarrassment—of a final decision on who will be the nation's top health officer.

Nixon, in his news conference last night, reaffirmed that Finch will have the final say on whether or not to nominate Dr. John H. Knowles, director of the Massachusetts General Hospital, as assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"I will not have to intervene," Nixon said, "Because Mr. Finch will make a decision on that next week."

The answer, inadvertently or not, had the effect of miring Finch, the man who managed two of Nixon's political campaigns and came into the Cabinet regarded as the President's closest adviser, deeper into one of the administration's most troublesome political problems.

Nixon's answer passed back to the welfare secretary a question Finch already has answered. He wants Knowles, a backer of universal health care who is opposed by the American Medical Association and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

LAW-ORDER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative victories in recent municipal elections mean the American people are fed up with violence and lawlessness, according to President Nixon, who made law and order a major issue of his campaign for the White House.

When asked at his news conference yesterday how he assessed elections in New York City, Los Angeles and Minneapolis in which generally conservative candidates won, Nixon said:

"This is the message that comes through rather loud and clear from these elections:

"The American people in our cities, in our small towns and in this country are fed up to here with violence and lawlessness and they want candidates who will take a strong stand against." He emphasized his point by pointing to his adam's apple.

The President also said he endorses the bid by conservative Republican John Marchi over John V. Lindsay for mayor of New York.

UNLUCKY AGAIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, went out to the baseball park for the third time last night — and for the third time watched the hometown Senators lose.

The Baltimore Orioles had two men on with no outs—and the game was scoreless—when the President, his daughter Julie and her husband David Eisenhower arrived at the top of the eighth inning.

On the next pitch, Baltimore's Frank Robinson bounced a grounder to Senators' shortstop Ed Brinkman who went for the double play as Don Buford scored from the third with the first run. The Orioles scored again in the ninth inning to make the final tally 2-0.

BRIEFING LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says former President Lyndon B. Johnson is being "regularly briefed" by top-level security and economic advisers.

He said these briefings "have provided an occasion for him to give his ideas to us. He had been very helpful in terms of advice and I think he will be more helpful in the future."

Nixon said at his news conference yesterday, he personally has talked to Johnson on two occasions. He said the other briefings have been by Henry Kissinger, Nixon's assistant for national security affairs; members of the National Security Council and "by our economic advisers."

SMALL SLIP

It came during a response yesterday to whether he sees anything useful coming from the governor's mission to Latin America.

"A great deal of usefulness," the President answered.

"For example, in my conversations with President Lleras, the talking paper that President—Governor Rockefeller; a Freudian slip—the talking papers that Governor Rockefeller gave me was extremely helpful . . . because it gave me the background of his conversation with President Lleras . . ."

Rockefeller Revises Tour In Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) tended his visit to Paraguay one day, until tomorrow and agreed to a change of destination in Uruguay, his next stop, because of threatened demonstrations there.

After a week of clashes between police and students in Montevideo, Uruguayan officials announced Rockefeller would bypass their capital and fly to the secluded resort of Punta del Este for his talks with President Jorge Pacheco Areco.

Rockefeller was to meet today with President Alfredo Stroessner of Paraguay, who has prepared a request for $115 million in long-term American loans for Rockefeller to take back to President Nixon.

The New York governor arrived to a warm welcome at Asuncion airport yesterday where several thousand persons cheered him. Rockefeller told them he was "encantado"—very pleased—then went over to shake hands with a crowd in a roped off area.

But some Paraguayan students said they will try to stage a demonstration before Rockefeller leaves.

In Montevideo today terrorists attacked a General Motors building, setting fire to the structure and causing damage estimated at $1 million.

Police said two persons dressed as police officers and armed with machine guns tied up two watchmen at the suburban G.M. center, then sprayed offices and automobiles with a hose attached to a gasoline pump.

Most of the offices in the building and at least six automobiles were reported destroyed by the time firemen arrived.

Motorcyclist Suffers Scrapes And Bruises

James Watson, 24, of 10 McCoy Road, San Rafael, was treated for scrapes and bruises on the right knee at Marin General Hospital after his motorcycle was hit by a car driven by Joseph Ray Schuerman, 26, of 326 Mission Street, San Rafael.

SAYS RFK ISSUED ORDER

Nixon Backs FBI Chief In King Wiretap

Nixon interjected himself into the growing dispute over the tapping of the slain civil rights leader's phone at his yesterday news conference when he came out in support of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who claims Kennedy not only authorized the King surveillance, but originated the idea.

But the two men who succeeded Kennedy as attorney general accused Hoover and the FBI of making unfair attacks on the two slain men.

The controversy over wiretapping took on a new dimension when The Washington Evening Star reported in a copyright story yesterday that Hoover had disclosed contents of two memorandums, one saying Kennedy had expressed concern about reports that King was a student of Marxism and was associating with a New York man with known Communist connections.

Courtney Evans, then assistant director for the FBI and liaison man with the Justice Department, wrote the memorandum to Hoover in June 1963, The Star said. According to the article, Evans reported the substance of a conversation in which Kennedy expressed concern about possible infiltration of the civil rights movement by Marxists, and asked about the feasibility of installing electronic devices on King's telephones.

Hoover was quoted by the Star as saying FBI officials at that time advised against electronic surveillance of King because of possible political repercussions.

The FBI later informed Kennedy it would be feasible to tap King's telephones at the headquarters of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Atlanta, Ga., and at a New York location. The Star said a notation on this memorandum to Kennedy indicated it had been signed by the attorney general Oct. 10, 1963, and this was cited by Hoover as authorization for the wiretapping.

"I found that it had also been approved by the attorney general, as Mr. Hoover testified in 1964 and 1965," Nixon said. "As far as this administration is concerned, our attitude toward electronic surveillance is that it should be used very sparingly, very carefully, having in mind the right of those who might be involved, but very effectively to protect the internal and external security of the United States."

As Nixon was backing Hoover, former attorneys general Ramsey Clark and Nicholas Katzenbach issued statements criticizing the FBI for saying the wiretap idea originated in Kennedy's office.

"Mr. Hoover's statement that Robert F. Kennedy proposed the FBI wiretapping of Dr. Martin Luther King is unfair and deceptive," Clark said. "It is unfair because it comes after Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King have been murdered in the service of humanity and are unable to defend themselves. The truth of the matter cannot be derived through release of selected materials from FBI files."

Clark said it also is deceptive to depict Hoover as a reluctant eavesdropper.

FINCH'S WORRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has tossed back his old friend Robert H. Finch the decision—and possible embarrassment—of a final decision on who will be the nation's top health officer.

Nixon, in his news conference last night, reaffirmed that Finch will have the final say on whether or not to nominate Dr. John H. Knowles, director of the Massachusetts General Hospital, as assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"I will not have to intervene," Nixon said, "Because Mr. Finch will make a decision on that next week."

The answer, inadvertently or not, had the effect of miring Finch, the man who managed two of Nixon's political campaigns and came into the Cabinet regarded as the President's closest adviser, deeper into one of the administration's most troublesome political problems.

Nixon's answer passed back to the welfare secretary a question Finch already has answered. He wants Knowles, a backer of universal health care who is opposed by the American Medical Association and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

LAW-ORDER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative victories in recent municipal elections mean the American people are fed up with violence and lawlessness, according to President Nixon, who made law and order a major issue of his campaign for the White House.

When asked at his news conference yesterday how he assessed elections in New York City, Los Angeles and Minneapolis in which generally conservative candidates won, Nixon said:

"This is the message that comes through rather loud and clear from these elections:

"The American people in our cities, in our small towns and in this country are fed up to here with violence and lawlessness and they want candidates who will take a strong stand against." He emphasized his point by pointing to his adam's apple.

The President also said he endorses the bid by conservative Republican John Marchi over John V. Lindsay for mayor of New York.

UNLUCKY AGAIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, went out to the baseball park for the third time last night — and for the third time watched the hometown Senators lose.

The Baltimore Orioles had two men on with no outs—and the game was scoreless—when the President, his daughter Julie and her husband David Eisenhower arrived at the top of the eighth inning.

On the next pitch, Baltimore's Frank Robinson bounced a grounder to Senators' shortstop Ed Brinkman who went for the double play as Don Buford scored from the third with the first run. The Orioles scored again in the ninth inning to make the final tally 2-0.

BRIEFING LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says former President Lyndon B. Johnson is being "regularly briefed" by top-level security and economic advisers.

He said these briefings "have provided an occasion for him to give his ideas to us. He had been very helpful in terms of advice and I think he will be more helpful in the future."

Nixon said at his news conference yesterday, he personally has talked to Johnson on two occasions. He said the other briefings have been by Henry Kissinger, Nixon's assistant for national security affairs; members of the National Security Council and "by our economic advisers."

Hayakawa Reflects On College's Future

Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Hayakawa informed Hare in April that his one-year contract as an associate professor of sociology would not be renewed after Hare disrupted the college president's spring semester talk to the faculty. Hayakawa remains adamant about Hare's status.

Creation of an autonomous black studies department with faculty and accreditation were at the top of the ten "non-negotiable" demands presented to the college administration by the BSU last fall. When the demands weren't met, the militants struck, to be joined later by members of the American Federation of Teachers.

Hayakawa asserted that a black studies program would have begun with the spring semester and an ethnic studies curriculum would have started this fall if it were not for the strikers.

'Nothing so dramatically illustrates the self-defeating characteristics of the tactics of confrontation and violence than the fact that black and ethnic studies have been delayed at least a year as a result of the student and faculty strikes," Hayakawa said.

Hayakawa also said the program under which 428 underqualified minority students were admitted last year would have to be reduced this fall because of a lack of funds and special tutors and counselors.

He added that the "strike so upset what should have been a carefully conducted program we don't know if it has been successful so far. Many of the special students were being taught by teachers who went on strike. As a result, they gave many of the students As. We don't know which are authentic and which are not.

The militant Students for a Democratic Society seeks to end the ROTC program. Last May, students and the Academic Senate voted to end the ROTC contract. A vote by the faculty, however, favored retaining the program.

Hayakawa also dismisses as "pure poppycock" complaints by minority students that the college program is not relevant to the community.

Citing contributions by the college nursing, physical education and business programs, he said, "The place is full of relevant things."

"No college serves the community more conscientiously than San Francisco State and City College," he contended. "It's because we serve the community so conscientiously that we can be pushed into doing more.

"The better we serve the City of San Francisco and its people and its needs, the better college we're going to be." He said this could not be achieved by believing "radical rhetoric."

"Let them see what we do before they decide whether it's relevant or not," he said.

While Hayakawa's resistance to militant demands has made him unpopular among some students and faculty, his popularity has soared with the public. A recent poll indicated he would be a strong candidate for high political office.

But the vigorous, 62-year-old Hayakawa wants to remain at San Francisco State and has indicated he would like the "acting" dropped from his title.

"It would be a vote of confidence in behalf of the students and faculty who have stayed loyal to their jobs and my policy," he said.

Sausalito Subpoenas

Half of Sausalito's official family was subpoenaed today as restaurateur Sam Zakessian escalated his war on a restaurant under construction next to his.

Zakessian's attorneys subpoenaed the entire city council and city planning commission to appear in Marin Superior Court to show why a writ should not be issued revoking building permits, variances and other city actions allowing construction of the new restaurant in the Edgewater Yacht Sales building at Bridgeway and Turney Street.

But the only city officials on hand were City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, City Clerk Miriam Ansell, and city building inspector William Hynes, who was named in a separate subpoena.

Judge Thomas F. Keating ordered city records and county tax records admitted, but indicated he would grant a delay until next week for the hearing to proceed before another judge. Keating will be on vacation, and he said testimony should be before the judge hearing the case instead of him.

Zakessian's request contends the city acted illegally in issuing permits and a variance for the restaurant.

Jordan and Edgewater's attorney, William Stephens, said the subpoenas were served only this morning and more time was needed to prepare their case.

Marin Robber Is Sentenced

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 48-year-old Menlo Park man was sentenced to five years in a federal prison yesterday by U.S. District Court Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli for the May 23 hold up of the Fidelity Savings and Loan Co. office in Mill Valley.

The robbery netted the bandit, Robert Eugene Waller, $180.

Waller pleaded guilty to the holdup earlier this month. Under terms of the sentence, Waller could be eligible for immediate parole.

The robbery was the first of a Mill Valley financial institution in more than 35 years.

Distracting Dog Figures In Crash

A distracting dog in the front seat caused a 55-year-old motorist to lose control of his car yesterday and crash into two parked autos in San Anselmo, police said.

The driver was identified as David G. Barry of 13 Carlson Avenue, San Anselmo.

Damaged while parked at 292 Redhill Avenue at 9:20 a.m. were the autos of William Bazzetta of 12 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo, and Harold Wagstaff of 472 Montecido Drive, Corte Madera, a councilman in that community.

Vietnam Cruiser Sails Under Gate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The USS Newport News, world's largest heavy cruiser, sailed through the Golden Gate today after a second tour off Vietnam.

The 21,000-ton warship, with a crew of 1,300, is headed for its homeport of Newport News, Va. The ship has been in Vietnam waters six months in its latest tour.

Visitors have been invited to visit the ship at San Francisco Pier 39 over the weekend to view the ship's armament, including guided missile launchers.

pressure to provide adequate fire protection.

"We can't empty it and still have adequate water," Regalia said, adding that cost estimates for adequate new water lines run from $25,000 to $78,000.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, who agreed with Meyer that the reservoir eventually should be drained, suggested that an engineering study be made on fire protection needs and potentials without the reservoir.

The suggestion for a towaway zone was made by Police Chief Dan Terzich and seconded by several residents: "Give us a towaway zone, close the dam at night and we'll take care of it."

He also favored the suggestion for putting a full-time policeman at the reservoir, funds for which are in the 1969-70 budget up for council action Monday night.

Terzich, who read the police report on Crow's drowning at the start of the meeting, listed nine possible solutions for the reservoir which Meyer termed an "attractive nuusance."

The suggestions included draining it, allowing resident parking only, which he said was not feasible; eliminating all parking, setting a sunset to sunrise curfew, declaring it completely out of bounds to the public during the fire season, lowering the water level six to eight feet to make swimming difficult and clearing brush and trees from around the reservoir to make quick police patrols possible.

Terzich emphasized the high danger of fire as the result of the high use of the area by young people — 70 per cent of whom are not from Marin County, he said. He also indicated that his force had other problems, saying that eight arrests for nude swimming at the reservoir last fall were not prosecuted because there were no formal complaints. "Apparently no one's sense of decency was outraged," he said.

During the meeting; John G. Eliot Jr., a newly elected school trustee, who later asked reporters not to print reports of last night's meeting, said residents wanted strict enforcement of existing no-parking regulations.

Although he said the drowning had forced him to change his mind about it, he and others indicated that residents generally do not favor draining or fencing the reservoir.

At one point, George R Stevenson, another reservoir area resident, walked out of the meeting after criticizing the failure to take adequate safety measures at the reservoir.

"We're thinking too much of ourselves and not enough about the little boy — and there could be a lot more like him — down at Russell and Gooch (a funeral home)," he told the group. He said an opponent to fencing the reservoir said last fall it would be fenced "Over my dead body," adding, before striding out, "you've got the body."

The question of the city's legal liability for accidents or deaths at the reservoir was mentioned but Meyer said the matter would have to be studied by the city's attorney.

Mill Valley Man Is Still Held

TOKYO (AP) — Police said today they still were investigating the case of a 50-year-old Mill Valley man taken into custody June 13 after officials said they found he was carrying 62.7 grams of the narcotic hemp.

Officers said Thompson Van Valkenburgh Chesnut of 129 Eldridge Avenue, still in custody, had given contradictory answers under questioning.

Customs officials said they found hemp valued at 53,000 yen (about $147) in the American's luggage.

Under Japanese law, police may hold a person 10 days before deciding whether to file formal charges or release the

Educator Resigns For New Post

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — A Negro educator resigned from an administrative post at San Mateo Junior College today to become director of fledgling Nairobi College, a private institution founded by the Negro community of East Palo Alto.

Robert Hoover, 33, ended a thorny association with the San Mateo college by quitting as assistant for minority programs.

He was removed as leader of its College Readiness Program following disturbances on the campus last December.

Nixon Eyes New Pullout Goal For Vietnam Troops

While South Vietnamese forces would assume combat duty as the Americans withdrew, U.S. air and ground support forces would remain for a longer time.

Nixon said he foresaw "some progress in substantive discussions" at the Paris talks with the communists within the next two or three months.

But in Paris, Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, chief Viet Cong negotiator, said today that even withdrawal of all U.S. troops would not be enough to bring peace to South Vietnam.

"It is necessary that the Americans withdraw not only all their troops, but also all their materiel, and that without condition," she told newsmen.

In Saigon, military sources said that the first 900-man battalion to leave Vietnam under Nixon's 25,000 troop reduction decision would consist of "short timers" who were scheduled to come home within two months anyway.

With Vietnam as the key press conference topic, Nixon called on North Vietnam, the Viet Cong and the newly formed Communist revolutionary government in South Vietnam to agree to an internationally supervised cease-fire and internationally supervised elections, points in the eight-point plan for ending the war he put forward May 18.

He repeated his pledge the United States would "accept any decision that is made by the people of South Vietnam" regarding their future but conceded not to dump the regime of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu as a concession to the enemy.

He was asked to comment on a recent article by former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford in Foreign Affairs Quarterly in which Clifford was critical of the Nixon administration's military and political moves in Vietnam and said 100,000 American troops should be withdrawn by the end of this year and all but supply troops and air support—about half the more than 500,000 men—by the end of 1970.

Nixon pointed out that when his administration came into office "all that had been decided was the shape of the table in Paris" and that American war casualties reached their highest point during the year Clifford was secretary of defense.

"As far as how many troops will be withdrawn by the end of this year, or the end of next year, I would hope that we could beat Mr. Clifford's timetable, just as I think we have done a little better than he did when he was in charge of our national defense."

Nixon thus implied he expected to bring back more than 200,000 American fighting men from Vietnam by the end of next year, although he did not mention numbers.

This decision was one made at the Midway summit conference June 8 with Thieu.

The President also made these points:

A target date of July 31 has been set for the beginning of talks with the Soviet Union on nuclear arms limitation. The U.S. position will be firmed at a meeting of the National Security Council Wednesday, then consultations will be held with America's allies before entering the talks, probably either at Geneva or Vienna.

Current anti-inflationary moves—extension of the 10 per cent tax surcharge and budget cuts—should be sufficient to cool the economy within two to three months. But if they are not, additional measures will be considered.

The responsibility for discipline on college and university campuses is that of the college administrators and intervention in campus disputes by the federal government "would be just what the demonstrators wanted."

—Little progress had been made so far in easing the dangerously explosive conflicts in the Middle East between Arabs and Jews. "The situation is better only from the standpoint that we do have some four-power talks going, and we would trust that from those talks we might get some basis of communication between the two sides . . ."

Consideration is being given to a moratorium on tests of nuclear weapons as part of any arms control agreement but a unilateral halt to weapons tests, without some reciprocal action from the Soviet Union, would not be in our best interest.

States recognizes only a three-mile territorial limit offshore, although it respects claims by countries exercising jurisdiction over fishing and other items up to 12 miles off the coast.

The captain of one of the newly seized fishing boats, Julius Alioto, told the tunaboat association headquarters at San Diego that the Ecuadorian patrol boat fired without warning.

No injuries were reported. The six American vessels were boarded and guards were posted, said Edward Silva, secretary of the association.

Silva said he was informed of the incident by ship-to-shore radio on Alioto's vessel.

"This another Pueblo," Silva quoted Alioto as saying. He referred to the capture of the U.S. spy ship Pueblo by North Korea in January 1968.

Besides Partin and Dunham, the indictments also charged Dunham Concrete Products Inc., Louisiana Ready Mix Co. Inc., and Anderson-Dunham Inc. The three companies and the two men were charged under the Sherman Antitrust Act and the labor racketeering provisions of the Hobbs Act.

of San Diego proposed the endorsement of the fastest possible development of housing in the area with no mention of interim use. It passed 6-1 with two abstentions.

The apartments, which Hitch asserted do not have as high a priority need as housing on newer campuses, will cost about $4.5 million, he said. Of this, about $550,000 would come from regents funds, the rest from a bank loan.

Regent William Roth, of Ross, dissenting from the will of most of his fellow committee members, asserted that the funds could be better used for other educational purposes and charged that the regents were rushing the apartment building "not because of acute needs, but just to get some bricks and mortar on the property."

Another committee, one on educational policy, voted to establish a subcommittee to improve student communication with the regents. Just how this was to be done would be made in recommendations to the regents' meeting Sept. 19 in Los Angeles.

Reinecke proposed that the student body presidents of all nine U.C. campuses be invited to all regents' meetings and permitted to speak. The motion was defeated.

OBITUARIES

Eugene Heide Dies At 70

Eugene E. Heide, a Mill Valley real estate broker for more than 20 years, died yesterday at his Mill Valley home after a long illness.

Heide, 70, was born in Everett, Wash., and came to San Francisco in 1907. He was an employee of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for 19 years. He moved to Mill Valley in 1943 and shortly afterward went into real estate, for many years running Gene Heide Realty. He was one of the first members of the Marin County Realty Board. Illness led to his retirement in 1964.

Hayakawa Reflects On College's Future

Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Hayakawa informed Hare in April that his one-year contract as an associate professor of sociology would not be renewed after Hare disrupted the college president's spring semester talk to the faculty. Hayakawa remains adamant about Hare's status.

Creation of an autonomous black studies department with faculty and accreditation were at the top of the ten "non-negotiable" demands presented to the college administration by the BSU last fall. When the demands weren't met, the militants struck, to be joined later by members of the American Federation of Teachers.

Hayakawa asserted that a black studies program would have begun with the spring semester and an ethnic studies curriculum would have started this fall if it were not for the strikers.

'Nothing so dramatically illustrates the self-defeating characteristics of the tactics of confrontation and violence than the fact that black and ethnic studies have been delayed at least a year as a result of the student and faculty strikes," Hayakawa said.

Hayakawa also said the program under which 428 underqualified minority students were admitted last year would have to be reduced this fall because of a lack of funds and special tutors and counselors.

He added that the "strike so upset what should have been a carefully conducted program we don't know if it has been successful so far. Many of the special students were being taught by teachers who went on strike. As a result, they gave many of the students As. We don't know which are authentic and which are not.

The militant Students for a Democratic Society seeks to end the ROTC program. Last May, students and the Academic Senate voted to end the ROTC contract. A vote by the faculty, however, favored retaining the program.

Hayakawa also dismisses as "pure poppycock" complaints by minority students that the college program is not relevant to the community.

Citing contributions by the college nursing, physical education and business programs, he said, "The place is full of relevant things."

"No college serves the community more conscientiously than San Francisco State and City College," he contended. "It's because we serve the community so conscientiously that we can be pushed into doing more.

"The better we serve the City of San Francisco and its people and its needs, the better college we're going to be." He said this could not be achieved by believing "radical rhetoric."

"Let them see what we do before they decide whether it's relevant or not," he said.

While Hayakawa's resistance to militant demands has made him unpopular among some students and faculty, his popularity has soared with the public. A recent poll indicated he would be a strong candidate for high political office.

But the vigorous, 62-year-old Hayakawa wants to remain at San Francisco State and has indicated he would like the "acting" dropped from his title.

"It would be a vote of confidence in behalf of the students and faculty who have stayed loyal to their jobs and my policy," he said.

Sausalito Subpoenas

Half of Sausalito's official family was subpoenaed today as restaurateur Sam Zakessian escalated his war on a restaurant under construction next to his.

Zakessian's attorneys subpoenaed the entire city council and city planning commission to appear in Marin Superior Court to show why a writ should not be issued revoking building permits, variances and other city actions allowing construction of the new restaurant in the Edgewater Yacht Sales building at Bridgeway and Turney Street.

But the only city officials on hand were City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, City Clerk Miriam Ansell, and city building inspector William Hynes, who was named in a separate subpoena.

Judge Thomas F. Keating ordered city records and county tax records admitted, but indicated he would grant a delay until next week for the hearing to proceed before another judge. Keating will be on vacation, and he said testimony should be before the judge hearing the case instead of him.

Zakessian's request contends the city acted illegally in issuing permits and a variance for the restaurant.

Jordan and Edgewater's attorney, William Stephens, said the subpoenas were served only this morning and more time was needed to prepare their case.

Marin Robber Is Sentenced

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 48-year-old Menlo Park man was sentenced to five years in a federal prison yesterday by U.S. District Court Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli for the May 23 hold up of the Fidelity Savings and Loan Co. office in Mill Valley.

The robbery netted the bandit, Robert Eugene Waller, $180.

Waller pleaded guilty to the holdup earlier this month. Under terms of the sentence, Waller could be eligible for immediate parole.

The robbery was the first of a Mill Valley financial institution in more than 35 years.

Distracting Dog Figures In Crash

A distracting dog in the front seat caused a 55-year-old motorist to lose control of his car yesterday and crash into two parked autos in San Anselmo, police said.

The driver was identified as David G. Barry of 13 Carlson Avenue, San Anselmo.

Damaged while parked at 292 Redhill Avenue at 9:20 a.m. were the autos of William Bazzetta of 12 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo, and Harold Wagstaff of 472 Montecido Drive, Corte Madera, a councilman in that community.

pressure to provide adequate fire protection.

"We can't empty it and still have adequate water," Regalia said, adding that cost estimates for adequate new water lines run from $25,000 to $78,000.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, who agreed with Meyer that the reservoir eventually should be drained, suggested that an engineering study be made on fire protection needs and potentials without the reservoir.

The suggestion for a towaway zone was made by Police Chief Dan Terzich and seconded by several residents: "Give us a towaway zone, close the dam at night and we'll take care of it."

He also favored the suggestion for putting a full-time policeman at the reservoir, funds for which are in the 1969-70 budget up for council action Monday night.

Terzich, who read the police report on Crow's drowning at the start of the meeting, listed nine possible solutions for the reservoir which Meyer termed an "attractive nuusance."

The suggestions included draining it, allowing resident parking only, which he said was not feasible; eliminating all parking, setting a sunset to sunrise curfew, declaring it completely out of bounds to the public during the fire season, lowering the water level six to eight feet to make swimming difficult and clearing brush and trees from around the reservoir to make quick police patrols possible.

Terzich emphasized the high danger of fire as the result of the high use of the area by young people — 70 per cent of whom are not from Marin County, he said. He also indicated that his force had other problems, saying that eight arrests for nude swimming at the reservoir last fall were not prosecuted because there were no formal complaints. "Apparently no one's sense of decency was outraged," he said.

During the meeting; John G. Eliot Jr., a newly elected school trustee, who later asked reporters not to print reports of last night's meeting, said residents wanted strict enforcement of existing no-parking regulations.

Although he said the drowning had forced him to change his mind about it, he and others indicated that residents generally do not favor draining or fencing the reservoir.

At one point, George R Stevenson, another reservoir area resident, walked out of the meeting after criticizing the failure to take adequate safety measures at the reservoir.

"We're thinking too much of ourselves and not enough about the little boy — and there could be a lot more like him — down at Russell and Gooch (a funeral home)," he told the group. He said an opponent to fencing the reservoir said last fall it would be fenced "Over my dead body," adding, before striding out, "you've got the body."

The question of the city's legal liability for accidents or deaths at the reservoir was mentioned but Meyer said the matter would have to be studied by the city's attorney.

Mill Valley Man Is Still Held

TOKYO (AP) — Police said today they still were investigating the case of a 50-year-old Mill Valley man taken into custody June 13 after officials said they found he was carrying 62.7 grams of the narcotic hemp.

Officers said Thompson Van Valkenburgh Chesnut of 129 Eldridge Avenue, still in custody, had given contradictory answers under questioning.

Customs officials said they found hemp valued at 53,000 yen (about $147) in the American's luggage.

Educator Resigns For New Post

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — A Negro educator resigned from an administrative post at San Mateo Junior College today to become director of fledgling Nairobi College, a private institution founded by the Negro community of East Palo Alto.

Robert Hoover, 33, ended a thorny association with the San Mateo college by quitting as assistant for minority programs.

He was removed as leader of its College Readiness Program following disturbances on the campus last December.

Nixon Eyes New Pullout Goal For Vietnam Troops

While South Vietnamese forces would assume combat duty as the Americans withdrew, U.S. air and ground support forces would remain for a longer time.

Nixon said he foresaw "some progress in substantive discussions" at the Paris talks with the communists within the next two or three months.

But in Paris, Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, chief Viet Cong negotiator, said today that even withdrawal of all U.S. troops would not be enough to bring peace to South Vietnam.

"It is necessary that the Americans withdraw not only all their troops, but also all their materiel, and that without condition," she told newsmen.

In Saigon, military sources said that the first 900-man battalion to leave Vietnam under Nixon's 25,000 troop reduction decision would consist of "short timers" who were scheduled to come home within two months anyway.

With Vietnam as the key press conference topic, Nixon called on North Vietnam, the Viet Cong and the newly formed Communist revolutionary government in South Vietnam to agree to an internationally supervised cease-fire and internationally supervised elections, points in the eight-point plan for ending the war he put forward May 18.

He repeated his pledge the United States would "accept any decision that is made by the people of South Vietnam" regarding their future but conceded not to dump the regime of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu as a concession to the enemy.

He was asked to comment on a recent article by former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford in Foreign Affairs Quarterly in which Clifford was critical of the Nixon administration's military and political moves in Vietnam and said 100,000 American troops should be withdrawn by the end of this year and all but supply troops and air support—about half the more than 500,000 men—by the end of 1970.

Nixon pointed out that when his administration came into office "all that had been decided was the shape of the table in Paris" and that American war casualties reached their highest point during the year Clifford was secretary of defense.

"As far as how many troops will be withdrawn by the end of this year, or the end of next year, I would hope that we could beat Mr. Clifford's timetable, just as I think we have done a little better than he did when he was in charge of our national defense."

Nixon thus implied he expected to bring back more than 200,000 American fighting men from Vietnam by the end of next year, although he did not mention numbers.

This decision was one made at the Midway summit conference June 8 with Thieu.

The President also made these points:

A target date of July 31 has been set for the beginning of talks with the Soviet Union on nuclear arms limitation. The U.S. position will be firmed at a meeting of the National Security Council Wednesday, then consultations will be held with America's allies before entering the talks, probably either at Geneva or Vienna.

Current anti-inflationary moves—extension of the 10 per cent tax surcharge and budget cuts—should be sufficient to cool the economy within two to three months. But if they are not, additional measures will be considered.

The responsibility for discipline on college and university campuses is that of the college administrators and intervention in campus disputes by the federal government "would be just what the demonstrators wanted."

—Little progress had been made so far in easing the dangerously explosive conflicts in the Middle East between Arabs and Jews. "The situation is better only from the standpoint that we do have some four-power talks going, and we would trust that from those talks we might get some basis of communication between the two sides . . ."

Consideration is being given to a moratorium on tests of nuclear weapons as part of any arms control agreement but a unilateral halt to weapons tests, without some reciprocal action from the Soviet Union, would not be in our best interest.

States recognizes only a three-mile territorial limit offshore, although it respects claims by countries exercising jurisdiction over fishing and other items up to 12 miles off the coast.

The captain of one of the newly seized fishing boats, Julius Alioto, told the tunaboat association headquarters at San Diego that the Ecuadorian patrol boat fired without warning.

No injuries were reported. The six American vessels were boarded and guards were posted, said Edward Silva, secretary of the association.

Silva said he was informed of the incident by ship-to-shore radio on Alioto's vessel.

"This another Pueblo," Silva quoted Alioto as saying. He referred to the capture of the U.S. spy ship Pueblo by North Korea in January 1968.

Besides Partin and Dunham, the indictments also charged Dunham Concrete Products Inc., Louisiana Ready Mix Co. Inc., and Anderson-Dunham Inc. The three companies and the two men were charged under the Sherman Antitrust Act and the labor racketeering provisions of the Hobbs Act.

Partin, business manager of Teamsters Union Local 5 at Baton Rouge, was released from prison in 1962 during the Justice Department's prosecution of the Hoffa case. His testimony was the key factor in the Teamsters Union president's conviction on charges of jury tampering.

Although the government denied that Partin was granted blanket immunity he has never been prosecuted on embezzlement charges pending against him.

of San Diego proposed the endorsement of the fastest possible development of housing in the area with no mention of interim use. It passed 6-1 with two abstentions.

The apartments, which Hitch asserted do not have as high a priority need as housing on newer campuses, will cost about $4.5 million, he said. Of this, about $550,000 would come from regents funds, the rest from a bank loan.

Regent William Roth, of Ross, dissenting from the will of most of his fellow committee members, asserted that the funds could be better used for other educational purposes and charged that the regents were rushing the apartment building "not because of acute needs, but just to get some bricks and mortar on the property."

Another committee, one on educational policy, voted to establish a subcommittee to improve student communication with the regents. Just how this was to be done would be made in recommendations to the regents' meeting Sept. 19 in Los Angeles.

Reinecke proposed that the student body presidents of all nine U.C. campuses be invited to all regents' meetings and permitted to speak. The motion was defeated.

BCDC No Longer Neutral In Drive To Stay Alive

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, abandoning its neutral position on bills to extend its life, appealed yesterday to two legislators to merge their bills "into the best possible bill."

Of the dozen or so bills introduced this session affecting the commission, only four have survived committee hearings. Of these, the commission yesterday declared the two "principal" bills were AB 2057 by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, and SB 839 by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo.

Both bills would extend the commission's jurisdiction to a shoreline strip around the bay in accord with the commission's master plan for the bay, commissioners noted. The commission is to go out of existence late this year unless the Legislature acts to extend its life.

The other two bills are by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, whose bill is similar to the Knox bill, and by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, whose bill merely would extend the life of the commission.

Dolwig's bill originally would have emasculated the commission, but he did an about-face when it aroused a storm of opposition in his home district.

Commission chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park, who made the suggestion that the commission ask Dolwig and Knox to merge their bills, said the merger could save several legislative steps — a vita consideration since the Legislature hopes to adjourn by the end of July.

The time saving would come if the Senate passed a single Dolwig-Knox bill, and this merged bill were approved by the Assembly, thus avoiding the need for a two-house conference to iron out differences between the two bills. The Assembly already has passed the Knox bill, but must also approve any amendments to it, that would result if the two bills were merged.

Conference committees meet behind closed doors, and conservationists have expressed fears about what would happen to the bill in such a meeting.

The commission voted 10-3 to seek the merger of the two bills. Commissioner Louis Ets-Hokin of San Francisco objected that the commission "will arouse a lot of hostility by telling the Legislature what to do."

But Lane insisted the vote "doesn't criticize any bill. In some ways, I think they (Dolwig and Knox) might like some public encouragement."

All four surviving bills are to be heard by the Senate Finance Committee, probably the last hurdle to passage of some bill to extend the commission's life. The chairman of the committee, Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, said yesterday that the hearing on the bills would not be held until July 10 because the committee first must dispose of the state budget. Petris told newsmen the delay was a "stall."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Bay Area nursing strike continued deadlocked today over the question of hospital committees on nursing performance and patient care.

The California Nurses Association pulled all but a skeleton nursing staff out of two more Oakland hospitals yesterday afternoon. Affected were Peralta and Providence hospitals.

A week earlier the nurses struck at St. Francis and French hospitals in San Francisco, Herrick Memorial in Berkeley, Children's Hospital in Oakland, and Alameda Hospital in Alameda.

Alioto Calls Police Job At State Tops

Campus officials should negotiate the differences with students and San Francisco police did the most professional police job in the world, San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said last night as he described the troubles at San Francisco State College before the Novato Chamber of Commerce at the Marin Country Club in Novato.

In an off-the-cuff speech entitled, "Dissent Yes, Violence, No," the San Francisco mayor reviewed the troubles at San Francisco State and how they were handled. He declared they were handled much better by "professional police" at the college than at the University of California at Berkeley where the National Guard was called in to quell last month's People's Park crisis.

Alioto claimed that there was no silent majority but that 75 per cent of the students were a vocal dissenting majority. He said that the school should negotiate its differences with the students.

The mayor referred to our heritage of constitutional history which encourages dissent and said that "if revolution is rapid change, the best way is through constitutional consent."

"The kids are mostly right," he said referring to the demands for academic change in the college.

His only reference to Marin County was that it was "the most picturesque in California."

Lacking was any reference to any mutual problems such as his proposed commuter tax or the traffic problems in commuting between Marin and San Francisco.

The mayor arrived more than half an hour late and after his speech immediately left before he could be questioned on the problems shared by the two counties. But he did state, however, he would not announce until January whether or not he would run for governor.

Oil Leak Enters Platform Request

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A normally routine application to build a platform in Suisun Bay for gas well operation yesterday ran into the memory of the oil well leak in Santa Barbara Channel.

The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, which approved a similar platform last year for Suisun Bay — before the Santa Barbara incident — made it clear that such applications no longer were routine.

The platform, sought by Standard Oil of California and Shell Oil Co., would serve two wells they drilled within the last year under a lease from the state Lands Commission. Their application also was for permission to connect the wells, in Solano County, to land facilities in Contra Costa County via an underwater pipeline.

Max C. Gardner, landman for Standard Oil, was pressed repeatedly by commissioners for assurance that there could not be a leak from the wells. "In our judgement," Gardner said, "this kind of thing cannot happen in Suisun Bay. We are confident that it could not happen, and if we thought it could, we would not be before you today."

But commission chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park, noting the commission would vote on the application July 10, said, "We would like something more than Standard Oil saying it's safe."

In case of a "substantial leak," Gardner said, the well would shut down automatically. But he noted that the 50 barrels of liquid gas in the pipe to the 6,000-foot-deep wells could drain into the bay even after the well shut down.

The platform, 50 feet by 100 feet, would be six feet above mean higher high water, and would hold equipment standing up to 20 feet above the platform. The platform would be removed after the wells were depleted in about 15 years, Gardner said.

Construction of the platform, to cost $140,000, and of the pipeline, to cost $223,000, would begin Aug. 1 and be completed by November.

Gardner stressed that the liquid gas would evaporate if it leaked, and likened it to "jet fuel."

Chairman Lane, acknowledged the oil companies "have done some streamlining" of the proposed platform, but added "I think an engineer might see more in it than an artist."

Dr. William F. Upton of San Rafael said: "You'd probably get into more difficulty trying to hide it with plastic palm trees than just leaving it alone."

Gardner noted that the platform would not be outfitted with navigation lights, at the request of the Coast Guard. The platform would stand in water from one to six feet deep at mean lower low water, he said.

Pep Talk On Tourism In Marin

The Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau yesterday heard Lee Levinger, president of the Redwood Empire Association of Santa Rosa, give a pep talk on tourism in Marin County.

The occasion at the Holiday Inn was the second annual meeting of the chamber and bureau at which new officers and directors were installed.

Speaking of the Redwood Empire, which includes Marin and eight other counties, Levinger said Westerners travel farther and more often than others in the U.S. and are thus a "productive market" for tour promoters. He urged the 125 luncheon guests to go after the rich market.

Officers installed were:

Benjamin A. Farlatti, president; Jack Craemer, first vice president; Carlos Gonzalez, second vice president; B. A. Sill, secretary, and Glenn W. Sleezer, treasurer.

Incoming members of the board of directors are: E. Douglas Roberts, T. J. McCall, Edwin Johnson, George Higgins, Judge Carlos R. Freitas, J. Galen Foster, Jack Eddy, Irving D. Chapman, all of San Rafael, and Frank Bosl of Sausalito.

Max C. Gardner, landman for Standard Oil, was pressed repeatedly by commissioners for assurance that there could not be a leak from the wells. "In our judgement," Gardner said, "this kind of thing cannot happen in Suisun Bay. We are confident that it could not happen, and if we thought it could, we would not be before you today."

But commission chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park, noting the commission would vote on the application July 10, said, "We would like something more than Standard Oil saying it's safe."

In case of a "substantial leak," Gardner said, the well would shut down automatically. But he noted that the 50 barrels of liquid gas in the pipe to the 6,000-foot-deep wells could drain into the bay even after the well shut down.

The platform, 50 feet by 100 feet, would be six feet above mean higher high water, and would hold equipment standing up to 20 feet above the platform. The platform would be removed after the wells were depleted in about 15 years, Gardner said.

Construction of the platform, to cost $140,000, and of the pipeline, to cost $223,000, would begin Aug. 1 and be completed by November.

Gardner stressed that the liquid gas would evaporate if it leaked, and likened it to "jet fuel."

Chairman Lane, acknowledged the oil companies "have done some streamlining" of the proposed platform, but added "I think an engineer might see more in it than an artist."

Dr. William F. Upton of San Rafael said: "You'd probably get into more difficulty trying to hide it with plastic palm trees than just leaving it alone."

Gardner noted that the platform would not be outfitted with navigation lights, at the request of the Coast Guard. The platform would stand in water from one to six feet deep at mean lower low water, he said.

Pep Talk On Tourism In Marin

The Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau yesterday heard Lee Levinger, president of the Redwood Empire Association of Santa Rosa, give a pep talk on tourism in Marin County.

The occasion at the Holiday Inn was the second annual meeting of the chamber and bureau at which new officers and directors were installed.

Speaking of the Redwood Empire, which includes Marin and eight other counties, Levinger said Westerners travel farther and more often than others in the U.S. and are thus a "productive market" for tour promoters. He urged the 125 luncheon guests to go after the rich market.

Officers installed were:

Benjamin A. Farlatti, president; Jack Craemer, first vice president; Carlos Gonzalez, second vice president; B. A. Sill, secretary, and Glenn W. Sleezer, treasurer.

Incoming members of the board of directors are: E. Douglas Roberts, T. J. McCall, Edwin Johnson, George Higgins, Judge Carlos R. Freitas, J. Galen Foster, Jack Eddy, Irving D. Chapman, all of San Rafael, and Frank Bosl of Sausalito.

U.S. Troops Repulse North Viet Assault

SAIGON (AP) — More than 500 North Vietnamese soldiers stormed a U.S. artillery base 15 miles north of Tay Ninh City early today and American headquarters said, "An undetermined number penetrated the perimeter but were repulsed."

The attack was reported a few hours after military spokesmen said a massive enemy drive against Tay Ninh City had "fizzled."

Spokesmen said 72 enemy troops were killed in the assault. U.S. casualties were seven killed and 18 wounded.

It raised to 475 the number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong reported killed in fierce fighting around Tay Ninh City since early yesterday. Total U.S. casualties in the past 24 hours were put at 15 killed and 48 wounded, while south Vietnamese casualties were 14 killed and more than 20 wounded.

Tay Ninh City is a key provincial capital near the Cambodian border, 50 miles northwest of Saigon. Spokesmen said the North Vietnamese force attacked Firebase Ike, 15 miles to the north, shortly after midnight, charging behind rockets and mortar fire that pinned down the 150 defenders, U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division soldiers.

The Americans fought back with rifles and machine guns while helicopter gunships and artillery pounded the attackers. The North Vietnamese withdrew after 75 minutes of close quarters fighting.

While the battle raged, two waves of B52 bombers dumped 360 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troop concentrations just north of Firebase Ike in the northern half of Tay Ninh province. Spokesmen said the strikes were aimed at smashing North Vietnamese reserve troops.

Far to the north, more of the big Stratofortresses dropped another 360 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese bases, troops and bunker complexes between Ap Bia Mountain and the Laotian border.

Yesterday, Maj. Gen. John M. Wright, commander of the 101st Airborne Division, said North Vietnamese troops have set up bases on the hills and ridgelines surrounding the mountain.

Most of the 403 enemy killed in the Tay Ninh battles yesterday were credited to U.S. tanks, dive-bombers, helicopter gunships and armored personnal carriers. Military spokesmen said it was the biggest assault of the enemy's current summer campaign.

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — E. A. Forde Jr. of St. Helena has submitted a low bid of $24,092 to install new shoulders and a guard rail along a half-mile stretch of Shoreline Highway near Muir Woods Road.

The state Division of Highways, which opened the bids, said $49,000 was available for the project.

Paper Says Shirley In Line For Job

DETROIT (UPI)—The Nixon Administration is about to name former child movie star and unsuccessful congressional candidate Shirley Temple Black as deputy assistant secretary of state for educational and cultural affairs, the Detroit Free Press reported today.

Mrs. Black's husband, Charles, 49, will get a job of equivalent rank somewhere in the administration, the newspaper said in a story from its Washington bureau.

"We are fixing it so they can be deputy assistant secretaries together, the story quotes a "high Republican source" as saying.

The story by Vera Glaser said Mrs. Black, of Woodside, is presently being cleared for the post, formerly held by Mrs. Kathie Louchheim, former vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who resigned.

Mrs. Black, now 41, appeared out of the past in 1967 to run in a special congressional election in California's 11th District. She was defeated in the GOP primary by Paul N. McCloskey Jr., now serving in Congress.

According to the story, she would supervise about 50 persons working with foreign visitors, American specialists traveling abroad, visa matters affecting exchange students and public information and reports. Mrs. Black has refused to comment on the job offers, the Free Press said.

AIR WEST PROUDLY ANNOUNCES THIS

All passengers on our new Super DC-9's get more knee room than on any other airline in the United States.

They get that extra room because we ordered each of our new jets with 15 less seats. So each passenger gets a lot more leg room. Plus these new planes have 5 seats across instead of 6. So there's plenty of elbow room, too. (And the extra space doesn't cost any extra.)

To help you remember all this, we call our new planes Spaceships. Mention that to your Travel Agent when you make your next ticket reservation.

Our Spaceship may not get you to the moon, but it's the most comfortable way to get around in the west.

APOLLO 11 ASTRONAUT TAKES A BREAK

When you are an astronaut such as Michael Collins, a break in the rigorous training schedule for next month's moon landing flight is most welcome, as he demonstrated yesterday at Cape Kennedy. Collins will pilot the Apollo 11 command ship while astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. descend to the moon's surface. (AP Wirephoto)

New Homes Please Directors

New homes in Estancia Estates in Gallinas Village are selling for $28,000 and $29,000, developer Bernard Kearns announced last night at a meeting of the Gallinas Village Community Services District.

The one-family homes are being built on 7.7 acres at the extension of Estancia Way, behind MacPhail School.

Secretary Marguerite Clark said the directors are satisfied with the development because the homes are an asset to the area.

The Gallinas Village Services District directors also:

COUNCIL — Voted to apply for membrship in the Las Gallinas Valley Council, an organization of improvement clubs and homeowner groups from Santa Venetia to Lucas Valley.

BUDGET — Set a meeting for 7:30 p.m. July 3 to discuss next year's budget, which is expected to total $25,000 to $26,000, the same as this year.

VANDALS Heard a report from Mrs. Clark that vandals have damaged trees and play equipment at Pueblo Park.

'Trusted' Accountant Missing With $7,000

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A $1,000-a-month accountant was sought today on a warrant charging him with the theft of at least $7,000 from one of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's joint-venture engineering consultants.

William A. Bugge, project director of the joint venture of Parsons, Brinckerhoff - Tudor-Bechtel, said $7,000 was discovered missing "at first blush."

"We don't yet know the total," he said yesterday. "It could be $10,000. or $20,000, or $30,000. A complete audit is being made."

Bugge said a bonding company will presumably make up the loss.

Sought was Carlts Estupinan, 35, a native of Bogota, Colombia. He joined the venture in March of 1964 and built a reputation as a trusted worker, said Henry Padgham, Estupinan's boss.

"And he really didn't give the impression of being a big spender," Padgham added. "He was a very bright, very good worker."

Estupinan disappeared May 23.

Pope Benedict VIII served from 1012 to 1024.

Employees Set Annual Dinner

This yearly event honors employees who have retired during the year and is the occasion for awarding service pins to current employees.

Four men will receive 25-year service pins: Alvin G. Lawton, storekeeper; Irving O. Ritter, business manager; Thomas J. McAuley and Alfred F. Mello, correctional officers.

Warden Louis S. Nelson will join 15 other employees in receiving 20-year service pins.

Thirty-six employees will receive 10 and 15 year pins.

AWOL Suspect Is In Custody

California Highway Patrol officers who went to a Bel Marin Keys home on a routine traffic investigation last night wound up arresting a 19-year-old youth on suspicion of being AWOL from the Navy.

The youth, Kenneth Bauernschmidt, address not given, was turned over to Air Police at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Officers said they became suspicious at Bauernschmidt's presence at the home and asked him for identification. He said he was on leave from the Navy but could not produce leave papers. He added he had been on leave since late May, but his further aroused officers' suspicions because Bauernschmidt had a long beard.

When officers sought to verify his story through Treasure Island officials, Bauernschmidt reportedly told of jumping ship March 5 in Massachusetts and coming to California.

City Opens First Bike Path Link

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The first link in the bicycle path from Marin to Lake Merced in San Francisco was opened yesterday with a colorful ceremony in Golden Gate Park.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto proclaimed the day San Francisco Bicycle Paths Bike Day before an assembly of 400 bicycle riders on tandems, three-speeders, 10-speeders and even an old high wheeler.

The route, most of it separated from street traffic, is 7.5 miles long, and runs from the park to Lincoln Way and down Sunset Boulevard to Lake Merced. The route is marked, and motorists are warned at intersections by a sign depicting the outline of a bicycle over the letters "XING."

After the ceremonies, Mrs. J Eugene McAteer, a member of the Recreation and Park Commission, drove her bike through a paper sign and led the cyclists to the Polo Grounds, where free potato chips and soft drinks were served. A drawing was held, and 10 children won new bikes.

Supervisor Jack Morrison promised he would seek a link from the park to the Golden Gate Bridge. The bridge link is to be opened this fall.

Auto Is Looted Of Equipment

San Rafael police today reported three thefts.

Police said a $150 sensitive altimeter and a $150 gyroscope were taken between Wednesday and yesterday morning from the car owned by Leonard G. Johnson of 220 Canal Street, San Rafael, in a parking lot at 108 Bellum Avenue, San Rafael.

A pocket book containing money, credit cards and personal items totaling $75, owned by Erin Tricia Nielsen of 633 Mission Street, San Rafael, was reported stolen Wednesday at the Marin Fabric Center, 804 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Police also reported the theft of a bicycle owned by Daniel A. Foppe of 34 Hillview Avenue, San Rafael from San Rafael High School about 12:45 p.m. yesterday.

Negotiation Impasse Draws AFT Advice To Teachers

The American Federation of Teachers is seeking to capitalize on an impasse between the Tamalpais District Teachers Association and Tamalpais High School District board to promote recruitment to the AFL-CIO union.

The board has offered teachers an increase in salary schedule for next year of 5 per cent, plus increased district-paid medical and dental insurance. The Tamalpais District Teachers Association, a California Teachers Association affiliate, has responded that 7 per cent is the minimum schedule increase acceptable.

A mimeographed bulletin from the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, bearing the name of "K. Anderson," has been circulated to teachers. Citing the impasse, it declares:

"Skill in the art of negotiations is meaningless and pathetic unless performed in the context of equitable power relationships . . . As long as teachers refuse to prepare themselves intellectually and emotionally for the strike, school boards will continue to deal capriciously with teachers' demonstrations."

The bulletin lists "TFT bread and butter stands" as:

"Professional salary schedule of $9,000 to $21,000 in five yearly steps.

"Fully paid health plans for each teacher and his dependents, which include complete dental and psychiatric care."

Bond Issues Enter Sausalito's Budget Study For Improvements

The possibility of bond issues to finance major city projects loomed last night as the Sausalito City Council reviewed its proposed capital improvements budget.

The clue that bond issues might be in the offing came not from the budget, but from what was deleted by City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

He told the council he deleted $60,000 for replacement of Tiffany Beach, wiped out by the widening of Bridgeway, and suggested it could be in a bond "package" with city buildings.

The city has been considering construction of a new library, and there has been discussion during the past year about the need for a new city hall.

Major capital improvement projects will either be limited or eliminated if the council plans to stay within the present tax rate in the future, Patterson said. (The current tax rate is $1.315 per $100 assessed valuation.)

The city's needs could be solved by a bond issue rather than by accumulating funds and completing projects over a long period of time, he said.

Patterson also deleted $24,500, a step toward accumulating $102,000 for enlargement of Fire Station No. 1. Fire station expansion also could be part of a bond "package," he asserted.

The budget did include $11,800 for architectural fees, which Patterson explained would be spent if a new city hall were to be constructed or the police station expanded.

The capital improvements budget includes widening of Bridgeway to four lanes from Easterby Street to Napa Street, $42,000; purchase of right-of-way to extend Nevada Street from the Marina Vista subdivision to Rodeo Avenue, $30,000;; Princess Park improvements, $9,000.

Patterson reported that he deleted a $20,000 first step toward accumulating $100,000 for a park in the central waterfront area over a five-year period.

He told recreation commissioners at the meeting that first, the city didn't have the money, and secondly, there was a possibility that the city could negotiate for a park parcel at less cost.

Recreation Commissioner John P. Vetromile reported that Tennis West, a professional tennis group, was interested in setting up a program of lessons at the Martin Luther King courts, but would need a building for a pro shop and supplies, at a cost of $4,350.

Councilmen felt they would need more information about the proposal before they would consider budgeting funds for such a building.

Vetromile said the tennis teachers offered to give some free lessons to Martin Luther King students, and having their services would enable the city to have a tennis clinic for Sausalito youths.

Tennis West would need one court for its operation, and the other courts would still be available for the public, he reported.

The capital outlay for parks included $4,500 for a bicycle path along Alexander Avenue and South Streets.

After a request from Richard Paris, part-time recreation director, the council added $300 to the recreation budget to establish a fund for supplies for the teen center at the old Star of the Sea Church hall.

Paris pointed out that the youths have been raising funds for supplies, but felt it would be a boost to their morale and an indication of the city's interest to have the city funds available if needed.

Councilman adjourned until their final budget session at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at City Hall and Patterson reported the budget was now at $1,254,584.

Patterson suggested that firemen be given a $5 bonus for calls they answer on their off-duty time, rather than being granted subsistence pay as requested by Fire Chief Charles E. Masten.

Last week the chief requested subsistence pay, $35 a month for those living within two miles and $25 for those within seven miles, noting they are required to live within seven miles of the city limits, which he described as a "high cost of living area."

Councilmen also agreed to join the countywide animal control program, which is expected to bring increased patrol by Humane Society officers, at a cost of $1,026 to the city.

Mayor Earl F. Dunphy was absent.

Hearing Closed In Divorce Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Pat Priest, an actress and daughter of California Treasurer and former U.S. Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest, testified secretly yesterday in her contested divorce case.

Superior Court Judge Julian Beck closed the trial to the public on the request of the attorney for Miss Priest, 32. The move was opposed by the attorney for her husband, Pierce A. Jensen, Jr., 46, an industrial engineer.

Jensen sued Miss Priest for divorce, charging cruelty, and sought custody of their two sons, Pierce III, 13, and Lance, 9, alleging Miss Priest was unfit to care for them.

She filed a cross complaint charging cruelty.

Restrictions On Refugees Tighter

VIENNA (AP) — The Austrian government is tightening restrictions on refugees from Communist countries who come to Austria looking for better jobs.

Interior Minister Franz Soronics said Thursday night the economy cannot absorb any more foreign workers.

"All Austrian refugee camps are filled to capacity," he added.

Soronics said Austria will continue to grant political asylum to refugees who qualify under the U.N. convention, but refugee privileges will not be granted after July 1 to persons who leave their Communist homelands "just to find better jobs in the West."

Bond Issues Enter Sausalito's Budget Study For Improvements

The possibility of bond issues to finance major city projects loomed last night as the Sausalito City Council reviewed its proposed capital improvements budget.

The clue that bond issues might be in the offing came not from the budget, but from what was deleted by City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

He told the council he deleted $60,000 for replacement of Tiffany Beach, wiped out by the widening of Bridgeway, and suggested it could be in a bond "package" with city buildings.

The city has been considering construction of a new library, and there has been discussion during the past year about the need for a new city hall.

Major capital improvement projects will either be limited or eliminated if the council plans to stay within the present tax rate in the future, Patterson said. (The current tax rate is $1.315 per $100 assessed valuation.)

The city's needs could be solved by a bond issue rather than by accumulating funds and completing projects over a long period of time, he said.

Patterson also deleted $24,500, a step toward accumulating $102,000 for enlargement of Fire Station No. 1. Fire station expansion also could be part of a bond "package," he asserted.

The budget did include $11,800 for architectural fees, which Patterson explained would be spent if a new city hall were to be constructed or the police station expanded.

The capital improvements budget includes widening of Bridgeway to four lanes from Easterby Street to Napa Street, $42,000; purchase of right-of-way to extend Nevada Street from the Marina Vista subdivision to Rodeo Avenue, $30,000;; Princess Park improvements, $9,000.

Patterson reported that he deleted a $20,000 first step toward accumulating $100,000 for a park in the central waterfront area over a five-year period.

He told recreation commissioners at the meeting that first, the city didn't have the money, and secondly, there was a possibility that the city could negotiate for a park parcel at less cost.

Recreation Commissioner John P. Vetromile reported that Tennis West, a professional tennis group, was interested in setting up a program of lessons at the Martin Luther King courts, but would need a building for a pro shop and supplies, at a cost of $4,350.

HUSBAND AND WIFE RETIRE

Long Teaching Careers At An End

By SUZANNE WOOD

Husband and wife teams in some professions can be incompatible combinations. But not so in education — at least for Clifford and Julia Frye.

This teaching team has been "in the business" for a combined total of 66 years and has found sharing experiences in the field most rewarding.

But now the teaching part of their careers has come to an end as the Fryes will retire and settle into a more relaxed life at their home at 374 Cascade Drive in Fairfax.

The Fryes are natives of Utah where they first met when he was a principal and she a teacher. Both were graduated from Utah State University. They were married in 1933.

They first came to California to work in post graduate studies at Berkeley where Frye later received his master of arts and has done much work toward his doctorate. His work in education has been more at the administrative level and thus he comments about not working more directly with the children.

"I really miss the daily contact with students," he said, "but my wife provided indirect contact for me by sharing her experiences."

Mrs. Frye, an attractive woman whose hobbies are sewing, painting and playing the organ, has always been a first grade teacher. She taught 18 years in Utah and the past 11 years in Marin County at the Laurel Dell Primary School in Fairfax where she is head teacher.

Mrs. Frye, whose living room is sprinkled with some of her own paintings, emphasized the importance of art in the first grade as "a way of speaking."

The Fryes took a few minutes to talk about some of the changes in education and children today.

"The children are probably much more worldly, more knowledgeable because of the difference brought about by television and radio," Mrs. Frye said.

Frye, who once was a principal and teacher in a school which had three teachers for 10 grades, said that watching the progress in education has been the most rewarding part of his career.

Frye, who was superintendent of the Laguninitas School District for six years, after coming to Marin County in 1957, has been in the education department at San Jose State College where he has trained student teachers of the elementary level.

The couple agreed that discipline problems have not become much greater than they ever were but added that there is greater permissiveness in the schools today.

"I do, however, believe in students having a voice to express problems and requests," Mrs. Frye said. "Students have a lot to offer, but their role needs some control."

Frye said that he has always found the majority of parents "most cooperative." He said the parents and teachers have a "50-50 proposition" in the education of the children.

The Fryes plan to spend much of their time working on their home. Hobbies for Frye include fishing and hunting.

The Fryes are a childless couple with thousands of children. Although they have none of their own, they often read about many of the countless children they've taught. Sometimes a former student will drop by to tell them about a new job assignment or they'll receive a card from one.

Veteran City Policeman Is Beaten

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A veteran police officer was in serious condition in a hospital today after he was attacked by an ax-wielding youth while investigating a report of alleged child beating.

Facing possible brain surgery was Asst. Inspector Melville Leathley, 36, a member of the juvenile bureau and a 10-year veteran of the San Francisco police force.

Arrested moments after the attack yesterday on charges of assault with intent to commit murder and robbery was Thomas Hamilton, 17, the father of a three-month-old baby boy.

Police said the mother of the child, Mary LaChance, 19, was also arrested on similar charges. The child was found later in another apartment in the city's seamy Tenderloin district.

Leathley had gone to Hamilton's apartment on Leavenworth St. to investigate a hospital report that a baby at that address had been beaten by his father, according to police.

Before lapsing into a coma, Leathley said he was struck on the head by the flat side of an ax swung by Hamilton, who then grabbed the officer's gun and pointed it at his chest.

Leathley said he heard Miss LaChance shout, "Don't shoot, don't shoot," apparently deterring the youth from firing the weapon.

Nominees For Safety Panel

The Marin County Safety Commission yesterday nominated two men to vacancies on the eight-member commission.

The commissioners recommended that Richard Uchida, personnel analyst, and Allan Lindelli, road superintendent in the public works department, be named to the commission. They will succeed Charles Wimp, former personnel analyst, and Michael King, deptuy public works director, who left county employment. The recommendations will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for confirmation.

Judge Refuses To Drop Counts

BERKELEY (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Mario Barsotti refused a motion yesterday to dismiss charges against 328 of the 483 persons arrested May 22 during a downtown demonstration over People's Park.

"The only fair consideration of everyone is for the courts to receive all evidence in these cases," Barsotti said. "If the polcie are conspiring to arrest over 400 persons merely to use them as an example, that has to be shown in a trial."

Not all those arrested May 22 were charged, and on Wednesday Barsotti agreed to dismiss the cases of 88 on grounds they were bystanders "inadvertently swept up in the mass arrest." Sixty-six others were never charged formally.

Trial dates for the remaining 328 will be set June 24 and July 2.

Hamilton Air Base Awards Contracts

A $7,886 contract went to California General Linen Supply of San Francisco for rental and laundry of garments; a $2,944 contract to Southwest Saw Corp. of Houston, Tex., was for annual service of hand saws, chopper plates and knives for the base commissary; and a $1,174 contract went to Montgomery Elevator Co. of San Francisco for maintenance of elevators.

No Complaint

No complaint was filed in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court against Richard E. Coffman, 40, of Petaluma, who had been accused of child molesting. Coffman was arrested Tuesday by Petaluma police in McNear Park.

This teaching team has been "in the business" for a combined total of 66 years and has found sharing experiences in the field most rewarding.

But now the teaching part of their careers has come to an end as the Fryes will retire and settle into a more relaxed life at their home at 374 Cascade Drive in Fairfax.

The Fryes are natives of Utah where they first met when he was a principal and she a teacher. Both were graduated from Utah State University. They were married in 1933.

They first came to California to work in post graduate studies at Berkeley where Frye later received his master of arts and has done much work toward his doctorate. His work in education has been more at the administrative level and thus he comments about not working more directly with the children.

"I really miss the daily contact with students," he said, "but my wife provided indirect contact for me by sharing her experiences."

Mrs. Frye, an attractive woman whose hobbies are sewing, painting and playing the organ, has always been a first grade teacher. She taught 18 years in Utah and the past 11 years in Marin County at the Laurel Dell Primary School in Fairfax where she is head teacher.

Mrs. Frye, whose living room is sprinkled with some of her own paintings, emphasized the importance of art in the first grade as "a way of speaking."

The Fryes took a few minutes to talk about some of the changes in education and children today.

"The children are probably much more worldly, more knowledgeable because of the difference brought about by television and radio," Mrs. Frye said.

Frye, who once was a principal and teacher in a school which had three teachers for 10 grades, said that watching the progress in education has been the most rewarding part of his career.

Frye, who was superintendent of the Laguninitas School District for six years, after coming to Marin County in 1957, has been in the education department at San Jose State College where he has trained student teachers of the elementary level.

The couple agreed that discipline problems have not become much greater than they ever were but added that there is greater permissiveness in the schools today.

"I do, however, believe in students having a voice to express problems and requests," Mrs. Frye said. "Students have a lot to offer, but their role needs some control."

Frye said that he has always found the majority of parents "most cooperative." He said the parents and teachers have a "50-50 proposition" in the education of the children.

The Fryes plan to spend much of their time working on their home. Hobbies for Frye include fishing and hunting.

The Fryes are a childless couple with thousands of children. Although they have none of their own, they often read about many of the countless children they've taught. Sometimes a former student will drop by to tell them about a new job assignment or they'll receive a card from one.

Veteran City Policeman Is Beaten

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A veteran police officer was in serious condition in a hospital today after he was attacked by an ax-wielding youth while investigating a report of alleged child beating.

Facing possible brain surgery was Asst. Inspector Melville Leathley, 36, a member of the juvenile bureau and a 10-year veteran of the San Francisco police force.

Arrested moments after the attack yesterday on charges of assault with intent to commit murder and robbery was Thomas Hamilton, 17, the father of a three-month-old baby boy.

Police said the mother of the child, Mary LaChance, 19, was also arrested on similar charges. The child was found later in another apartment in the city's seamy Tenderloin district.

Leathley had gone to Hamilton's apartment on Leavenworth St. to investigate a hospital report that a baby at that address had been beaten by his father, according to police.

Before lapsing into a coma, Leathley said he was struck on the head by the flat side of an ax swung by Hamilton, who then grabbed the officer's gun and pointed it at his chest.

Leathley said he heard Miss LaChance shout, "Don't shoot, don't shoot," apparently deterring the youth from firing the weapon.

Nominees For Safety Panel

The Marin County Safety Commission yesterday nominated two men to vacancies on the eight-member commission.

The commissioners recommended that Richard Uchida, personnel analyst, and Allan Lindelli, road superintendent in the public works department, be named to the commission. They will succeed Charles Wimp, former personnel analyst, and Michael King, deptuy public works director, who left county employment. The recommendations will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for confirmation.

Judge Refuses To Drop Counts

BERKELEY (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Mario Barsotti refused a motion yesterday to dismiss charges against 328 of the 483 persons arrested May 22 during a downtown demonstration over People's Park.

"The only fair consideration of everyone is for the courts to receive all evidence in these cases," Barsotti said. "If the polcie are conspiring to arrest over 400 persons merely to use them as an example, that has to be shown in a trial."

Not all those arrested May 22 were charged, and on Wednesday Barsotti agreed to dismiss the cases of 88 on grounds they were bystanders "inadvertently swept up in the mass arrest." Sixty-six others were never charged formally.

Trial dates for the remaining 328 will be set June 24 and July 2.

Hamilton Air Base Awards Contracts

A $7,886 contract went to California General Linen Supply of San Francisco for rental and laundry of garments; a $2,944 contract to Southwest Saw Corp. of Houston, Tex., was for annual service of hand saws, chopper plates and knives for the base commissary; and a $1,174 contract went to Montgomery Elevator Co. of San Francisco for maintenance of elevators.

No Complaint

No complaint was filed in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court against Richard E. Coffman, 40, of Petaluma, who had been accused of child molesting. Coffman was arrested Tuesday by Petaluma police in McNear Park.

Murchison, Millionaire Oilman, Dies

ATHENS, Tex. (AP) — Millionaire oilman Clint Murchison Sr., 74, died early today in Henderson County Memorial Hospital in Athens.

He had been in declining health for some time and had been living at his Henderson County ranch for the past few years.

Murchison, who was a millionaire at the age of 32, was among the first of a generation of enterprising Texans to become wealthy in oil between the world wars.

Estimates of his worth have varied between $100 and $500 million, placing him among the world's richest men.

Aside from oil and gas, his holdings over the years have proliferated into railroads, book publishing, buses, taxis, outdoor theaters, restaurants, real estate and fishing gear manufacture.

He was once said to control 115 separate companies at one time.

Murchison became adept at being able to "spin" one company out of another, usually on borrowed money. Most of his wealth was in "things" and not money.

"Cash," he often said, "makes a man careless."

Lavish houses fascinated him. His best known were a 25-room Dallas mansion built for $125,000 in 1936, and another showplace on his 75,000-acre ranch in the Sierra Madre wilderness in Mexico.

He was born into an East Texas banking family in 1895 and grew up at Athens, a piney woods town located some 75 miles southeast of Dallas.

He left the bank, organized by his grandfather before the Civil War, to serve in World War I as a lieutenant.

Murchison never returned to the bank. After the war, oil caught his eye.

U.S., Spain Will Renew Bases Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Spain arranged to sign today a two-year renewal of a 15-year-old agreement under which the United States operates naval and air bases in that country.

The signing will mark the end of 18 months of bargaining spiced with critical voices from Capitol Hill opposing the continued use of military bases in Spain.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Anti-DDT Measure Sidetracked For Study After Long Session

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The drive to outlaw DDT, denounced as the potential thalidomide of bugkillers and praised as a farmer's life preserver, stalled in the state Legislature today.

A bill proposing the ban effective next January got sidetracked for further study late last night after a marathon six-hour special hearing before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The committee, which heard a battery of 11 proponents and 18 opposition witnesses, delayed a final vote and agreed to give it additional scrutiny.

Chairman Fred Marler Jr., R-Redding, indicated the measure needed modification and said the committee will tackle it again next week. He gave no hint of how extensively he believed it should be rewritten.

The committee also delayed a vote on two other bills requiring that sales of most harmful pesticides be reported to the state and adding new classifications under which registration of farm poisons could be canceled.

The DDT bill, by freshman Sen. John A. Nejedly, a former district attorney, would ban DDT in California except in case of a "health emergency" caused by a pest epidemic or when used in research.

TRIMMED VERSION

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate began studying today a trimmed down version of Gov. Ronald Reagan's $6.2 billion state budget. But fiscal experts were unsure of the spending plan's exact dollar value.

The Senate Finance Committee Wednesday approved and sent to the full Senate on a split voice vote a budget bill for the 1969-70 fiscal year beginning July 1.

Chairman Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, said he did not know how much the committee had reduced the spending blueprint from the governor's original proposal, but added it was lower than Reagan's recommendation.

Senate leader Howard Way, R-Exeter, said he expects a final vote on the budget Monday. It will then be sent to the Assembly.

FLATBED TRUCKS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly voted 43-13 yesterday to prohibit the transport of children in flatbed stake trucks.

Assemblyman John Miller, D-Berkeley, said the bill was requested by the Highway Patrol after a number of accidents involving children and the trucks.

A truck carrying 59 children and counselors overturned in Alameda County, killing several of the children, he noted.

The measure was sent to the Senate.

LOBBYIST BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill tightening controls on lobbyists who fail to report how much money they spend to influence legislation won unanimous Senate approval yesterday and was sent to the Assembly.

Under the measure by Sen. Clair Burgener, R-San Diego, a lobbyist who neglected to turn in his monthly expense report to the Legislature would have his permit to lobby revoked.

TEACHERS' LEAVES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill requiring school districts to give teachers leaves of absence for pregnancy and childbirth cleared the Assembly on a 43-11 vote yesterday and was sent to the Senate.

Presently, leaves for pregnancy are entirely within the discretion of individual school boards.

REVENUE UP

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The State received 12.3 per cent more revenue during the first 11 months of the current fiscal year than in the same period in 1967-68, Controller Houston I. Flournoy reported Thursday.

He said general fund receipts through May 31 totaled $3.62 billion, compared with $3.23 billion for the previous fiscal period.

JOB TRAINING

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan must act in the next 10 days to increase state funds to train welfare recipients for jobs or the state will lose $8.1 million in federal funds for the program, Assemblyman George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, Assembly Democratic caucus chairman said yesterday.

SCHOOL BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill authorizing a $500,000 state loan to bail out the financially troubled Libermore Valley Unified School District has been signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan said "totally inadequate fiscal management" can be blamed for the district's debts.

Probe Is Sought On Race Violence

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The city council late last night unanimously called for a grand jury investigation of the racial violence which hit the predominantly Negro Oak Park area Sunday night.

At least 450 persons attended a two-hour council discussion of the incidents which left a score of persons injured and 37 under arrest.

The council asked the grand jury to investigate police practices and also the "conduct of Oak Park citizens, black and white.

Steak And Lobster House Planned For Lodge In Novato

The dining room, bar and banquet rooms at the Lodge in Novato have been leased out for entirely new type of operation conducted separately from the hotel.

New name for these facilities is Greg's Steak 'n' Grog — a venture of Greg Hensley of San Francisco. He is a former beverage manager at the Top of the Mark in San Francisco and has also had two bars of his own. Assisting him at the Lodge will be his father, John Hensley, who was at the Top of the Mark in a managerial capacity for 23 years. Both plan on moving to Marin.

Extensive remodeling has been done in the bar and a new entrance has been made at the north side of the building. Menu will be primarily steak and lobster (separately or in combination) after the fashion of the Refectory Steak House in Greenbrae. There will be a salad bar and a choice of a la carte items. The Hensleys will endeavor to create a "young and casual atmosphere."

I understand live guitar music is planned for Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the lounge.

THE COFFEE SHOP at Greenbrae Lanes has been taken over by an Oakland corporation, Two-Cal, Inc. There have been some additions to the menu — particularly in "submarine" sandwiches and the hamburger line. Short orders and daily specials continue as before. Food service is from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. throughout the week. Art Lang of San Francisco is new manager. He has been in the food business in the midwest and on the East Coast.

IF YOU HAVE found yourself skipping the Main Street restaurants in Tiburon because of the increased tourist traffic — be advised that this community is once more in the hands of the Marinites. The result may be more to the liking of those looking for peaceful dining-out excursions.

Since the Ferry strike, no Thursday evening or Friday noon champagne tours are arriving from the city. Moreover, said Don Altenburg of the Windjammer, it appears that this situation may last through the summer. The tourist bus traffic is also off, so just about any evening you name is a good one for such places as the Windjammer, the Dock, Sam's, 39 Main, Tiburon Tommie's, El Borro or Tiburon Lodge. The Caprice and Footlight Restaurant (Boardwalk Restaurant) are equally relaxing.

Speaking of the Windjammer, I recently made a faux pas in mentioning the piano playing of Mark Williams at this dinery on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Inadvertently I coupled Mark with the Spinnaker, which is in Sausalito. I am sure the Spinnaker would enjoy having him — but the Windjammer has got him. These nautical names are confusing.

ANOTHER CASE of a little specialty restaurant making good is that of Crepes Viola! at 817 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

Owner Walter A. Lappert, who builds his menu entirely around the French pancake and has been in business here only nine months, already has franchised four other restaurants and has about 20 more in the making. Most of these are in Southern California.

Recently he incorporated the business and apparently is headed in the same direction as Haddon Salt, who also started in Sausalito with his string of fish and chip houses.

There is much more to a French pancake than a flaming crepe Suzette — the spectacular desert treatment offered at many plush restaurants. Lappert, who keeps open at 817 Bridgeway from 9 a.m. to midnight throughout the week (to 2 a.m. on Saturday nights), fills his crepes entrees with crab, mushrooms, spinach and several other delectibles, cooking many of these with wine. He also has a dozen dessert crepes besides the flaming Suzette.

I'M NOT SURE you can get in, since the event has been a sell-out since early this month, but next Thursday evening will see another California Night at Cafe Bon Vin, San Anselmo.

Guest of honor, presenting his wines and some of his family recipes, will be Robert Mondavi, who just a few years ago built his own winery in Oakville, Napa County. The Mondavi family, of course, is well known for its wine growing and has been associated with the Charles Krug wines. Mondavi's wines are already winning medals and several of them will be served by Fred Cherry next Thursday, with running comments by Mondavi.

Occasionally there are last minute cancellations, so if you are willing to stand by on the chance there will be an opening that night it might pay you to phone Cafe Bon Vin and leave your name and number.

Cafe Bon Vin is now preparing hors d'oeuvres and other French fare for parties at home. Food will be delivered or can be picked up at the restaurant.

CHEF at Diamond Lil's in Petaluma is now Joe Reinhardt, who has been a number of years in the North Bay — including Marin. You have a choice of Continental or broiler items here.

THE MARSHALL HOUSE at 835 Second Street, Santa Rosa, has discontinued serving dinners on weekdays. Dinners are now served only on Sundays from 1 to 6:30 p.m. Lunches continue as before.

MENU PSYCHOLOGY. According to one authority, the top item in any group of entrees has the best chance of being the one ordered. Exceptions might be in the case of circled or boxed items placed conspicuously at top, bottom or sides or "specials" clipped to the menu, which the customer could be expected to see first.

Unless you are accustomed to drinking wine with your meals regularly, the chances are that you won't order a bottle voluntarily unless the wine list is an integral part of the menu — or the waiter or waitress suggests it. In a haute dinery if the waiter reels off a long list of wine names, the odds are that the last one he mentions will be the one selected. If the wines are imported, suggested with a French accent — watch out for that last one. It could be the $16 bottle.

THE BENIHANA OF TOKYO chain of steakhouses, which recently opened one restaurant at 740 Taylor Street, San Francisco, is among recent companies to start franchising its units. New openings will be in Hawaii, Las Vegas, Washington, D. C., Los Angeles, Houston, St. Louis, Detroit and Capetown, South Africa.

Benihana, operated in San Francisco by former wrestling champion Rocky Aoki, has no real kitchen. Each table, which seats up to eight people, has a built-in tabletop grill where steaks, chicken and shrimp are cooked before the diners. The table was designed by Aoki's father 15 years ago in Tokyo.

35-Minute Meeting Sets Record

The Marin County Personnel Commission appointed two subcommittees and zipped through a brief agenda in a record 35 minutes yesterday.

When the meeting opened at 3 p.m. at the Civic Center, only three commissioners were present — chairman Bella Aaron, Muriel Appenzeller, and I. Wayland Bonbright.

Without a full board, the commissioners decided to wait until the July 17 meeting to adopt rules updating old rules set up in 1960, when the county had no personnel office or staff. Since then, county supervisors have assigned various responsibilities to the personnel staff, and the role of the personnel commission is to give policy and planning advice. These changes in assignments are reflected in the new rules and regulations.

Chairman Aaron appointed Bonbright and Robert B. McCreadie to a subcommittee to study the testing and qualifications of minorities and other disadvantaged groups who apply for county employment. The commissioners want to make sure that minorities and other disadvantaged persons are not barred from county employment by unrealistic requirements and formal degrees.

The chairman then named McKenzie as a one-man committee to see if all county employees have access to a uniform grievance procedure.

The New Look In Police Cars

Novato residents this week began getting used to seeing an all-white car with policemen in it.

But the novelty will soon wear off because the Novato Police Department is switching to white cars and by about July 1, the five patrol unites will be entirely white, replacing the metalic silver grey with white doors and tops, said Police Chief Robert Di Grazia.

The cars will have a seven pointed decal, the same as the police badge, on the doors, Di Grazia said, replacing the words "Novato Police."

Skulls, 100,000 Years Old, Show A Thriving Man

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The discovery of two skulls dating back 100,000 years proves our ancestors were "highly sophisticated and not dissimilar to ourselves," their finder said yesterday.

A report on the discovery, described as the most complete specimens of such age ever recovered, is due to appear today in the London scientific Journal Nature.

Richard Leakey, director of Kenya's National Museum, led the team that found the skulls in southwest Ethiopia in 1967. Their expedition was financed by the National Georgraphic Society of Washington, D.C.

Dr. Michael Day of Middlesex Hospital Medical School, London, pieced together in the tiny skull fragments. The report said Day's findings prove beyond reasonable doubt that men looking much like those of today were thriving in the Middle Pleistocene Period.

The magazine article was written by Day, Leakey and Karl Butzer of the University of Chicago, who led the American party in the search.

Skulls, 100,000 Years Old, Show A Thriving Man

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The discovery of two skulls dating back 100,000 years proves our ancestors were "highly sophisticated and not dissimilar to ourselves," their finder said yesterday.

A report on the discovery, described as the most complete specimens of such age ever recovered, is due to appear today in the London scientific Journal Nature.

Richard Leakey, director of Kenya's National Museum, led the team that found the skulls in southwest Ethiopia in 1967. Their expedition was financed by the National Georgraphic Society of Washington, D.C.

Dr. Michael Day of Middlesex Hospital Medical School, London, pieced together in the tiny skull fragments. The report said Day's findings prove beyond reasonable doubt that men looking much like those of today were thriving in the Middle Pleistocene Period.

The magazine article was written by Day, Leakey and Karl Butzer of the University of Chicago, who led the American party in the search.

Firehouse, Rec Center Ahead Of Sanitation?

The San Rafael City Council, at its Monday night meeting, commissioned architect Robert W. F. Severin to do preliminary planning for relocation of the city corporation yard and for a new firehouse and a recreation center.

At the same meeting, the council received from Dan Coleman Associates a report which it had commissioned, calling for outlay of $1,776,750 for upgrading the sanitary sewer system. Of this, said the report, $573,792 should be spent immediately to correct "an almost intolerable condition in the vicinity of Second Street and Lincoln Avenue."

There are some priorities involved here.

THE CITY COUNCIL has boxed itself into a position where it must spend money right away to relocate the corporation yard. It did this by selling off part of the corporation yard property.

San Rafael's fire protection has been vastly improved during the last decade. Fire Chief Vance Trivett never lets up on calling for further improvement — which is to his credit. The proposed new firehouse would be a new headquarters station. If built on the east end of the city hall property, as proposed in the original city hall plan, it would eliminate the old headquarters station across the street. If it were built elsewhere, the old station might need to be kept for its strategic location downtown.

It is not hard to see why Chief Trivett wants a new headquarters station. But this does not appear to be a requirement of pressing importance.

A recreation center has been talked of repeatedly over the years. The city now rents space for a senior citizen center from Pacific Gas & Electric Co. The arrangement is not too satisfactory, and there is constant cry for more facilities for youth recreation.

Again, however, the need, while real, does not seem to be of tremendous urgency.

THE SEWER SYSTEM, on the other hand, is long overdue an overhaul.

The Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board has been after the city and the San Rafael Sanitation District to correct infiltration of storm water into the sanitary sewer system. This happens whenever there is heavy rainfall. The result is that sewage must be passed through the treatment plant without getting treated. And worse still, from the standpoint of San Rafael residents, raw sewage bubbles out of cleanouts and even manholes.

The result is not so bad for bay pollution as the San Francisco system of running sewage and storm water through the same lines and simply by-passing the treatment plants whenever it rains. But in its effect on the environment of San Rafael itself, it is about on a par with the systems in some Indian cities that were devised a few centuries before Christ. To be explicit, it stinks.

We cannot but wonder at the sense of priorities that causes the city council to move ahead on firehouse and recreation center before addressing itself to the much more pressing need for proper sanitation.

Cow Parsnip—Indian Treat

Between Taylor Park and Olema, clusters of white blossoms on tall, thick stalks with lush leaves decorate the roadside. These sheep-like apparitions are cow parsnips and their near relatives.

The boiled stalks of cow parsnip were a common, favorite food of the Coast Indians from Alaska to California. We understand they are quite tasty with butter, salt and pepper, if cut while young and tender.

Through June they should be the most prominent wild flower in Western Marin.

Latin name of the cow parsnip is Heracleum lanatum: Heracleum for the god of strength because of its imagined potency as a medicine, and lanatum for its wool-like appearance. The name cow parsnip derives from its edible root, also favored by the Indians.

Weeds and shrubbery overhanging a rural walkway may be picturesque and pleasant, but when they overhang a sidewalk within a block of the San Rafael City Hall, they are neither.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

'One Man, One Vote' On Bonds? Suit Puts Issue Before Court

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A threat to a long-standing provision of the California constitution is contained in a suit filed in Sutter County Superior Court by California Rural Legal Assistance.

The suit challenges the constitutional requirement of a two-thirds vote of the people to pass bond issues, on the theory that this gives people voting "no" twice the influence of those voting "yes."

Therefore, the suit contends, the provision violates the "one man, one vote" principle elucidated by the United States Supreme Court in the case which denuded the rural areas of legislative predominance in the state Senate some years ago.

Plaintiffs in the case are parents of children attending school in Yuba City Unified School District. The children, it is claimed, are attending double sessions necessitated by crowded conditions and inadequate funding. In a recent election on school bonds, less than two-thirds of the voters approved a bond issue to alleviate the situation. The "yes" votes were in the majority, but the two-thirds requirement prevented the issue from passing.

THE STATE Legislature a few years ago submitted to a vote of the people a reduction in the two-thirds requirement for passage of bond issues, to 60 per cent. The voters turned it down.

The Legislature itself can neither spend the Taxpayers' money. Nor impose new taxes without a two-thirds vote of both houses.

It has been a long-time theory that the people who pay the bills, namely, the taxpayers, who as a group, are in the minority, should have some say as to how their money is spent.

PROPERTY taxpayers contribute a majority of the costs of education in California, and it therefore follows that this minority group needs to have some restraint in the constitution.

Thus, turhing over the authority to spend public monies without contributing a fair share to the coffers of the state treasury, would deprive the people who pay the bills of reasonable control over expenditures.

Many millions of dollars are involved in school bond issues, and each one voted by a two-thirds majority involves a heavier burden on property taxpayers.

Last year, surveys revealed 96 bond issues failed, and of these, 76 would have passed had majority rule been in effect.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Handicapped Child Help Appreciated

We, the parents of Robert M. Stommel, wish to thank you for the fine article of our son on June 13.

We would like to say that none of these things could have been had it not been for many dedicated people. Starting with the original school for the handicapped at Marin General Hospital, to Marindale School, to the administrators, teachers, therapist, student help and the many others that helped him physically, mentally, and spiritually. Robert has been a determined son, and we can say honestly, we are proud of him and wish to say thank you to all who have helped make this event a reality.

Air Force Rocks Homes—For What?

With its usual military arrogance, Hamilton AFB planes rocked my home Wednesday night (June 11) with a sonic boom that I thought was an explosion, and with more booms Thursday morning that felt like small earthquakes. They are doing their exercises, they informed me when I called. This is not wartime, and a taxpayer, homeowner, non-military citizen should not have to sit frightened in their shaking house because the Air Force wants to exercise. The AF should do their exercises out over the water, or not at all. I have written to Senators Murphy and Cranston about this, and suggest that others do the same.

Believers, Atheists Both Lack Proof

In response to my letter, Mrs. Anita Johnson (June 17) quotes the Bible to indicate that those who say there is no God are fools.

If Mrs. Johnson will re-read my letter, I believe she will find that I did not say there is no God. In essence I said that those who say there is a God or Gods, as indicated by "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance, should be willing to offer some scientific verification. I don't believe they can.

On the other hand, to those who say there is no God or Gods, I would also say — prove it.

Needless Uproar In Fairfax Case

As a Marinite temporarily ensconced in Denver, I stay apprised of local issues through your publication.

Re the recent havoc at the Fairfax City Council gathering precipitated by charges of police brutality on the part of the Fairfax chief of police, I would make these brief observations:

Firstly, reports concerning the issue are vague and obviously contradictory. The fact that the incident is currently under investigation by the proper authorities would preclude it from discussion at a council meeting and thus eliminate needless excitement by an unruly few on both sides.

Secondly, Mayor Frank O'Connell is to be highly commended for his patient, calm, and forthright handling of a potentially volatile situation. Politics, from the grassroots level on up, needs more men of this caliber — men who eschew exhibitionism for its own sake.

Initiative Petition Restricted To Voters

I have the greatest regard for your peaceful and practical approaches to resolving the problems that may confront our fellow citizens . . . But, when you do write down something that is supposedly fact, and those same facts will serve to inform the public on what is the truth, you better make sure that you can validate the statements that supposed to be factural.

You failed to do this June 9. You stated that "anyone can circulate an initiative petition, though only voters may sign. The way is open for disenchanted students to seek public support in a manner which would force the governor and legislature to recognize their demands —and without breaking either a law or a window to do it." Now, if you really looked hard, you would have discovered that further on down Article IV, Section I of the state constitution it states: "Any qualified elector of the state shall be competent to solicit said signatures within the county or city and county of which he is an elector. . . Each section shall have attached thereto the affidavit of the person soliciting signatures to the same, stating his own qualifications and that all the signatures to the attached section were made in his presence. . . ."

SEAN McCARTHY
San Rafael.

(Editor's note: Young McCarthy is correct that the constitution provides that an eligible elector (i.e., a person 21 years old and registered to vote) must take responsibility for circulation of each initiative petition. The avenue is not closed to younger students, however. While petitions lacking this voter sponsorship would not have the force of law, the Legislature could scarcely ignore one carrying signatures of eight per cent of the voters in the last gubernatorial election, regardless of who gathered those signatures.)

Social Security Raise Eaten Up?

For heaven's sake! Don't say Congress has absorbed the promised raise for Social Security recipients to offset living costs?

"Try heaven," advised his feint-hearted companion. "You've moved enough earth already!"

In response to a query about hippies, Victor Borge answered, "I like only one — and that's my wife. In fact, she's been getting a little too hippy lately." (He added, "If my wife sees this, it's goodbye forever.")

Arms Control Talks Coming At Last Possible Moment

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The most fateful negotiation ever undertaken by man and between the two most powerfully armed nations ever to exist — the United States and the Soviet Union — will begin this summer.

It is now or never — and the heartening fact is that at last each side has said NOW.

The immediate goal is to slow down and bring under control the massively mounting costs and dangerous risks of the unchecked nuclear arms race.

At stake is survival; nothing less. Survival of mankind itself from nuclear holocaust by accident or design and survival of a decent society which is not just a military fortress.

THE REASON it is now or never is that the arms race is escalating with such speed and technology that, coupled with mutual fear, neither nation dares stop separately.

Those closet to the facts know the race is now at a point where if it isn't stopped jointly soon it will be too late.

THESE negotiations will at no point be easy. They will be delicated and difficult and uncertain because at stake on both sides are the security and safety of the nation. If either side makes a misguided or imprudent decision, it will put itself in military peril.

If either the Soviet Union or the United States fails to maintain a sufficiency of nuclear strength and thus loses its deterrent power, an arms agreeement could make war more likely, not less, and subject one or both to nuclear blackmail.

This is why President Nixon has taken needed time to review and resolve every major and every minute negotiated position the United States will take to the conference table. He has done this carefully, painstakingly and wisely. To have done less would have been derelict.

THERE IS NO justification for accusing the President of slowing his review to delay the start of the U.S.-Russian talks.

It took Moscow 18 months to get ready to accept President Johnson's proposal for talks. And then the Russians threw away the opportunity to begin negotiations nearly a year ago by invading Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Nixon has taken only five months to get ready, and it is evident that he acted with deliberate speed. He had the advantage of Mr. Johnson's exhaustive studies and recommendations but, since Mr. Nixon had to take sole responsibility for the kind of arms-control proposals the United States would accept or reject, it was his duty to re-examine everything. If something went wrong, could Mr. Nixon successfully defend himself by saying: "Well, this is what my predecessor recommended?" Hardly.

ALTHOUGH the arms talks are starting just this side of too late, they may well be coming at a moment which holds the best chance of success.

Both sides are more acutely aware than ever that if the nuclear arms race is not brought under control soon, its continuing acceleration will make it nearly impossible to bring it under control later.

Both sides know that if the arms race is not checked the worst is more likely to happen.

THE PRESENT balance in nuclear power between the Russians and the United States makes the present the most practical and propitious moment to reach agreement. Neither side is negotiating from a superiority. Each is negotiating from near equality.

Each side needs to use for constructive purposes much of the resources it is now spending on the arms race.

The time is now. There may be no tomorrow.

Obscure Need, High Cost For Meeting At Midway

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is something awkward and possibly a bit depressing about national leaders holding so-called summit conferences on places such as Midway Island. At best, it is hard to understand.

The meeting of President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam certainly was in an atmosphere of he ramparts of the Citadel at Quebec City.

The one-day meeting on Midway between Nixon and Thieu cost a whale of a lot of money —not just the government, but the commercial companies television networks, press associations, broadcasters, newspapers and magazines.

If the meeting accomplished anything in the direction of peace, cost would be a very minor factor. Also, the newsgathering organizations have no basic complaint since it is their normal responsibility to go where news develops and report it.

HOLDING a meeting between chiefs of government and their staffs on Midway, however, Is something like holding a national political convention in a small motel at Thurmont, Md.

Leaders such as Nixon and Thieu meet for two reasons —to make decisions, and then to communicate these decision to the world.

The public relations impact sometimes can be as powerful as the decisions. In the case of Midway, there should be medals for members of the White House staff, the U.S. Navy and specialists of tne major communications companies who accomplished a task which they first thought was absolutely impossible.

Within about a week, they converted an isolated little naval station on a tiny island into a massive, functioning communications complex —and it worked.

NAVAL PERSONNEL worked around the clock for seven or eight days, freshly painting the frame houses which would serve only for a few hours as residences for the two presidents.

Twenty or more automobiles had to be flown in from various Pacific stations because no private passenger vehicles is allowed on Midway — only a handful of public service vehicles for emergencies such as fires and air crashes.

There were two Lincoln Continentals for the chief executives, security escort vehicles and automobiles for ranking members of each delegation.

As brightly polished as these vehicles were upon arrival of the two delegations, nothing could protect them from God's dive-bombers, a dirty little bird called the telegraph tern. The official motorcade was visibly marked by the time Nixon said adieu to Thieu, then boarded his own plane for Hawaii.

THE GOONEY BIRDS for which Midway is so famous were not much of a problem, except for their disconcerting way of plopping down in the middle of a road and having to be moved out of the way physically. Most adult gooneys are away from Midway at this time of year, leaving behind thousands of fluffy, but rather large babies who have not learned to fly.

As far away and as poorly equipped as Midway was, the Navy worked far and beyond the call of normal duty to make the place hospitable and habitable for the chief executives and their parties.

THE CITY COUNCIL has boxed itself into a position where it must spend money right away to relocate the corporation yard. It did this by selling off part of the corporation yard property.

San Rafael's fire protection has been vastly improved during the last decade. Fire Chief Vance Trivett never lets up on calling for further improvement — which is to his credit. The proposed new firehouse would be a new headquarters station. If built on the east end of the city hall property, as proposed in the original city hall plan, it would eliminate the old headquarters station across the street. If it were built elsewhere, the old station might need to be kept for its strategic location downtown.

It is not hard to see why Chief Trivett wants a new headquarters station. But this does not appear to be a requirement of pressing importance.

A recreation center has been talked of repeatedly over the years. The city now rents space for a senior citizen center from Pacific Gas & Electric Co. The arrangement is not too satisfactory, and there is constant cry for more facilities for youth recreation.

Again, however, the need, while real, does not seem to be of tremendous urgency.

THE SEWER SYSTEM, on the other hand, is long overdue an overhaul.

The Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board has been after the city and the San Rafael Sanitation District to correct infiltration of storm water into the sanitary sewer system. This happens whenever there is heavy rainfall. The result is that sewage must be passed through the treatment plant without getting treated. And worse still, from the standpoint of San Rafael residents, raw sewage bubbles out of cleanouts and even manholes.

The result is not so bad for bay pollution as the San Francisco system of running sewage and storm water through the same lines and simply by-passing the treatment plants whenever it rains. But in its effect on the environment of San Rafael itself, it is about on a par with the systems in some Indian cities that were devised a few centuries before Christ. To be explicit, it stinks.

We cannot but wonder at the sense of priorities that causes the city council to move ahead on firehouse and recreation center before addressing itself to the much more pressing need for proper sanitation.

Cow Parsnip—Indian Treat

Between Taylor Park and Olema, clusters of white blossoms on tall, thick stalks with lush leaves decorate the roadside. These sheep-like apparitions are cow parsnips and their near relatives.

The boiled stalks of cow parsnip were a common, favorite food of the Coast Indians from Alaska to California. We understand they are quite tasty with butter, salt and pepper, if cut while young and tender.

Through June they should be the most prominent wild flower in Western Marin.

Latin name of the cow parsnip is Heracleum lanatum: Heracleum for the god of strength because of its imagined potency as a medicine, and lanatum for its wool-like appearance. The name cow parsnip derives from its edible root, also favored by the Indians.

Weeds and shrubbery overhanging a rural walkway may be picturesque and pleasant, but when they overhang a sidewalk within a block of the San Rafael City Hall, they are neither.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

'One Man, One Vote' On Bonds? Suit Puts Issue Before Court

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A threat to a long-standing provision of the California constitution is contained in a suit filed in Sutter County Superior Court by California Rural Legal Assistance.

The suit challenges the constitutional requirement of a two-thirds vote of the people to pass bond issues, on the theory that this gives people voting "no" twice the influence of those voting "yes."

Therefore, the suit contends, the provision violates the "one man, one vote" principle elucidated by the United States Supreme Court in the case which denuded the rural areas of legislative predominance in the state Senate some years ago.

Plaintiffs in the case are parents of children attending school in Yuba City Unified School District. The children, it is claimed, are attending double sessions necessitated by crowded conditions and inadequate funding. In a recent election on school bonds, less than two-thirds of the voters approved a bond issue to alleviate the situation. The "yes" votes were in the majority, but the two-thirds requirement prevented the issue from passing.

THE STATE Legislature a few years ago submitted to a vote of the people a reduction in the two-thirds requirement for passage of bond issues, to 60 per cent. The voters turned it down.

The Legislature itself can neither spend the Taxpayers' money. Nor impose new taxes without a two-thirds vote of both houses.

It has been a long-time theory that the people who pay the bills, namely, the taxpayers, who as a group, are in the minority, should have some say as to how their money is spent.

PROPERTY taxpayers contribute a majority of the costs of education in California, and it therefore follows that this minority group needs to have some restraint in the constitution.

Thus, turhing over the authority to spend public monies without contributing a fair share to the coffers of the state treasury, would deprive the people who pay the bills of reasonable control over expenditures.

Many millions of dollars are involved in school bond issues, and each one voted by a two-thirds majority involves a heavier burden on property taxpayers.

Last year, surveys revealed 96 bond issues failed, and of these, 76 would have passed had majority rule been in effect.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Handicapped Child Help Appreciated

We, the parents of Robert M. Stommel, wish to thank you for the fine article of our son on June 13.

We would like to say that none of these things could have been had it not been for many dedicated people. Starting with the original school for the handicapped at Marin General Hospital, to Marindale School, to the administrators, teachers, therapist, student help and the many others that helped him physically, mentally, and spiritually. Robert has been a determined son, and we can say honestly, we are proud of him and wish to say thank you to all who have helped make this event a reality.

Air Force Rocks Homes—For What?

With its usual military arrogance, Hamilton AFB planes rocked my home Wednesday night (June 11) with a sonic boom that I thought was an explosion, and with more booms Thursday morning that felt like small earthquakes. They are doing their exercises, they informed me when I called. This is not wartime, and a taxpayer, homeowner, non-military citizen should not have to sit frightened in their shaking house because the Air Force wants to exercise. The AF should do their exercises out over the water, or not at all. I have written to Senators Murphy and Cranston about this, and suggest that others do the same.

Believers, Atheists Both Lack Proof

In response to my letter, Mrs. Anita Johnson (June 17) quotes the Bible to indicate that those who say there is no God are fools.

If Mrs. Johnson will re-read my letter, I believe she will find that I did not say there is no God. In essence I said that those who say there is a God or Gods, as indicated by "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance, should be willing to offer some scientific verification. I don't believe they can.

On the other hand, to those who say there is no God or Gods, I would also say — prove it.

Needless Uproar In Fairfax Case

As a Marinite temporarily ensconced in Denver, I stay apprised of local issues through your publication.

Re the recent havoc at the Fairfax City Council gathering precipitated by charges of police brutality on the part of the Fairfax chief of police, I would make these brief observations:

Firstly, reports concerning the issue are vague and obviously contradictory. The fact that the incident is currently under investigation by the proper authorities would preclude it from discussion at a council meeting and thus eliminate needless excitement by an unruly few on both sides.

Secondly, Mayor Frank O'Connell is to be highly commended for his patient, calm, and forthright handling of a potentially volatile situation. Politics, from the grassroots level on up, needs more men of this caliber — men who eschew exhibitionism for its own sake.

Initiative Petition Restricted To Voters

I have the greatest regard for your peaceful and practical approaches to resolving the problems that may confront our fellow citizens . . . But, when you do write down something that is supposedly fact, and those same facts will serve to inform the public on what is the truth, you better make sure that you can validate the statements that supposed to be factural.

You failed to do this June 9. You stated that "anyone can circulate an initiative petition, though only voters may sign. The way is open for disenchanted students to seek public support in a manner which would force the governor and legislature to recognize their demands —and without breaking either a law or a window to do it." Now, if you really looked hard, you would have discovered that further on down Article IV, Section I of the state constitution it states: "Any qualified elector of the state shall be competent to solicit said signatures within the county or city and county of which he is an elector. . . . Each section shall have attached thereto the affidavit of the person soliciting signatures to the same, stating his own qualifications and that all the signatures to the attached section were made in his presence. . . ."

SEAN McCARTHY
San Rafael.

(Editor's note: Young McCarthy is correct that the constitution provides that an eligible elector (i.e., a person 21 years old and registered to vote) must take responsibility for circulation of each initiative petition. The avenue is not closed to younger students, however. While petitions lacking this voter sponsorship would not have the force of law, the Legislature could scarcely ignore one carrying signatures of eight per cent of the voters in the last gubernatorial election, regardless of who gathered those signatures.)

Social Security Raise Eaten Up?

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The most fateful negotiation ever undertaken by man and between the two most powerfully armed nations ever to exist — the United States and the Soviet Union — will begin this summer.

It is now or never — and the heartening fact is that at last each side has said NOW.

The immediate goal is to slow down and bring under control the massively mounting costs and dangerous risks of the unchecked nuclear arms race.

At stake is survival; nothing less. Survival of mankind itself from nuclear holocaust by accident or design and survival of a decent society which is not just a military fortress.

THE REASON it is now or never is that the arms race is escalating with such speed and technology that, coupled with mutual fear, neither nation dares stop separately.

Those closet to the facts know the race is now at a point where if it isn't stopped jointly soon it will be too late.

THESE negotiations will at no point be easy. They will be delicated and difficult and uncertain because at stake on both sides are the security and safety of the nation. If either side makes a misguided or imprudent decision, it will put itself in military peril.

If either the Soviet Union or the United States fails to maintain a sufficiency of nuclear strength and thus loses its deterrent power, an arms agreeement could make war more likely, not less, and subject one or both to nuclear blackmail.

This is why President Nixon has taken needed time to review and resolve every major and every minute negotiated position the United States will take to the conference table. He has done this carefully, painstakingly and wisely. To have done less would have been derelict.

THERE IS NO justification for accusing the President of slowing his review to delay the start of the U.S.-Russian talks.

It took Moscow 18 months to get ready to accept President Johnson's proposal for talks. And then the Russians threw away the opportunity to begin negotiations nearly a year ago by invading Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Nixon has taken only five months to get ready, and it is evident that he acted with deliberate speed. He had the advantage of Mr. Johnson's exhaustive studies and recommendations but, since Mr. Nixon had to take sole responsibility for the kind of arms-control proposals the United States would accept or reject, it was his duty to re-examine everything. If something went wrong, could Mr. Nixon successfully defend himself by saying: "Well, this is what my predecessor recommended?" Hardly.

ALTHOUGH the arms talks are starting just this side of too late, they may well be coming at a moment which holds the best chance of success.

Both sides are more acutely aware than ever that if the nuclear arms race is not brought under control soon, its continuing acceleration will make it nearly impossible to bring it under control later.

Both sides know that if the arms race is not checked the worst is more likely to happen.

THE PRESENT balance in nuclear power between the Russians and the United States makes the present the most practical and propitious moment to reach agreement. Neither side is negotiating from a superiority. Each is negotiating from near equality.

Each side needs to use for constructive purposes much of the resources it is now spending on the arms race.

The time is now. There may be no tomorrow.

Obscure Need, High Cost For Meeting At Midway

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is something awkward and possibly a bit depressing about national leaders holding so-called summit conferences on places such as Midway Island. At best, it is hard to understand.

The meeting of President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam certainly was in an atmosphere of he ramparts of the Citadel at Quebec City.

The one-day meeting on Midway between Nixon and Thieu cost a whale of a lot of money —not just the government, but the commercial companies television networks, press associations, broadcasters, newspapers and magazines.

If the meeting accomplished anything in the direction of peace, cost would be a very minor factor. Also, the news-gathering organizations have no basic complaint since it is their normal responsibility to go where news develops and report it.

HOLDING a meeting between chiefs of government and their staffs on Midway, however, is something like holding a national political convention in a small motel at Thurmont, Md.

Leaders such as Nixon and Thieu meet for two reasons —to make decisions, and then to communicate these decision to the world.

The public relations impact sometimes can be as powerful as the decisions. In the case of Midway, there should be medals for members of the White House staff, the U.S. Navy and specialists of the major communications companies who accomplished a task which they first thought was absolutely impossible.

Within about a week, they converted an isolated little naval station on a tiny island into a massive, functioning communications complex —and it worked.

NAVAL PERSONNEL worked around the clock for seven or eight days, freshly painting the frame houses which would serve only for a few hours as residences for the two presidents.

Twenty or more automobiles had to be flown in from various Pacific stations because no private passenger vehicles is allowed on Midway — only a handful of public service vehicles for emergencies such as fires and air crashes.

There were two Lincoln Continentals for the chief executives, security escort vehicles and automobiles for ranking members of each delegation.

As brightly polished as these vehicles were upon arrival of the two delegations, nothing could protect them from God's dive-bombers, a dirty little bird called the telegraph tern. The official motorcade was visibly marked by the time Nixon said adieu to Thieu, then boarded his own plane for Hawaii.

THE GOONEY BIRDS for which Midway is so famous were not much of a problem, except for their disconcerting way of plopping down in the middle of a road and having to be moved out of the way physically. Most adult gooneys are away from Midway at this time of year, leaving behind thousands of fluffy, but rather large babies who have not learned to fly.

As far away and as poorly equipped as Midway was, the Navy worked far and beyond the call of normal duty to make the place hospitable and habitable for the chief executives and their parties.

How To Squeeze A Column Out Of Instant Stockings

Serious students (like me) of signs of the times are finding more and more evidence that we're turning into an instamatic society.

But it has gone even farther. One of the newest companies in Mill Valley is something called Instant Garter Corp., which, one assumes, manufactures, well, instant garters.

Since we are also serious students of garters and other such instruments of fashion, we asked several lady friends about the merits of instant garters (which someone told us are squeezed out of a tube).

The ladies agreed that they are a needed commodity. One, a transplanted New Yorker, made far and away the best case for them in describing a garter crisis that started in a subway and ended in her doctor's office.

THE LADY, it seems, had foolishly risked going out with only one garter holding up one of her stockings. On the subway, it snapped and the lady, flustered, hopped out of the subway car with, one might say, one sock off and one sock on.

It was the wrong stop, so she took a cab on to her doctor's office. In the cab, deciding that even in New York, wearing only one stocking would be considered odd, she started to take the other one off.

This done, only slightly ruffling the composure of one of Manhattan's famous unflappable cabbies, she put both stockings in her purse and zipped it up.

The stockings (and this should come as no surprise) got stuck in the zipper and the harassed lady could not open the purse. This created a new crisis since Manhattan hacks, though unflappable, expect pay for rides.

The cabbie finally accompanied our lady high into a skyscraper to the doctor's office where the kindly doctor paid the bill.

Moral of this story is that an instant garter would have solved everything. Except right now we're having a bit of a problem imagining how blase New Yorkers would react to a lady putting on a new garter out of a tube in a subway.

THERE ARE SOME things that just aren't done and this item is presented as a public service to the upstart new residents of Sausalito's Gate 5.

What they did — and Southern Marinites are still chuckling over the earthy pottibilities of the confrontation — was tell Juanita Musson she couldn't come into the area because she was a stranger.

Junita, of course, is the lusty and formidable proprietress of Juanita's Galley, formerly in Sausalito (the Gate 5 area, as a matter of fact) and now at two locations in Sonoma County.

Juanita used to virtually run the Gate 5 area and barring Juanita from Gate 5 is as patently absurd as having an outlander tell Jimmie Quinn he doesn't belong in Mill Valley.

Juanita agreed and so stated in her amazingly inventive vernacular.

Not only did Juanita give the newcomers a rather salty version of Sausalito's history and her role in same, she got into her car and, according to reliable reports, threatened to run them down if they didn't get the —— out of the way.

They got out of the way.

THE MILL VALLEY City Council, which rivals San Anselmo for the length of its meetings and Fairfax for the repetitiveness of its arguments, gave its first performance for new City Mgr. William Cunningham last Monday night.

The council sputtered through more than four hours and finished only a third of its agenda, forcing it to call an extra meeting to finish up.

Cunningham, a genial man, sat through the whole show with an often mystified expression which seemed to ask, "What have I got myself into now?" He might well wonder.

Another Mill Valley governmental note: Where would you expect to find a copy of the city's 1965-66 budget? The city finance department, right? Wrong. We asked for a look at it the other day and finance department employees looked and looked but couldn't find a copy. Nor, for that matter, could other city offices.

Oh well, 1966 is over anyway.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

McInnis's Insult To Upton Uncalled-For And Unkind

Fusselman

John McInnis, the chairman of the county board of supervisors, has been disappointing many of his supporters by his performance on the board.

In 1966, the incumbent from District One was pushing for his hand-picked candidate to succeed him. The folks were tired of the arrogant, expensive grand manner of conducting county business out at Brasilia. Both Dr. William F. Upton and McInnis were running for the position.

In this column on May 27 of that year I endorsed McInnis and said this: "Dr. William F. Upton . . . has my most sincere respect. He has done an excellent job as a planning commissioner. However, I honestly believe that, with things as they are on the board, it is imperative that broader experience be available right now." I followed this with my observation of McInnis over a 20-year period in public affairs.

Now, in the I-J issue last Tuesday, McInnis was quoted along these lines: "This is not a vote against Dr. Upton." He explained that the only reason he didn't reappoint Upton was that "I wish to bring a younger person for a perhaps more vigorous approach and, in my opinion, representative of the newer element in Marin County."

THAT WAS a brutal, gratuitous remark. It was completely uncalled for. He was on a spot — wanted to appoint the man he has now appointed, and upon appealing to the people in Terra Linda and Marinwood (where a great number of the "newer element in Marin Count" live) for recommendations (so as to gain time for maneuvering) discovered that they wouldn't buy it. This "newer element in Marin County" wanted to have Dr. Upton retained. This didn't help him keep his cool even a little bit and he blurted out this ridiculous statement.

Why in the world wasn't he kind enough to tell the doctor privately, so that he could withdraw from competition quietly?

The glamor of the surrounding out at Brasilia can work in an insidious manner on the inhabitants there if they don't constantly remind themselves to keep their feet on the ground.

Over the years, I was many times in complete disagreement with Dr. Upton, but always respected the integrity of his beliefs, John, I think this will come back and haunt you. When it does, just remember that you didn't have to do it this way.

THE BIND this board finds itself in, respecting costs to the taxpayers, has been building up for about 12 years. A yardstick for observing and measuring the total picture is to consider the money that has been paid to Alan Bruce since he has graced the scene.

He came with the county in March of 1957 from across the Pacific, after a two-year job as assistant to Don Jensen, the first administrator here. They had been hired by a San Francisco firm to advise the Philippine government. (What a laugh when you consider things out there!)

He has had a personal bonanza during these 12 years. He was paid $703 a month or $8,435 a year. Upon the resignation of his boss, he became administrator on Dec. 1, 1960, with a salary of $12,900.

Have a look at it now. McInnis insisted that this layman, whose sole experience as administrator has been here in Marin County, be raised $100 a year to $26,056, so that no one, but no one, including the county counsel, with years of professional experience in his field, be paid more. Happy days!

Biafran Forces Recapture Town

GENEVA (AP) — Biafran forces recaptured the town of Ekoli Adda in Eastern Nigeria after a fierce battle, the Biafran information office announced Thursday.

It said more than 200 Nigerian soldiers were killed, military vehicles were set ablaze and a substantial number of arms and bombs were captured by secessionist forces.

The Biafrans also claimed to have routed Nigerian forces from two villages in the Okpuala-Ngor area north of Port Harcourt, and ambushed and destroyed two Nigerian troop carriers on the Enugu-Onitsha highway.

Session Set On Opening Campus

The Mill Valley Human Rights Commission will hold a meeting, tentatively set for 8 p.m. July 17 at the city council chambers, to discuss an open campus at Tamalpais High School.

The commission Wednesday night discussed an open campus but made no recommendation. Commission chairman Roger J. Fleischmann said he expects the panel to take some action then.

A discussion on jobs for minority groups in Mill Valley was put off by the commission Wednesday because no representative of the Chamber of Commerce or other business groups in Mill Valley attended the meeting.

Fusselman

John McInnis, the chairman of the county board of supervisors, has been disappointing many of his supporters by his performance on the board.

In 1966, the incumbent from District One was pushing for his hand-picked candidate to succeed him. The folks were tired of the arrogant, expensive grand manner of conducting county business out at Brasilia. Both Dr. William F. Upton and McInnis were running for the position.

In this column on May 27 of that year I endorsed McInnis and said this: "Dr. William F. Upton . . . has my most sincere respect. He has done an excellent job as a planning commissioner. However, I honestly believe that, with things as they are on the board, it is imperative that broader experience be available right now." I followed this with my observation of McInnis over a 20-year period in public affairs.

Now, in the I-J issue last Tuesday, McInnis was quoted along these lines: "This is not a vote against Dr. Upton." He explained that the only reason he didn't reappoint Upton was that "I wish to bring a younger person for a perhaps more vigorous approach and, in my opinion, representative of the newer element in Marin County."

THAT WAS a brutal, gratuitous remark. It was completely uncalled for. He was on a spot — wanted to appoint the man he has now appointed, and upon appealing to the people in Terra Linda and Marinwood (where a great number of the "newer element in Marin Count" live) for recommendations (so as to gain time for maneuvering) discovered that they wouldn't buy it. This "newer element in Marin County" wanted to have Dr. Upton retained. This didn't help him keep his cool even a little bit and he blurted out this ridiculous statement.

Why in the world wasn't he kind enough to tell the doctor privately, so that he could withdraw from competition quietly?

The glamor of the surrounding out at Brasilia can work in an insidious manner on the inhabitants there if they don't constantly remind themselves to keep their feet on the ground.

Over the years, I was many times in complete disagreement with Dr. Upton, but always respected the integrity of his beliefs, John, I think this will come back and haunt you. When it does, just remember that you didn't have to do it this way.

THE BIND this board finds itself in, respecting costs to the taxpayers, has been building up for about 12 years. A yardstick for observing and measuring the total picture is to consider the money that has been paid to Alan Bruce since he has graced the scene.

He came with the county in March of 1957 from across the Pacific, after a two-year job as assistant to Don Jensen, the first administrator here. They had been hired by a San Francisco firm to advise the Philippine government. (What a laugh when you consider things out there!)

He has had a personal bonanza during these 12 years. He was paid $703 a month or $8,435 a year. Upon the resignation of his boss, he became administrator on Dec. 1, 1960, with a salary of $12,900.

Have a look at it now. McInnis insisted that this layman, whose sole experience as administrator has been here in Marin County, be raised $100 a year to $26,056, so that no one, but no one, including the county counsel, with years of professional experience in his field, be paid more. Happy days!

Biafran Forces Recapture Town

GENEVA (AP) — Biafran forces recaptured the town of Ekoli Adda in Eastern Nigeria after a fierce battle, the Biafran information office announced Thursday.

It said more than 200 Nigerian soldiers were killed, military vehicles were set ablaze and a substantial number of arms and bombs were captured by secessionist forces.

The Biafrans also claimed to have routed Nigerian forces from two villages in the Okpuala-Ngor area north of Port Harcourt, and ambushed and destroyed two Nigerian troop carriers on the Enugu-Onitsha highway.

Session Set On Opening Campus

The Mill Valley Human Rights Commission will hold a meeting, tentatively set for 8 p.m. July 17 at the city council chambers, to discuss an open campus at Tamalpais High School.

The commission Wednesday night discussed an open campus but made no recommendation. Commission chairman Roger J. Fleischmann said he expects the panel to take some action then.

A discussion on jobs for minority groups in Mill Valley was put off by the commission Wednesday because no representative of the Chamber of Commerce or other business groups in Mill Valley attended the meeting.

Mexican Summer Planned By Coeds

By MOLLY MARIN

Three Marin girls and one from Sonoma are leaving Monday to spend a working summer in Mexico City.

Lorie Adams of Kentfield and Debbie Donaldson of Sausalito, College of Marin students; Jean Murray of Sonoma, a student at Sonoma State College; and Susan McClees of San Rafael, University of California student, all music majors, will be among the group of 14 co-eds playing in the orchestra of the Mexico City supper club, El Forum.

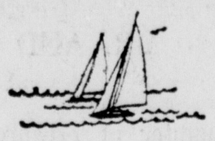
The club is owned and operated by the four Castro Brothers, a Latin American singing act, which appears in U.S. night clubs and has been on "The Joey Bishop Show." In Mexico they have their own weekly television show. Arturo Castro, leader of the group, is sponsoring the tour.

The girls will live at the Suite el Parque, the Mexico City hotel built for the 1968 Olympics.

THE ALBERT J. Bigons will be aboard the Lurline when it sails Saturday from Los Angeles harbor for Hawaii.

MRS. JAMES M. Mertz of Rye, N.Y., was a recent visitor at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

Allegra Knapp Mertz, chairman of the Adams Cup committee for the North American Sailing Union, was in Belvedere for the Women's North American Sailing Championships when they were hosted by the Belvedere club in 1966. She is a four-time winner of the Adams Cup herself, and one of the country's outstanding yachtswomen.



Martha McDougle of SFYC, who took second in last year's Adams Cups finals in Bay Head, N.J., will represent the local club in Adams semi-finals in Southern California this summer. Crewing for Martha will be Ann Elders and Connie Stong.

A NEW YACHT for the Ben Hirsches of Belvedere and the Herbert Rosses of San Francisco. The two couples have bought a Frisco Flyer, a 26 ft. sailing sloop, to be named Chere Amie, and berthed at San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere.

THREE BRIDAL showers have been held in Novato honoring Sharon Sawyer of Novato who will be married to Paul Herriott of Novato on July 12.

Mrs. Paul Brindel and her sister, Margaret Hardina, honored Sharon at a shower Saturday. Other showers were given by Mrs. Robert Nichols and Mrs. Gifford Briggs.

Sharon is the daughter of Mrs. Harold Goerndt.

The Mahons were married in Berkeley and have lived in Mill Valley since 1952. Dr. Mahon is on the staff of the St. Francis Hospital and the Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco, and Mrs. Mahon is currently the president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the California Medical Association. They have one daughter, Mrs. Paul Wilhelm of Oakland.

Marin guests at the dinner party will be Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Fellows of Mill Valley and Dr. and Mrs. John Kirkpatrick of San Anselmo.

A Shimmery Look In Fall Style

NEW YORK (AP) — The look of summer sunshine will be carried over into fall fashions this year.

Designers have made abundant use of rhinestones, water glass and sequins in their evening wear, putting shimmery touches to simple fabrics like wool and jersey.

Bill Travilla, the Hollywood dress designer, likes the glittery look too. His collection, definitely glamour girl inspired, featured several evening pajamas and lots of brocades. One short cocktail dress was made from a gold and ivory striped fabric so delicate it moved like tissue paper.

TRAVILLA, WHO designs Diahann Carroll's clothes for the television series "Julia," likes those plunging styles, both in front and back. One model inadvertently put the dress on backwards and the designer, resplendent in a red plaid suit, shirt and tie, noted that the built-in bra he had carefully styled was doing a great job of holding up her shoulder blades.

His dresses start at $300 and go as high as $1500.

Autumn is the season for the great look of suits and Davidow has guaranteed a colorful, bold fall look with huge plaids of red, white and blue, mauve and moss, yellow and black. The skirts are short and swingy.

Coats come in bright plaids too and they are simply styled with high pockets, thick belts in a long, A-line shape. Suits and coats are priced from $170 to $250.

San Rafael Stylist To Go On Teaching Tour

San Rafael hair stylist Wayne Clark is under contract to a national beauty supply firm and will tour the country demonstrating new techniques in hair styling.

The first of his four hour private classes will be held Sunday in Spokane, Wash. Monday morning he will be in Lewiston, Idaho, and that evening beauticians in Kennewick, Wash., will have the opportunity of attending his class.

While in New York to sign the contract, Wayne learned a new technique in hair cutting — French tapering.

"It makes the hair easier to back comb and it stays better," he says.

Wayne feels that the new cutting techniques is leading to a new trend in hair styling with the hair wavy on top, closer to the head, giving an overall softer look.

The hair stylist is a native of San Rafael and a graduate of San Rafael High School. He studied in Europe in 1965 and that year received an honorable mention for his daytime style in the Paris Haute Coiffure show.

Why Not Serve Teen-Agers Hamburger For Breakfast?

Hamburgers for breakfast?

"Why not?" asks nutritionist Frances Hall of Chicago. 'Especially where young people are concerned, the important thing is to get enough of the right nutrients into them at breakfast. One of the excuses they use for skipping or skimping at breakfast is the monotony . . . they're tired of the 'same old thing'."

Mrs. Hall, assistant director of nutrition research of the National Live Stock and Meat Board and mother of two college students, observes that there's nothing nutritionally wrong with 'the same old thing" . . . if that happens to be eggs and/or bacon or sausage and/or milk and fruit.

"But you don't have to belong to the mod generation to know traditions are being broken all over the place . . . including so-called established food patterns," she said. "Look how many people are eating breakfast-type foods, like eggs and pancakes, for supper; cereals for lunch, etc. All of us should get a fourth to a third of our daily required nutrients at breakfast . . . and teen-agers require even more nutrients than adults. So what does it matter whether its hamburgers or hot dogs or pizzas or ham sandwiches for breakfast — perhaps — so long as they eat?"

It might matter to the mother who has to get up and fix it, Mrs. Hall admits — pointing out at the same time, however, that one reason teen-agers and others don't eat breakfast is because no one takes the time to prepare it. Also, if the idea of "different" foods at breakfast catches on, the teen-agers might just possibly get interested enough to prepare their own breakfasts.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Women Just Naturally Judge Trip Miles By Map 'Inches'

DEAR HELEN:

Every vacation it's the same thing. My wife thinks in inches, while I know miles are involved. We plan a cross-country trip, and she immediately wants side trips.

"But honey," she says, "It's only another two inches from Yellowstone to Glacier Park, and we may never be that close again." She forgets that two inches equal 250 miles on our atlas map. We end up fighting. If I win, she mourns for Glacier Park all the way to Chicago and back, and if she wins, we never get to Chicago.

Also, she's the type who, if I ask, "How far is the Long Beach turn-off, looks on the road map and says, "Oh, about half an inch."

What do you do with women like this? — NED

DEAR NED:

Maybe you should ask my husband. He's got one! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Thanks for sticking up for us career girls. My husband resents my part time job, even though I only work from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. and am home to see him and the kids off, and fix a good dinner for them at night.

I'm happier, healthier and much more human since I started to work — and now I can talk about something more than recipes and redecorating.

I've only been working two weeks. Do you think he'll adjust? — DOROTHY

DEAR DOROTHY:

Most men adjust to their "working wives" — if work doesn't interfere with comforts. Stay with it! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have no compassion for those women who complain of being treated as "brainless slaves" by their husbands. Didn't they take a long hard look at their men before they married them? Or did they act "brainless" to catch a husband, then resent being treated that way?

I can talk to my husband about politics, world affairs, everything and he respects my opinon. After all, we're both college graduates. He was aware before marriage that I expected to be treated as more than a machine to cook, clean and give him children.

Women should never have to hide their brains from a man. If they feel they must, he isn't much of a man and they'd better look farther. A real man doesn't need to dominate women and children to keep his male ego intact. — KAY

DEAR HELEN:

Yes, a man can treat his wife as an equal — in respect and friendship. However, the husband deserves the right to bring in the largest loaf of bread and thus have the majority vote on final decisions if agreement can't be reached by discussion. If there are too many chiefs and not enough Indians, someone is always fighting for the eagle feather.

My husband and I battled for five years. I demanded my rights as a free thinker, and liberty to do what I pleased. I flexed my muscles and he retreated. I ended up making a mad dash in his direction and, as a result, I maintain my rights as an individual but I opened my eyes, lowered my voice and now we listen instead of battle.

I have also discovered the delights of homemaking. Now he is the sole bread winner and I the sole baker. I don't have to kiss his foot though I sometimes pick up his shoes.

I may bring the house down by suggesting: Ladies, give the man his world back, and enjoy the results! — JULIA

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Next week Petaluma will be host to its 102nd Sonoma-Marin Fair. It is one of the Bay Area's most colorful annual events, with much of the flavor and fun of the old-fashioned country fair. Tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine offers a special salute to the Sonoma-Marin Fair, with two special articles prepared by Bonnie Bard, this newspaper's Petaluma Bureau reporter. There's also a compelte program for the fair included in the magazine.

Don't call it folk dancing, say its devotees. It's Scottish country dancing. And it is the favorite recreation of a group of Marinites who gather once a week in Mill Valley for lively sessions of jigs and reels. There are kilts and there are tea and scones. It all amounts to a wee bit of Scotland in Marin. And I-J Marin Magazine editor Don Keown reports on these dancers and their hobby in the weekend supplement tomorrow.

DUTIES KEEP THEM HOPPING

New Careers For Retired Men At San Anselmo Bus Station

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Going back to work after already retiring has its ups and downs for three gentlemen who became ticket agents of the San Anselmo bus depot May 1.

For example: Four hour shifts often stretch to five. Either the legs or the feet can give out. And then there's that occasional ticket buyer on the phone with a foreign accent who swears because the agent is unable to understand his English.

One who came out of retirement is Charles B. Mills, 72, of 26 Paloma Drive, Corte Madera.

A machinist for 15 years, Mills said, "I used to work with decimals. Now it's all dollars and cents."

Standing bothers Mills somewhat, he says. Although he has a stool, he is usually kept hopping between the ticket counter, the candy and express business and the telephone.

The best thing about the job is the people, in Mills' mind. He praised the bus drivers and customers for being helpful. "In fact," he said, "sometimes they'll (customers) come in and tell us how to make out a ticket. That's a fact. That shows you how nice they are."

Then there is the drama. One day a hippie couple came in and the girl kept sobbing and sobbing and saying "Don't go. Don't go." She kept sobbing until they went out together, according to Mills.

Splitting the work with Mills at the depot at 718A San Anselmo Avenue are Lynn B. Falch, 65, of 23 Stetson Avenue, Corte Madera, a retired public relations man; and Norman D. Gray, 63, of 13 Washington Avenue, San Rafael, formerly in stocks and bonds.

Retired accountant William H. Newlon, 63, of 9 Jordan Avenue, San Anselmo, does not sell tickets but is responsible for all bookkeeping.

The Marin Senior Coordinating Council took over the Greyhound ticket agency on retirement of Ada McVerry of Ross when an agent could not be found and the depot was threatened with closing.

Mills, Falch and Gray each take a shift a day, the depot being open from 6 a.m. to 6:15 p.m. and take turns working on Saturdays when hours are 9:15 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. They are paid $140 a month.

The agency receives a small amount from the ticket sales and express proceeds and pays all operating expenses out of this.

"In fact," he added, "we're exploring four separate business opportunities which we are thinking of going into to be called Senior Enterprises."

One of these would be to assemble pieces made by a local plastics plant, Ryken said. The principle behind it is to create a business that older people can actively operate and be paid for doing. Hopefully, he continued, it will channel back into the community some of the vital skills which have been lost because of retirement.

The coundil's hope is to get people in Marin to look to older people for jobs. Many people think of senior citizen jobs only as guards, assistant gardeners or lawn watchers but Ryken says the council has helped find jobs for seniors in secretarial and answering services, in opening fix-it shops and in assisting the tax collector during tax season.

Ryken likes to tell the story of a little old lady who came into the San Anselmo bus depot three or four days after it opened under new management and said: "I'm so delighted the seniors took it over and kept it from closing because it allows me to get to where the action is."

Lower Water, Sewer Rates

The Cotati City Council last night reviewed a tentative 1969-70 budget of $163,983 and approved reductions in water and sewer rates.

The budget, as submitted by City Mgr. Gordon C. Howe, exceeds the 1969-70 budget by $60,600. Under the plan, tax rates will remain the same. Residents in areas served by city utility districts pay $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation while others pay $1 per $100 assessed valuation.

Budget allocations by department (with this year's budget in parenthesis) are: city manager, $24,232 ($19,112); treasurer, $4,000 ($6,600); city attorney, $4,000 ($4,785); planning, $6,463 ($2,000); building, $2,000 ($1,125); police, $29,901 ($34,876); building inspection $1,600 ($1,334); streets and utility districts, $7,500 ($7,500); public works, $39,914 ($37,181); water department, $47,638 ($17,000); sewer services, $37,000 ($12,000); parks and recreation, $4,174, $2,269), and street lighting, $3,500 ($2,800).

The budget will be reviewed and considered for adoption at the July 3 meeting.

With major repairs completed on the water system, the council cut back water rates by 40 per cent. Minimum charge will be $3.75 for 4,000 gallons, 40 cents for the next 4,000 gallons and 20 cents for up to 12,000 gallons.

Sewer service rates were reduced by approximately 30 per cent. City Mgr. Howe said that although major repairs had been completed, revenue will be needed to finance the sewage tie-in with Rohnert Park.

New monthly sewer service rates will be: single family homes, $6; multiple residences, $4 per unit; light commercial, $10; heavy commercial, $10 and churches and public buildings, $6.

The council also approved the rezoning request of John Geis to change his property at 8152 La Plaza Street from residential to light commercial.

Appendix Troubles Hospitalize Nave

Richard P. Nave, president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, is recovering from a ruptured appendix at Saint Mary's Hospital in San Francisco, his brother, Robert reported.

Nave, who lives at 272 Center Street, San Rafael, was taken to the hospital Tuesday with what was throught to be a bad case of flu. He may be able to undergo surgery in a day or two to seal the broken appendix, his brother said.

Petaluma Parks Budget Approved

The Petaluma Council yesterday approved a recreation and parks budget of $96,208 for 1969-70 and reviewed allocations for seven other departments.

The recreation and parks budget represents an increase of $4,412 over the 1968-69 budget to include increased salaries and the purchase of new groundskeeping equipment.

Also approved was the $22,600 budget for maintenance of the municipal swimming pool and a $16,905 allocation for recreational and instructional swimming programs.

A budget of $29,330 was approved for the planning department, an increase of $2,730 over this year's expenditures. To be decided at a later budget session is the request of planner William C. McGivern for an additional planning technician.

An engineering budget of $76,050 was approved, an increase of $4,662 over the 1968-69 expenditures. A street department budget of $170,161 was approved, with an increase of $526.

A building maintenance fund of $30,905 was approved, showing an increase of $150 over this year. A budget of $13,801 was approved for the corporation yard with an increase of $442.

The council will continue its budget deliberations Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Bank Behind Interest Hike Defends Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bank that started the climb in prime interest rates to a historic high told Congress today its action reduced rather than increased dangers to the economy.

Alfred Brittain III, president of Bankers Trust Co. of New York, testified that "we have prevented our lending capacity from being overrun and have made sure that funds will remain available for the essential needs, above all, of our small businesses and other customers who cannot finance themselves in the securities market."

Bankers Trust was the first to announce an increase June 9 from 7½ to 8½ per cent in the prime rate. Banks across the country quickly followed.

In testimony prepared for the House Banking Committee, Brittain said the bank will continue to finance residential mortgages at 7½ per cent and raise rates to small business borrowers less than the 1 per cent jump in the prime rate charged its biggest and best customers.

The committee opened an investigaiton of the prime rate increase yesterday with another confrontation between Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., and Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy.

Patman again accused the secretary of conflicts of interest because of continued financial ties with Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago, which Kennedy formerly headed.

Kennedy denied the charges, telling newsmen afterward he arranged his financial affairs in accordance with recommendations of the Senate Finance Committee and is convinced he has no legal or moral conflict.

One of the verbal clashes at the hearing came when Patman asked Kennedy what he did to try to head off or turn back the prime rate increase.

"There was really nothing I could do," Kennedy replied. "There was no legal possibility of rolling back."

Patman continued: "Did you discuss it with the banks?"

"No, I did not . . .," the secretary answered. "I could do no more than you did. You shouted from the housetops and nothing happened."

Kennedy said he had talked with bankers, corporation executives and labor groups about the general need to contain inflation. But, he continued, "I have not tried to say 'thou shalt not increase this rate.' I have no right to do this . . . just to get up on a high pulpit as though I were God and say 'thou shalt not.' "

Frankfort hs been Kentucky's capital since 1792.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Film Report of the Film Estimate Board. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Ballad of Josie" — An amusing western set in Wyoming at the time the state was a struggling territory and Doris Day struggles for woman's independence.

"Dr. Dolittle" — A beguiling excursion into a delectable world of fantasy. A Victorian physician communicates better with the animals than with people.

"Gone With The Wind" — Famous film classic now transposed to super screen with stereophonic sound remains one of the landmarks in American filmmaking.

"High, Wild and Free" — Filmed in northern British Columbia Photographer Gordon Eastman gives us a tribute of some of the last unspoiled country left in the northern hemisphere. Excellent.

"Pinocchio in Outer Space" — Feature length cartoon attempts to blend fantasy and scientific fact with several jolly tunes at intervals.

"Shoes of the Fisherman" — Film retains author's concern with human integrity. Magnificent pageantry surrounding the Papacy and the grandeur of the Vatican.

"Swiss Family Robinson" — Adventure story is a delight for all ages.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Charly" — Poignant dramatization of a fictional case history of first human subject of a new type of brain surgery on a mentally retarded young man. Thought-provoking, sensitive performances from the cast.

"Guns of the Magnificent Seven" — Mexican revolutionaries fighting the tyrannical Diaz regime in 1890s. Much violence and torture shown.

"Hannibal Brooks" — A warm, gently comic wartime film that affirms human values can surmount the brutalities of war. Too much violence for young children.

"If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium" — Comic treatise on the habits and customs of the American tourist. Camera is kept on the tour people and not the grand tour. Number of bedroom scenes thrown in.

"Winning" — Story of a race driver, his wife and stepson. Will appeal to those who enjoy car racing.

BORDERLINE

"I Love You, Alice B. Toklas" — Establishment and the hippies are spoofed to a fare-thee-well in this lively contemporary comedy.

(Some say adults only)

ADULTS ONLY

"Goodbye Columbus" — Picture of a Jewish family is real and humorous. The warmth of the people comes through all the surface vulgarity. Explicit sex and nudity.

"Killing of Sister George" — Title taken from character which an actress portrays on TV. Film treats lesbianism with unprecedented explicitness with lewd scenes blatantly shown.

DUTIES KEEP THEM HOPPING

New Careers For Retired Men At San Anselmo Bus Station

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Going back to work after already retiring has its ups and downs for three gentlemen who became ticket agents of the San Anselmo bus depot May 1.

For example: Four hour shifts often stretch to five. Either the legs or the feet can give out. And then there's that occasional ticket buyer on the phone with a foreign accent who swears because the agent is unable to understand his English.

One who came out of retirement is Charles B. Mills, 72, of 26 Paloma Drive, Corte Madera.

A machinist for 15 years, Mills said, "I used to work with decimals. Now it's all dollars and cents."

Standing bothers Mills somewhat, he says. Although he has a stool, he is usually kept hopping between the ticket counter, the candy and express business and the telephone.

The best thing about the job is the people, in Mills' mind. He praised the bus drivers and customers for being helpful. "In fact," he said, "sometimes they'll (customers) come in and tell us how to make out a ticket. That's a fact. That shows you how nice they are."

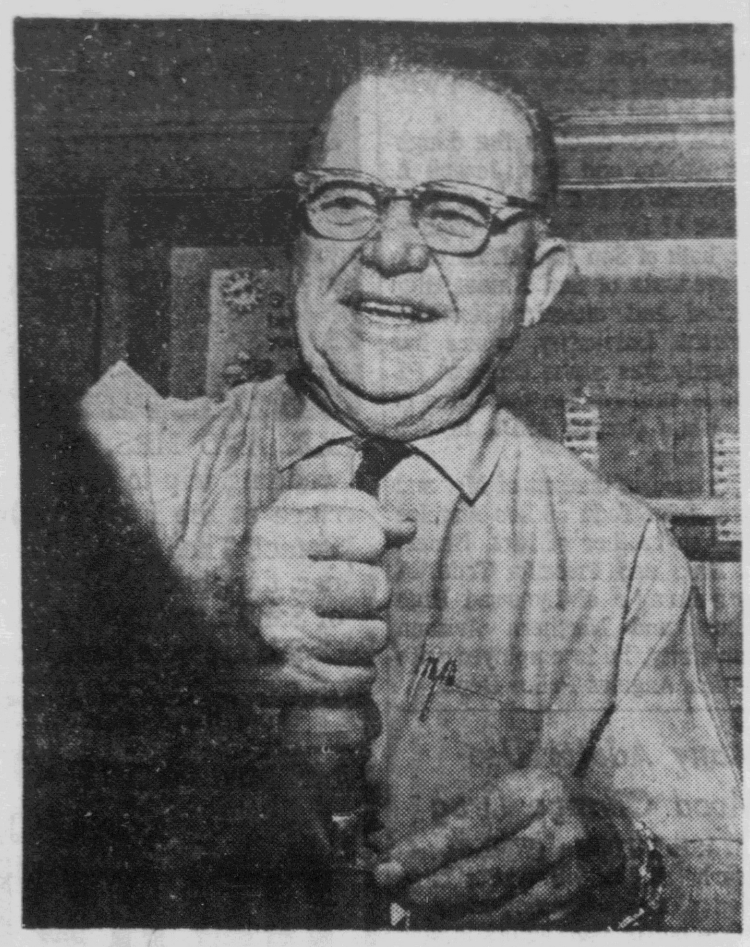
Then there is the drama. One day a hippie couple came in and the girl kept sobbing and sobbing and saying "Don't go. Don't go." She kept sobbing until they went out together, according to Mills.

Splitting the work with Mills at the depot at 718A San Anselmo Avenue are Lynn B. Falch, 65, of 23 Stetson Avenue, Corte Madera, a retired public relations man; and Norman D. Gray, 63, of 13 Washington Avenue, San Rafael, formerly in stocks and bonds.

Retired accountant William H. Newlon, 63, of 9 Jordan Avenue, San Anselmo, does not sell tickets but is responsible for all bookkeeping.

The Marin Senior Coordinating Council took over the Greyhound ticket agency on retirement of Ada McVerry of Ross when an agent could not be found and the depot was threatened with closing.

Mills, Falch and Gray each take a shift a day, the depot being open from 6 a.m. to 6:15 p.m. and take turns working on Saturdays when hours are 9:15 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. They are paid $140 a month.



HOPPING AT 72 — Charles B. Mills stamps a ticket for a customer at the San Anselmo Greyhound bus depot where he is one of three ticket agents. He confesses that the duties of tickets, express handling and the telephone keeps him hopping. (Independent-Journal photo)

The agency receives a small amount from the ticket sales and express proceeds and pays all operating expenses out of this.

"In fact," he added, "we're exploring four separate business opportunities which we are thinking of going into to be called Senior Enterprises."

One of these would be to assemble pieces made by a local plastics plant, Ryken said. The principle behind it is to create a business that older people can actively operate and be paid for doing. Hopefully, he continued, it will channel back into the community some of the vital skills which have been lost because of retirement.

The coundil's hope is to get people in Marin to look to older people for jobs. Many people think of senior citizen jobs only as guards, assistant gardeners or lawn watchers but Ryken says the council has helped find jobs for seniors in secretarial and answering services, in opening fix-it shops and in assisting the tax collector during tax season.

Ryken likes to tell the story of a little old lady who came into the San Anselmo bus depot three or four days after it opened under new management and said: "I'm so delighted the seniors took it over and kept it from closing because it allows me to get to where the action is."

Petaluma Parks Budget Approved

The Petaluma Council yesterday approved a recreation and parks budget of $96,208 for 1969-70 and reviewed allocations for seven other departments.

The recreation and parks budget represents an increase of $4,412 over the 1968-69 budget to include increased salaries and the purchase of new groundskeeping equipment.

Also approved was the $22,600 budget for maintenance of the municipal swimming pool and a $16,905 allocation for recreational and instructional swimming programs.

A budget of $29,330 was approved for the planning department, an increase of $2,730 over this year's expenditures. To be decided at a later budget session is the request of planner William C. McGivern for an additional planning technician.

An engineering budget of $76,050 was approved, an increase of $4,662 over the 1968-69 expenditures. A street department budget of $170,161 was approved, with an increase of $526.

A building maintenance fund of $30,905 was approved, showing an increase of $150 over this year. A budget of $13,801 was approved for the corporation yard with an increase of $442.

The council will continue its budget deliberations Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Film Report of the Film Estimate Board. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Ballad of Josie" — An amusing western set in Wyoming at the time the state was a struggling territory and Doris Day struggles for woman's independence.

"Dr. Dolittle" — A beguiling excursion into a delectable world of fantasy. A Victorian physician communicates better with the animals than with people.

"Gone With The Wind" — Famous film classic now transposed to super screen with stereophonic sound remains one of the landmarks in American filmmaking.

"High, Wild and Free" — Filmed in northern British Columbia Photographer Gordon Eastman gives us a tribute of some of the last unspoiled country left in the northern hemisphere. Excellent.

"Pinocchio in Outer Space" — Feature length cartoon attempts to blend fantasy and scientific fact with several jolly tunes at intervals.

"Shoes of the Fisherman" — Film retains author's concern with human integrity. Magnificent pageantry surrounding the Papacy and the grandeur of the Vatican.

"Swiss Family Robinson" — Adventure story is a delight for all ages.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Charly" — Poignant dramatization of a fictional case history of first human subject of a new type of brain surgery on a mentally retarded young man. Thought-provoking, sensitive performances from the cast.

"Guns of the Magnificent Seven" — Mexican revolutionaries fighting the tyrannical Diaz regime in 1890s. Much violence and torture shown.

"Hannibal Brooks" — A warm, gently comic wartime film that affirms human values can surmount the brutalities of war. Too much violence for young children.

"If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium" — Comic treatise on the habits and customs of the American tourist. Camera is kept on the tour people and not the grand tour. Number of bedroom scenes thrown in.

"Illustrated Man" — Carnival man has each of his adventures tattooed on his body. The stories are, to say the least, weird and best left to interpretation of the viewer.

"Winning" — Story of a race driver, his wife and stepson. Will appeal to those who enjoy car racing.

BORDERLINE

"I Love You, Alice B. Toklas" — Establishment and the hippies are spoofed to a fare-thee-well in this lively contemporary comedy.

(Some say adults only)

ADULTS ONLY

"Goodbye Columbus" — Picture of a Jewish family is real and humorous. The warmth of the people comes through all the surface vulgarity. Explicit sex and nudity.

"Killing of Sister George" — Title taken from character which an actress portrays on TV. Film treats lesbianism with unprecedented explicitness with lewd scenes blatantly shown.

Lower Water, Sewer Rates

The Cotati City Council last night reviewed a tentative 1969-70 budget of $163,983 and approved reductions in water and sewer rates.

The budget, as submitted by City Mgr. Gordon C. Howe, exceeds the 1969-70 budget by $60,600. Under the plan, tax rates will remain the same. Residents in areas served by city utility districts pay $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation while others pay $1 per $100 assessed valuation.

Budget allocations by department (with this year's budget in parenthesis) are: city manager, $24,232 ($19,112); treasurer, $4,000 ($6,600); city attorney, $4,000 ($4,785); planning, $6,463 ($2,000); building, $2,000 ($1,125); police, $29,901 ($34,876); building inspection $1,600 ($1,334); streets and utility districts, $7,500 ($7,500); public works, $39,914 ($37,181); water department, $47,638 ($17,000); sewer services, $37,000 ($12,000); parks and recreation, $4,174, $2,269), and street lighting, $3,500 ($2,800).

The budget will be reviewed and considered for adoption at the July 3 meeting.

With major repairs completed on the water system, the council cut back water rates by 40 per cent. Minimum charge will be $3.75 for 4,000 gallons, 40 cents for the next 4,000 gallons and 20 cents for up to 12,000 gallons.

Sewer service rates were reduced by approximately 30 per cent. City Mgr. Howe said that although major repairs had been completed, revenue will be needed to finance the sewage tie-in with Rohnert Park.

New monthly sewer service rates will be: single family homes, $6; multiple residences, $4 per unit; light commercial, $10; heavy commercial, $10 and churches and public buildings, $6.

The council also approved the rezoning request of John Geis to change his property at 8152 La Plaza Street from residential to light commercial.

Appendix Troubles Hospitalize Nave

Richard P. Nave, president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, is recovering from a ruptured appendix at Saint Mary's Hospital in San Francisco, his brother, Robert reported.

Nave, who lives at 272 Center Street, San Rafael, was taken to the hospital Tuesday with what was throught to be a bad case of flu. He may be able to undergo surgery in a day or two to seal the broken appendix, his brother said.

Bank Behind Interest Hike Defends Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bank that started the climb in prime interest rates to a historic high told Congress today its action reduced rather than increased dangers to the economy.

Alfred Brittain III, president of Bankers Trust Co. of New York, testified that "we have prevented our lending capacity from being overrun and have made sure that funds will remain available for the essential needs, above all, of our small businesses and other customers who cannot finance themselves in the securities market."

Bankers Trust was the first to announce an increase June 9 from 7½ to 8½ per cent in the prime rate. Banks across the country quickly followed.

In testimony prepared for the House Banking Committee, Brittain said the bank will continue to finance residential mortgages at 7½ per cent and raise rates to small business borrowers less than the 1 per cent jump in the prime rate charged its biggest and best customers.

The committee opened an investigaiton of the prime rate increase yesterday with another confrontation between Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., and Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy.

Patman again accused the secretary of conflicts of interest because of continued financial ties with Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago, which Kennedy formerly headed.

Kennedy denied the charges, telling newsmen afterward he arranged his financial affairs in accordance with recommendations of the Senate Finance Committee and is convinced he has no legal or moral conflict.

One of the verbal clashes at the hearing came when Patman asked Kennedy what he did to try to head off or turn back the prime rate increase.

"There was really nothing I could do," Kennedy replied. "There was no legal possibility of rolling back."

"No, I did not . . .," the secretary answered. "I could do no more than you did. You shouted from the housetops and nothing happened."

Kennedy said he had talked with bankers, corporation executives and labor groups about the general need to contain inflation. But, he continued, "I have not tried to say 'thou shalt not increase this rate.' I have no right to do this . . . just to get up on a high pulpit as though I were God and say 'thou shalt not.' "

Frankfort hs been Kentucky's capital since 1792.

Speakers Take Moderate Approach To Unrest

Student speakers at College of Marin's 42nd commencement exercises last night expressed moderate views on the issues of student violence and protest.

Aileen Madera of San Rafael, speaking for the graduating class of 463 candidates receiving associate degrees in science and arts, asserted that riots, demonstrations and protests were the symptoms which obscured the important causes.

She called for people to hear each other regardless of disagreement. "First listen, then criticize and evaluate," she said. It should not be only young people who are seeking change, she said.

She accused students of questioning indiscriminately, and trying to implement just causes in an unjust manner. But, she said, "too many people ignore the reasons for student protest in favor of halting it. We cannot use force as a frequent answer to long standing injustices and survive; nor can force be used as a vehicle of change."

Mark Alan Lund of San Rafael, student speaker and president of the graduating class said he didn't believe his generation was the saving force of the world and regarded that old line as garbage. "I don't see how anyone participating in the kind of violence at Berkeley, Colombia, and San Francisco State, or even condoning it, can honestly claim to be concerned with safety, justice, and rights of all."

"This is a misguided generation, and injustices can only be corrected by peaceful means, admittedly slow, but logical, peaceful, orderly, democratic," he said.

"Let us recognize violence as the real threat that it is, not only to our personal safety but to our government and way of life. Violence is the preacher and teacher of anarchy, the disease that destroys all values, breeds terror and removes all rights from everyone. It will bring the end of freedom and democracy," he predicted.

He later said he sincerely felt that most of the fellow graduates at Marin were responsible, people who did not applaud violence. "It is in this majority that the real hope for the future lies. "We must work on our attitudes and set an example for future generations."

Donovan J. Fandre of Sausalito, guest speaker told the graduates, "We have conquered every technological challenge we have encountered but in our quest for material gain we have abused and insulted ourselves and our environment to the point of disaster; Fandre said.

"The pendulum is swinging from material to man because you are concerned about man, but you can't solve the problems (of man) without technology." He suggested the humanist might began to direct the energies and abilities of the scientist if they could manage the problem of communication.

"Here in our own state; he said, "We have a governor (Ronald Reagan) who preaches individual responsibility but who wants to censor our books and entertainment, control our campuses and to teach morality to our children. We see hippies and rebels flaunt their disdain for our government that has created the situation against which they rebel."

Herman Kamai; secretary of the graduating class presented the class gift to the college, a painting of Harlan Hall, soon to be razed to make way for a new Harlan Center Kamai introduced a third generation member of the Harlan family, Kadeane H. Harlan, granddaughter of the college's first board president, George Harlan.

Rex T. Silvernale, vice president of Hutchinson Co. received an outstanding citizen award for his work on behalf of the college and the community. Silvernale served as chairman of a finance committee for College of Marin during the past year.

6-Week-Old Infant Dies In His Crib

A 6-week-old San Rafael boy was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital today after he was found by his mother apparently lifeless in his crib.

Patrick David Edward Reynolds was pronounced dead at 4:15 a.m.

Coroner's investigator Keith C. Craig said the mother, Diane C. Reynolds, found the baby at 3:30 a.m. wedged between the mattress and the crib frame in the family apartment at 109 Canal Street. The baby's father, Edward G. Reynolds, managed to free the child.

An ambulance crew attempted unsuccessfully to revive the baby on the way to the hospital. Mrs. Reynolds told Craig the baby had a cold recently, but was apparently all right at 1 a.m.

The baby, who is also survived by a sister, Michelle, was born May 9.

Craig ordered an autopsy. Funeral is pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Two Supervisors To Miss Hearing

Two members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors will be absent Tuesday when the board considers plans for the next phase of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project through Ross, board chairman John F. McInnis said today.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and William A. Gnoss will be out of the county. As a result, McInnis said, no decision is expected to be reached on the project.

ABAG To Delay On Tax Relief Policy

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY — The Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee, which hastily set up a property tax relief committee six months ago when San Francisco threatened to tax commuters, took its report "under advisement" when it finally got it last night.

The special tax committee had been given three months to turn in its report, but apparently pressure for it to act lifted somewhat when San Francisco's proposed commuter tax was voided in court, and when Mayor Joseph L. Alioto agreed to put off any other tax that would hit commuters as long as ABAG was working to find new tax revenue on some regional basis. (See story page 5 on related Alioto remarks.)

But San Francisco's representative on the tax committee opposed the key recommendation voted last month by the tax committee, and this opposition clearly was on the executive committee members' minds last night.

The key recommendation was that an amount equal to 10 per cent of the state income tax be distributed to cities and counties according to population. But San Francisco argued the distribution of tax revenue should be on the basis of where the taxpayer works, not where he lives.

The older, core cities, bearing the brunt of the region's urban problems, cannot buy the needed solutions with tax revenue paid on the basis of population alone, San Francisco argued.

Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort, terming allocation by population "far from perfect," said "we shouldn't attempt to skirt the issue if we are to be a valid organization." But he also said it probably was better than any other form of allocation that has been tried.

J. Julien Baget, ABAG's executive director, noted that the Flournoy Commission had been unable to find another basis than population after a nine-month study.

Bort warned that "we are at the brinkmanship point in property taxes — we've come to the wall." The only solution will be more state aid to cities and counties, he said.

Alioto's deputy for development, John Tolan, also citing the need for more revenue, compared San Francisco's $600 million budget with an "actual need right now" of $2.25 billion just to catch up on dilapidated city facilities, from sewage treatment plants to Golden Gate Park.

The tax committee also recommended that cities and counties be empowered by the state to adopt a uniform 5 per cent utility user's tax, that the state increase its aid to schools, and that the financing, and, if necessary, the administration of welfare be shifted from the counties to the state and federal governments. These three recommendations were not disputed by the executive committee.

After more than an hour of talking about the tax report, the executive committee postponed action on it to its next meeting, 7:30 p.m. July 17 in the Hotel Claremont.

The executive committe of the Association of Bay Area Governments also:

ROSS VALLEY — Endorsed Ross Valley Sanitary District's application for a federal grant of $480,000 toward a $1.2 million project to build a sewer generally parallel to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through Ross, a pumping station in Kentfield, and a main from the station to the treatment plant in Greenbrae.

LAKE LAGUNITAS — Endorsed Marin Municipal Water District's application for a $56,936 federal grant toward a $113,872 improvement of about 50 acres at Lake Lagunitas for recreation and boating.

JUSTICE PLANNING — Agreed to hold a conference on criminal justice in late August or early September to explain the federal Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1968, which authorized grants to improve the criminal justice system on a regional basis.

Prisoner Is Accused Of Perjury

An indictment charging San Quentin convict Clarence Morris with perjury was filed last night by the Marin County Grand Jury.

Morris, the indictment says, lied when he filed a petition claiming he had made a deal with a Los Angeles prosecutor and then was double-crossed.

Morris filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus Aug. 5, 1968, charging he was wrongfully imprisoned. He claimed his own attorney, Fred Gabourie, told him he had made a deal with deputy district attorney Simon L. Rose to get Morris a six-month jail term instead of a prison sentence.

Instead, Morris was sentenced to three concurrent terms at San Quentin when he pleaded guilty to two counts of possessing marijuana for sale and one of possessing a dangerous drug for sale. He was admitted to the prison in September 1967, to serve terms of two to 10 years on the marijuana charge and a term of six months to three years on the drug charge.

Assistant District Attorney Leonard Shaw said both Gabourie and Rose will testify for the prosecution in the perjury case.

Vatican Sells Some Holdings

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican announced today it has sold all but 5 per cent of its interest in Societa Generale Immobiliare, Italy's largest real estate company.

It denied, however, that it planned to unload all of its vast holdings in Italian stocks.

It had been assumed in financial circles the Vatican owned between 15 and 30 per cent of the huge company at a market value of from $24 million to $42 million.

The Vatican was known to own 60 per cent of the stocks in the Rome-based company until 30 years ago, when lack of capital forced it to open the door to other investors, mainly Italians.

Larkspur Trustees Adopt Lower Budget

Larkspur School District trustees last night adopted a preliminary budget totaling $1,594,747 for fiscal 1969-70, a cut of $47,000 under the budget for the current fiscal year.

The cut is expected to allow the district's total tax rate of $3.54 per $100 assessed valuation either to stay the same or drop by one cent, reported Supt. Milton S. Cohen.

The final budget will be set at the board's Aug. 5 meeting.

The cut in the budget was possible largely because enrollment dropped by about 50 pupils, Cohen said.

In other business, trustees approved changes in class scheduling next year in the two junior high schools. The three principal changes were to delete the requirement that a foreign language be studied, to combine the social studies and reading programs, and to group two science periods in a row.

The changes were authorized by the Legislature in 1968 to allow more flexible scheduling, previously mandated by the state into a fixed number of minutes for each subject each day.

Larkspur School District Trustees Also:

RECREATION — Agreed to let the City of Larkspur use several schools for its summer recreation program.

The measure by Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, makes first offenders convicted of possessing the drugs for the purpose of selling them subject to a mandatory 2-to-10 year state prison term. Presently, the penalty is one to three years in prison or one year in the county jail — depending on the judge's wishes.

Lesson In Cooking Kindergarten Style

You'll learn, for instance, that the best thing for hamburgers is "ground pound." A lamb chop is done "when the buzzer rings." and fried eggs are ready for consumption "when they get fatter."

These secrets of fine cookery came from the kindergarten class of Helene McClish at Lark View Elementary School when she asked the youngsters to make up their own recipe book.

About those hamburgers. You go to the market, says Jamie Thomason, "and get one whole loaf of meat, ground pound. Then you pay for it and go home. Rip off the top of the meat, take a little piece and make it round like hamburgers. Put it in the pan and turn on the stove at two degrees hot . . . it will feed adults and kids, 5 to 20 people."

Eric Abrahamson had a further suggestion, hamburgerwise. They should, he said, be fried until "black." They may be warmed up, he said, by putting them in the oven "in a brown bag at three degrees."

Macaroni, anyone? "It doesn't have to be cooked," says Jerry Carroll. "It has to be cold."

Debra Logan, the egg expert, known in class as the eggspert, says the best way to fry em is: "Let them set for a while, about three minutes, until they get fatter. Then put them on a big plate, take them to the table and put salt and pepper on."

For ham sandwich fanciers, Natasha Pohle suggested: "Buy some ham at the store. Put it in a pan, get some salt and put some onion on it. Stir it. Put it in the refrigerator. Take it out and put some more onion on it and cook it. Put it on any kind of bread."

Billy Small knows all about french fries. "They are made of Frozen potatoes. Cook them in the oven at six degrees hot, til 8 o'clock."

Carla Coleman is a candy hearts fancier, with commercial instincts. "You get some spices and some salt. You get some speaking (sic) pink stuff and then you spread it on and put it in the refrigerator and let it frozen. Then put it on the stove and let it frozen out. Then give it to the store so people can buy it."

"Lamb chops," says Robert Muller, "cook for seven minutes. I'd put garlic on. That's for when it's done. It's done when the buzzer rings."

Professional Backed For Any Landscaping

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission last night unanimously passed a resolution requiring that any public landscaping done in the city be designed by a professional landscape architect.

Commissioner Donald K. Loomis, who sponsored the resolution, said it was offered "to avoid some of the hazards and pitfalls of long-term high maintenance and damage to streets and utilities caused by inappropriate landscaping."

He said the taxpayers are having to pick up the tab for such repairs and maintenance caused by "poor landscaping in the past that didn't seem to perform the requirements that land and existing conditions would dictate."

The commission also received a report on a proposed park on the Shapiro property from the Berridge, Becker and Julian landscape architectural firm of San Francisco. The report offered two recommendations on boundaries of the proposed neighborhood park, depending on road access location.

Loomis said action on the park should be taken either July 3 or 10.

ABAG To Delay On Tax Relief Policy

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY — The Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee, which hastily set up a property tax relief committee six months ago when San Francisco threatened to tax commuters, took its report "under advisement" when it finally got it last night.

The special tax committee had been given three months to turn in its report, but apparently pressure for it to act lifted somewhat when San Francisco's proposed commuter tax was voided in court, and when Mayor Joseph L. Alioto agreed to put off any other tax that would hit commuters as long as ABAG was working to find new tax revenue on some regional basis. (See story page 5 on related Alioto remarks.)

But San Francisco's representative on the tax committee opposed the key recommendation voted last month by the tax committee, and this opposition clearly was on the executive committee members' minds last night.

The key recommendation was that an amount equal to 10 per cent of the state income tax be distributed to cities and counties according to population. But San Francisco argued the distribution of tax revenue should be on the basis of where the taxpayer works, not where he lives.

The older, core cities, bearing the brunt of the region's urban problems, cannot buy the needed solutions with tax revenue paid on the basis of population alone, San Francisco argued.

Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort, terming allocation by population "far from perfect," said "we shouldn't attempt to skirt the issue if we are to be a valid organization." But he also said it probably was better than any other form of allocation that has been tried.

J. Julien Baget, ABAG's executive director, noted that the Flournoy Commission had been unable to find another basis than population after a nine-month study.

Bort warned that "we are at the brinkmanship point in property taxes — we've come to the wall." The only solution will be more state aid to cities and counties, he said.

Alioto's deputy for development, John Tolan, also citing the need for more revenue, compared San Francisco's $600 million budget with an "actual need right now" of $2.25 billion just to catch up on dilapidated city facilities, from sewage treatment plants to Golden Gate Park.

The tax committee also recommended that cities and counties be empowered by the state to adopt a uniform 5 per cent utility user's tax, that the state increase its aid to schools, and that the financing, and, if necessary, the administration of welfare be shifted from the counties to the state and federal governments. These three recommendations were not disputed by the executive committee.

Parcel Numbering System Explanation:

The properties to be deeded and the subject of this notice are situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Officials In Three Marin Cities Paid Above Averages

Novato city officials' salaries fall below the median for cities of 25,000 to 50,000 population — a class in which it barely qualifies — but are well above the median for 10,000-25,000 cities.

The comparison is made possible by an Urban Data Service publication of the International City Managers Association which analyzes the salaries of eight municipal positions in all U. S. cities above 10,000 population. The four cities mentioned are the only ones in Marin County exceeding 10,000.

Cities' pay in the west is well above the nationwide average, the study shows. For instance, median salary for city managers in 25,000-50,000 population cities nationwide is $18,500, while that for the same size cities in the west is $20,500.

San Rafael currently pays its city manager $21,500. Novato was paying J. Julien Baget $20,000 per year when he resigned early this year.

In 10,000 - 25,000 population cities, the national median for city managers is $15,000 but that in the west is $17,400. Bert Balmer was being paid $20,123 per year when he resigned the city managership of Mill Valley —which barely qualifies for the population range. San Anselmo has no city manager.

The eight positions surveyed were those of city manager, planning director, finance director, public works director, police chief, fire chief, parks and recreation director, and personnel officer. None of the cities in Marin has a personnel office as a separate position.

Median pay for planning director in western cities of 25,000-50,000 is $13,873, less than the $14,899 paid in San Rafael but more than the $13,060 paid in Novato. For 10,000-up cities the median is $12,348, well below the $15,828 paid by Mill Valley. San Anselmo has no planning director.

San Rafael and Novato pay their finance directors considerably less than the median for western cities of their class: $12,000 and $11,150, respectively, compared to a median of $14,268. Mill Valley's salary for this office of $13,992 is well above the $12,300 median for 10,000-25,000 cities.

San Anselmo's finance director, Alfred C. Kaeppel, doubles as city administrator, so his $17,004 salary is scarcely comparable.

Public works directors do very well in San Rafael and San Anselmo, but not so well in Novato and Mill Valley. Median for 25,000-50,000 western cities is $16,860. San Rafael pays $17,067; Novato, $14,796. Median for 10,000-25,000 cities is $14,600. San Anselmo pays $16,452; Mill Valley, $13,020. However, Charles R. Leitzell, San Anselmo's public works director, also has planning duties in the absence of a city planner.

Parks and recreation directors are paid below the medians in the two larger cities, but well above them in the smaller pair. San Rafael pays $12,461 and Novato $12,216 compared to a median for their size group of $12,504. Mill Valley pays $13,992 and San Anselmo $12,276 with the median for cities of their size (and up to 25,000) being $10,344.

The case of San Rafael's Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa serves to point up what inflation has been doing to city salaries.

The San Rafael police chief is elective. Therefore, salary is set before the start of each four-year term and cannot be raised during the term. When the San Rafael chief's salary was pegged at $10,800 in 1965, that was well above the median of $8,749 for all cities in the U. S. over 10,000 population. But in the meantime that median has gone up to $11,000, and the median for western cities in San Rafael's class has risen to $15,096 — nearly $3,000 above the $12,216 that Novato pays its police chief. The San Rafael chief's salary must remain at $10,800 until next year.

Meantime, Mill Valley pays its police chief $13,992 and San Anselmo pays $12,276, while the median for western cities in their class is exactly the same as the San Anselmo salary.

Salaries of most city officials have escalated more rapdily than those of professional, administrative and technical jobs as a whole, according to the International City Managers' Association report.

From 1966 to '69, median salaries of city planning directors rose by 26.2 per cent, of police chiefs by 25.7 per cent, of fire chiefs by 24.2 per cent, of finance directors by 23.8 per cent, of city managers by 21.5 per cent, but of public works directors by only 8.9 per cent and of parks-recreation directors by only 8.6 per cent.

The report lists figures on average salary increases in nine professional-administrative-technical categories drawn from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. For the three-year period ending with 1968, highest increase in this group was 16.6 per cent for job analysts, and lowest was 13.7 per cent for personnel directors.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Proper Training By Parents Can Avoid Many Bad Accidents

VAN DELLEN

Pre-schoolers have more to fear from automobiles than from pneumonia, diphtheria, smallpox, or influenza. Accidents kill twice as many youngsters of this age group as do germs.

Annually, accidental deaths claim thousands of boys and girls 1 to 4 years of age. One-third occur as a result of motor vehicles. Many tots are killed crossing busy streets or when darting from between parked cars.

TRAGEDIES SUCH AS THESE may be unavoidable. First, the youngster does not realize what he is doing and secondly, the driver does not have time to stop. But there would be fewer accidents if parents did not relax their rules or allow older siblings to keep an eye on little brother.

Driving with the child standing on the front seat or on the floor of the car with the face glued to the windshield is extremely hazardous. Suddenly putting on the brakes may result in a fatal head injury.

Fire claims almost as many lives as do auto casualties. Death by fire often occurs when youngsters have been left without adequate supervision. Hot liquids, steam, and ordinary fire are the usual culprits.

EVERY MOTHER KNOWS that the handles on pots and pans should be turned toward the center or back of the stove, yet toddlers are scalded every day. All children are inquisitive and fire and matches hold a strange fascination for them.

Third on the list is drowning, followed by poisoning, falls, firearms, machinery, and electricity. Boys and girls should be taught safety after their second birthday, and the first lesson includes setting a good example.

Keep floors clear of playthings by providing a toy chest. Insist also that after playing, each article is put back. Teach the youngsters how and where to cross streets. In addition, instruct older tykes in the safe use of matches, tools, and kitchen equipment.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

GAINS AFTER HYSTERECTOMY

G. N. writes: I would like to know if a woman who has had a hysterectomy can keep from gaining weight. I have constantly put on weight since the operation. Do you have any booklet on the subject?

REPLY

Yes, our leaflet on reducing will provide some helpful suggestions. The hysterectomy is a good excuse, but has nothing to do with gaining weight.

BABY NEEDS EYE DOCTOR

V. O. writes: Several days ago we inadvertently pointed a small flashlight into the eyes of our young son, who was lying in his crib. The reflection of one pupil was yellowish white. Does this mean anything?

REPLY

Yes, especially if the color stems from the light being reflected from a cloudy lens or tumor. Consult an ophthalmologist as soon as possible.

INHALING 'FAT'

Y. M. W writes: A friend of mine said if you work in a fish cannery smelling or inhaling hot oil, you will gain weight. Is this true?

REPLY

No one ever gained weight inhaling or smelling food of any kind.

CHARMED AWAY WARTS

W. S. writes: Do you think warts on a dog's mouth could be charmed away by psychology?

REPLY

Only if you have a talking dog.

Senate Refuses Divorce Measure

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate refused today to accept the Assembly version of a bill reforming California's divorce law, throwing the controversial issue into the hands of a two house conference committee.

The Senate voted 20-0 against the lower house plan after Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, complained "The Assembly simply put in their version of the bill without any compromise."

The Senate insisted on requiring a judge to grant a divorce if both husband and wife agree the marriage can't be saved. The Assembly version gives the judge more latitude. He would grant the divorce when he believed the marriage was doomed.

And, the Senate required every county to set up conciliation services to try to save troubled marriages. Contending this would cost counties between $ million and $10 million a year the Assembly removed the provision.

Officials In Three Marin Cities Paid Above Averages

Novato city officials' salaries fall below the median for cities of 25,000 to 50,000 population — a class in which it barely qualifies — but are well above the median for 10,000-25,000 cities.

The comparison is made possible by an Urban Data Service publication of the International City Managers Association which analyzes the salaries of eight municipal positions in all U. S. cities above 10,000 population. The four cities mentioned are the only ones in Marin County exceeding 10,000.

Cities' pay in the west is well above the nationwide average, the study shows. For instance, median salary for city managers in 25,000-50,000 population cities nationwide is $18,500, while that for the same size cities in the west is $20,500.

San Rafael currently pays its city manager $21,500. Novato was paying J. Julien Baget $20,000 per year when he resigned early this year.

In 10,000 - 25,000 population cities, the national median for city managers is $15,000 but that in the west is $17,400. Bert Balmer was being paid $20,123 per year when he resigned the city managership of Mill Valley —which barely qualifies for the population range. San Anselmo has no city manager.

The eight positions surveyed were those of city manager, planning director, finance director, public works director, police chief, fire chief, parks and recreation director, and personnel officer. None of the cities in Marin has a personnel office as a separate position.

Median pay for planning director in western cities of 25,000-50,000 is $13,873, less than the $14,899 paid in San Rafael but more than the $13,060 paid in Novato. For 10,000-up cities the median is $12,348, well below the $15,828 paid by Mill Valley. San Anselmo has no planning director.

San Rafael and Novato pay their finance directors considerably less than the median for western cities of their class: $12,000 and $11,150, respectively, compared to a median of $14,268. Mill Valley's salary for this office of $13,992 is well above the $12,300 median for 10,000-25,000 cities.

San Anselmo's finance director, Alfred C. Kaeppel, doubles as city administrator, so his $17,004 salary is scarcely comparable.

Public works directors do very well in San Rafael and San Anselmo, but not so well in Novato and Mill Valley. Median for 25,000-50,000 western cities is $16,860. San Rafael pays $17,067; Novato, $14,796. Median for 10,000-25,000 cities is $14,600. San Anselmo pays $16,452; Mill Valley, $13,020. However, Charles R. Leitzell, San Anselmo's public works director, also has planning duties in the absence of a city planner.

Parks and recreation directors are paid below the medians in the two larger cities, but well above them in the smaller pair. San Rafael pays $12,461 and Novato $12,216 compared to a median for their size group of $12,504. Mill Valley pays $13,992 and San Anselmo $12,276 with the median for cities of their size (and up to 25,000) being $10,344.

The case of San Rafael's Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa serves to point up what inflation has been doing to city salaries.

The San Rafael police chief is elective. Therefore, salary is set before the start of each four-year term and cannot be raised during the term. When the San Rafael chief's salary was pegged at $10,800 in 1965, that was well above the median of $8,749 for all cities in the U. S. over 10,000 population. But in the meantime that median has gone up to $11,000, and the median for western cities in San Rafael's class has risen to $15,096 — nearly $3,000 above the $12,216 that Novato pays its police chief. The San Rafael chief's salary must remain at $10,800 until next year.

Meantime, Mill Valley pays its police chief $13,992 and San Anselmo pays $12,276, while the median for western cities in their class is exactly the same as the San Anselmo salary.

Salaries of most city officials have escalated more rapdily than those of professional, administrative and technical jobs as a whole, according to the International City Managers' Association report.

From 1966 to '69, median salaries of city planning directors rose by 26.2 per cent, of police chiefs by 25.7 per cent, of fire chiefs by 24.2 per cent, of finance directors by 23.8 per cent, of city managers by 21.5 per cent, but of public works directors by only 8.9 per cent and of parks-recreation directors by only 8.6 per cent.

The report lists figures on average salary increases in nine professional-administrative-technical categories drawn from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. For the three-year period ending with 1968, highest increase in this group was 16.6 per cent for job analysts, and lowest was 13.7 per cent for personnel directors.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Proper Training By Parents Can Avoid Many Bad Accidents

VAN DELLEN

Pre-schoolers have more to fear from automobiles than from pneumonia, diphtheria, smallpox, or influenza. Accidents kill twice as many youngsters of this age group as do germs.

Annually, accidental deaths claim thousands of boys and girls 1 to 4 years of age. One-third occur as a result of motor vehicles. Many tots are killed crossing busy streets or when darting from between parked cars.

TRAGEDIES SUCH AS THESE may be unavoidable. First, the youngster does not realize what he is doing and secondly, the driver does not have time to stop. But there would be fewer accidents if parents did not relax their rules or allow older siblings to keep an eye on little brother.

Driving with the child standing on the front seat or on the floor of the car with the face glued to the windshield is extremely hazardous. Suddenly putting on the brakes may result in a fatal head injury.

Fire claims almost as many lives as do auto casualties. Death by fire often occurs when youngsters have been left without adequate supervision. Hot liquids, steam, and ordinary fire are the usual culprits.

EVERY MOTHER KNOWS that the handles on pots and pans should be turned toward the center or back of the stove, yet toddlers are scalded every day. All children are inquisitive and fire and matches hold a strange fascination for them.

Third on the list is drowning, followed by poisoning, falls, firearms, machinery, and electricity. Boys and girls should be taught safety after their second birthday, and the first lesson includes setting a good example.

Keep floors clear of playthings by providing a toy chest. Insist also that after playing, each article is put back. Teach the youngsters how and where to cross streets. In addition, instruct older tykes in the safe use of matches, tools, and kitchen equipment.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

GAINS AFTER HYSTERECTOMY

G. N. writes: I would like to know if a woman who has had a hysterectomy can keep from gaining weight. I have constantly put on weight since the operation. Do you have any booklet on the subject?

REPLY

Yes, our leaflet on reducing will provide some helpful suggestions. The hysterectomy is a good excuse, but has nothing to do with gaining weight.

BABY NEEDS EYE DOCTOR

V. O. writes: Several days ago we inadvertently pointed a small flashlight into the eyes of our young son, who was lying in his crib. The reflection of one pupil was yellowish white. Does this mean anything?

REPLY

Yes, especially if the color stems from the light being reflected from a cloudy lens or tumor. Consult an ophthalmologist as soon as possible.

INHALING 'FAT'

Y. M. W writes: A friend of mine said if you work in a fish cannery smelling or inhaling hot oil, you will gain weight. Is this true?

REPLY

No one ever gained weight inhaling or smelling food of any kind.

CHARMED AWAY WARTS

W. S. writes: Do you think warts on a dog's mouth could be charmed away by psychology?

REPLY

Only if you have a talking dog.

Senate Refuses Divorce Measure

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate refused today to accept the Assembly version of a bill reforming California's divorce law, throwing the controversial issue into the hands of a two house conference committee.

The Senate voted 20-0 against the lower house plan after Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, complained "The Assembly simply put in their version of the bill without any compromise."

The Senate insisted on requiring a judge to grant a divorce if both husband and wife agree the marriage can't be saved. The Assembly version gives the judge more latitude. He would grant the divorce when he believed the marriage wa doomed.

And, the Senate require every county to set up conciliation services to try to save troubled marriages. Contending thi would cost counties between $ million and $10 million a year the Assembly removed the provision.

Groucho Swings A Mean Typewriter On Violence

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—When I took a typing course as a kid, I used to practice by copying an article by Groucho Marx just so I wouldn't go nuts from the drudgery of the finger exercises. Memories, therefore, came back when I ran across another article by Groucho in the latest issue of the Producers Guild Journal.

Groucho's piece starts like this:

"I don't know what the problems of today's kids are, I'm sure the older generation had problems too, but we didn't burn down the schoolhouses to remedy our complaints. I'm not much in sympathy with the kids. I sympathize with the parents. I happen to be one, and I think it's nonsense to blame the parents when kids take LSD. Kids today are detestable, and thank God mine are grown up.

"What you should do with kids is slug hell out of them when they're small. Explain to them what life is about, and if they don't obey give them the cat o' nine tails. I read a piece about Ruskin or maybe it was Racine, who had 10 kids, and every time he passed them he took a swing at them. And they named a town after him."

Well, anyway, Groucho swings a mean typewriter, and although I don't know exactly what he was doing in the journal's issue on television violence, he wrote the best piece there. Actually, more to the subject was an article by George Edwards, chief judge of the United States Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit. Edwards, formerly on the Supreme Court of Michigan, made his remarks, adapted into the article at a discussion held by the Television Academy in Beverly Hills.

"I spent a term," he said, "as a judge of the Juvenile Court for four years in the city where I live, Detroit, and I never managed to get around to thinking, from what I saw of Juvenile Court, that television, movies or the pulp magazines were producers of juvenile delinquency in any direct or casually related sense."

Touching on violence in the context of news broadcasts, Edwards said: "I do not think television creates violence in our society, or rather I do not think it originated violence in our society. The human race has had a capacity for violence since the dawn of recorded history. There is nothing to indicate that we are necessarily to subside into peaceful quietude.

". . . But it is also true that news can be made by emphasis, and that the cheapest thing to package in the way of news is violence, and the more difficult things to package in the way of news are the things which are not violent."

Desertions Near 50,000 So Far

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says it expects 50,000 soldiers will have deserted by the end of the current fiscal year, an increase of nearly 30 per cent over 1968.

In testimony released today, Lt. Gen. A. O. Conner, Army deputy chief of staff for personnel, told the House defense appropriations subcommittee, the jump in the number of soldiers going over the hill is the result of:

"Getting more kooks into the Army, for one thing. We are getting more young men who are coming in undisciplined, the product of a society that trains them to resist authority."

The subcommittee also released testimony from Vice Adm. G. M. Davis, chief of Navy medicine, that 2,372 sailors were discharged for drug abuse in 1968—a three-fold climb over 1967.

Soldier Injured On Tomales Road

A Petaluma soldier was injured at 2:15 a.m. today in a one car, accident on Tomales Road, near Petaluma-Valley Ford Road, west of Petaluma.

Sgt. James C. Smith, 26, of Two Rock Ranch Army Station, was treated at the post dispensary for facial cuts. The California Highway Patrol said Smith's car struck a fence and tree.

Those Classrooms Are Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The city art commission approved 7-1 yesterday a Board of Education recommendation to buy 81 portable classrooms that will house about 2,000 students this fall.

The prefabricated units will be built by the Speed Space Corp. of Santa Rosa for a little over $1 million.

Ernest Born, chairman of the commission's civic design committee, called the units "second-class shacks," but said:

"We are consenting to the approval of the design only because it appears, at this late date, to be the sole means by which the . . . critical shortage of classrooms can still be met by September."

Psychiatrist Is Arraigned

Lowry was told to appear in court July 7 to enter a plea to the charge. Lowry, head of the psychiatric unit at Ross General Hospital, was not booked at Marin County Jail but appeared in court with his attorney, Frances L. Hancock of San Francisco.

Mrs. Lowry's complaint charged Lowry attacked her during an argument over some camping equipment at her home. Lowry filed for divorce in February, 1968, then asked for an annulment. Mrs. Lowry filed a cross-complaint for divorce last August.

Groucho Swings A Mean Typewriter On Violence

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—When I took a typing course as a kid, I used to practice by copying an article by Groucho Marx just so I wouldn't go nuts from the drudgery of the finger exercises. Memories, therefore, came back when I ran across another article by Groucho in the latest issue of the Producers Guild Journal.

Groucho's piece starts like this:

"I don't know what the problems of today's kids are, I'm sure the older generation had problems too, but we didn't burn down the schoolhouses to remedy our complaints. I'm not much in sympathy with the kids. I sympathize with the parents. I happen to be one, and I think it's nonsense to blame the parents when kids take LSD. Kids today are detestable, and thank God mine are grown up.

"What you should do with kids is slug hell out of them when they're small. Explain to them what life is about, and if they don't obey give them the cat o' nine tails. I read a piece about Ruskin or maybe it was Racine, who had 10 kids, and every time he passed them he took a swing at them. And they named a town after him."

Well, anyway, Groucho swings a mean typewriter, and although I don't know exactly what he was doing in the journal's issue on television violence, he wrote the best piece there. Actually, more to the subject was an article by George Edwards, chief judge of the United States Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit. Edwards, formerly on the Supreme Court of Michigan, made his remarks, adapted into the article at a discussion held by the Television Academy in Beverly Hills.

"I spent a term," he said, "as a judge of the Juvenile Court for four years in the city where I live, Detroit, and I never managed to get around to thinking, from what I saw of Juvenile Court, that television, movies or the pulp magazines were producers of juvenile delinquency in any direct or casually related sense."

Touching on violence in the context of news broadcasts, Edwards said: "I do not think television creates violence in our society, or rather I do not think it originated violence in our society. The human race has had a capacity for violence since the dawn of recorded history. There is nothing to indicate that we are necessarily to subside into peaceful quietude.

". . . But it is also true that news can be made by emphasis, and that the cheapest thing to package in the way of news is violence, and the more difficult things to package in the way of news are the things which are not violent."

Desertions Near 50,000 So Far

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says it expects 50,000 soldiers will have deserted by the end of the current fiscal year, an increase of nearly 30 per cent over 1968.

In testimony released today, Lt. Gen. A. O. Conner, Army deputy chief of staff for personnel, told the House defense appropriations subcommittee, the jump in the number of soldiers going over the hill is the result of:

"Getting more kooks into the Army, for one thing. We are getting more young men who are coming in undisciplined, the product of a society that trains them to resist authority."

The subcommittee also released testimony from Vice Adm. G. M. Davis, chief of Navy medicine, that 2,372 sailors were discharged for drug abuse in 1968—a three-fold climb over 1967.

Soldier Injured On Tomales Road

A Petaluma soldier was injured at 2:15 a.m. today in a one car, accident on Tomales Road, near Petaluma-Valley Ford Road, west of Petaluma.

Sgt. James C. Smith, 26, of Two Rock Ranch Army Station, was treated at the post dispensary for facial cuts. The California Highway Patrol said Smith's car struck a fence and tree.

Those Classrooms Are Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The city art commission approved 7-1 yesterday a Board of Education recommendation to buy 81 portable classrooms that will house about 2,000 students this fall.

The prefabricated units will be built by the Speed Space Corp. of Santa Rosa for a little over $1 million.

Ernest Born, chairman of the commission's civic design committee, called the units "second-class shacks," but said:

"We are consenting to the approval of the design only because it appears, at this late date, to be the sole means by which the . . . critical shortage of classrooms can still be met by September."

Psychiatrist Is Arraigned

Lowry was told to appear in court July 7 to enter a plea to the charge. Lowry, head of the psychiatric unit at Ross General Hospital, was not booked at Marin County Jail but appeared in court with his attorney, Frances L. Hancock of San Francisco.

Mrs. Lowry's complaint charged Lowry attacked her during an argument over some camping equipment at her home. Lowry filed for divorce in February, 1968, then asked for an annulment. Mrs. Lowry filed a cross-complaint for divorce last August.

Baseball, Gambling Casinos Just Don't Mix

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced today that high officials of the Atlanta Braves and the owner of the Oakland Athletics are ending their financial ties with Las Vegas gambling casinos.

In a prepared statement, Kuhn announced that William Bartholomay and John J. Louis Jr., directors and stockholders of the Braves, and Charles O. Finley, president of the Athletics, had advised him of their intention to sever their relationships with Parvin-Dohrmann Co.

Kuhn said Parvin-Dohrmann was a restaurant and hotel supply company whose shares are publicly traded on the American Stock Exchange and operates the Fremont, Stardust and Aladdin hotels in Las Vegas, Nev.

The commissioner also said Delbert Coleman, a director of the Braves and chairman and chief executive of Parvin-Dohrmann, will resign from the board of the Braves.

Bartholomay and Louis will terminate their relationships as directors and shareholders in Parvin-Dohrmann. Finley will sell his stock in the company.

Kuhn emphasized that the actions were volunteered over one month ago and there was no question of "wrong doing or impropriety."

Kuhn's announcement made no mention of the stock Finley has said he holds in Del E. Webb Corp., which owns two other Las Vegas casinos, the Sahara and the Mint.

Kuhn's statement was issued while pro football also is entangled in a controversy over commissioner Pete Rozell's demand that New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath sell a bar allegedly used by gamblers. Namath vowed to retire from football.

Baseball traditionally has frowned on any ties with gambling since a World Series scandal in 1919.

Bartholomay and Louis own only a relatively small 2,000 shares each. Finley bought 30,000 shares valued at $2.7 million in April. Coleman controls 207,000 shares.

Kuhn began his probe of the baseball involvement after The Associated Press made public the stock ties of the Braves and Athletics owners a month ago.

A source in the SEC, which has been investigating Parvin-Dohrmann, said the Namath controversy "put the heat on baseball."

"They really couldn't take a weaker position," he said. "Joe's restaurant was just being used as a bookie joint where these were in a business openly involved in gambling."

Coleman led a $10 million takeover of Parvin-Dohrmann last fall and chose Bartholomay and Louis to join him on the board of directors. Each man is also listed in Braves' papers as a director and owner of 46,000 certificates in the Atlanta Braves Baseball Club, Inc.

Kuhn's move is one of the strongest taken since Commissioner Kenesaw Landis banned for life eight Chicago White Sox players accused in the 1919 scandal, even though they were found innocent in court. Landis also forced two New York club officials to sell their interest in a Havana race track.

Formula Cars Roar At Sears Point

Two days of formula car racing at Sears Point International Raceway kicks off tomorrow with the B/C class, followed Sunday by the Formula A open-wheelers.

Thirty-five fastest qualifiers of Formula B/C tomorrow will be racing in a 40-lap, 100.9-mile championship race which headlines the first day's action. Sunday the Formula A cars, up to 35 qualifiers, go 49 laps or 123.6 miles. The Saturday race begins at 2:30 p.m., the Sunday go at 2:15.

OREGONIAN LEADS

Mike Eyerly of Salem, Ore., will be going for his third Formula B victory of the season in tomorrow's race on the southern Sonoma County raceway. No. 2 man on the Formula B/C trail is Jon Milledge of Berkeley and Ed Leslie of Monterey is No. 3.

Providing the "local" flavor to the race will be two Marin County drivers, Tony Settember of Mill Valley and Dan Feagin of San Rafael.

The major difference in Formula A and B/C racers is that the "A" cars have bigger engines and attain higher speeds. All Formula cars are single-seaters, similar to Indianapolis type racing cars.

CONTINENTAL 49ER

Sam Posey of Sharon, Conn., is leading the series for Formula A drivers going into Sunday's "Continental 49er" race. Four points behind Posey is George Wintersteen of Villanova, Pa., followed by John Cannon of Pasadena and Dick Simons of Salt Lake City.

Eyerly will be driving a Brabham Ford in tomorrow's race, and indications from early entrants are that Ford will dominate in numbers, if not in winnings.

Tomorrow's schedule opens at 8:45 a.m. with regional practicing followed by 9:30 qualifying heats for Formula B/C. Sunday's practice begins at 9 a.m. with a pair of regional races on the schedule.

Ticket prices are $3 tomorrow and $6 Sunday, or $7.50 for the entire weekend. Children 12 or under free when with an adult. Paddock passes available in spectator areas at $5 each.

JIM GILMARTIN

Dolinsek Third Marin Star In NCAA 'Series'

JIM SHORTS:

Outfielder John Dolinsek of Novato, whose heavy bat has helped the Arizona State Sun Devils into tonight's finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's baseball tournament, in Omaha, Neb. against Tulsa, is the third Marinite to play in the collegiate World Series.

Others were John Boccabella of San Anselmo, now with the Montreal Expos, for Santa Clara, and pitcher Bill Lee of Terra Linda, now in the Boston Red Sox farm system at Pittsfield, Mass., for University of Southern California.

It looks like Dolinsek will follow in their pro footsteps as he has been drafted by the Houston Astros.

Co-Coach In Auto Accident

With only four days to coordinate his 16-man squad, Endriss' task has been compounded by the fact his co-coach, Jim Keating of St. Ignatius (S.F.), was shaken up in an auto accident earlier this week and has been unable to spend full time on his assignment.

Thus, Endriss has shouldered much of the chores, but it's okay because Big Al has big shoulders.

The San Rafael Chamber of Commerce should give Endriss a pat on the head, incidentally. While his team has worked out all week in San Francisco, Endriss brought his All-Stars to San Rafael's Albert Field this afternoon for a final practice. "The weather in San Francisco has been so lousy," said the coach, "that I wanted one good final workout in San Rafael's good weather."

Early Finish At Sears Race

SEARS POINT Raceway officials have scheduled an earlier than usual 3:45 p.m. finish for Sunday's Continental 49er sports car race in hopes of easing traffic congestion.

That early finish should enable most of the raceway patrons to get out on the homeward-bound highways before the bulk of the usual heavy Sunday traffic.

By the by, the Sports Car Club of America provides more action than did the recent National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing event at the Sears raceway.

More Action This Weekend

While the NASCARs spent much of the weekend qualifying cars one (ho-hum) at a time, this weekend's SCCA event features action-packed qualifying races so you can expect to get your money's worth. Sunday's 123.6-mile main event will start at 2:15 p.m. and not 1:15 as itemed here the other day.

UPSET QUEEN — Sharon Walsh, 17, of San Rafael, who has scored a number of upsets already this year, did it again yesterday at Berkeley in the 80th Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Championships, eliminating top-seeded and seventh nationally-ranked Patty Ann Reese of St. Petersburg, Fla., 6-1, 4-6, 6-2 in girls 18 and under singles quarterfinals. Bee Kilgore of Tiburon also registered an upset with a win over Susan Craft of Tulsa, Okla., the number three seed in 14 and under age group.

Major Upset In Mill Valley Net Tourney

Only one major upset rippled the ranks of the top seeds in the second day of singles competition in the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association's national men's age 35 hardcourt tennis championships at Mill Valley Tennis Club yesterday.

That came when unseeded Jacque Grigry of Santa Cruz knocked off seventh-seeded Don Jacobus of Berkeley in straight sets, 6-2, 10-8.

The rest of the seeds advanced as expected.

The results:

Third Round — Clif Mayne d. Sandy Walker, 6-3, 6-2; Bob Bacon d. Enver Mehmedbasich, 6-3, 6-4; Jack Darrah d. Dick Moody, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2; Jerry De Witts d. Robert McIvor, 6-1, 6-1; Don Gale d. 2 Marin All-Stars In Lineup

Left-hander Russ Dillon of Novato High will be the starting pitcher and Rick Denning of Marin Catholic will be the third baseman tomorrow when the North meets the South in the first California High School All-Star baseball classic at Candlestick Park, San Francisco, 1 p.m.

North co-coach Al Endriss of Redwood High School in Larkspur announced his starting lineup this morning, listing Denning, three-time All-Marin County Athletic League selection, seventh in the batting order.

He also gave the nod to Dillon as the starting hurler over righthanders Mike Rusk of Gunn High, Los Altos Hills, and Chris Sorensen of Santa Cruz. Said Endriss: "Dillon and Rusk have been particularly sharp all week and both will see action. After I remove Dillon from the mound I'll put him in the outfield because he's also one of our best outfielders and we can use his hitting."

UNDEFEATED

The pitcher Dillon was undefeated in MCAL play this year and posted a season win-lost record of 13-1; the hitter Dillon batted .300 plus. He has been drafted by the Atlanta Braves.

The game will feature several high draft choices, including the nation's number one pick, outfielder Jeff Burroughs of Long Beach, prize selection of the Washington Senators, for the South, and the Detroit Tigers' number one draftee, first baseman Len Baxley of Redding, for the North.

Endriss described the North as more of an offensive than defensive threat. "What we may lack in defense we hope to make up with the long ball," he said.

In a practice game this week against a pickup team of junior college stars, the North preps romped to a 9-1 victory featuring the hitting of shortstop Jim Winters of St. Francis High, Mountain View, Baxley and Gary Sacckes of Sacramento's Mira Loma High.

BATTING ORDER

Endriss said Vallejo High's Elgin Williams will lead off in the batting order and play center field, followed by second baseman Hank Garcia of Sacramento, Winters, Baxley, Sacckes, catcher Emory Mitchell of Sacramento, Denning, right fielder Frank Cardiel of San Francisco's Balboa and Dillon.

The game is sponsored by the California Police Activities League for the benefit of its Joe DiMaggio League program. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Marin Golfer Turns Back Pages In Cal Tournament

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Mat Palacio Jr. of San Rafael will be turning the pages of history back 33 years next week in the California State Amateur Golf Championships.

That's when Mat became the youngest golfer to ever win the state amateur championship at 20. The year was 1936.

Now he's a chipper 53 and he's among the entrants for the 58th annual tournament at Pebble Beach and Cypress Point golf courses. Qualifying rounds are next Monday and Tuesday, with the top 64, advancing to the match play finals.

Palacio, auto salesman at Nelson Buick in San Francisco the past 15 years, won his first big tournament in 1932, the California State Junior Championships, defeating Bob Roos Jr., and then went on to win the National High School Championships that year.

S.F. NATIVE

A native of San Francisco, Palacio and his family came to San Rafael when he was a tike of 5. He has lived here ever since, with the exception of a few years in the mid 1940s when he was a captain in the Army, stationed in the midwest.

Matias Donisho Palacio Sr., Mat's father, got him going in golf in his early teens and was his most ardent backer. The elder Palacio, 85, is now residing in a Santa Venetia convalescent home.

"He put up a net in our front yard," said Mat, "and I used to hit balls in that net all day. I loved the game even then," he said, adding that he spent about five to six hours per day hitting golf balls. "Sometimes I would just hit balls out in the cowfields and my father would shag them for me. He's still quite a guy," he said.

He played in the Oakland Open in 1939 with Sam Snead, and still looks back to that time with fond memories.

"There will never be another swing like that in golf," says Palacio about the famed golfer whose swing has been described as "sweet syrup."

"I've patterned my game after Snead's," says Mat. "He's my hero. My teacher was Henry Espenosa of Portola Driving Range in San Francisco and he teaches the Snead method, 'Swing the Clubhead.' "

Blessed with a fine sense of humor, Palacio is quick to flash a smile, and he had a wide one when he recalled how former football coach Paul Miller of San Rafael High helped his golf career, by kicking him off the team.

"He (Miller) sent me in for one play and then brought me out. He told me to stick to golf."

MANY HONORS

It will be the 24th state amateur tourney for Palacio, who was runner-up the year after he won the title. He won the Northern California Championship in 1938; runner-up to Bud Ward in finals of the Pacific Northwest

A's To Host Twins In Key 3-Game Set

OAKLAND (UPI) — The most talked about player in the major leagues leads his team, the Oakland Athletics, against the Minnesota Twins in the opener of a crucial three-game series starting tonight, 7:30, at the Oakland Coliseum.

Sturdy Reggie Jackson, who has clubbed 26 home runs to top all hitters in that department, is the man of the hour. During their last road trip, the A's wound up with a 9-3 mark and Jackson was instrumental in almost all of the victories.

He ripped nine homers in the first of the month — and has driven in 25 runs.

The two-out-of-three winner of the series will carry with it a one-game advantage in the American League West. Oakland currently holds a .002 edge (.559 to .557) over the Twins on the strength of its 36-26 record against Minnesota's 34-27.

After the Minnesota set, the A's will host Kansas City, Chicago and Seattle before embarking on another road swing.

Baseball, Gambling Casinos Just Don't Mix

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced today that high officials of the Atlanta Braves and the owner of the Oakland Athletics are ending their financial ties with Las Vegas gambling casinos.

In a prepared statement, Kuhn announced that William Bartholomay and John J. Louis Jr., directors and stockholders of the Braves, and Charles O. Finley, president of the Athletics, had advised him of their intention to sever their relationships with Parvin-Dohrmann Co.

Kuhn said Parvin-Dohrmann was a restaurant and hotel supply company whose shares are publicly traded on the American Stock Exchange and operates the Fremont, Stardust and Aladdin hotels in Las Vegas, Nev.

The commissioner also said Delbert Coleman, a director of the Braves and chairman and chief executive of Parvin-Dohrmann, will resign from the board of the Braves.

Bartholomay and Louis will terminate their relationships as directors and shareholders in Parvin-Dohrmann. Finley will sell his stock in the company.

Kuhn emphasized that the actions were volunteered over one month ago and there was no question of "wrong doing or impropriety."

Kuhn's announcement made no mention of the stock Finley has said he holds in Del E. Webb Corp., which owns two other Las Vegas casinos, the Sahara and the Mint.

Kuhn's statement was issued while pro football also is entangled in a controversy over commissioner Pete Rozell's demand that New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath sell a bar allegedly used by gamblers. Namath vowed to retire from football.

Baseball traditionally has frowned on any ties with gambling since a World Series scandal in 1919.

Bartholomay and Louis own only a relatively small 2,000 shares each. Finley bought 30,000 shares valued at $2.7 million in April. Coleman controls 207,000 shares.

Kuhn began his probe of the baseball involvement after The Associated Press made public the stock ties of the Braves and Athletics owners a month ago.

A source in the SEC, which has been investigating Parvin-Dohrmann, said the Namath controversy "put the heat on baseball."

"They really couldn't take a weaker position," he said. "Joe's restaurant was just being used as a bookie joint where these were in a business openly involved in gambling."

Coleman led a $10 million takeover of Parvin-Dohrmann last fall and chose Bartholomay and Louis to join him on the board of directors. Each man is also listed in Braves' papers as a director and owner of 46,000 certificates in the Atlanta Braves Baseball Club, Inc.

Kuhn's move is one of the strongest taken since Commissioner Kenesaw Landis banned for life eight Chicago White Sox players accused in the 1919 scandal, even though they were found innocent in court. Landis also forced two New York club officials to sell their interest in a Havana race track.

Formula Cars Roar At Sears Point

Sports

Two days of formula car racing at Sears Point International Raceway kicks off tomorrow with the B/C class, followed Sunday by the Formula A open-wheelers.

Thirty-five fastest qualifiers of Formula B/C tomorrow will be racing in a 40-lap, 100.9-mile championship race which headlines the first day's action. Sunday the Formula A cars, up to 35 qualifiers, go 49 laps or 123.6 miles. The Saturday race begins at 2:30 p.m., the Sunday go at 2:15.

OREGONIAN LEADS

Mike Eyerly of Salem, Ore., will be going for his third Formula B victory of the season in tomorrow's race on the southern Sonoma County raceway. No. 2 man on the Formula B/C trail is Jon Milledge of Berkeley and Ed Leslie of Monterey is No. 3.

Providing the "local" flavor to the race will be two Marin County drivers, Tony Settember of Mill Valley and Dan Feagin of San Rafael.

The major difference in Formula A and B/C racers is that the "A" cars have bigger engines and attain higher speeds. All Formula cars are single-seaters, similar to Indianapolis type racing cars.

CONTINENTAL 49ER

Sam Posey of Sharon, Conn., is leading the series for Formula A drivers going into Sunday's "Continental 49er" race. Four points behind Posey is George Wintersteen of Villanova, Pa., followed by John Cannon of Pasadena and Dick Simons of Salt Lake City.

Eyerly will be driving a Brabham Ford in tomorrow's race, and indications from early entrants are that Ford will dominate in numbers, if not in winnings.

Tomorrow's schedule opens at 8:45 a.m. with regional practicing followed by 9:30 qualifying heats for Formula B/C. Sunday's practice begins at 9 a.m. with a pair of regional races on the schedule.

Ticket prices are $3 tomorrow and $6 Sunday, or $7.50 for the entire weekend. Children 12 or under free when with an adult. Paddock passes available in spectator areas at $5 each.

Dolinsek Third Marin Star In NCAA 'Series'

JIM SHORTS:

Outfielder John Dolinsek of Novato, whose heavy bat has helped the Arizona State Sun Devils into tonight's finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's baseball tournament, in Omaha, Neb. against Tulsa, is the third Marinite to play in the collegiate World Series.

Others were John Boccabella of San Anselmo, now with the Montreal Expos, for Santa Clara, and pitcher Bill Lee of Terra Linda, now in the Boston Red Sox farm system at Pittsfield, Mass., for University of Southern California.

Co-Coach In Auto Accident

With only four days to coordinate his 16-man squad, Endriss' task has been compounded by the fact his co-coach, Jim Keating of St. Ignatius (S.F.), was shaken up in an auto accident earlier this week and has been unable to spend full time on his assignment.

Thus, Endriss has shouldered much of the chores, but it's okay because Big Al has big shoulders.

The San Rafael Chamber of Commerce should give Endriss a pat on the head, incidentally. While his team has worked out all week in San Francisco, Endriss brought his All-Stars to San Rafael's Albert Field this afternoon for a final practice. "The weather in San Francisco has been so lousy," said the coach, "that I wanted one good final workout in San Rafael's good weather."

Early Finish At Sears Race

SEARS POINT Raceway officials have scheduled an earlier than usual 3:45 p.m. finish for Sunday's Continental 49er sports car race in hopes of easing traffic congestion.

That early finish should enable most of the raceway patrons to get out on the homeward-bound highways before the bulk of the usual heavy Sunday traffic.

By the by, the Sports Car Club of America provides more action than did the recent National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing event at the Sears raceway.

More Action This Weekend

While the NASCARs spent much of the weekend qualifying cars one (ho-hum) at a time, this weekend's SCCA event features action-packed qualifying races so you can expect to get your money's worth. Sunday's 123.6-mile main event will start at 2:15 p.m. and not 1:15 as itemed here the other day.

A's To Host Twins In Key 3-Game Set

OAKLAND (UPI) — The most talked about player in the major leagues leads his team, the Oakland Athletics, against the Minnesota Twins in the opener of a crucial three-game series starting tonight, 7:30, at the Oakland Coliseum.

Sturdy Reggie Jackson, who has clubbed 26 home runs to top all hitters in that department, is the man of the hour. During their last road trip, the A's wound up with a 9-3 mark and Jackson was instrumental in almost all of the victories.

He ripped nine homers in the first of the month — and has driven in 25 runs.

The two-out-of-three winner of the series will carry with it a one-game advantage in the American League West. Oakland currently holds a .002 edge (.559 to .557) over the Twins on the strength of its 36-26 record against Minnesota's 34-27.

After the Minnesota set, the A's will host Kansas City, Chicago and Seattle before embarking on another road swing.

Pennant For Pilots? Anything Can Happen

OAKLAND — Break up the Seattle Pilots!

Or, better yet, if you have a few bob idling in the sugar bowl, take it and flee to Reno, Tahoe or Vegas and see if the books are still willing to lay 200-1 against Seattle's chances of playing in the World Series this year.

In this perplexing, and often preposterous, baseball season, it would be unwise to bet against ANYTHING happening. Looking back to spring training, it's quite possible that Seattle manager Joe Schultz truly was sincere when he predicted the Pilots would — or at least could — win the American League's Western Division crown.

MINNESOTA AND the A's are certainly waiting for the Pilots, or anybody for that matter, to run away with the division title. Quite possibly, nobody will win it. The American League simply may proclaim its Eastern Division champion as the league's World Series representative and forget about a playoff. Considering the excellence of Baltimore, that might be the humane thing to do.

In a normal, one-division race, the A's would be hanging around the fourth or fifth spot. That's the only status their current record merits. A year ago at this time they were hanging around fifth and the .500 mark. But with the divisional arrangement, they're playing at a not much better pace and within reach of some sort of title.

THE TWINS don't want to wait for them, and actually shouldn't be considering Minny's hitting about 20 points higher than the A's. Yet the Minny hurling has been slim for a couple of weeks what with Dean Chance hurt and Jim Kaat unexplainedly mediocre. So wait they will.

The A's have been nice enough not to pull away either. For a month they did without a starter (Jim Nash), for three weeks without adequate relief pitching, for six weeks without help from their leadoff man (Bert Campaneris).

SINCE MID-MAY the Twins and A's have taken turns folding. Minny was hitting when Oakland wasn't. Then when Campy and Reggie Jackson blazed at the plate during this last road trip, the Twin bullpen collapsed. Chance was healthy when Nash wasn't. Then when Dean ailed, Jumbo Jim improved. Meanwhile, the only constant for the contenders was a catching problem.

And all this time — unbelievable — Seattle was playing around .500 too and moving into, you should excuse the expression, contention. Mike Hegan and Tommy Harper are doing all of their hitting, and Diego Segui (now in relief) their only decent pitching. But keep in mind that the Pilots have personnel with Pennant Pressure grace: ex-Yankee Jim Bouton, ex-Tiger Ray Oyler (who may do the impossible and hit over .200 this season), ex-Twin Rich Rollins, ex-Oriole Gene Brabender.

NONE, individually, is making a significant contribution to this thrilling Pilot pennant drive. But collectively they are contributing a winning attitude to Joe Schultz's Pollyanna-ish plans. When the Pilots play, they often perform so poorly that the foe is reduced to the same, stumbling level. And almost half the time, Seattle wins these monuments to athletic mediocrity.

IF THE Red Sox pennant of 1967 was an Impossible Dream, and I guess it was, a Pilot flag in '69 would be tantamount to an Impossible Nightmare. Don't bet it can't happen.

Remember: He also serves who stands and waits.

MARIN BOWLING NOTES

Kegler Goes 100 Pins Over Average With 234 Game

Daulat Rai had quite a night of it in the Lucky Strikes League at Country Club Bowl, going exactly 100 pins over his average with a 234 line.

Other big junior scores came from Keith Ray, 212-543, Rich McPherson, 214-556 and Nancy McPherson, 193, all in the Greenbrae Lanes Adult-Junior League, and Alex Shaw, 217-583 in the Monday Junior Doubles at Greenbrae.

High scores at Nave Lanes this week came from George Scherba, 244, Paulette Kirschbaun, 214-572, and Anne Gildersleeve, 569. Jean Tikotsky rolled a 532 line in the Keglerettes League at Country Club, thanks to the help of that 4-6-7 conversion.

Kathy Parrish and Jim Parrish really believe in togetherness, each converting a 6-7-10 split during play in the Alibi Mixed at Country Club. Ken Moran picked up a 4-7-9-10 leave in the Hi-Lo's at Country Club.

On the tournament trail, Nave Lanes is holding a "Strikeout for Babe Ruth" No-Tap tournament for men and women July 19-20 and 26-27. Cost is $6 per couple, with proceeds going to the Babe Ruth League of Novato.

For juniors, Castle Lanes of San Francisco is holding its Pacific Coast Junior Scratch Invitationals July 3-4-5-6, touted as the largest scratch tournament in the country.

He Must Really Love Softball

Gene Hiller of Greenbrae must be crazy about softball.

Hiller was a busy man in the San Rafael Recreation Department's Adult Softball League yesterday, winning a pair of games while pitching in two different divisions.

He hurled a three-hitter to give Cliff's Chevron a 72- win give Cliff's Chevron a 7-2 win play, then came back to hurl his own Hiller's Men's Wear team to a 5-2 victory over the Refectory on a four-hitter in C-II division play.

Mrs. Wieland Wins Tourney

Mrs. William Wieland scored 39 points to win the Marin Country Club's women's point-par golf tournament yesterday at the Novato course.

Nixon Watches McNally's Gem

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

McNally pitched a two-hitter last night to gain his 10th victory without a defeat as the Baltimore Orioles downed the Washington Senators, 2-0, before a crowd which included President Nixon.

The President, who last week watched Oakland's Reggie Jackson put on a slugging display, arrived at the game in the eighth inning as Don Buford, who doubled and took third on a bunt single, scored the Orioles' first run as Frank Robinson hit into a double play.

McNally, who allowed only singles to Tim Cullen and Paul Casanova, walked one and struck out five in winning his 12th consecutive game over a two-year span. But despite his sizzling start this season, McNally refused to consider the prospect of a 30-victory season.

NOT ENOUGH STARTS

"Oh, no," said McNally emphatically. "I'm not even thinking about 30. With the pitching staff we have, I won't even get enough starts to win 30."

Elsewhere, Minnesota ripped California, 8-1, Chicago outlasted Seattle, 13-10, Boston blanked Cleveland, 3-0, and New York downed Detroit, 5-3, in the only other games scheduled.

Ray Culp pitched a two-hitter for his 10th victory of the season and Carl Yastrzemski snapped out of a mild batting slump with a two-run homer to lead the Red Sox over the Indians.

Culp, now 10-4, struck out eight batters to tie the Indians' Sam McDowell for the league lead in strikeouts with 104. He did not allow a Cleveland runner to reach second base.

The Yankees scored three unearned runs in the second inning on pitcher Earl Wilson's three-base throwing error en route to their victory over the Tigers.

SCORE TIED 1-1

The score was tied at 1-1 in the second when Gene Michael and Jake Gibbs singled and moved up on a sacrifice. Wilson walked Horace Clarke to fill the bases before throwing Jerry Kenney's high bouncer into right field, allowing all three runners to score.

Rod Carew drove in two runs with a single and a double to raise his league-leading batting average to .374 and lead the Twins over the Angels. Rookie Dick Woodson pitched a three-hitter to boost his record to 4-2.

Bob Allison drove in three runs and Carew two as the Twins scored five unearned runs off the Angels, who committed four errors.

Wind Is On Archer's Side In Kemper Open

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Gangling George Archer ambled in with an early 67, felt a freshening breeze in his face and shoulted, "Blow, you beauty, blow.

"It's a terrible bad break for those guys who have to play in the afternoon," he said, a big grin stretching across his face. "Blow, baby, blow."

It did, but not enough to keep big George alone at the top in the first round of the $150,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament yesterday.

NEW PUTTER

Paunchy Phil Rodgers, a non-winner since 1966 who was using a new putter and a new putting style, survived the gusty winds and matched Archer's five-under-par effort for a share of the lead going into today's second round on the 7,205 yard, par 72 Quail Hollow Country Club course.

But their lead was far from secure, with 47 players locked within four strokes of each other. In fact, almost half the field of 144—70—matched or bettered par on the long layout.

The closest are New Zealand lefty Bob Charles, forer Masters champ Bob Goalby, Jim Colbert and Bob McCallister. All but McCallister played before the winds sent scores up.

FAR BACK

Arnold Palmer didn't make a birdie, en route to a 73, far, far back in the field. U.S. Open champ Orville Moody had a 72, also well back.

The group at 69 was made up of Bruce Devlin, Doug Sanders, Tom Weiskopf, Mason Rudolph, Dale Douglass and Bob Payne.

Among the 17 players at 70 were Lee Trevino, South African Gary Player and a trio of veterans—Sam Snead, Tommy Bolt and Lionel Hebert.

Arizona St. Reaches NCAA Finals

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The Arizona State Sun Devils and the Tulsa Golden Hurricane are to meet tonight to fight for the biggest prize in collegiate baseball — the College World Series title.

The card for the final match was completed last night when a scrappy Arizona State club — not a stranger to the annual event — scored a decisive 4-1 win over New York University to gain a berth.

The Sun Devils have already defeated Tulsa in the double-elimination tournament, topping the Oklahomans 11-3 in fourth round action.

A win for Arizona would mean the third time the Sun Devils had won the classic. Arizona State teams bested all competition both in 1965 and 1967.

Big righthander Lerrin Lagrow led Arizona in downing NYU, smashing three hits and pitching five-hit ball. One of his singles knocked in two runs in the sixth. A sacrifice bunt by Lagrow in the eighth set up another score.

The Violets from NYU had scored first in the sixth.

But then the Sun Devils came back with a big three-run bottom half on the inning, including Lagrow's two-run smash.

Rams Get QB Karl Sweetan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams have added a third quarterback to their National Football League roster — Karl Sweetan of the New Orleans Saints. In exchange, New Orleans later will get two college draft choices.

Sweetan, 26, will contest his former Detroit teammate, Milt Plum, for the No. 2 quarterback role behind Los Angeles starter Roman Gabriel.

Sweetan, 6-1 and 205 pounds from Wake Forest, has been in the NFL since 1966. He was a starter for the Lions in 1966 and was traded to the Saints last year. He was Bill Kilmer's backup for New Orleans.

Shamsky Proving Worth To Mets

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Art Shamsky, whose insistence that he didn't belong in the minor leagues fell on deaf ears among the New York Mets early in the season, has quite a listening audience now that he is proving he belongs in the majors.

Since his return from the minors Shamsky has spoken eloquently and persuasively with his bat, hitting .351 with nine runs batted in and three homers in 21 games.

FOUR HITS

He made a big impression on Philadelphia, too, last night by cracking two singles and two homers as the Mets edged the Phillies 6-5.

He kept the Mets in the game by driving in three runs and scoring three until Ken Boswell was able to slam a two-out, two-run single in the ninth inning for the victory.

But Shamsky wasn't the only four-hit man of the day as Lou Brock's fourth hit, a homer, broke a tie and sent St. Louis to a 5-3 victory over Montreal and Lee May had four hits for Cincinnati before Tommy Helms' double in the ninth gave the Reds an 8-7 triumph over San Francisco.

Don Wilson and the Houston Astros beat San Diego 4-2 in the only other game.

Shamsky was one of the lesser known names who threatened to retire this season when the Mets decided to ship him to their Tidewater farm club at the beginning of the season after a bad back hampered his spring training.

BALKED

The 27-year-old left-handed swinger, who never hit more than .260 in four major league seasons as a part-time player, balked at the demotion, but like the rest of the retirees, he changed his mind. And after proving himself at Tidewater, the Mets sent for him and he has made certain he stays.

Pennant For Pilots? Anything Can Happen

OAKLAND — Break up the Seattle Pilots!

Or, better yet, if you have a few bob idling in the sugar bowl, take it and flee to Reno, Tahoe or Vegas and see if the books are still willing to lay 200-1 against Seattle's chances of playing in the World Series this year.

In this perplexing, and often preposterous, baseball season, it would be unwise to bet against ANYTHING happening. Looking back to spring training, it's quite possible that Seattle manager Joe Schultz truly was sincere when he predicted the Pilots would — or at least could — win the American League's Western Division crown.

MINNESOTA AND the A's are certainly waiting for the Pilots, or anybody for that matter, to run away with the division title. Quite possibly, nobody will win it. The American League simply may proclaim its Eastern Division champion as the league's World Series representative and forget about a playoff. Considering the excellence of Baltimore, that might be the humane thing to do.

In a normal, one-division race, the A's would be hanging around the fourth or fifth spot. That's the only status their current record merits. A year ago at this time they were hanging around fifth and the .500 mark. But with the divisional arrangement, they're playing at a not much better pace and within reach of some sort of title.

THE TWINS don't want to wait for them, and actually shouldn't be considering Minny's hitting about 20 points higher than the A's. Yet the Minny hurling has been slim for a couple of weeks what with Dean Chance hurt and Jim Kaat unexplainedly mediocre. So wait they will.

The A's have been nice enough not to pull away either. For a month they did without a starter (Jim Nash), for three weeks without adequate relief pitching, for six weeks without help from their leadoff man (Bert Campaneris).

SINCE MID-MAY the Twins and A's have taken turns folding. Minny was hitting when Oakland wasn't. Then when Campy and Reggie Jackson blazed at the plate during this last road trip, the Twin bullpen collapsed. Chance was healthy when Nash wasn't. Then when Dean ailed, Jumbo Jim improved. Meanwhile, the only constant for the contenders was a catching problem.

And all this time — unbelievable — Seattle was playing around .500 too and moving into, you should excuse the expression, contention. Mike Hegan and Tommy Harper are doing all of their hitting, and Diego Segui (now in relief) their only decent pitching. But keep in mind that the Pilots have personnel with Pennant Pressure grace: ex-Yankee Jim Bouton, ex-Tiger Ray Oyler (who may do the impossible and hit over .200 this season), ex-Twin Rich Rollins, ex-Oriole Gene Brabender.

NONE, individually, is making a significant contribution to this thrilling Pilot pennant drive. But collectively they are contributing a winning attitude to Joe Schultz's Pollyanna-ish plans. When the Pilots play, they often perform so poorly that the foe is reduced to the same, stumbling level. And almost half the time, Seattle wins these monuments to athletic mediocrity.

IF THE Red Sox pennant of 1967 was an Impossible Dream, and I guess it was, a Pilot flag in '69 would be tantamount to an Impossible Nightmare. Don't bet it can't happen.

Remember: He also serves who stands and waits.

MARIN BOWLING NOTES

Kegler Goes 100 Pins Over Average With 234 Game

Daulat Rai had quite a night of it in the Lucky Strikes League at Country Club Bowl, going exactly 100 pins over his average with a 234 line.

Other big junior scores came from Keith Ray, 212-543, Rich McPherson, 214-556 and Nancy McPherson, 193, all in the Greenbrae Lanes Adult-Junior League, and Alex Shaw, 217-583 in the Monday Junior Doubles at Greenbrae.

High scores at Nave Lanes this week came from George Scherba, 244, Paulette Kirschbaun, 214-572, and Anne Gildersleeve, 569. Jean Tikotsky rolled a 532 line in the Keglerettes League at Country Club, thanks to the help of that 4-6-7 conversion.

Kathy Parrish and Jim Parrish really believe in togetherness, each converting a 6-7-10 split during play in the Alibi Mixed at Country Club. Ken Moran picked up a 4-7-9-10 leave in the Hi-Lo's at Country Club.

On the tournament trail, Nave Lanes is holding a "Strikeout for Babe Ruth" No-Tap tournament for men and women July 19-20 and 26-27. Cost is $6 per couple, with proceeds going to the Babe Ruth League of Novato.

For juniors, Castle Lanes of San Francisco is holding its Pacific Coast Junior Scratch Invitationals July 3-4-5-6, touted as the largest scratch tournament in the country.

He Must Really Love Softball

Gene Hiller of Greenbrae must be crazy about softball.

Hiller was a busy man in the San Rafael Recreation Department's Adult Softball League yesterday, winning a pair of games while pitching in two different divisions.

He hurled a three-hitter to give Cliff's Chevron a 72- win give Cliff's Chevron a 7-2 win play, then came back to hurl his own Hiller's Men's Wear team to a 5-2 victory over the Refectory on a four-hitter in C-II division play.

Mrs. Wieland Wins Tourney

Mrs. William Wieland scored 39 points to win the Marin Country Club's women's point-par golf tournament yesterday at the Novato course.

Other leaders:

Class A — Mesdames Earl Isaac, 37; Walter Kessler and Mat Palacio Jr., 36 each.

Nixon Watches McNally's Gem

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

McNally pitched a two-hitter last night to gain his 10th victory without a defeat as the Baltimore Orioles downed the Washington Senators, 2-0, before a crowd which included President Nixon.

The President, who last week watched Oakland's Reggie Jackson put on a slugging display, arrived at the game in the eighth inning as Don Buford, who doubled and took third on a bunt single, scored the Orioles' first run as Frank Robinson hit into a double play.

McNally, who allowed only singles to Tim Cullen and Paul Casanova, walked one and struck out five in winning his 12th consecutive game over a two-year span. But despite his sizzling start this season, McNally refused to consider the prospect of a 30-victory season.

NOT ENOUGH STARTS

"Oh, no," said McNally emphatically. "I'm not even thinking about 30. With the pitching staff we have, I won't even get enough starts to win 30."

Elsewhere, Minnesota ripped California, 8-1, Chicago outlasted Seattle, 13-10, Boston blanked Cleveland, 3-0, and New York downed Detroit, 5-3, in the only other games scheduled.

Ray Culp pitched a two-hitter for his 10th victory of the season and Carl Yastrzemski snapped out of a mild batting slump with a two-run homer to lead the Red Sox over the Indians.

Culp, now 10-4, struck out eight batters to tie the Indians' Sam McDowell for the league lead in strikeouts with 104. He did not allow a Cleveland runner to reach second base.

The Yankees scored three unearned runs in the second inning on pitcher Earl Wilson's three-base throwing error en route to their victory over the Tigers.

SCORE TIED 1-1

The score was tied at 1-1 in the second when Gene Michael and Jake Gibbs singled and moved up on a sacrifice. Wilson walked Horace Clarke to fill the bases before throwing Jerry Kenney's high bouncer into right field, allowing all three runners to score.

Rod Carew drove in two runs with a single and a double to raise his league-leading batting average to .374 and lead the Twins over the Angels. Rookie Dick Woodson pitched a three-hitter to boost his record to 4-2.

Bob Allison drove in three runs and Carew two as the Twins scored five unearned runs off the Angels, who committed four errors.

Wind Is On Archer's Side In Kemper Open

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Gangling George Archer ambled in with an early 67, felt a freshening breeze in his face and shoulted, "Blow, you beauty, blow.

"It's a terrible bad break for those guys who have to play in the afternoon," he said, a big grin stretching across his face. "Blow, baby, blow."

It did, but not enough to keep big George alone at the top in the first round of the $150,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament yesterday.

NEW PUTTER

Paunchy Phil Rodgers, a non-winner since 1966 who was using a new putter and a new putting style, survived the gusty winds and matched Archer's five-under-par effort for a share of the lead going into today's second round on the 7,205 yard, par 72 Quail Hollow Country Club course.

But their lead was far from secure, with 47 players locked within four strokes of each other. In fact, almost half the field of 144—70—matched or bettered par on the long layout.

The closest are New Zealand lefty Bob Charles, forer Masters champ Bob Goalby, Jim Colbert and Bob McCallister. All but McCallister played before the winds sent scores up.

FAR BACK

Arnold Palmer didn't make a birdie, en route to a 73, far, far back in the field. U.S. Open champ Orville Moody had a 72, also well back.

The group at 69 was made up of Bruce Devlin, Doug Sanders, Tom Weiskopf, Mason Rudolph, Dale Douglass and Bob Payne.

Among the 17 players at 70 were Lee Trevino, South African Gary Player and a trio of veterans—Sam Snead, Tommy Bolt and Lionel Hebert.

Arizona St. Reaches NCAA Finals

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The Arizona State Sun Devils and the Tulsa Golden Hurricane are to meet tonight to fight for the biggest prize in collegiate baseball — the College World Series title.

The card for the final match was completed last night when a scrappy Arizona State club — not a stranger to the annual event — scored a decisive 4-1 win over New York University to gain a berth.

The Sun Devils have already defeated Tulsa in the double-elimination tournament, topping the Oklahomans 11-3 in fourth round action.

A win for Arizona would mean the third time the Sun Devils had won the classic. Arizona State teams bested all competition both in 1965 and 1967.

Big righthander Lerrin Lagrow led Arizona in downing NYU, smashing three hits and pitching five-hit ball. One of his singles knocked in two runs in the sixth. A sacrifice bunt by Lagrow in the eighth set up another score.

The Violets from NYU had scored first in the sixth.

But then the Sun Devils came back with a big three-run bottom half on the inning, including Lagrow's two-run smash.

Rams Get QB Karl Sweetan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams have added a third quarterback to their National Football League roster — Karl Sweetan of the New Orleans Saints. In exchange, New Orleans later will get two college draft choices.

Sweetan, 26, will contest his former Detroit teammate, Milt Plum, for the No. 2 quarterback role behind Los Angeles starter Roman Gabriel.

Sweetan, 6-1 and 205 pounds from Wake Forest, has been in the NFL since 1966. He was a starter for the Lions in 1966 and was traded to the Saints last year. He was Bill Kilmer's backup for New Orleans.

Shamsky Proving Worth To Mets

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Art Shamsky, whose insistence that he didn't belong in the minor leagues fell on deaf ears among the New York Mets early in the season, has quite a listening audience now that he is proving he belongs in the majors.

Since his return from the minors Shamsky has spoken eloquently and persuasively with his bat, hitting .351 with nine runs batted in and three homers in 21 games.

FOUR HITS

He made a big impression on Philadelphia, too, last night by cracking two singles and two homers as the Mets edged the Phillies 6-5.

He kept the Mets in the game by driving in three runs and scoring three until Ken Boswell was able to slam a two-out, two-run single in the ninth inning for the victory.

But Shamsky wasn't the only four-hit man of the day as Lou Brock's fourth hit, a homer, broke a tie and sent St. Louis to a 5-3 victory over Montreal and Lee May had four hits for Cincinnati before Tommy Helms' double in the ninth gave the Reds an 8-7 triumph over San Francisco.

Don Wilson and the Houston Astros beat San Diego 4-2 in the only other game.

Shamsky was one of the lesser known names who threatened to retire this season when the Mets decided to ship him to their Tidewater farm club at the beginning of the season after a bad back hampered his spring training.

BALKED

The 27-year-old left-handed swinger, who never hit more than .260 in four major league seasons as a part-time player, balked at the demotion, but like the rest of the retirees, he changed his mind. And after proving himself at Tidewater, the Mets sent for him and he has made certain he stays.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Marin Lakes Restocked; Sierra Waters Opening

Phoenix and Launitas lakes were restocked this week with catchable-sized trout. Rodeo Lagoon was stocked last week. Some of the trout will begin to show up with small parasites on their gills and in the flesh. These parasites become problems to trout through the warm summer months. As they attack only cold blooded creatures, they cause no problems to man, except for being unappetizing.

With the Sierras opening up to new lakes each week as the snows melt, it would be worthwhile to try some of the higher elevation lakes. It's like opening the season each week. And don't forget that Lake Tahoe is good for Mackinaws, rainbows and kokanee right now!

FLASH. I just got word that Davis Lake is still going good. Pete Testa, one of the old sportsmen of Marin, took himself and his three grandsons to Davis Lake in Plumas County. They took a boat along, and the three boys, Andy, 6 years, Matt, 7, and Cary, 9, all had a ball. Using fireball eggs and light leaders and small hooks, they all limited out, bringing home 30 beautiful fat, red-meated trout. They tell me that Andy, the six-year-old, took all the prizes for first fish, biggest and the most.

STRIPED BASS fishing will steadily improve. This week I checked stripers at Lime Point, the Richmond Bridge, The Brothers and up on the flats off China Camp and Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia. I also checked some good sized sturgeon at the flats and pumphouse areas. Don't forget to look for those tagged fish. Some of the fish (3,000 of them) have $10, $5 and $2 bonus tags attached.

SALMON FISHING continues to be good off the party boats out of Sausalito. Even with the new three fish limit, most of the boats seem to limit out unless the winds are bad. The fish are beginning to show better sizes, too. A fish that weighed six pounds in February should hit the scales now at about 10 pounds. Call the Sausalito Boat and Tackle or Caruso's at Sausalito for latest information. If you like rockfishing, they will set up a trip for you.

I RECEIVED some information for deer hunts at Fort Ord, Hunter Leggett Military Reservation and Camp Roberts. Here it is:

Army authorities at Fort Ord, Hunter Leggett Military Reservation and Camp Roberts this week said deer hunting again will be permitted on the reservations this year.

The following rules have been announced for each of the three military bases:

FORT ORD — Hunters will be admitted to the base on a first-come, first-serve basis and hunting will be limited to the weekends. Shotguns with slugs are the only weapons that may be used. Only 50 hunters will be permitted on the base each day.

HUNTER LEGGETT Military Reservation — Hunters will be admitted to the base only if they have advance reservations.

Reservations may be applied for through July 14. Applications must be made on a postcard, carrying the name, address and age of each hunter. Up to four persons may apply on a single card. Cards should be mailed to the Wildlife Conservation Office, Post Engineer, Hunter Leggett Military Reservation, Jolon, California 93928.

Hunting will be limited to the weekends.

Two hundred and fifty hunters will be admitted to the base each weekend, and persons receiving permits will be entitled to hunt both Saturday and Sunday.

Persons whose names are drawn will be notified by mail.

CAMP ROBERTS — Hunting will be limited to weekends only. Interested persons should request reservations by writing the Wildlife Conservation Office, Post Engineer, Camp Roberts, California 93446.

These persons should specify the dates on which they want to hunt. There is no cutoff date for requesting reservations at Camp Roberts. Twenty-six hunters will be admitted to the base each weekend.

The Department of Fish and Game reminds hunters that the three military bases are in the area of the coastal deer season which opens Aug. 2 and runs through Sept. 21.

Persons hunting deer on military reservations must have valid state hunting licenses and deer tags.

Palacio A Social Golfer With A Long Victory List

Championship in 1941; winner of the Broadmoor Invitational at Colorado Springs in 1943 and 1945; winner of the Beatrice Open in Beatrice, Neb., in 1946, and champ of the Kansas State Championship in 1949.

Closer to home, he has formerly held club champion titles at the old Marin Country Club in San Rafael, San Francisco's Olympic Club, and Sonoma Golf Club, where he's the defending champ, winning the Sonoma title the past three years.

Now a four-handicapper, Palacio divides his golfing time between Sonoma National Golf Club, where he is six-time champion, and Marin Country Club of Novato.

He had to take some time out from golf about two years ago when his dog accidentally bit his left hand. But three months later he was back on the course, although he had to wear a padded glove for protection.

"The last two or three months I have been playing a lot of golf," said Palacio, who has been getting out twice a week for a round with friends. "I'm a social golfer. I play for the fun of it."

Palacio, who plays with the same driver he used in the 1936 state championships, can still put the ball 250 yards down the fairway. "I just keep shellacking the club face to keep it hard," he says of his ancient driver.

Palacio had an offer to turn professional in 1945 from Pollard Simmonds, the financial backer of Ben Hogan. "I didn't want that gypsy life, I was near-sighted and had trouble with new courses, and the purses were just not big enough then," he said in explaining the reasons for not turning pro.

Palacio and his wife Aleta live at 100 Garden Avenue. Both were proud last March when Mat was elected to the Athletic Hall of Fame at his alma mater, University of San Francisco.

Indians Triumph In Drake Basketball

Bill Gommeringer scored 22 points to lead the Indians to a 61-58 win over the Pirates in Drake Summer League basketball action at Drake High School yesterday.

Jeff Meeker of the Pirates took game scoring honors with 26 points.

In other games, the Cardinals, behind Gordon Glasgow's 14 points, whipped Pier 15, 56-38, and the Buccaneers downed Lincoln, 51-40, as Larry Smith scored 15 points for the winners.

San Rafael '9' In Do-Or-Die Tourney Tilt

It's do-or-die for the San Rafael Braves tomorrow when they take on Shivers and Marie baseballers from Oakland in the regional playoffs for the State Semi-Pro Baseball Championships.

The game will be played at Albert Field, San Rafael, 1 p.m.

Winner of tomorrow's game remains alive in the tourney, but for the loser it will be all over. Both teams have 3-1 win-loss records in the double elimination tourney.

The Braves have split a pair of games with Shivers and Marie, losing 5-0 in a practice game and winning 7-5 last Saturday in an 11-inning tournament game.

ON TO ALAMEDA

If the Braves, batting .386 as a team, can get past the visitors tomorrow, it's on to Alameda's Washington Park Sunday for a 1 p.m. game against Santa Rosa, a team the San Rafael nine has already beaten once in the tourney, 14-3.

Either Ben Burch or Bill Clark is scheduled to pitch for the Braves tomorrow.

Paul Lee, who just joined the team last week, is leading the San Rafael batters with a perfect 5-for-5 for 1.000. Former San Rafael High School star Rocky Shone is batting .467, outfielder Mike Selland is at .471 second baseman Rich Jeffries at .444, Doug Wilson, outfielder, .417, third baseman Bill Connolly, .400, and shortstop Tom Corder, .313.

Both players were correct yesterday — Rose predicting the exact outcome as Tommy Helms' ninth-inning double snapped a 7-7 tie, and McCovey blasting a two-run homer against the shift to give the Giants a 6-3 lead after seven innings.

PERRY BETRAYED

Right-hander Gaylord Perry, gunning for his 10th victory, was betrayed in the eighth when third baseman Jim Davenport bobbled Tony Perez' grounder with one out.

Darrell Chaney walked, and pinch-batter Fred Whitfield cracked a run-scoring single to right. Chaney was tagged out going to third on the play, but Rose singled and Bob Tolan tagged a three-run homer for a 7-6 lead.

EYES NINE-SECOND BARRIER

Carlos Sets High Goal In NCAA

But before that day comes, the young man who stirred controversy and was sent home after his black-fisted salute in the Olympics is thinking of today and his special goal: Running the world's first 100-yard dash in under nine seconds.

CONFIDENT

"If I get a good start tomorrow the record's gonna go," the San Jose State star said after "easing off" and winning his 100-yard heat as the NCAA championships opened yesterday.

"Eight-something's gonna come; and you can quote me on that," Carlos said.

Villanova's Erv Hall, who equalled the world record in the 120-yard high hurdles with a 13.2 clocking, was as surprised about his race as Carlos was brash.

Villanova, paced by Hall's qualification after an injury-plagued season and a trio of milers who also advanced, loomed as top challenger to favored Kansas and San Jose State after one day of action.

EASY RUN

Kansas miler Jim Ryun, running just hard enough to qualify, came from last to first in the last quarter and trotted across the line at 4:03.4.

Asked why he lagged behind, Ryun, who holds the world mark of 3:51.1, said, "I can sprint better the last half than the first half, and in qualifying you don't usually have to worry about controlling the race.

"But I won't be able to do that in the finals."

The only final event held Thursday was the six-mile run, and Frank Shorter of Yale covered the grueling distance in 29.00.2. It was the first time he'd ever run the event.

JAVELIN RECORD

Bill Skinner, a 29-year-old sophomore from host Tennessee, set an NCAA mark in the javelin with a heave of 273 feet, 3 inches.

Besides the featured 100-yard dash, finals were set today in the hammer throw, long jump, shot put, 120-yard high hurdles and 3,000-yard steeplechase.

Marin Lakes Restocked; Sierra Waters Opening

Phoenix and Launitas lakes were restocked this week with catchable-sized trout. Rodeo Lagoon was stocked last week. Some of the trout will begin to show up with small parasites on their gills and in the flesh. These parasites become problems to trout through the warm summer months. As they attack only cold blooded creatures, they cause no problems to man, except for being unappetizing.

With the Sierras opening up to new lakes each week as the snows melt, it would be worthwhile to try some of the higher elevation lakes. It's like opening the season each week. And don't forget that Lake Tahoe is good for Mackinaws, rainbows and kokanee right now!

FLASH. I just got word that Davis Lake is still going good. Pete Testa, one of the old sportsmen of Marin, took himself and his three grandsons to Davis Lake in Plumas County. They took a boat along, and the three boys, Andy, 6 years, Matt, 7, and Cary, 9, all had a ball. Using fireball eggs and light leaders and small hooks, they all limited out, bringing home 30 beautiful fat, red-meated trout. They tell me that Andy, the six-year-old, took all the prizes for first fish, biggest and the most.

STRIPED BASS fishing will steadily improve. This week I checked stripers at Lime Point, the Richmond Bridge, The Brothers and up on the flats off China Camp and Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia. I also checked some good sized sturgeon at the flats and pumphouse areas. Don't forget to look for those tagged fish. Some of the fish (3,000 of them) have $10, $5 and $2 bonus tags attached.

SALMON FISHING continues to be good off the party boats out of Sausalito. Even with the new three fish limit, most of the boats seem to limit out unless the winds are bad. The fish are beginning to show better sizes, too. A fish that weighed six pounds in February should hit the scales now at about 10 pounds. Call the Sausalito Boat and Tackle or Caruso's at Sausalito for latest information. If you like rockfishing, they will set up a trip for you.

I RECEIVED some information for deer hunts at Fort Ord, Hunter Leggett Military Reservation and Camp Roberts. Here it is:

Army authorities at Fort Ord, Hunter Leggett Military Reservation and Camp Roberts this week said deer hunting again will be permitted on the reservations this year.

The following rules have been announced for each of the three military bases:

FORT ORD — Hunters will be admitted to the base on a first-come, first-serve basis and hunting will be limited to the weekends. Shotguns with slugs are the only weapons that may be used. Only 50 hunters will be permitted on the base each day.

HUNTER LEGGETT Military Reservation — Hunters will be admitted to the base only if they have advance reservations.

Reservations may be applied for through July 14. Applications must be made on a postcard, carrying the name, address and age of each hunter. Up to four persons may apply on a single card. Cards should be mailed to the Wildlife Conservation Office, Post Engineer, Hunter Leggett Military Reservation, Jolon, California 93928.

Hunting will be limited to the weekends.

Two hundred and fifty hunters will be admitted to the base each weekend, and persons receiving permits will be entitled to hunt both Saturday and Sunday.

Persons whose names are drawn will be notified by mail.

CAMP ROBERTS — Hunting will be limited to weekends only. Interested persons should request reservations by writing the Wildlife Conservation Office, Post Engineer, Camp Roberts, California 93446.

These persons should specify the dates on which they want to hunt. There is no cutoff date for requesting reservations at Camp Roberts. Twenty-six hunters will be admitted to the base each weekend.

The Department of Fish and Game reminds hunters that the three military bases are in the area of the coastal deer season which opens Aug. 2 and runs through Sept. 21.

Persons hunting deer on military reservations must have valid state hunting licenses and deer tags.

Palacio A Social Golfer With A Long Victory List

Championship in 1941; winner of the Broadmoor Invitational at Colorado Springs in 1943 and 1945; winner of the Beatrice Open in Beatrice, Neb., in 1946, and champ of the Kansas State Championship in 1949.

Closer to home, he has formerly held club champion titles at the old Marin Country Club in San Rafael, San Francisco's Olympic Club, and Sonoma Golf Club, where he's the defending champ, winning the Sonoma title the past three years.

Now a four-handicapper, Palacio divides his golfing time between Sonoma National Golf Club, where he is six-time champion, and Marin Country Club of Novato.

He had to take some time out from golf about two years ago when his dog accidentally bit his left hand. But three months later he was back on the course, although he had to wear a padded glove for protection.

"The last two or three months I have been playing a lot of golf," said Palacio, who has been getting out twice a week for a round with friends. "I'm a social golfer. I play for the fun of it."

Palacio, who plays with the same driver he used in the 1936 state championships, can still put the ball 250 yards down the fairway. "I just keep shellacking the club face to keep it hard," he says of his ancient driver.

Palacio had an offer to turn professional in 1945 from Pollard Simmonds, the financial backer of Ben Hogan. "I didn't want that gypsy life, I was near-sighted and had trouble with new courses, and the purses were just not big enough then," he said in explaining the reasons for not turning pro.

Palacio and his wife Aleta live at 100 Garden Avenue. Both were proud last March when Mat was elected to the Athletic Hall of Fame at his alma mater, University of San Francisco.

San Rafael '9' In Do-Or-Die Tourney Tilt

It's do-or-die for the San Rafael Braves tomorrow when they take on Shivers and Marie baseballers from Oakland in the regional playoffs for the State Semi-Pro Baseball Championships.

The game will be played at Albert Field, San Rafael, 1 p.m.

Winner of tomorrow's game remains alive in the tourney, but for the loser it will be all over. Both teams have 3-1 win-loss records in the double elimination tourney.

The Braves have split a pair of games with Shivers and Marie, losing 5-0 in a practice game and winning 7-5 last Saturday in an 11-inning tournament game.

ON TO ALAMEDA

If the Braves, batting .386 as a team, can get past the visitors tomorrow, it's on to Alameda's Washington Park Sunday for a 1 p.m. game against Santa Rosa, a team the San Rafael nine has already beaten once in the tourney, 14-3.

Either Ben Burch or Bill Clark is scheduled to pitch for the Braves tomorrow.

Paul Lee, who just joined the team last week, is leading the San Rafael batters with a perfect 5-for-5 for 1.000. Former San Rafael High School star Rocky Shone is batting .467, outfielder Mike Selland is at .471 second baseman Rich Jeffries at .444, Doug Wilson, outfielder, .417, third baseman Bill Connolly, .400, and shortstop Tom Corder, .313.

EYES NINE-SECOND BARRIER

Carlos Sets High Goal In NCAA

But before that day comes, the young man who stirred controversy and was sent home after his black-fisted salute in the Olympics is thinking of today and his special goal: Running the world's first 100-yard dash in under nine seconds.

CONFIDENT

"If I get a good start tomorrow the record's gonna go," the San Jose State star said after "easing off" and winning his 100-yard heat as the NCAA championships opened yesterday.

"Eight-something's gonna come; and you can quote me on that," Carlos said.

Villanova's Erv Hall, who equalled the world record in the 120-yard high hurdles with a 13.2 clocking, was as surprised about his race as Carlos was brash.

Villanova, paced by Hall's qualification after an injury-plagued season and a trio of milers who also advanced, loomed as top challenger to favored Kansas and San Jose State after one day of action.

EASY RUN

Kansas miler Jim Ryun, running just hard enough to qualify, came from last to first in the last quarter and trotted across the line at 4:03.4.

Asked why he lagged behind, Ryun, who holds the world mark of 3:51.1, said, "I can sprint better the last half than the first half, and in qualifying you don't usually have to worry about controlling the race.

"But I won't be able to do that in the finals."

The only final event held Thursday was the six-mile run, and Frank Shorter of Yale covered the grueling distance in 29.00.2. It was the first time he'd ever run the event.

JAVELIN RECORD

Bill Skinner, a 29-year-old sophomore from host Tennessee, set an NCAA mark in the javelin with a heave of 273 feet, 3 inches.

Besides the featured 100-yard dash, finals were set today in the hammer throw, long jump, shot put, 120-yard high hurdles and 3,000-yard steeplechase.

LEADS SPADE

West opens the king of spades, and you easily survive the first test. Of course you refuse to win this trick. If you took dummy's ace of spades you would have no later entry to the clubs. If you could get only two club tricks you'd have little chance for the game in no-trump.

West continues with the seven of spades, and you win with the queen, saving dummy's ace for later. Now don't sprain your wrist patting yourself on the back. More work is ahead of you.

If you are careless, you take the king and then the queen of clubs. Misery. East discards a diamond on the second club. Now you cannot run the clubs, and you don't have time to bring in the diamonds. When East takes the king of diamonds he knocks out the ace of spades; and when he takes the ace of diamonds he defeats the contract with the rest of the spades.

FAIR WARNING

Since you've been warned, you surely see the winning line of play. Win the second spade with the queen, cash the king of clubs and then lead the queen of clubs.

But don't be content to win the second club with your own queen. Overtake with dummy's ace.

WELL AND GOOD

If the jack happens to fall, well and good. Since it doesn't, lead the ten of clubs to drive out the jack. Now you can return to dummy with the ace of spades to cash the rest of the clubs. No matter what the defenders do, you have five clubs, two spades and two hearts.

Cry For Help Goes Unheeded

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Seven persons watched outside a doughnut shop — but did nothing — as waitress Anita Joseph screamed and tried to fight off a would-be hold-up man.

She finally broke away yesterday from the attacker, who appeared drunk, rushed outside, got into a parked car, and locked the doors.

The intruder, unsuccessful in his efforts to open the cash register, finally fled.

She then reentered the shop and called police.

She told officers she asked one man in the crowd to help her. But he turned, got in his car, and drove away.

"Those people didn't have to get involved," she said. "All they had to do was call police."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Excellent Merit In Braniff, Iowa Beef

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My husband and I recently purchased Braniff Airways and Iowa Beef Packers as an investment for our children's education. Braniff's stock price has fallen but we believe it has potential. Would you please comment? — R. H.

A. I agree. Earnings recovery appears to be in prospect for Braniff. Some analysts look for $1 a share, up from 58 cents in 1968. First quarter operating revenue and net income rose 13 per cent and 9 per cent, respectively. Updated equipment, new route awards and a growing cargo business will continue to upgrade Braniff's long-range prospects.

Iowa Beef Packers has revitalized methods used in the tradition-bound meat packing industry. Much of the beef processed by Iowa is packaged in serving-sized portions before leaving the cattle-growing country. By eliminating several middlemen between consumer and grower, the company has improved its profit potential.

A temporary order by the Justice Department restraining further action in a planned merger with Blue Ribbon Beef Pack has been lifted. Sales and earnings for the current fiscal year, including Blue Ribbon, should show some improvement over 1968. Both Braniff and Iowa have excellent long-range merit and shares should be retained.

Q. I am in the upper five-figure income bracket and have recently had a will drawn up leaving my estate to my widowed sister and her son. After reading your column on inheritance tax I wonder if I should have placed it in a trust. I understand I can give away $3,000 annually plus a lump sum of $30,000. Any advice you have would be appreciated.

A. Yes. Under the Federal Gift Tax Law, you are allowed to give away tax-free $30,000 in your lifetime. In addition, annual gifts of $3,000, not to exceed $30,000 per person, may be given to as many individuals as you wish. Before you make any commitments you should seek expert advice from an attorney thoroughly versed in estate planning. He would be best qualified to advise you as to the most advantageous method of arranging your financial affairs.

$3.75 Billion Income Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Personal income of Americans rose $3.75 billion in May, the government reported.

The Commerce Department said the May increase equalled April's advance but was about $1 billion less than the average monthly gain in the first three months of the year.

About $2.5 billion of the May increase came from wage and salary boosts while interest payments and Social Security checks increased by $500 million each.

The overall increase pushed personal income to an adjusted annual rate of $735 billion.

Oil Firms In Alaska Dispute

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two giant oil companies are locked in a legal battle over possession of oil lands on Alaska's north slope, it was disclosed yesterday.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. has filed suit against Atlantic Richfield Co. to secure the right to purchase one-half the north slope acreage Atlantic Richfield acquired with the purchase of Sinclair Oil Corp. earlier this year.

Atlantic Richfield disclosed the suit in a preliminary prospectus covering a proposed offering of 1.5 million shares of common stock. Humble filed in the U. S. District Court for the central district of California in Los Angeles.

The lands in contest are not those in Prudhoe Bay on which Humble and Atlantic made discoveries.

Atlantic Richfield said it believes Humble's claim to be without merit and that it will contest the action.

Legal Step

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bangor Punta Corp. says the withdrawal of its motion to dismiss the suit of Chris-Craft Industries Inc., to block the merger of Piper Aircraft Co. into Bangor Punta, is merely a legal step. The company said it had filed an answer to the Chris-Craft complaint and intends to press the matter.

Paris Statement Disturbs Investors; Stocks Tumble

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks tumbled sharply in the final hour today, and shortly before the final bell declines topped advances by more than 2-to-1. Trading was moderately active.

The selling continued to reflect the tight money situation which has pressured the list for more than a month. Also disturbing to investors was a remark from Mme. Nguey Thi Binh, the Viet Cong's chief negotiator at the Vietnam Peace Conference in Paris.

She said peace will come in Vietnam only when the United States withdraws all its troops and "all material." This followed President Nixon's last night statement that more than 260,000 U.S. combat troops could be withdrawn by the end of 1970.

Oils were mixed, although several issues fell from best levels, including Natomas, Clark Oil, Standard of Ohio and Superior.

Electronics showed scattered strength after some sharp losses in the previous session. IBM closed at 312¼, off 1¾, but Xerox was up 2 at 89⅝.

A few chemical issues moved a point or better, but on both sides of previous closings. Du Pont closed at 131 3-4, off 1 3-4.

Nixon Adviser At Hot Dog Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon's consumer adviser put the White House on record yesterday as favoring leaner hot dogs than does the Agriculture Department.

Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer rejected the department's proposal to limit fat in frankfurters to 33 per cent and called for a 30 per cent limit.

Appearing at a department hearing, she also proposed a requirement that processors disclose the ingredients of hot dogs on their package labels, another conflict with the department's views.

The three-day hearing was set up to consider limitation on fat content on federally-inspected cooked sausages.

Research Program

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Monsanto Co. has started a research program under a $127,000 government grant to develop beverages to combat nutritional deficiencies in American diets. Beverages suitable for consumer marketing are the target of the plan.

THIS WEEK IN BUSINESS

Two Acquisitions By Di Giorgio Corp.

Two recreational vehicle manufacturers have been acquired by Di Giorgio Corp., San Francisco — and the company is now negotiating with several others in the planned development of substantial operations in this field.

The acquisitions are Caveman Camper, Inc. of Grants Pass, Ore., and Bell Manufacturing Co., Kalispell, Mont. Value of the transactions, which involve the exchange of Di Giorgio common stock, exceed $3 million.

Meanwhile Di Giorgio will divest itself of all common stock of its restaurant franchising subsidiary, 21 Flags, Inc. to Franchised Food Systems, Inc., Washington, D.C. It will retain an interest in 21 Flags through preferred stock and warrants.

SSI COMPUTER CORP., San Francisco, has effected its merger with Statistics for Management Data Processing Corp., New York, through the formation of ITEL Corp. Common stock of the new corporation has been admitted to trading on the American Stock Exchange and the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange.

NEWELL INDUSTRIES, INC., Sunnyvale, has reached an agreement to acquire Computer Measurements Co., a wholly owned division of Pacific Industries. Newell expects to assign production and marketing of part of its line of magnetic tape record and reproduction systems to Computer Measurements.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. estimates its sales for fiscal 1969 ending June 30 will reach $1.5 billion, up from $1.3 billion during fiscal 1968. Profits are expected to approach $50 million or $2 to $2.05 per share. The company's objective is to reach $2.5 billion in sales and $90 million in after-tax profits from internal operations by 1975.

PACIFIC SOUTHWEST AIRLINES directors have voted to omit the 15-cents per share quarterly dividend on its common stock, due to spiraling operating expenses without corresponding fare increases. A fare increase application is pending before the California Public Utilities Commission. Meanwhile the company has announced the purchase of the Islandia Hotel on San Deigo's Mission Bay and plans for many improvements, including a high rise tower.

NATIONAL AIRLINES' net income of $1,441,000 has set a new record for the month of May. Earnings, equal to 17 cents per share, compared with May, 1968 income of $962,000 or 11 cents per share. Operating revenues increased 14.5 per cent from a year ago.

AERO COMMUTER CATALINA AIRLINES, Long Beach, has changed its name to Golden West Airlines, Inc., because it more correctly reflects its statewide operation. The company provides commuter airline service to and from Los Angeles and San Francisco International Airports as well as feeder airline service to and from Central California.

BASALT ROCK CO., Napa, has leased its ready-mix concrete facilities in Santa Rosa to the Santa Rosa Building Materials Co. Within the last several months the plant has been extensively revamped and electronically automated.

DIVERSIFIED METALS CORP., St. Louis, has reported consolidated sales of $118.8 million for the six months ended April 30, compared with $146 million during the 1968 period. Net earnings were $5 million compared with $5.9 million. Per share earnings were down from $1.45 to $1.06.

WESTERN ELECTRIC CO. has made San Francisco headquarters for its service division serving the Bell Telephone Companies in the midwest, southwest and farwest. Offices are in the new Mutual Benefit Life Building at 1 California Street.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Excellent Merit In Braniff, Iowa Beef

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My husband and I recently purchased Braniff Airways and Iowa Beef Packers as an investment for our children's education. Braniff's stock price has fallen but we believe it has potential. Would you please comment? — R. H.

A. I agree. Earnings recovery appears to be in prospect for Braniff. Some analysts look for $1 a share, up from 58 cents in 1968. First quarter operating revenue and net income rose 13 per cent and 9 per cent, respectively. Updated equipment, new route awards and a growing cargo business will continue to upgrade Braniff's long-range prospects.

Iowa Beef Packers has revitalized methods used in the tradition-bound meat packing industry. Much of the beef processed by Iowa is packaged in serving-sized portions before leaving the cattle-growing country. By eliminating several middlemen between consumer and grower, the company has improved its profit potential.

A temporary order by the Justice Department restraining further action in a planned merger with Blue Ribbon Beef Pack has been lifted. Sales and earnings for the current fiscal year, including Blue Ribbon, should show some improvement over 1968. Both Braniff and Iowa have excellent long-range merit and shares should be retained.

Q. I am in the upper five-figure income bracket and have recently had a will drawn up leaving my estate to my widowed sister and her son. After reading your column on inheritance tax I wonder if I should have placed it in a trust. I understand I can give away $3,000 annually plus a lump sum of $30,000. Any advice you have would be appreciated.

A. Yes. Under the Federal Gift Tax Law, you are allowed to give away tax-free $30,000 in your lifetime. In addition, annual gifts of $3,000, not to exceed $30,000 per person, may be given to as many individuals as you wish. Before you make any commitments you should seek expert advice from an attorney thoroughly versed in estate planning. He would be best qualified to advise you as to the most advantageous method of arranging your financial affairs.

$3.75 Billion Income Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Personal income of Americans rose $3.75 billion in May, the government reported.

The Commerce Department said the May increase equalled April's advance but was about $1 billion less than the average monthly gain in the first three months of the year.

About $2.5 billion of the May increase came from wage and salary boosts while interest payments and Social Security checks increased by $500 million each.

The overall increase pushed personal income to an adjusted annual rate of $735 billion.

Oil Firms In Alaska Dispute

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two giant oil companies are locked in a legal battle over possession of oil lands on Alaska's north slope, it was disclosed yesterday.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. has filed suit against Atlantic Richfield Co. to secure the right to purchase one-half the north slope acreage Atlantic Richfield acquired with the purchase of Sinclair Oil Corp. earlier this year.

Atlantic Richfield disclosed the suit in a preliminary prospectus covering a proposed offering of 1.5 million shares of common stock. Humble filed in the U. S. District Court for the central district of California in Los Angeles.

The lands in contest are not those in Prudhoe Bay on which Humble and Atlantic made discoveries.

Atlantic Richfield said it believes Humble's claim to be without merit and that it will contest the action.

Legal Step

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bangor Punta Corp. says the withdrawal of its motion to dismiss the suit of Chris-Craft Industries Inc., to block the merger of Piper Aircraft Co. into Bangor Punta, is merely a legal step. The company said it had filed an answer to the Chris-Craft complaint and intends to press the matter.

Paris Statement Disturbs Investors; Stocks Tumble

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks tumbled sharply in the final hour today, and shortly before the final bell declines topped advances by more than 2-to-1. Trading was moderately active.

The selling continued to reflect the tight money situation which has pressured the list for more than a month. Also disturbing to investors was a remark from Mme. Nguey Thi Binh, the Viet Cong's chief negotiator at the Vietnam Peace Conference in Paris.

She said peace will come in Vietnam only when the United States withdraws all its troops and "all material." This followed President Nixon's last night statement that more than 260,000 U.S. combat troops could be withdrawn by the end of 1970.

Oils were mixed, although several issues fell from best levels, including Natomas, Clark Oil, Standard of Ohio and Superior.

Electronics showed scattered strength after some sharp losses in the previous session. IBM closed at 312¼, off 1¾, but Xerox was up 2 at 89⅝.

A few chemical issues moved a point or better, but on both sides of previous closings. Du Pont closed at 131 3-4, off 1 3-4.

Nixon Adviser At Hot Dog Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon's consumer adviser put the White House on record yesterday as favoring leaner hot dogs than does the Agriculture Department.

Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer rejected the department's proposal to limit fat in frankfurters to 33 per cent and called for a 30 per cent limit.

Appearing at a department hearing, she also proposed a requirement that processors disclose the ingredients of hot dogs on their package labels, another conflict with the department's views.

The three-day hearing was set up to consider limitation on fat content on federally-inspected cooked sausages.

Research Program

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Monsanto Co. has started a research program under a $127,000 government grant to develop beverages to combat nutritional deficiencies in American diets. Beverages suitable for consumer marketing are the target of the plan.

Drowning Prompts Study Of Cascade Reservoir Issues

Proposed Solutions Range From Drainage To Off-Limit Posting

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A grim group of 17 Mill Valley residents and six top city officials, shaken by the drowning Wednesday of a 12-year-old San Franciscan, last night discussed problems at Cascade Reservoir with solutions ranging from draining the popular reservoir to putting it completely off limits to the public.

It appeared that two almost certain results of the meeting will include placement of a full-time police guard at the reservoir and establishment of tow-away zones on roads near it.

Mill Valley Mayor Dean N. Meyer indicated that the added policeman and other proposals on Cascade would be discussed at the city council's session at 8 p.m. Monday at the golf clubhouse.

Last night's informal meeting had been scheduled by Meyer to discuss residents' complaints of illegal swimming, camping, nude bathing, litter, parking and other problems before the drowning of Francis Crow of San Francisco Wednesday afternoon.

Meyer, who termed the drowning "disappointing," stressed to the residents that the city repeatedly has put up signs and barricades to bar swimming at the reservoir only to have them torn down and destroyed.

"We're on the borderline of saying 'drain it,' " he said. "The fire hazard is the only problem that's kept us from that. If not from that, I'd say to heck with it as a passive recreation area; it's too much of a problem."

Earlier, Asst. Fire Chief Joseph Regalia said that a water line from the reservoir is the only line in the Cascade Drive-Lovel Avenue area around the reservoir that supplies enough

Suppression Asked On Cascade Hearing

Newly elected Mill Valley School District Trustee John G. Eliot Jr. last night asked the Independent-Journal and the Mill Valley Record "as a personal courtesy" to suppress reports of a meeting with city officials on problems at Cascade Reservoir.

Eliot said press reports of remarks he made at a city council meeting last fall, during which he decried "wine and pot parties . . . fornication in broad daylight . . . obscenities yelled at women and children," resulted in more young people flocking to the popular reservoir.

He said he feared making last night's discussions public would result in the same thing.

Attending last night's meeting, less than 24 hours after the death by drowning of a San Francisco youth in the reservoir, were 17 reservoir area residents and six top city officials.

The officials were Mayor Dean N. Meyer, Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, new City Mgr. William Cunningham, Police Chief Dan Terzich, Asst. Fire Chief Joseph Regalia and Donald Dimitratos, parks and recreation director.

Eliot, elected to the school board in April, made the request after 75 minutes of discussion, saying that the meeting was supposed to have been an "informal" one between concerned citizens and city officials. No public announcement of the time or place of the meeting had been made.

Eliot was joined in his request that no reports be published by David Birenbaum of 524 Cascade Drive.

Meyer, who called the meeting, told Eliot and Birenbaum he felt the press could be trusted to provide "sober" reports of the meeting.

Reporters for the I-J and the Record did not reply to Eliot's request or comments.

Ecuador Nabs Seven U.S. Tuna Boats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven U. S. fishing boats were seized by Ecuador this morning and are being taken into Ecuadorian ports, according to preliminary reports received here.

One of the American vessels was fired upon by the Ecuadorians, industry-connected sources said.

The State Department immediately began checking into the affair. Initial reports came from radio dispatches from the vessels.

At San Diego, the American Tunaboat Association said six— rather than seven — U.S. tuna boats were shot at and seized by a patrol boat from Ecuador for allegedly violating Ecuador's territorial waters.

The latest incident comes on the heels of a running argument with Ecuador, Peru and some other Latin American countries on fishing off Latin American shores, and the first seizure by Ecuador since the capture of the Day Island Dec. 10.

Many Latin American countries claims jurisdiction 200 miles offshore. The United

Woman Envoy Named By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he has chosen his first woman ambassador — Miss Eileen Roberta Donovan of Scituate, Mass., a career diplomat, to be U.S. envoy to Barbados.

Miss Donovan, 54, has been assistant director of the State Department's Office of Caribbean Affairs for four years. Last March she was one of the winners of the Federal Women's Award to outstanding women in government service.

Miss Donovan will be nominated to a post being vacated by Frederic R. Mann, who resigned.

ATTRACTIVE NUISANCE? — An unidentified youth, his car parked illegally nearby, fishes today in Cascade Reservoir, subject of an unannounced meeting last night among city officials and Mill Valley residents. Hayakawa Predicts College Changes

By DAVID DIETZ

SAN FRANCISCO — The only commotion at San Francisco State College now is the rat-tat-tat of construction on new facilities. At the eastern fringe of the campus, a new life biology-science building and an addition to the library are being erected, while at the opposite end new residence halls are going up.

Elsewhere, the scene is peaceful. A miniskirted coed waits alone for a street car outside the main college entrance on 19th Avenue. In a faculty parking lot, a pipe-smoking campus policeman leisurely tickets an illegally parked car. A music student crosses Holloway Avenue unsteadily, a cumbersome bass in his arms.

The only vivid reminders of the riotous campus scene seven months ago are militant exhortations swirled in green spray paint on a wooden fence outside the administration building. Gone are the blue-helmeted police and the bustling knots of demonstrators, the fights with fists, clubs and stones, the bombings and the struck classes.

The violent student strike ended in a negotiated truce last April. San Francisco State has been quiet since then — and Mill Valley's S. I. Hayakawa, acting college president, believes it will stay that way.

"It looks now as if the college will be considerably deradicalized," he said, looking ahead to a new term in the fall. "I think we'll have a quieter campus and a firmer sense of purpose."

Hayakawa explained that moderates had won control of the Academic Senate and that representatives of "nonviolent and independent" parties had defeated all militant comers in the May student body elections.

"For three administrations before mine, the Academic Senate had reduced the president's powers to the point where the college had almost become a rudderless ship," Hayakawa said. "Now the majority of the faculty that believes the central admininstration should have the power to guide the ship as established a majority in the senate.

"Also, for the first time in years, we've had student body elections of unimpeachable honesty supervised by outside, professional poll watchers. This resulted in a complete sweep for the SAT (nonviolent) and independent parties with not one Power to the People candidate being elected to student office."

Hayakawa said about 12 to 15 per cent of the student body voted — which he considered an average turnout.

If Hayakawa and the militant Black Student Union and Third World Liberation Front groups are to clash again this fall, it probably will be over one of these issues: rehiring of Nathan Hare, controversial sociologist who was to have headed the black studies department; admittance of more minority students and elimination of the Air

Strike Sanction Won By County Probation And Social Workers

The executive board of the Marin Central Labor Council last night voted unanimous strike sanction for Marin County's probation and social workers, if a new contract is not signed with the county by July 1.

Randall Serrurier, field representative for the county's 57 social workers and 63 probation workers, said the strike sanction means Marin labor organizations would honor picket lines if the probation and social workers decide to strike. Workers on the Hall of Justice building and the memorial auditorium at the Civic Center would stop working, said Serrurier.

Serrurier expressed hope that bargaining between the county and the Probation and Social Workers Union, Local 535, AFL-CIO, would make progress between now and July 1. The present agreement expires June 30. He noted that the old contract could be extended into the new fiscal year by mutual consent, if real progress was being made in the negotiations.

The main bottleneck in the negotiations is caseload limits said Serrurier. He said four-week vacations also is an issue, but not a main one.

County Administrator Alan Bruce and members of the county negotiating team attended last night's meeting of the Central Labor council executive board, at the invitation of the board.

Bruce argued that a strike sanction should bedeferred since the unions and the county are in the midst of bargaining. At the time he left the meeting last night, Bruce said no vote had been taken.

When informed this morning that the strike sanction had been voted, the county administrator said he was "not alarmed."

"I would view it simply as a normal precaution by two union chapters (probation and social workers) as the termination of both contracts get closer. We will continue to bargain in good faith to a satisfactory conclusion."

Bruce said the county was willing to call in, jointly with the unions, a state mediator or conciliator if necessary. The county is also willing to extend the old contract for a reasonable period beyond July 1, said Bruce.

Nixon Eyes New Pullout Of 260,000

New Viet Timetable Extends Through '70

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon holds out hope for a war-ending timetable that could see more than 260,000 U.S. combat troops withdrawn from Vietnam by the end of 1970.

At his nationally televised 32-minute news conference last night, Nixon acknowledged however that there still remains a "long hard road" to an honorable peace and noted there has been no encouraging enemy response to his announcement that 25,000 American fighting men would be pulled out of Vietnam this summer. (See other Nixon stories, page 3.)

Nixon spoke of withdrawing all U.S. ground combat forces before the end of next year if peace prospects brighten and the communists show any indication of a reciprocal withdrawal.

A Defense Department spokesman said today the ground combat forces referred to by the President would amount to approximately 60 per cent of the Army and Marine manpower in Vietnam. As of June 14, the Army listed 358,000 men in the fighting zone and the Marines had 81,000.

Sixty per cent of that total would be 263,400 ground combat men.

The ground combat elements

Regents Finance Unit Backs Housing Plan

BERKELEY (UPI) — A committee of the University of California board of Regents will not support leasing of the People's Park area to the city of Berkeley.

Instead, the committee on grounds and building voted yesterday to recommend development of the controversial 2.3-acre area into student residential housing "as expeditiously as possible."

Construction still won't start on such housing for at least a year, however, and the committee left undecided what interim use would be made of the property.

The interim use was called "crucial" by both U.C. President Charles J. Hitch and Berkeley Chancellor Roger Heyns.

At a meeting today, the regents' finance committee adopted a motion declaring construction of the housing to be financially feasible. The full board of regents was to meet later in the day, and Gov. Ronald Reagan arrived to participate.

The nine-member grounds and building committee rejected Hitch's recommendation to lease the area to the City of Berkeley for seven years, with a one-year cancellation clause. The vote was 5-3 against with one abstention.

An alternate proposal to lease the land to the city for 18 months while the university got ready to construct housing was narrowly defeated 4-4 with one abstention.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke then proposed swift construction with a parking lot and university-run park for the university community sharing the area in the interim. It lost, 7-2.

Finally, regent De Witt Higgs

Hoffa Trial Key Witness Is Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward Grady Partin, the key government witness at the trial of Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of conspiring with three Louisiana concrete suppliers to monopolize trade in concrete products.

Partin and Ted F. Dunham Jr., an officer of the three firms, were also charged with extortion.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the five-count indictment, returned in U. S. district court in New Orleans, charged the two men, the companies and unnamed co-conspirators with conspiring since early 1966 to force industrial purchasers of concrete products to buy exclusively from the Dunham companies.

Police Chief Admits Rifle Unauthorized In Park Feud

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Berkeley Police Chief Bruce Baker acknowledges that one of his men carried an unauthorized high-powered rifle in the May 15 battle of the People's Park, the San Francisco Chronicle said in a copyright story today.

Baker declined to name the officer, who wore badge 101, saying "discipline is an internal matter" and "that is the way it will be handled in this case."

Baker said the case has been under investigation since June 10, when a photograph of the officer holding the rifle was brought to his attention.

The rifle was identified as a 30-40 Krag-Jorgensen, which is extra-powerful and not included in the Berkeley police arsenal. There was no reason to believe the officer had fired it, Baker said.

The Chronicle said that according to the photographer, whom it did not name, the picture was taken at 1:30 p.m. at Telegraph Avenue and Parker Street, shortly after the street fighting began.

Baker refused to say what punishment would be meted the officer, but said it could be anything from "advice given" to outright dismissal.

Baker said results of the investigation would be reported to the Berkeley-Albany chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, which supplied the picture to him.

Sniper Atop Bridge Keeps Police At Bay

PITTSBURGH (AP) — While his mother watched on television, a young student stood atop a downtown bridge for more than an hour shooting at police. Then he critically wounded himself in the head with a pistol.

Robert Michniak, 22, described by his mother as quiet, withdrawn and often nervous, climbed nearly 100 feet to the top of the span yesterday and fired four shots into the air. Police were called.

For 75 minutes, as police crouched in doorways and behind cars and armored trucks and hundreds of spectators stood behind barricades three blocks away, Michniak held his perch.

Three patrolmen wearing bulletproof vests and helmets cautiously made their way up an aerial ladder and found him lying on the beam.

"He was lying there and moaning," said Patrolman Dan Butler. "He said his head hurt."

Beside him lay a .25-caliber automatic pistol.

Michniak was taken to Allegheny General Hospital where he underwent brain surgery. Doctors said his condition was serious.

Conservatives Claim Victory

DUBLIN (AP) — Prime Minister Jack Lynch's conservative Fianna Fail party appeared today to have won a razor-thin majority in Ireland's parliamentary elections. Lynch called it "a great victory."

Lynch

With 17 of the 143 contested seats still undecided, the Fianna Fail—Soldiers of Destiny—held 66 seats in the Dail, the lower house of Parliament. The Centrist Fine Gael—Irish party—had captured 44 seats, and the leftist Labor party won 16.

The vote confounded politicians and writers who had predicted that Lynch's party would lose its two-seat edge in the Dail and said the prime minister would have to form a minority government or call for new elections in the fall.

Crusade Popular

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 156,000 persons have flocked to Billy Graham's New York Crusade since it opened a week ago.

They come to Madison Square Garden in an average of 200 chartered buses each night, and by car, subway and the trains which rumble into Penn Station in the basement of the Garden.

CAIRO (AP) — A close confidant of President Gamal Abdel Nasser said today the Soviet Union soon will present counter-proposals to a 13-point U. S. peace plan for the Middle East.

Muhammad Hassanein Heikal, editor fo the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram, said Nasser discussed the proposals with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrie A. Gromyko during his four-day visit to Cairo last week.

Heikal did not say in his weekly editorial column what the U. S. and Soviet proposals contained.

More Testimony

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — Three more withesses testified today that the Australian carrier Melbourne was not fully lighted when she sliced into the U. S. destroyer Frank E. Evans before dawn on June 3 in the South China Sea.

Lt. John L. Clarke, commander of the Melbourne's 816 aircraft squadron, said he was on the flight deck four minutes before the collision and could not recall any lights on the ship other than spotlights on the center section of the flight deck.

Similar testimony was given by Lt. Cmdr. Colin J. Patterson, the Melbourne's flight deck officer, and by Sub-Lieutenant Brian S. Twyman, officer of the watch of the New Zealand destroyer Blackpool.

Twyman also also said the U. S. destroyer replied "rather later than I expected to the Melbourne's message that the two ships were on a collision course."

Gear For Riots

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Herbert Klein, communications director of the Nixon administration, says the Army and Justice Department have detailed plans to help handle any disorder this summer in American cities.

Klein said yesterday the Army has trained troops specifically to cope with outbreaks of violence and the Justice Department has formed trouble-shooting teams of lawyers and social workers to cool down community tensions which could grow into riots.

Klein toid the Los Angeles chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, "The Army must be looked upon as a last resort," to be called on only if local and state officials are unable to handle a disorder.

Rhodesians Voting

To Be Retired

VALLEJO (AP — The oldest U. S. Navy submarine on active duty — which is also the first to fire a guided missile is scheduled to return to Mare Island Sunday for retirement.

The USS Tunny, built and commissioned at Mare Island in 1942, is returning from operations in Southeast Asia where she operated as a transport submarine.

Built as a fleet type submarine, the Tunny became the first submarine to fire a missile when she launched a Regulus guided missile in 1953.

Air Traffic Controllers Back On Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congestion crisis that threatened chaos at key airports around the country on one of their busiest days apparently ended this morning with the settlement of a dispute resulting from air controllers' complaints of being overworked and undermanned.

F. Lee Bailey, attorney for the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, signaled an end to the dispute when he said this morning the group had urged its members to return to work on a normal basis.

BEGAN YESTERDAY

The controllers either called in sick in unusually high numbers yesterday or applied Federal Aviation Administration safety rules so strictly that planes were up to four hours behind schedule and airlines canceled flights.

Bailey, reached at his Boston home, said it would be misleading to say an agreement had been reached between the FAA and PATCO, since that "implies some organized effort to have the controllers not show up."

But he said the association had urged the men to go back to work following a four-hour meeting last night in Washington between PATCO officials and the FAA in which some understandings had been reached over basic controller complaints.

BACK AT POSTS

Airports around the country reported controllers were showing up to work in usual numbers and operations were returning to normal following Bailey's sending out word the dispute was over.

"People who have been calling in asking for sick leave have suddenly gotten well," a supervisor at the air traffic control center for the Chicago area reported.

The controllers have been demanding more help, improved working conditions and better career opportunities. Bailey said the FAA had agreed to consider these problems.

FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer said today he was pleased with the controllers' action.

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — Cancellation of the Manned Orbiting Laboratory (MOL) program has left the Air Force with the problem of what to do with more than $1 billion in space hardware and 14 highly trained astronauts.

The $3 billion program was dropped in an economy move that Defense Department officials said saved more than $1.5 billion but there was no accounting of the money spent over the past five years.

Most of this, an amount estimated at more than $1 billion, was for an undisclosed number of huge Titan 3M boosters and satellits already built or on order.

What's going to happen to all that hardware; to the men that hardware was to carry into space, and to $30 million in launch facilities, now 90 per cent complete?

Air Force spokesmen say the launch facilities, which were to begin hurling two-man crews aloft on science-and-surveillance missions in 1971, will be finished on schedule in September because they would have to be paid for anyway. But beyond that there are no official answers.

When completed the MOL launch probably won't stand idle long. It can be used, with little modification, to fire unmanned space-spy craft that would perform much the same function as the MOL.

Plans called for the 10-by-49-foot MOL to have a pressurized 14-foot-long section capable of housing two-man crews in orbit for 30 days. This section now can be filled with automatic cameras and sensors instead of life-supporting equipment.

The launch complex's 315-foot gantry was built to handle future rockets far bigger than the 170-foot Titan 3M-MOL combination. Engineering for these so called "maximum growth vehicles" is continuing and presumably they will be fired—unmanned—when developed.

Ten miles north of the launch pad are a $1.3 million MOL administration building and a $1.6 million medical and training structure. These are on the main base and could be adapted for much-needed office space.

Largely wasted, however, will be a $333,000 astronaut motel, also on the main base—43-by-209-foot structure, complete with two-story handball court, which would have housed four teams of two astronauts each during the final days before launch. Because of its unusual design—four two-bedroom suites with a common kitchen and dining room—no alternate use has been envisioned.

Rockefeller Revises Tour In Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) tended his visit to Paraguay one day, until tomorrow and agreed to a change of destination in Uruguay, his next stop, because of threatened demonstrations there.

After a week of clashes between police and students in Montevideo, Uruguayan officials announced Rockefeller would bypass their capital and fly to the secluded resort of Punta del Este for his talks with President Jorge Pacheco Areco.

Rockefeller was to meet today with President Alfredo Stroessner of Paraguay, who has prepared a request for $115 million in long-term American loans for Rockefeller to take back to President Nixon.

The New York governor arrived to a warm welcome at Asuncion airport yesterday where several thousand persons cheered him. Rockefeller told them he was "encantado"—very pleased—then went over to shake hands with a crowd in a roped off area.

But some Paraguayan students said they will try to stage a demonstration before Rockefeller leaves.

In Montevideo today terrorists attacked a General Motors building, setting fire to the structure and causing damage estimated at $1 million.

Police said two persons dressed as police officers and armed with machine guns tied up two watchmen at the suburban G.M. center, then sprayed offices and automobiles with a hose attached to a gasoline pump.

Most of the offices in the building and at least six automobiles were reported destroyed by the time firemen arrived.

SAYS RFK ISSUED ORDER

Nixon Backs FBI Chief In King Wiretap

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon says he "checked personally" and found that Robert F. Kennedy as attorney general did authorize FBI wiretapping of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s telephone. (Story on Nixon and Vietnam, page 1.)

Nixon interjected himself into the growing dispute over the tapping of the slain civil rights leader's phone at his yesterday news conference when he came out in support of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who claims Kennedy not only authorized the King surveillance, but originated the idea.

But the two men who succeeded Kennedy as attorney general accused Hoover and the FBI of making unfair attacks on the two slain men.

The controversy over wiretapping took on a new dimension when The Washington Evening Star reported in a copyright story yesterday that Hoover had disclosed contents of two memorandums, one saying Kennedy had expressed concern about reports that King was a student of Marxism and was associating with a New York man with known Communist connections.

Courtney Evans, then assistant director for the FBI and liaison man with the Justice Department, wrote the memorandum to Hoover in June 1963, The Star said. According to the article, Evans reported the substance of a conversation in which Kennedy expressed concern about possible infiltration of the civil rights movement by Marxists, and asked about the feasibility of installing electronic devices on King's telephones.

Hoover was quoted by the Star as saying FBI officials at that time advised against electronic surveillance of King because of possible political repercussions.

The FBI later informed Kennedy it would be feasible to tap King's telephones at the headquarters of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Atlanta, Ga., and at a New York location. The Star said a notation on this memorandum to Kennedy indicated it had been signed by the attorney general Oct. 10, 1963, and this was cited by Hoover as authorization for the wiretapping.

"I found that it had also been approved by the attorney general, as Mr. Hoover testified in 1964 and 1965," Nixon said. "As far as this administration is concerned, our attitude toward electronic surveillance is that it should be used very sparingly, very carefully, having in mind the right of those who might be involved, but very effectively to protect the internal and external security of the United States."

As Nixon was backing Hoover, former attorneys general Ramsey Clark and Nicholas Katzenbach issued statements criticizing the FBI for saying the wiretap idea originated in Kennedy's office.

"Mr. Hoover's statement that Robert F. Kennedy proposed the FBI wiretapping of Dr. Martin Luther King is unfair and deceptive," Clark said. "It is unfair because it comes after Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King have been murdered in the service of humanity and are unable to defend themselves. The truth of the matter cannot be derived through release of selected materials from FBI files."

Clark said it also is deceptive to depict Hoover as a reluctant eavesdropper.

FINCH'S WORRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has tossed back his old friend Robert H. Finch the decision—and possible embarrassment—of a final decision on who will be the nation's top health officer.

Nixon, in his news conference last night, reaffirmed that Finch will have the final say on whether or not to nominate Dr. John H. Knowles, director of the Massachusetts General Hospital, as assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"I will not have to intervene," Nixon said, "Because Mr. Finch will make a decision on that next week."

The answer, inadvertently or not, had the effect of miring Finch, the man who managed two of Nixon's political campaigns and came into the Cabinet regarded as the President's closest adviser, deeper into one of the administration's most troublesome political problems.

Nixon's answer passed back to the welfare secretary a question Finch already has answered. He wants Knowles, a backer of universal health care who is opposed by the American Medical Association and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

LAW-ORDER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative victories in recent municipal elections mean the American people are fed up with violence and lawlessness, according to President Nixon, who made law and order a major issue of his campaign for the White House.

When asked at his news conference yesterday how he assessed elections in New York City, Los Angeles and Minneapolis in which generally conservative candidates won, Nixon said:

"This is the message that comes through rather loud and clear from these elections:

"The American people in our cities, in our small towns and in this country are fed up to here with violence and lawlessness and they want candidates who will take a strong stand against." He emphasized his point by pointing to his adam's apple.

The President also said he endorses the bid by conservative Republican John Marchi over John V. Lindsay for mayor of New York.

UNLUCKY AGAIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, went out to the baseball park for the third time last night — and for the third time watched the hometown Senators lose.

The Baltimore Orioles had two men on with no outs—and the game was scoreless—when the President, his daughter Julie and her husband David Eisenhower arrived at the top of the eighth inning.

On the next pitch, Baltimore's Frank Robinson bounced a grounder to Senators' shortstop Ed Brinkman who went for the double play as Don Buford scored from the third with the first run. The Orioles scored again in the ninth inning to make the final tally 2-0.

BRIEFING LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says former President Lyndon B. Johnson is being "regularly briefed" by top-level security and economic advisers.

He said these briefings "have provided an occasion for him to give his ideas to us. He had been very helpful in terms of advice and I think he will be more helpful in the future."

Nixon said at his news conference yesterday, he personally has talked to Johnson on two occasions. He said the other briefings have been by Henry Kissinger, Nixon's assistant for national security affairs; members of the National Security Council and "by our economic advisers."

SMALL SLIP

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon made what he termed "a Freudian slip" during a reply at his news conference, inadvertently calling Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York "president."

It came during a response yesterday to whether he sees anything useful coming from the governor's mission to Latin America.

"A great deal of usefulness," the President answered.

"For example, in my conversations with President Lleras, the talking paper that President —Governor Rockefeller; a Freudian slip—the talking papers that Governor Rockefeller gave me was extremely helpful . . . because it gave me the background of his conversation with President Lleras . . ."

Hayakawa Reflects On College's Future

Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Hayakawa informed Hare in April that his one-year contract as an associate professor of sociology would not be renewed after Hare disrupted the college president's spring semester talk to the faculty. Hayakawa remains adamant about Hare's status.

Creation of an autonomous black studies department with faculty and accreditation were at the top of the ten "non-negotiable" demands presented to the college administration by the BSU last fall. When the demands weren't met, the militants struck, to be joined later by members of the American Federation of Teachers.

Hayakawa asserted that a black studies program would have begun with the spring semester and an ethnic studies curriculum would have started this fall if it were not for the strikers.

'Nothing so dramatically illustrates the self-defeating characteristics of the tactics of confrontation and violence than the fact that black and ethnic studies have been delayed at least a year as a result of the student and faculty strikes," Hayakawa said.

Hayakawa also said the program under which 428 underqualified minority students were admitted last year would have to be reduced this fall because of a lack of funds and special tutors and counselors.

He added that the "strike so upset what should have been a carefully conducted program we don't know if it has been successful so far. Many of the special students were being taught by teachers who went on strike. As a result, they gave many of the students As. We don't know which are authentic and which are not.

The militant Students for a Democratic Society seeks to end the ROTC program. Last May, students and the Academic Senate voted to end the ROTC contract. A vote by the faculty, however, favored retaining the program.

Hayakawa also dismisses as "pure poppycock" complaints by minority students that the college program is not relevant to the community.

Citing contributions by the college nursing, physical education and business programs, he said, "The place is full of relevant things."

"No college serves the community more conscientiously than San Francisco State and City College," he contended. "It's because we serve the community so conscientiously that we can be pushed into doing more.

"The better we serve the City of San Francisco and its people and its needs, the better college we're going to be." He said this could not be achieved by believing "radical rhetoric."

"Let them see what we do before they decide whether it's relevant or not," he said.

While Hayakawa's resistance to militant demands has made him unpopular among some students and faculty, his popularity has soared with the public. A recent poll indicated he would be a strong candidate for high political office.

But the vigorous, 62-year-old Hayakawa wants to remain at San Francisco State and has indicated he would like the "acting" dropped from his title.

"It would be a vote of confidence in behalf of the students and faculty who have stayed loyal to their jobs and my policy," he said.

Sausalito Subpoenas

Half of Sausalito's official family was subpoenaed today as restaurateur Sam Zakessian escalated his war on a restaurant under construction next to his.

Zakessian's attorneys subpoenaed the entire city council and city planning commission to appear in Marin Superior Court to show why a writ should not be issued revoking building permits, variances and other city actions allowing construction of the new restaurant in the Edgewater Yacht Sales building at Bridgeway and Turney Street.

But the only city officials on hand were City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, City Clerk Miriam Ansell, and city building inspector William Hynes, who was named in a separate subpoena.

Judge Thomas F. Keating ordered city records and county tax records admitted, but indicated he would grant a delay until next week for the hearing to proceed before another judge. Keating will be on vacation, and he said testimony should be before the judge hearing the case instead of him.

Zakessian's request contends the city acted illegally in issuing permits and a variance for the restaurant.

Jordan and Edgewater's attorney, William Stephens, said the subpoenas were served only this morning and more time was needed to prepare their case.

Marin Robber Is Sentenced

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 48-year-old Menlo Park man was sentenced to five years in a federal prison yesterday by U.S. District Court Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli for the May 23 hold up of the Fidelity Savings and Loan Co. office in Mill Valley.

The robbery netted the bandit, Robert Eugene Waller, $180.

Waller pleaded guilty to the holdup earlier this month. Under terms of the sentence, Waller could be eligible for immediate parole.

The robbery was the first of a Mill Valley financial institution in more than 35 years.

Distracting Dog Figures In Crash

A distracting dog in the front seat caused a 55-year-old motorist to lose control of his car yesterday and crash into two parked autos in San Anselmo, police said.

The driver was identified as David G. Barry of 13 Carlson Avenue, San Anselmo.

Damaged while parked at 292 Redhill Avenue at 9:20 a.m. were the autos of William Bazzetta of 12 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo, and Harold Wagstaff of 472 Montecido Drive, Corte Madera, a councilman in that community.

pressure to provide adequate fire protection.

"We can't empty it and still have adequate water," Regalia said, adding that cost estimates for adequate new water lines run from $25,000 to $78,000.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, who agreed with Meyer that the reservoir eventually should be drained, suggested that an engineering study be made on fire protection needs and potentials without the reservoir.

The suggestion for a towaway zone was made by Police Chief Dan Terzich and seconded by several residents: "Give us a towaway zone, close the dam at night and we'll take care of it."

He also favored the suggestion for putting a full-time policeman at the reservoir, funds for which are in the 1969-70 budget up for council action Monday night.

Terzich, who read the police report on Crow's drowning at the start of the meeting, listed nine possible solutions for the reservoir which Meyer termed an "attractive nuusance."

The suggestions included draining it, allowing resident parking only, which he said was not feasible; eliminating all parking, setting a sunset to sunrise curfew, declaring it completely out of bounds to the public during the fire season, lowering the water level six to eight feet to make swimming difficult and clearing brush and trees from around the reservoir to make quick police patrols possible.

Terzich emphasized the high danger of fire as the result of the high use of the area by young people — 70 per cent of whom are not from Marin County, he said. He also indicated that his force had other problems, saying that eight arrests for nude swimming at the reservoir last fall were not prosecuted because there were no formal complaints. "Apparently no one's sense of decency was outraged," he said.

During the meeting; John G. Eliot Jr., a newly elected school trustee, who later asked reporters not to print reports of last night's meeting, said residents wanted strict enforcement of existing no-parking regulations.

Although he said the drowning had forced him to change his mind about it, he and others indicated that residents generally do not favor draining or fencing the reservoir.

At one point, George R Stevenson, another reservoir area resident, walked out of the meeting after criticizing the failure to take adequate safety measures at the reservoir.

"We're thinking too much of ourselves and not enough about the little boy — and there could be a lot more like him — down at Russell and Gooch (a funeral home)," he told the group. He said an opponent to fencing the reservoir said last fall it would be fenced "Over my dead body," adding, before striding out, "you've got the body."

The question of the city's legal liability for accidents or deaths at the reservoir was mentioned but Meyer said the matter would have to be studied by the city's attorney.

Mill Valley Man Is Still Held

TOKYO (AP) — Police said today they still were investigating the case of a 50-year-old Mill Valley man taken into custody June 13 after officials said they found he was carrying 62.7 grams of the narcotic hemp.

Officers said Thompson Van Valkenburgh Chesnut of 129 Eldridge Avenue, still in custody, had given contradictory answers under questioning.

Customs officials said they found hemp valued at 53,000 yen (about $147) in the American's luggage.

Educator Resigns For New Post

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — A Negro educator resigned from an administrative post at San Mateo Junior College today to become director of fledgling Nairobi College, a private institution founded by the Negro community of East Palo Alto.

Robert Hoover, 33, ended a thorny association with the San Mateo college by quitting as assistant for minority programs.

He was removed as leader of its College Readiness Program following disturbances on the campus last December.

Nixon Eyes New Pullout Goal For Vietnam Troops

thus would constitute slightly less than half of the 538,500 U.S. troops in Vietnam.

While South Vietnamese forces would assume combat duty as the Americans withdrew, U.S. air and ground support forces would remain for a longer time.

Nixon said he foresaw "some progress in substantive discussions" at the Paris talks with the communists within the next two or three months.

But in Paris, Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, chief Viet Cong negotiator, said today that even withdrawal of all U.S. troops would not be enough to bring peace to South Vietnam.

"It is necessary that the Americans withdraw not only all their troops, but also all their materiel, and that without condition," she told newsmen.

In Saigon, military sources said that the first 900-man battalion to leave Vietnam under Nixon's 25,000 troop reduction decision would consist of "short timers" who were scheduled to come home within two months anyway.

With Vietnam as the key press conference topic, Nixon called on North Vietnam, the Viet Cong and the newly formed Communist revolutionary government in South Vietnam to agree to an internationally supervised cease-fire and internationally supervised elections, points in the eight-point plan for ending the war he put forward May 18.

He repeated his pledge the United States would "accept any decision that is made by the people of South Vietnam" regarding their future but conceded not to dump the regime of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu as a concession to the enemy.

He was asked to comment on a recent article by former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford in Foreign Affairs Quarterly in which Clifford was critical of the Nixon administration's military and political moves in Vietnam and said 100,000 American troops should be withdrawn by the end of this year and all but supply troops and air support—about half the more than 500,000 men—by the end of 1970.

Nixon pointed out that when his administration came into office "all that had been decided was the shape of the table in Paris" and that American war casualties reached their highest point during the year Clifford was secretary of defense.

"As far as how many troops will be withdrawn by the end of this year, or the end of next year, I would hope that we could beat Mr. Clifford's timetable, just as I think we have done a little better than he did when he was in charge of our national defense."

Nixon thus implied he expected to bring back more than 200,000 American fighting men from Vietnam by the end of next year, although he did not mention numbers.

This decision was one made at the Midway summit conference June 8 with Thieu.

The President also made these points:

A target date of July 31 has been set for the beginning of talks with the Soviet Union on nuclear arms limitation. The U.S. position will be firmed at a meeting of the National Security Council Wednesday, then consultations will be held with America's allies before entering the talks, probably either at Geneva or Vienna.

Current anti-inflationary moves—extension of the 10 per cent tax surcharge and budget cuts—should be sufficient to cool the economy within two to three months. But if they are not, additional measures will be considered.

The responsibility for discipline on college and university campuses is that of the college administrators and intervention in campus disputes by the federal government "would be just what the demonstrators wanted."

—Little progress had been made so far in easing the dangerously explosive conflicts in the Middle East between Arabs and Jews. "The situation is better only from the standpoint that we do have some four-power talks going, and we would trust that from those talks we might get some basis of communication between the two sides . . ."

Consideration is being given to a moratorium on tests of nuclear weapons as part of any arms control agreement but a unilateral halt to weapons tests, without some reciprocal action from the Soviet Union, would not be in our best interest.

States recognizes only a three-mile territorial limit offshore, although it respects claims by countries exercising jurisdiction over fishing and other items up to 12 miles off the coast.

The captain of one of the newly seized fishing boats, Julius Alioto, told the tunaboat association headquarters at San Diego that the Ecuadorian patrol boat fired without warning.

No injuries were reported. The six American vessels were boarded and guards were posted, said Edward Silva, secretary of the association.

Silva said he was informed of the incident by ship-to-shore radio on Alioto's vessel.

"This another Pueblo," Silva quoted Alioto as saying. He referred to the capture of the U.S. spy ship Pueblo by North Korea in January 1968.

dictment said, was accomplished through strikes, work stoppages and property damage at construction sites.

Besides Partin and Dunham, the indictments also charged Dunham Concrete Products Inc., Louisiana Ready Mix Co. Inc., and Anderson-Dunham Inc. The three companies and the two men were charged under the Sherman Antitrust Act and the labor racketeering provisions of the Hobbs Act.

Partin, business manager of Teamsters Union Local 5 at Baton Rouge, was released from prison in 1962 during the Justice Department's prosecution of the Hoffa case. His testimony was the key factor in the Teamsters Union president's conviction on charges of jury tampering.

Although the government denied that Partin was granted blanket immunity he has never been prosecuted on embezzlement charges pending against him.

REGENTS

of San Diego proposed the endorsement of the fastest possible development of housing in the area with no mention of interim use. It passed 6-1 with two abstentions.

The apartments, which Hitch asserted do not have as high a priority need as housing on newer campuses, will cost about $4.5 million, he said. Of this, about $550,000 would come from regents funds, the rest from a bank loan.

Regent William Roth, of Ross, dissenting from the will of most of his fellow committee members, asserted that the funds could be better used for other educational purposes and charged that the regents were rushing the apartment building "not because of acute needs, but just to get some bricks and mortar on the property."

Another committee, one on educational policy, voted to establish a subcommittee to improve student communication with the regents. Just how this was to be done would be made in recommendations to the regents' meeting Sept. 19 in Los Angeles.

Reinecke proposed that the student body presidents of all nine U.C. campuses be invited to all regents' meetings and permitted to speak. The motion was defeated.

BCDC No Longer Neutral In Drive To Stay Alive

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, abandoning its neutral position on bills to extend its life, appealed yesterday to two legislators to merge their bills "into the best possible bill."

Of the dozen or so bills introduced this session affecting the commission, only four have survived committee hearings. Of these, the commission yesterday declared the two "principal" bills were AB 2057 by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, and SB 839 by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo.

Both bills would extend the commission's jurisdiction to a shoreline strip around the bay in accord with the commission's master plan for the bay, commissioners noted. The commission is to go out of existence late this year unless the Legislature acts to extend its life.

The other two bills are by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, whose bill is similar to the Knox bill, and by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, whose bill merely would extend the life of the commission.

Dolwig's bill originally would have emasculated the commission, but he did an about-face when it aroused a storm of opposition in his home district.

Commission chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park, who made the suggestion that the commission ask Dolwig and Knox to merge their bills, said the merger could save several legislative steps — a vita consideration since the Legislature hopes to adjourn by the end of July.

The time saving would come if the Senate passed a single Dolwig-Knox bill, and this merged bill were approved by the Assembly, thus avoiding the need for a two-house conference to iron out differences between the two bills. The Assembly already has passed the Knox bill, but must also approve any amendments to it, that would result if the two bills were merged.

Conference committees meet behind closed doors, and conservationists have expressed fears about what would happen to the bill in such a meeting.

The commission voted 10-3 to seek the merger of the two bills. Commissioner Louis Ets-Hokin of San Francisco objected that the commission "will arouse a lot of hostility by telling the Legislature what to do."

But Lane insisted the vote "doesn't criticize any bill. In some ways, I think they (Dolwig and Knox) might like some public encouragement."

All four surviving bills are to be heard by the Senate Finance Committee, probably the last hurdle to passage of some bill to extend the commission's life. The chairman of the committee, Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, said yesterday that the hearing on the bills would not be held until July 10 because the committee first must dispose of the state budget. Petris told newsmen the delay was a "stall."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Paterson, 270 Alison Avenue, he holds the rank of Eagle Scout and is a member of the California Scohlarship Foundation chapter at the school.

Nuclear Plant Contract Award

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A contract for major construction at Pacific Gas & Electric Co.'s nuclear power plant in San Luis Obispo County was awarded today to Guy F. Atkinson Co. of South San Francisco.

The contract involves most of the buildings for the $150 million power plant complex.

Nurses Strike Still Deadlocked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Bay Area nursing strike continued deadlocked today over the question of hospital committees on nursing performance and patient care.

The California Nurses Association pulled all but a skeleton nursing staff out of two more Oakland hospitals yesterday afternoon. Affected were Peralta and Providence hospitals.

A week earlier the nurses struck at St. Francis and French hospitals in San Francisco, Herrick Memorial in Berkeley, Children's Hospital in Oakland, and Alameda Hospital in Alameda.

The new development came after state conciliator James Marshall reported the two sides "so far apart" Wednesday night that he had no recourse but to call a recess.

Alioto Calls Police Job At State Tops

Campus officials should negotiate the differences with students and San Francisco police did the most professional police job in the world, San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said last night as he described the troubles at San Francisco State College before the Novato Chamber of Commerce at the Marin Country Club in Novato.

In an off-the-cuff speech entitled, "Dissent Yes, Violence, No," the San Francisco mayor reviewed the troubles at San Francisco State and how they were handled. He declared they were handled much better by "professional police" at the college than at the University of California at Berkeley where the National Guard was called in to quell last month's People's Park crisis.

Alioto claimed that there was no silent majority but that 75 per cent of the students were a vocal dissenting majority. He said that the school should negotiate its differences with the students.

The mayor referred to our heritage of constitutional history which encourages dissent and said that "if revolution is rapid change, the best way is through constitutional consent."

His only reference to Marin County was that it was "the most picturesque in California."

Lacking was any reference to any mutual problems such as his proposed commuter tax or the traffic problems in commuting between Marin and San Francisco.

The mayor arrived more than half an hour late and after his speech immediately left before he could be questioned on the problems shared by the two counties. But he did state, however, he would not announce until January whether or not he would run for governor.

Oil Leak Enters Platform Request

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A normally routine application to build a platform in Suisun Bay for gas well operation yesterday ran into the memory of the oil well leak in Santa Barbara Channel.

The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, which approved a similar platform last year for Suisun Bay — before the Santa Barbara incident — made it clear that such applications no longer were routine.

The platform, sought by Standard Oil of California and Shell Oil Co., would serve two wells they drilled within the last year under a lease from the state Lands Commission. Their application also was for permission to connect the wells, in Solano County, to land facilities in Contra Costa County via an underwater pipeline.

Max C. Gardner, landman for Standard Oil, was pressed repeatedly by commissioners for assurance that there could not be a leak from the wells. "In our judgement," Gardner said, "this kind of thing cannot happen in Suisun Bay. We are confident that it could not happen, and if we thought it could, we would not be before you today."

But commission chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park, noting the commission would vote on the application July 10, said, "We would like something more than Standard Oil saying it's safe."

In case of a "substantial leak," Gardner said, the well would shut down automatically. But he noted that the 50 barrels of liquid gas in the pipe to the 6,000-foot-deep wells could drain into the bay even after the well shut down.

The platform, 50 feet by 100 feet, would be six feet above mean higher high water, and would hold equipment standing up to 20 feet above the platform. The platform would be removed after the wells were depleted in about 15 years, Gardner said.

Construction of the platform, to cost $140,000, and of the pipeline, to cost $223,000, would begin Aug. 1 and be completed by November.

Gardner stressed that the liquid gas would evaporate if it leaked, and likened it to "jet fuel."

Chairman Lane, acknowledged the oil companies "have done some streamlining" of the proposed platform, but added "I think an engineer might see more in it than an artist."

Dr. William F. Upton of San Rafael said: "You'd probably get into more difficulty trying to hide it with plastic palm trees than just leaving it alone."

Gardner noted that the platform would not be outfitted with navigation lights, at the request of the Coast Guard. The platform would stand in water from one to six feet deep at mean lower low water, he said.

Worst enemy of the oyster is the starfish.

Pep Talk On Tourism In Marin

The Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau yesterday heard Lee Levinger, president of the Redwood Empire Association of Santa Rosa, give a pep talk on tourism in Marin County.

The occasion at the Holiday Inn was the second annual meeting of the chamber and bureau at which new officers and directors were installed.

Speaking of the Redwood Empire, which includes Marin and eight other counties, Levinger said Westerners travel farther and more often than others in the U.S. and are thus a "productive market" for tour promoters. He urged the 125 luncheon guests to go after the rich market.

Officers installed were:

Benjamin A. Farlatti, president; Jack Craemer, first vice president; Carlos Gonzalez, second vice president; B. A. Sill, secretary, and Glenn W. Sleezer, treasurer.

Incoming members of the board of directors are: E. Douglas Roberts, T. J. McCall, Edwin Johnson, George Higgins, Judge Carlos R. Freitas, J. Galen Foster, Jack Eddy, Irving D. Chapman, all of San Rafael, and Frank Bosl of Sausalito.

U.S. Troops Repulse North Viet Assault

SAIGON (AP) — More than 500 North Vietnamese soldiers stormed a U.S. artillery base 15 miles north of Tay Ninh City early today and American headquarters said, "An undetermined number penetrated the perimeter but were repulsed."

The attack was reported a few hours after military spokesmen said a massive enemy drive against Tay Ninh City had "fizzled."

Spokesmen said 72 enemy troops were killed in the assault. U.S. casualties were seven killed and 18 wounded.

It raised to 475 the number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong reported killed in fierce fighting around Tay Ninh City since early yesterday. Total U.S. casualties in the past 24 hours were put at 15 killed and 48 wounded, while south Vietnamese casualties were 14 killed and more than 20 wounded.

Tay Ninh City is a key provincial capital near the Cambodian border, 50 miles northwest of Saigon. Spokesmen said the North Vietnamese force attacked Firebase Ike, 15 miles to the north, shortly after midnight, charging behind rockets and mortar fire that pinned down the 150 defenders, U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division soldiers.

The Americans fought back with rifles and machine guns while helicopter gunships and artillery pounded the attackers. The North Vietnamese withdrew after 75 minutes of close quarters fighting.

While the battle raged, two waves of B52 bombers dumped 360 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troop concentrations just north of Firebase Ike in the northern half of Tay Ninh province. Spokesmen said the strikes were aimed at smashing North Vietnamese reserve troops.

Far to the north, more of the big Stratofortresses dropped another 360 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese bases, troops and bunker complexes between Ap Bia Mountain and the Laotian border.

Yesterday, Maj. Gen. John M. Wright, commander of the 101st Airborne Division, said North Vietnamese troops have set up bases on the hills and ridgelines surrounding the mountain.

Most of the 403 enemy killed in the Tay Ninh battles yesterday were credited to U.S. tanks, dive-bombers, helicopter gunships and armored personnel carriers. Military spokesmen said it was the biggest assault of the enemy's current summer campaign.

The state Division of Highways, which opened the bids, said $49,000 was available for the project.

Paper Says Shirley In Line For Job

DETROIT (UPI)—The Nixon Administration is about to name former child movie star and unsuccessful congressional candidate Shirley Temple Black as deputy assistant secretary of state for educational and cultural affairs, the Detroit Free Press reported today.

Mrs. Black's husband, Charles, 49, will get a job of equivalent rank somewhere in the administration, the newspaper said in a story from its Washington bureau.

"We are fixing it so they can be deputy assistant secretaries together, the story quotes a "high Republican source" as saying.

The story by Vera Glaser said Mrs. Black, of Woodside, is presently being cleared for the post, formerly held by Mrs. Kathie Louchheim, former vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who resigned.

Mrs. Black, now 41, appeared out of the past in 1967 to run in a special congressional election in California's 11th District. She was defeated in the GOP primary by Paul N. McCloskey Jr., now serving in Congress.

According to the story, she would supervise about 50 persons working with foreign visitors, American specialists traveling abroad, visa matters affecting exchange students and public information and reports. Mrs. Black has refused to comment on the job offers, the Free Press said.

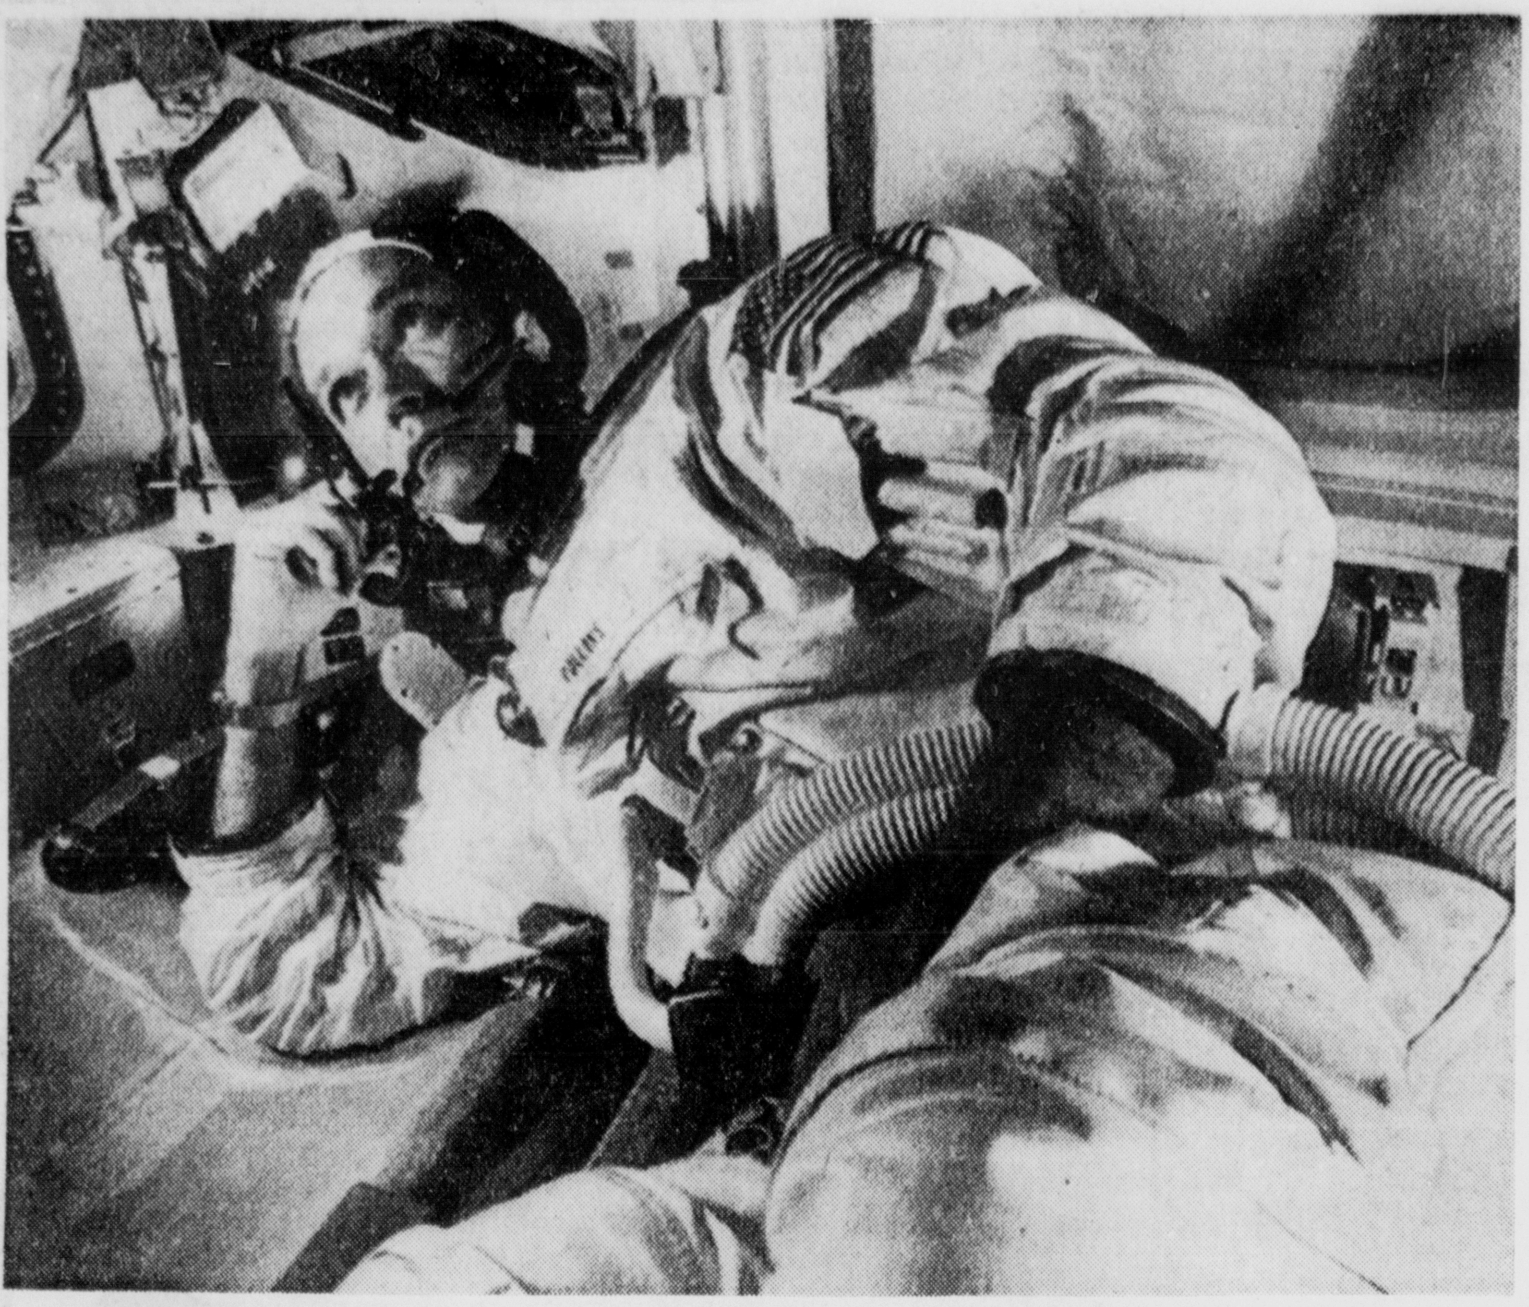
AIR WEST PROUDLY ANNOUNCES THIS

All passengers on our new Super DC-9's get more knee room than on any other airline in the United States.

They get that extra room because we ordered each of our new jets with 15 less seats. So each passenger gets a lot more leg room. Plus these new planes have 5 seats across instead of 6. So there's plenty of elbow room, too. (And the extra space doesn't cost any extra.)

To help you remember all this, we call our new planes Spaceships. Mention that to your Travel Agent when you make your next ticket reservation.

Our Spaceship may not get you to the moon, but it's the most comfortable way to get around in the west.



APOLLO 11 ASTRONAUT TAKES A BREAK

When you are an astronaut such as Michael Collins, a break in the rigorous training schedule for next month's moon landing flight is most welcome, as he demonstrated yesterday at Cape Kennedy. New Homes Please Directors

New homes in Estancia Estates in Gallinas Village are selling for $28,000 and $29,000, developer Bernard Kearns announced last night at a meeting of the Gallinas Village Community Services District.

The one-family homes are being built on 7.7 acres at the extension of Estancia Way, behind MacPhail School.

Secretary Marguerite Clark said the directors are satisfied with the development because the homes are an asset to the area.

The Gallinas Village Services District directors also:

COUNCIL — Voted to apply for membrship in the Las Gallinas Valley Council, an organization of improvement clubs and homeowner groups from Santa Venetia to Lucas Valley.

BUDGET — Set a meeting for 7:30 p.m. July 3 to discuss next year's budget, which is expected to total $25,000 to $26,000, the same as this year.

RECREATION — Announced that everything was "go" for tomorrow's kickoff of the summer recreation program at Pueblo Park.

AWOL Suspect Is In Custody

California Highway Patrol officers who went to a Bel Marin Keys home on a routine traffic investigation last night wound up arresting a 19-year-old youth on suspicion of being AWOL from the Navy.

The youth, Kenneth Bauernschmidt, address not given, was turned over to Air Police at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Officers said they became suspicious at Bauernschmidt's presence at the home and asked him for identification. He said he was on leave from the Navy but could not produce leave papers. He added he had been on leave since late May, but his further aroused officers' suspicions because Bauernschmidt had a long beard.

When officers sought to verify his story through Treasure Island officials, Bauernschmidt reportedly told of jumping ship March 5 in Massachusetts and coming to California.

'Trusted' Accountant Missing With $7,000

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A $1,000-a-month accountant was sought today on a warrant charging him with the theft of at least $7,000 from one of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's joint-venture engineering consultants.

William A. Bugge, project director of the joint venture of Parsons, Brinckerhoff-Tudor-Bechtel, said $7,000 was discovered missing "at first blush."

"We don't yet know the total," he said yesterday. "It could be $10,000. or $20,000, or $30,000. A complete audit is being made."

Bugge said a bonding company will presumably make up the loss.

Sought was Carlts Estupinan, 35, a native of Bogota, Colombia. He joined the venture in March of 1964 and built a reputation as a trusted worker, said Henry Padgham, Estupinan's boss.

"And he really didn't give the impression of being a big spender," Padgham added. "He was a very bright, very good worker."

Estupinan disappeared May 23.

City Opens First Bike Path Link

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The first link in the bicycle path from Marin to Lake Merced in San Francisco was opened yesterday with a colorful ceremony in Golden Gate Park.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto proclaimed the day San Francisco Bicycle Paths Bike Day before an assembly of 400 bicycle riders on tandems, three-speeders, 10-speeders and even an old high wheeler.

The route, most of it separated from street traffic, is 7.5 miles long, and runs from the park to Lincoln Way and down Sunset Boulevard to Lake Merced. The route is marked, and motorists are warned at intersections by a sign depicting the outline of a bicycle over the letters "XING."

After the ceremonies, Mrs. J Eugene McAteer, a member of the Recreation and Park Commission, drove her bike through a paper sign and led the cyclists to the Polo Grounds, where free potato chips and soft drinks were served. A drawing was held, and 10 children won new bikes.

Supervisor Jack Morrison promised he would seek a link from the park to the Golden Gate Bridge. The bridge link is to be opened this fall.

Auto Is Looted Of Equipment

San Rafael police today reported three thefts.

Police said a $150 sensitive altimeter and a $150 gyroscope were taken between Wednesday and yesterday morning from the car owned by Leonard G. Johnson of 220 Canal Street, San Rafael, in a parking lot at 108 Bellum Avenue, San Rafael.

A pocket book containing money, credit cards and personal items totaling $75, owned by Erin Tricia Nielsen of 633 Mission Street, San Rafael, was reported stolen Wednesday at the Marin Fabric Center, 804 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Police also reported the theft of a bicycle owned by Daniel A. Foppe of 34 Hillview Avenue, San Rafael from San Rafael High School about 12:45 p.m. yesterday.

Negotiation Impasse Draws AFT Advice To Teachers

The American Federation of Teachers is seeking to capitalize on an impasse between the Tamalpais District Teachers Association and Tamalpais High School District board to promote recruitment to the AFL-CIO union.

The board has offered teachers an increase in salary schedule for next year of 5 per cent, plus increased district-paid medical and dental insurance. The Tamalpais District Teachers Association, a California Teachers Association affiliate, has responded that 7 per cent is the minimum schedule increase acceptable.

A mimeographed bulletin from the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, bearing the name of "K. Anderson," has been circulated to teachers. Citing the impasse, it declares:

"Skill in the art of negotiations is meaningless and pathetic unless performed in the context of equitable power relationships . . . As long as teachers refuse to prepare themselves intellectually and emotionally for the strike, school boards will continue to deal capriciously with teachers' demonstrations."

The bulletin lists "TFT bread and butter stands" as:

"Professional salary schedule of $9,000 to $21,000 in five yearly steps.

"Fully paid health plans for each teacher and his dependents, which include complete dental and psychiatric care."

"K. Anderson" is Kenneth A. Anderson of San Rafael, an English teacher at Tamalpais High School.

Ordaining Minister May Move To Phoenix

I-J Special Report

PHOENIX — Rev. Kirby J. Hensley, who has ordained countless thousands of ministers in his Universal Life Church — including the entire student body of Sonoma State College — may move to Phoenix.

Hensley said yesterday he hopes to establish a $500,000 headquarters for his church in Phoenix because a Stockton judge has issued a permanent injunction prohibiting him from issuing mail order ordinations.

Bond Issues Enter Sausalito's Budget Study For Improvements

The possibility of bond issues to finance major city projects loomed last night as the Sausalito City Council reviewed its proposed capital improvements budget.

The clue that bond issues might be in the offing came not from the budget, but from what was deleted by City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

He told the council he deleted $60,000 for replacement of Tiffany Beach, wiped out by the widening of Bridgeway, and suggested it could be in a bond "package" with city buildings.

The city has been considering construction of a new library, and there has been discussion during the past year about the need for a new city hall.

Major capital improvement projects will either be limited or eliminated if the council plans to stay within the present tax rate in the future, Patterson said. (The current tax rate is $1.315 per $100 assessed valuation.)

The city's needs could be solved by a bond issue rather than by accumulating funds and completing projects over a long period of time, he said.

Patterson also deleted $24,500, a step toward accumulating $102,000 for enlargement of Fire Station No. 1. Fire station expansion also could be part of a bond "package," he asserted.

The budget did include $11,800 for architectural fees, which Patterson explained would be spent if a new city hall were to be constructed or the police station expanded.

The capital improvements budget includes widening of Bridgeway to four lanes from Easterby Street to Napa Street, $42,000; purchase of right-of-way to extend Nevada Street from the Marina Vista subdivision to Rodeo Avenue, $30,000;; Princess Park improvements, $9,000.

Patterson reported that he deleted a $20,000 first step toward accumulating $100,000 for a park in the central waterfront area over a five-year period.

He told recreation commissioners at the meeting that first, the city didn't have the money, and secondly, there was a possibility that the city could negotiate for a park parcel at less cost.

Recreation Commissioner John P. Vetromile reported that Tennis West, a professional tennis group, was interested in setting up a program of lessons at the Martin Luther King courts, but would need a building for a pro shop and supplies, at a cost of $4,350.

Councilmen felt they would need more information about the proposal before they would consider budgeting funds for such a building.

Vetromile said the tennis teachers offered to give some free lessons to Martin Luther King students, and having their services would enable the city to have a tennis clinic for Sausalito youths.

Tennis West would need one court for its operation, and the other courts would still be available for the public, he reported.

The capital outlay for parks included $4,500 for a bicycle path along Alexander Avenue and South Streets.

After a request from Richard Paris, part-time recreation director, the council added $300 to the recreation budget to establish a fund for supplies for the teen center at the old Star of the Sea Church hall.

Paris pointed out that the youths have been raising funds for supplies, but felt it would be a boost to their morale and an indication of the city's interest to have the city funds available if needed.

Councilman adjourned until their final budget session at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at City Hall and Patterson reported the budget was now at $1,254,584.

Patterson suggested that firemen be given a $5 bonus for calls they answer on their off-duty time, rather than being granted subsistence pay as requested by Fire Chief Charles E. Masten.

Last week the chief requested subsistence pay, $35 a month for those living within two miles and $25 for those within seven miles, noting they are required to live within seven miles of the city limits, which he described as a "high cost of living area."

Councilmen also agreed to join the countywide animal control program, which is expected to bring increased patrol by Humane Society officers, at a cost of $1,026 to the city.

Mayor Earl F. Dunphy was absent.

Hearing Closed In Divorce Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Pat Priest, an actress and daughter of California Treasurer and former U.S. Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest, testified secretly yesterday in her contested divorce case.

Superior Court Judge Julian Beck closed the trial to the public on the request of the attorney for Miss Priest, 32. The move was opposed by the attorney for her husband, Pierce A. Jensen, Jr., 46, an industrial engineer.

Jensen sued Miss Priest for divorce, charging cruelty, and sought custody of their two sons, Pierce III, 13, and Lance, 9, alleging Miss Priest was unfit to care for them.

She filed a cross complaint charging cruelty.

Restrictions On Refugees Tighter

VIENNA (AP) — The Austrian government is tightening restrictions on refugees from Communist countries who come to Austria looking for better jobs.

Interior Minister Franz Soronics said Thursday night the economy cannot absorb any more foreign workers.

"All Austrian refugee camps are filled to capacity," he added.

Soronics said Austria will continue to grant political asylum to refugees who qualify under the U.N. convention, but refugee privileges will not be granted after July 1 to persons who leave their Communist homelands "just to find better jobs in the West."

HUSBAND AND WIFE RETIRE

Long Teaching Careers At An End

By SUZANNE WOOD

Husband and wife teams in some professions can be incompatible combinations. But not so in education — at least for Clifford and Julia Frye.

This teaching team has been "in the business" for a combined total of 66 years and has found sharing experiences in the field most rewarding.

But now the teaching part of their careers has come to an end as the Fryes will retire and settle into a more relaxed life at their home at 374 Cascade Drive in Fairfax.

The Fryes are natives of Utah where they first met when he was a principal and she a teacher. Both were graduated from Utah State University. They were married in 1933.

They first came to California to work in post graduate studies at Berkeley where Frye later received his master of arts and has done much work toward his doctorate. His work in education has been more at the administrative level and thus he comments about not working more directly with the children.

"I really miss the daily contact with students," he said, "but my wife provided indirect contact for me by sharing her experiences."

Mrs. Frye, an attractive woman whose hobbies are sewing, painting and playing the organ, has always been a first grade teacher. She taught 18 years in Utah and the past 11 years in Marin County at the Laurel Dell Primary School in Fairfax where she is head teacher.

Mrs. Frye, whose living room is sprinkled with some of her own paintings, emphasized the importance of art in the first grade as "a way of speaking."

The Fryes took a few minutes to talk about some of the changes in education and children today.

"The children are probably much more worldly, more knowledgeable because of the difference brought about by television and radio," Mrs. Frye said.

Frye, who once was a principal and teacher in a school which had three teachers for 10 grades, said that watching the progress in education has been the most rewarding part of his career.

Frye, who was superintendent of the Laguninitas School District for six years, after coming to Marin County in 1957, has been in the education department at San Jose State College where he has trained student teachers of the elementary level.

The couple agreed that discipline problems have not become much greater than they ever were but added that there is greater permissiveness in the schools today.

"I do, however, believe in students having a voice to express problems and requests," Mrs. Frye said. "Students have a lot to offer, but their role needs some control."

Frye said that he has always found the majority of parents "most cooperative." He said the parents and teachers have a "50-50 proposition" in the education of the children.

The Fryes plan to spend much of their time working on their home. Hobbies for Frye include fishing and hunting.

The Fryes are a childless couple with thousands of children. Although they have none of their own, they often read about many of the countless children they've taught. Sometimes a former student will drop by to tell them about a new job assignment or they'll receive a card from one.

Veteran City Policeman Is Beaten

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A veteran police officer was in serious condition in a hospital today after he was attacked by an ax-wielding youth while investigating a report of alleged child beating.

Facing possible brain surgery was Asst. Inspector Melville Leathley, 36, a member of the juvenile bureau and a 10-year veteran of the San Francisco police force.

Arrested moments after the attack yesterday on charges of assault with intent to commit murder and robbery was Thomas Hamilton, 17, the father of a three-month-old baby boy.

Police said the mother of the child, Mary LaChance, 19, was also arrested on similar charges. The child was found later in another apartment in the city's seamy Tenderloin district.

Leathley had gone to Hamilton's apartment on Leavenworth St. to investigate a hospital report that a baby at that address had been beaten by his father, according to police.

Before lapsing into a coma, Leathley said he was struck on the head by the flat side of an ax swung by Hamilton, who then grabbed the officer's gun and pointed it at his chest.

Leathley said he heard Miss LaChance shout, "Don't shoot, don't shoot," apparently deterring the youth from firing the weapon.

Nominees For Safety Panel

The Marin County Safety Commission yesterday nominated two men to vacancies on the eight-member commission.

The commissioners recommended that Richard Uchida, personnel analyst, and Allan Lindelli, road superintendent in the public works department, be named to the commission. They will succeed Charles Wimp, former personnel analyst, and Michael King, deptuy public works director, who left county employment. The recommendations will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for confirmation.

Judge Refuses To Drop Counts

BERKELEY (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Mario Barsotti refused a motion yesterday to dismiss charges against 328 of the 483 persons arrested May 22 during a downtown demonstration over People's Park.

"The only fair consideration of everyone is for the courts to receive all evidence in these cases," Barsotti said. "If the polcie are conspiring to arrest over 400 persons merely to use them as an example, that has to be shown in a trial."

Not all those arrested May 22 were charged, and on Wednesday Barsotti agreed to dismiss the cases of 88 on grounds they were bystanders "inadvertently swept up in the mass arrest." Sixty-six others were never charged formally.

Trial dates for the remaining 328 will be set June 24 and July 2.

Hamilton Air Base Awards Contracts

A $7,886 contract went to California General Linen Supply of San Francisco for rental and laundry of garments; a $2,944 contract to Southwest Saw Corp. of Houston, Tex., was for annual service of hand saws, chopper plates and knives for the base commissary; and a $1,174 contract went to Montgomery Elevator Co. of San Francisco for maintenance of elevators.

No Complaint

No complaint was filed in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court against Richard E. Coffman, 40, of Petaluma, who had been accused of child molesting. Coffman was arrested Tuesday by Petaluma police in McNear Park.

Murchison, Millionaire Oilman, Dies

He had been in declining health for some time and had been living at his Henderson County ranch for the past few years.

Murchison, who was a millionaire at the age of 32, was among the first of a generation of enterprising Texans to become wealthy in oil between the world wars.

Estimates of his worth have varied between $100 and $500 million, placing him among the world's richest men.

Aside from oil and gas, his holdings over the years have proliferated into railroads, book publishing, buses, taxis, outdoor theaters, restaurants, real estate and fishing gear manufacture.

He was once said to control 115 separate companies at one time.

Murchison became adept at being able to "spin" one company out of another, usually on borrowed money. Most of his wealth was in "things" and not money.

"Cash," he often said, "makes a man careless."

Lavish houses fascinated him. His best known were a 25-room Dallas mansion built for $125,000 in 1936, and another showplace on his 75,000-acre ranch in the Sierra Madre wilderness in Mexico.

He was born into an East Texas banking family in 1895 and grew up at Athens, a piney woods town located some 75 miles southeast of Dallas.

He left the bank, organized by his grandfather before the Civil War, to serve in World War I as a lieutenant.

Murchison never returned to the bank. After the war, oil caught his eye.

U.S., Spain Will Renew Bases Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Spain arranged to sign today a two-year renewal of a 15-year-old agreement under which the United States operates naval and air bases in that country.

The signing will mark the end of 18 months of bargaining spiced with critical voices from Capitol Hill opposing the continued use of military bases in Spain.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Anti-DDT Measure Sidetracked For Study After Long Session

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The drive to outlaw DDT, denounced as the potential thalidomide of bugkillers and praised as a farmer's life preserver, stalled in the state Legislature today.

A bill proposing the ban effective next January got sidetracked for further study late last night after a marathon six-hour special hearing before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The committee, which heard a battery of 11 proponents and 18 opposition witnesses, delayed a final vote and agreed to give it additional scrutiny.

Chairman Fred Marler Jr., R-Redding, indicated the measure needed modification and said the committee will tackle it again next week. He gave no hint of how extensively he believed it should be rewritten.

The committee also delayed a vote on two other bills requiring that sales of most harmful pesticides be reported to the state and adding new classifications under which registration of farm poisons could be canceled.

The DDT bill, by freshman Sen. John A. Nejedly, a former district attorney, would ban DDT in California except in case of a "health emergency" caused by a pest epidemic or when used in research.

TRIMMED VERSION

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate began studying today a trimmed down version of Gov. Ronald Reagan's $6.2 billion state budget. But fiscal experts were unsure of the spending plan's exact dollar value.

The Senate Finance Committee Wednesday approved and sent to the full Senate on a split voice vote a budget bill for the 1969-70 fiscal year beginning July 1.

Chairman Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, said he did not know how much the committee had reduced the spending blueprint from the governor's original proposal, but added it was lower than Reagan's recommendation.

Senate leader Howard Way, R-Exeter, said he expects a final vote on the budget Monday. It will then be sent to the Assembly.

FLATBED TRUCKS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly voted 43-13 yesterday to prohibit the transport of children in flatbed stake trucks.

Assemblyman John Miller, D-Berkeley, said the bill was requested by the Highway Patrol after a number of accidents involving children and the trucks.

A truck carrying 59 children and counselors overturned in Alameda County, killing several of the children, he noted.

The measure was sent to the Senate.

LOBBYIST BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill tightening controls on lobbyists who fail to report how much money they spend to influence legislation won unanimous Senate approval yesterday and was sent to the Assembly.

Under the measure by Sen. Clair Burgener, R-San Diego, a lobbyist who neglected to turn in his monthly expense report to the Legislature would have his permit to lobby revoked.

TEACHERS' LEAVES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill requiring school districts to give teachers leaves of absence for pregnancy and childbirth cleared the Assembly on a 43-11 vote yesterday and was sent to the Senate.

Presently, leaves for pregnancy are entirely within the discretion of individual school boards.

REVENUE UP

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The State received 12.3 per cent more revenue during the first 11 months of the current fiscal year than in the same period in 1967-68, Controller Houston I. Flournoy reported Thursday.

He said general fund receipts through May 31 totaled $3.62 billion, compared with $3.23 billion for the previous fiscal period.

JOB TRAINING

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan must act in the next 10 days to increase state funds to train welfare recipients for jobs or the state will lose $8.1 million in federal funds for the program, Assemblyman George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, Assembly Democratic caucus chairman said yesterday.

SCHOOL BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill authorizing a $500,000 state loan to bail out the financially troubled Libermore Valley Unified School District has been signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan said "totally inadequate fiscal management" can be blamed for the district's debts.

Music Courses Set At College

Six courses in music including concert band will be offered at the College of Marin's summer session starting Monday.

Music appreciation will be presented Mondays through Fridays from 10 to 11:30 a.m., elementary musicianship, 8-9:30 a.m. and music fundamentals, 8-9:30 a.m.

The concert band course will be conducted Mondays and Wednesdays from 7:30 to 10 p.m., and the string instrument workshop Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Probe Is Sought On Race Violence

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The city council late last night unanimously called for a grand jury investigation of the racial violence which hit the predominantly Negro Oak Park area Sunday night.

At least 450 persons attended a two-hour council discussion of the incidents which left a score of persons injured and 37 under arrest.

The council asked the grand jury to investigate police practices and also the "conduct of Oak Park citizens, black and white.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Steak And Lobster House Planned For Lodge In Novato

The dining room, bar and banquet rooms at the Lodge in Novato have been leased out for entirely new type of operation conducted separately from the hotel.

New name for these facilities is Greg's Steak 'n' Grog — a venture of Greg Hensley of San Francisco. He is a former beverage manager at the Top of the Mark in San Francisco and has also had two bars of his own. Assisting him at the Lodge will be his father, John Hensley, who was at the Top of the Mark in a managerial capacity for 23 years. Both plan on moving to Marin.

Extensive remodeling has been done in the bar and a new entrance has been made at the north side of the building. Menu will be primarily steak and lobster (separately or in combination) after the fashion of the Refectory Steak House in Greenbrae. There will be a salad bar and a choice of a la carte items. The Hensleys will endeavor to create a "young and casual atmosphere."

I understand live guitar music is planned for Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the lounge.

THE COFFEE SHOP at Greenbrae Lanes has been taken over by an Oakland corporation, Two-Cal, Inc. There have been some additions to the menu — particularly in "submarine" sandwiches and the hamburger line. Short orders and daily specials continue as before. Food service is from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. throughout the week. Art Lang of San Francisco is new manager. He has been in the food business in the midwest and on the East Coast.

IF YOU HAVE found yourself skipping the Main Street restaurants in Tiburon because of the increased tourist traffic — be advised that this community is once more in the hands of the Marinites. The result may be more to the liking of those looking for peaceful dining-out excursions.

Since the Ferry strike, no Thursday evening or Friday noon champagne tours are arriving from the city. Moreover, said Don Altenburg of the Windjammer, it appears that this situation may last through the summer. The tourist bus traffic is also off, so just about any evening you name is a good one for such places as the Windjammer, the Dock, Sam's, 39 Main, Tiburon Tommie's, El Borro or Tiburon Lodge. The Caprice and Footlight Restaurant (Boardwalk Restaurant) are equally relaxing.

Speaking of the Windjammer, I recently made a faux pas in mentioning the piano playing of Mark Williams at this dinery on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Inadvertently I coupled Mark with the Spinnaker, which is in Sausalito. I am sure the Spinnaker would enjoy having him — but the Windjammer has got him. These nautical names are confusing.

ANOTHER CASE of a little specialty restaurant making good is that of Crepes Viola! at 817 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

Owner Walter A. Lappert, who builds his menu entirely around the French pancake and has been in business here only nine months, already has franchised four other restaurants and has about 20 more in the making. Most of these are in Southern California.

Recently he incorporated the business and apparently is headed in the same direction as Haddon Salt, who also started in Sausalito with his string of fish and chip houses.

There is much more to a French pancake than a flaming crepe Suzette — the spectacular desert treatment offered at many plush restaurants. Lappert, who keeps open at 817 Bridgeway from 9 a.m. to midnight throughout the week (to 2 a.m. on Saturday nights), fills his crepes entrees with crab, mushrooms, spinach and several other delectibles, cooking many of these with wine. He also has a dozen dessert crepes besides the flaming Suzette.

ROOM FOR LARGE GROUPS

Marin County's new Holiday Inn in Terra Linda has banquet seating for more than 300 persons as well as extensive dining room and coffee shop facilities and hotel accommodations. Many group reservations have already been received for the summer and fall months.

Marin Dining And Wining

I'M NOT SURE you can get in, since the event has been a sell-out since early this month, but next Thursday evening will see another California Night at Cafe Bon Vin, San Anselmo.

Guest of honor, presenting his wines and some of his family recipes, will be Robert Mondavi, who just a few years ago built his own winery in Oakville, Napa County. The Mondavi family, of course, is well known for its wine growing and has been associated with the Charles Krug wines. Mondavi's wines are already winning medals and several of them will be served by Fred Cherry next Thursday, with running comments by Mondavi.

Occasionally there are last minute cancellations, so if you are willing to stand by on the chance there will be an opening that night it might pay you to phone Cafe Bon Vin and leave your name and number.

Cafe Bon Vin is now preparing hors d'oeuvres and other French fare for parties at home. Food will be delivered or can be picked up at the restaurant.

CHEF at Diamond Lil's in Petaluma is now Joe Reinhardt, who has been a number of years in the North Bay — including Marin. You have a choice of Continental or broiler items here.

THE MARSHALL HOUSE at 835 Second Street, Santa Rosa, has discontinued serving dinners on weekdays. Dinners are now served only on Sundays from 1 to 6:30 p.m. Lunches continue as before.

MENU PSYCHOLOGY. According to one authority, the top item in any group of entrees has the best chance of being the one ordered. Exceptions might be in the case of circled or boxed items placed conspicuously at top, bottom or sides or "specials" clipped to the menu, which the customer could be expected to see first.

Unless you are accustomed to drinking wine with your meals regularly, the chances are that you won't order a bottle voluntarily unless the wine list is an integral part of the menu — or the waiter or waitress suggests it. In a haute dinery if the waiter reels off a long list of wine names, the odds are that the last one he mentions will be the one selected. If the wines are imported, suggested with a French accent — watch out for that last one. It could be the $16 bottle.

THE BENIHANA OF TOKYO chain of steakhouses, which recently opened one restaurant at 740 Taylor Street, San Francisco, is among recent companies to start franchising its units. New openings will be in Hawaii, Las Vegas, Washington, D. C., Los Angeles, Houston, St. Louis, Detroit and Capetown, South Africa.

Benihana, operated in San Francisco by former wrestling champion Rocky Aoki, has no real kitchen. Each table, which seats up to eight people, has a built-in tabletop grill where steaks, chicken and shrimp are cooked before the diners. The table was designed by Aoki's father 15 years ago in Tokyo.

35-Minute Meeting Sets Record

The Marin County Personnel Commission appointed two subcommittees and zipped through a brief agenda in a record 35 minutes yesterday.

When the meeting opened at 3 p.m. at the Civic Center, only three commissioners were present — chairman Bella Aaron, Muriel Appenzeller, and I. Wayland Bonbright.

Without a full board, the commissioners decided to wait until the July 17 meeting to adopt rules updating old rules set up in 1960, when the county had no personnel office or staff. Since then, county supervisors have assigned various responsibilities to the personnel staff, and the role of the personnel commission is to give policy and planning advice. These changes in assignments are reflected in the new rules and regulations.

Chairman Aaron appointed Bonbright and Robert B. McCreadie to a subcommittee to study the testing and qualifications of minorities and other disadvantaged groups who apply for county employment. The commissioners want to make sure that minorities and other disadvantaged persons are not barred from county employment by unrealistic requirements and formal degrees.

The chairman then named McKenzie as a one-man committee to see if all county employees have access to a uniform grievance procedure.

Chairman Aaron rapped the meeting to a close at 3:35 p.m.

The New Look In Police Cars

Novato residents this week began getting used to seeing an all-white car with policemen in it.

But the novelty will soon wear off because the Novato Police Department is switching to white cars and by about July 1, the five patrol unites will be entirely white, replacing the metalic silver grey with white doors and tops, said Police Chief Robert Di Grazia.

The cars will have a seven pointed decal, the same as the police badge, on the doors, Di Grazia said, replacing the words "Novato Police."

Skulls, 100,000 Years Old, Show A Thriving Man

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The discovery of two skulls dating back 100,000 years proves our ancestors were "highly sophisticated and not dissimilar to ourselves," their finder said yesterday.

A report on the discovery, described as the most complete specimens of such age ever recovered, is due to appear today in the London scientific Journal Nature.

Richard Leakey, director of Kenya's National Museum, led the team that found the skulls in southwest Ethiopia in 1967. Their expedition was financed by the National Georgraphic Society of Washington, D.C.

Dr. Michael Day of Middlesex Hospital Medical School, London, pieced together in the tiny skull fragments. The report said Day's findings prove beyond reasonable doubt that men looking much like those of today were thriving in the Middle Pleistocene Period.

The magazine article was written by Day, Leakey and Karl Butzer of the University of Chicago, who led the American party in the search.

Firehouse, Rec Center Ahead Of Sanitation?

The San Rafael City Council, at its Monday night meeting, commissioned architect Robert W. F. Severin to do preliminary planning for relocation of the city corporation yard and for a new firehouse and a recreation center.

At the same meeting, the council received from Dan Coleman Associates a report which it had commissioned, calling for outlay of $1,776,750 for upgrading the sanitary sewer system. Of this, said the report, $573,792 should be spent immediately to correct "an almost intolerable condition in the vicinity of Second Street and Lincoln Avenue."

There are some priorities involved here.

THE CITY COUNCIL has boxed itself into a position where it must spend money right away to relocate the corporation yard. It did this by selling off part of the corporation yard property.

San Rafael's fire protection has been vastly improved during the last decade. Fire Chief Vance Trivett never lets up on calling for further improvement — which is to his credit. The proposed new firehouse would be a new headquarters station. If built on the east end of the city hall property, as proposed in the original city hall plan, it would eliminate the old headquarters station across the street. If it were built elsewhere, the old station might need to be kept for its strategic location downtown.

It is not hard to see why Chief Trivett wants a new headquarters station. But this does not appear to be a requirement of pressing importance.

A recreation center has been talked of repeatedly over the years. The city now rents space for a senior citizen center from Pacific Gas & Electric Co. The arrangement is not too satisfactory, and there is constant cry for more facilities for youth recreation.

Again, however, the need, while real, does not seem to be of tremendous urgency.

THE SEWER SYSTEM, on the other hand, is long overdue an overhaul.

The Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board has been after the city and the San Rafael Sanitation District to correct infiltration of storm water into the sanitary sewer system. This happens whenever there is heavy rainfall. The result is that sewage must be passed through the treatment plant without getting treated. And worse still, from the standpoint of San Rafael residents, raw sewage bubbles out of cleanouts and even manholes.

The result is not so bad for bay pollution as the San Francisco system of running sewage and storm water through the same lines and simply by-passing the treatment plants whenever it rains. But in its effect on the environment of San Rafael itself, it is about on a par with the systems in some Indian cities that were devised a few centuries before Christ. To be explicit, it stinks.

We cannot but wonder at the sense of priorities that causes the city council to move ahead on firehouse and recreation center before addressing itself to the much more pressing need for proper sanitation.

Cow Parsnip—Indian Treat

Between Taylor Park and Olema, clusters of white blossoms on tall, thick stalks with lush leaves decorate the roadside. These sheep-like apparitions are cow parsnips and their near relatives.

The boiled stalks of cow parsnip were a common, favorite food of the Coast Indians from Alaska to California. We understand they are quite tasty with butter, salt and pepper, if cut while young and tender.

Through June they should be the most prominent wild flower in Western Marin.

Latin name of the cow parsnip is Heracleum lanatum: Heracleum for the god of strength because of its imagined potency as a medicine, and lanatum for its wool-like appearance. The name cow parsnip derives from its edible root, also favored by the Indians.

Weeds and shrubbery overhanging a rural walkway may be picturesque and pleasant, but when they overhang a sidewalk within a block of the San Rafael City Hall, they are neither.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

'One Man, One Vote' On Bonds? Suit Puts Issue Before Court

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A threat to a long-standing provision of the California constitution is contained in a suit filed in Sutter County Superior Court by California Rural Legal Assistance.

The suit challenges the constitutional requirement of a two-thirds vote of the people to pass bond issues, on the theory that this gives people voting "no" twice the influence of those voting "yes."

Therefore, the suit contends, the provision violates the "one man, one vote" principle elucidated by the United States Supreme Court in the case which denuded the rural areas of legislative predominance in the state Senate some years ago.

Plaintiffs in the case are parents of children attending school in Yuba City Unified School District. The children, it is claimed, are attending double sessions necessitated by crowded conditions and inadequate funding. In a recent election on school bonds, less than two-thirds of the voters approved a bond issue to alleviate the situation. The "yes" votes were in the majority, but the two-thirds requirement prevented the issue from passing.

THE STATE Legislature a few years ago submitted to a vote of the people a reduction in the two-thirds requirement for passage of bond issues, to 60 per cent. The voters turned it down.

The Legislature itself can neither spend the Taxpayers' money. Nor impose new taxes without a two-thirds vote of both houses.

It has been a long-time theory that the people who pay the bills, namely, the taxpayers, who as a group, are in the minority, should have some say as to how their money is spent.

PROPERTY taxpayers contribute a majority of the costs of education in California, and it therefore follows that this minority group needs to have some restraint in the constitution.

Thus, turhing over the authority to spend public monies without contributing a fair share to the coffers of the state treasury, would deprive the people who pay the bills of reasonable control over expenditures.

Many millions of dollars are involved in school bond issues, and each one voted by a two-thirds majority involves a heavier burden on property taxpayers.

Last year, surveys revealed 96 bond issues failed, and of these, 76 would have passed had majority rule been in effect.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Handicapped Child Help Appreciated

We, the parents of Robert M. Stommel, wish to thank you for the fine article of our son on June 13.

We would like to say that none of these things could have been had it not been for many dedicated people. Starting with the original school for the handicapped at Marin General Hospital, to Marindale School, to the administrators, teachers, therapist, student help and the many others that helped him physically, mentally, and spiritually. Robert has been a determined son, and we can say honestly, we are proud of him and wish to say thank you to all who have helped make this event a reality.

Air Force Rocks Homes—For What?

With its usual military arrogance, Hamilton AFB planes rocked my home Wednesday night (June 11) with a sonic boom that I thought was an explosion, and with more booms Thursday morning that felt like small earthquakes. They are doing their exercises, they informed me when I called. This is not wartime, and a taxpayer, homeowner, non-military citizen should not have to sit frightened in their shaking house because the Air Force wants to exercise. The AF should do their exercises out over the water, or not at all. I have written to Senators Murphy and Cranston about this, and suggest that others do the same.

Believers, Atheists Both Lack Proof

In response to my letter, Mrs. Anita Johnson (June 17) quotes the Bible to indicate that those who say there is no God are fools.

If Mrs. Johnson will re-read my letter, I believe she will find that I did not say there is no God. In essence I said that those who say there is a God or Gods, as indicated by "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance, should be willing to offer some scientific verification. I don't believe they can.

On the other hand, to those who say there is no God or Gods, I would also say — prove it.

Needless Uproar In Fairfax Case

As a Marinite temporarily ensconced in Denver, I stay apprised of local issues through your publication.

Re the recent havoc at the Fairfax City Council gathering precipitated by charges of police brutality on the part of the Fairfax chief of police, I would make these brief observations:

Firstly, reports concerning the issue are vague and obviously contradictory. The fact that the incident is currently under investigation by the proper authorities would preclude it from discussion at a council meeting and thus eliminate needless excitement by an unruly few on both sides.

Secondly, Mayor Frank O'Connell is to be highly commended for his patient, calm, and forthright handling of a potentially volatile situation. Politics, from the grassroots level on up, needs more men of this caliber — men who eschew exhibitionism for its own sake.

Initiative Petition Restricted To Voters

I have the greatest regard for your peaceful and practical approaches to resolving the problems that may confront our fellow citizens . . . But, when you do write down something that is supposedly fact, and those same facts will serve to inform the public on what is the truth, you better make sure that you can validate the statements that supposed to be factural.

You failed to do this June 9. You stated that "anyone can circulate an initiative petition, though only voters may sign. The way is open for disenchanted students to seek public support in a manner which would force the governor and legislature to recognize their demands —and without breaking either a law or a window to do it." Now, if you really looked hard, you would have discovered that further on down Article IV, Section I of the state constitution it states: "Any qualified elector of the state shall be competent to solicit said signatures within the county or city and county of which he is an elector. . . Each section shall have attached thereto the affidavit of the person soliciting signatures to the same, stating his own qualifications and that all the signatures to the attached section were made in his presence. . . ."

SEAN McCARTHY
San Rafael.

(Editor's note: Young McCarthy is correct that the constitution provides that an eligible elector (i.e., a person 21 years old and registered to vote) must take responsibility for circulation of each initiative petition. The avenue is not closed to younger students, however. While petitions lacking this voter sponsorship would not have the force of law, the Legislature could scarcely ignore one carrying signatures of eight per cent of the voters in the last gubernatorial election, regardless of who gathered those signatures.)

Social Security Raise Eaten Up?

For heaven's sake! Don't say Congress has absorbed the promised raise for Social Security recipients to offset living costs?

Pray, what next?

Old Putney, chopping away in a deep sand trap, mourned, "I'd move heaven and earth to play this game decently."

In response to a query about hippies, Victor Borge answered, "I like only one — and that's my wife. In fact, she's been getting a little too hippy lately." (He added, "If my wife sees this, it's goodbye forever.")

At a skating carnival, a spectator enthused, "Sonja Henie looks more beautiful than ever." "She should," agreed Borge. "She's been on ice for years."

Arms Control Talks Coming At Last Possible Moment

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The most fateful negotiation ever undertaken by man and between the two most powerfully armed nations ever to exist — the United States and the Soviet Union — will begin this summer.

It is now or never — and the heartening fact is that at last each side has said NOW.

The immediate goal is to slow down and bring under control the massively mounting costs and dangerous risks of the unchecked nuclear arms race.

At stake is survival; nothing less. Survival of mankind itself from nuclear holocaust by accident or design and survival of a decent society which is not just a military fortress.

THE REASON it is now or never is that the arms race is escalating with such speed and technology that, coupled with mutual fear, neither nation dares stop separately.

Those closet to the facts know the race is now at a point where if it isn't stopped jointly soon it will be too late.

THESE negotiations will at no point be easy. They will be delicated and difficult and uncertain because at stake on both sides are the security and safety of the nation. If either side makes a misguided or imprudent decision, it will put itself in military peril.

If either the Soviet Union or the United States fails to maintain a sufficiency of nuclear strength and thus loses its deterrent power, an arms agreeement could make war more likely, not less, and subject one or both to nuclear blackmail.

This is why President Nixon has taken needed time to review and resolve every major and every minute negotiated position the United States will take to the conference table. He has done this carefully, painstakingly and wisely. To have done less would have been derelict.

THERE IS NO justification for accusing the President of slowing his review to delay the start of the U.S.-Russian talks.

It took Moscow 18 months to get ready to accept President Johnson's proposal for talks. And then the Russians threw away the opportunity to begin negotiations nearly a year ago by invading Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Nixon has taken only five months to get ready, and it is evident that he acted with deliberate speed. He had the advantage of Mr. Johnson's exhaustive studies and recommendations but, since Mr. Nixon had to take sole responsibility for the kind of arms-control proposals the United States would accept or reject, it was his duty to re-examine everything. If something went wrong, could Mr. Nixon successfully defend himself by saying: "Well, this is what my predecessor recommended?" Hardly.

ALTHOUGH the arms talks are starting just this side of too late, they may well be coming at a moment which holds the best chance of success.

Both sides are more acutely aware than ever that if the nuclear arms race is not brought under control soon, its continuing acceleration will make it nearly impossible to bring it under control later.

Both sides know that if the arms race is not checked the worst is more likely to happen.

THE PRESENT balance in nuclear power between the Russians and the United States makes the present the most practical and propitious moment to reach agreement. Neither side is negotiating from a superiority. Each is negotiating from near equality.

Each side needs to use for constructive purposes much of the resources it is now spending on the arms race.

The time is now. There may be no tomorrow.

Obscure Need, High Cost For Meeting At Midway

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is something awkward and possibly a bit depressing about national leaders holding so-called summit conferences on places such as Midway Island. At best, it is hard to understand.

The meeting of President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam certainly was in an atmosphere of he ramparts of the Citadel at Quebec City.

The one-day meeting on Midway between Nixon and Thieu cost a whale of a lot of money —not just the government, but the commercial companies television networks, press associations, broadcasters, newspapers and magazines.

If the meeting accomplished anything in the direction of peace, cost would be a very minor factor. Also, the newsgathering organizations have no basic complaint since it is their normal responsibility to go where news develops and report it.

HOLDING a meeting between chiefs of government and their staffs on Midway, however, is something like holding a national political convention in a small motel at Thurmont, Md.

Leaders such as Nixon and Thieu meet for two reasons —to make decisions, and then to communicate these decision to the world.

The public relations impact sometimes can be as powerful as the decisions. In the case of Midway, there should be medals for members of the White House staff, the U.S. Navy and specialists of the major communications companies who accomplished a task which they first thought was absolutely impossible.

Within about a week, they converted an isolated little naval station on a tiny island into a massive, functioning communications complex —and it worked.

NAVAL PERSONNEL worked around the clock for seven or eight days, freshly painting the frame houses which would serve only for a few hours as residences for the two presidents.

Twenty or more automobiles had to be flown in from various Pacific stations because no private passenger vehicles is allowed on Midway — only a handful of public service vehicles for emergencies such as fires and air crashes.

There were two Lincoln Continentals for the chief executives, security escort vehicles and automobiles for ranking members of each delegation.

As brightly polished as these vehicles were upon arrival of the two delegations, nothing could protect them from God's dive-bombers, a dirty little bird called the telegraph tern. The official motorcade was visibly marked by the time Nixon said adieu to Thieu, then boarded his own plane for Hawaii.

THE GOONEY BIRDS for which Midway is so famous were not much of a problem, except for their disconcerting way of plopping down in the middle of a road and having to be moved out of the way physically. Most adult gooneys are away from Midway at this time of year, leaving behind thousands of fluffy, but rather large babies who have not learned to fly.

As far away and as poorly equipped as Midway was, the Navy worked far and beyond the call of normal duty to make the place hospitable and habitable for the chief executives and their parties.

How To Squeeze A Column Out Of Instant Stockings

Serious students (like me) of signs of the times are finding more and more evidence that we're turning into an instamatic society.

But it has gone even farther. One of the newest companies in Mill Valley is something called Instant Garter Corp., which, one assumes, manufactures, well, instant garters.

Since we are also serious students of garters and other such instruments of fashion, we asked several lady friends about the merits of instant garters (which someone told us are squeezed out of a tube).

The ladies agreed that they are a needed commodity. One, a transplanted New Yorker, made far and away the best case for them in describing a garter crisis that started in a subway and ended in her doctor's office.

THE LADY, it seems, had foolishly risked going out with only one garter holding up one of her stockings. On the subway, it snapped and the lady, flustered, hopped out of the subway car with, one might say, one sock off and one sock on.

It was the wrong stop, so she took a cab on to her doctor's office. In the cab, deciding that even in New York, wearing only one stocking would be considered odd, she started to take the other one off.

This done, only slightly ruffling the composure of one of Manhattan's famous unflappable cabbies, she put both stockings in her purse and zipped it up.

The stockings (and this should come as no surprise) got stuck in the zipper and the harassed lady could not open the purse. This created a new crisis since Manhattan hacks, though unflappable, expect pay for rides.

The cabbie finally accompanied our lady high into a skyscraper to the doctor's office where the kindly doctor paid the bill.

Moral of this story is that an instant garter would have solved everything. Except right now we're having a bit of a problem imagining how blase New Yorkers would react to a lady putting on a new garter out of a tube in a subway.

THERE ARE SOME things that just aren't done and this item is presented as a public service to the upstart new residents of Sausalito's Gate 5.

What they did — and Southern Marinites are still chuckling over the earthy pottibilities of the confrontation — was tell Juanita Musson she couldn't come into the area because she was a stranger.

Junita, of course, is the lusty and formidable proprietress of Juanita's Galley, formerly in Sausalito (the Gate 5 area, as a matter of fact) and now at two locations in Sonoma County.

Juanita used to virtually run the Gate 5 area and barring Juanita from Gate 5 is as patently absurd as having an outlander tell Jimmie Quinn he doesn't belong in Mill Valley.

Juanita agreed and so stated in her amazingly inventive vernacular.

Not only did Juanita give the newcomers a rather salty version of Sausalito's history and her role in same, she got into her car and, according to reliable reports, threatened to run them down if they didn't get the —— out of the way.

They got out of the way.

THE MILL VALLEY City Council, which rivals San Anselmo for the length of its meetings and Fairfax for the repetitiveness of its arguments, gave its first performance for new City Mgr. William Cunningham last Monday night.

The council sputtered through more than four hours and finished only a third of its agenda, forcing it to call an extra meeting to finish up.

Cunningham, a genial man, sat through the whole show with an often mystified expression which seemed to ask, "What have I got myself into now?" He might well wonder.

Another Mill Valley governmental note: Where would you expect to find a copy of the city's 1965-66 budget? The city finance department, right? Wrong. We asked for a look at it the other day and finance department employees looked and looked but couldn't find a copy. Nor, for that matter, could other city offices.

Oh well, 1966 is over anyway.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

McInnis's Insult To Upton Uncalled-For And Unkind

Fusselman

John McInnis, the chairman of the county board of supervisors, has been disappointing many of his supporters by his performance on the board.

In 1966, the incumbent from District One was pushing for his hand-picked candidate to succeed him. The folks were tired of the arrogant, expensive grand manner of conducting county business out at Brasilia. Both Dr. William F. Upton and McInnis were running for the position.

In this column on May 27 of that year I endorsed McInnis and said this: "Dr. William F. Upton . . . has my most sincere respect. He has done an excellent job as a planning commissioner. However, I honestly believe that, with things as they are on the board, it is imperative that broader experience be available right now." I followed this with my observation of McInnis over a 20-year period in public affairs.

Now, in the I-J issue last Tuesday, McInnis was quoted along these lines: "This is not a vote against Dr. Upton." He explained that the only reason he didn't reappoint Upton was that "I wish to bring a younger person for a perhaps more vigorous approach and, in my opinion, representative of the newer element in Marin County."

THAT WAS a brutal, gratuitous remark. It was completely uncalled for. He was on a spot — wanted to appoint the man he has now appointed, and upon appealing to the people in Terra Linda and Marinwood (where a great number of the "newer element in Marin Count" live) for recommendations (so as to gain time for maneuvering) discovered that they wouldn't buy it. This "newer element in Marin County" wanted to have Dr. Upton retained. This didn't help him keep his cool even a little bit and he blurted out this ridiculous statement.

Why in the world wasn't he kind enough to tell the doctor privately, so that he could withdraw from competition quietly?

The glamor of the surrounding out at Brasilia can work in an insidious manner on the inhabitants there if they don't constantly remind themselves to keep their feet on the ground.

Over the years, I was many times in complete disagreement with Dr. Upton, but always respected the integrity of his beliefs, John, I think this will come back and haunt you. When it does, just remember that you didn't have to do it this way.

THE BIND this board finds itself in, respecting costs to the taxpayers, has been building up for about 12 years. A yardstick for observing and measuring the total picture is to consider the money that has been paid to Alan Bruce since he has graced the scene.

He came with the county in March of 1957 from across the Pacific, after a two-year job as assistant to Don Jensen, the first administrator here. They had been hired by a San Francisco firm to advise the Philippine government. (What a laugh when you consider things out there!)

He has had a personal bonanza during these 12 years. He was paid $703 a month or $8,435 a year. Upon the resignation of his boss, he became administrator on Dec. 1, 1960, with a salary of $12,900.

Have a look at it now. McInnis insisted that this layman, whose sole experience as administrator has been here in Marin County, be raised $100 a year to $26,056, so that no one, but no one, including the county counsel, with years of professional experience in his field, be paid more. Happy days!

Biafran Forces Recapture Town

GENEVA (AP) — Biafran forces recaptured the town of Ekoli Adda in Eastern Nigeria after a fierce battle, the Biafran information office announced Thursday.

It said more than 200 Nigerian soldiers were killed, military vehicles were set ablaze and a substantial number of arms and bombs were captured by secessionist forces.

The Biafrans also claimed to have routed Nigerian forces from two villages in the Okpuala-Ngor area north of Port Harcourt, and ambushed and destroyed two Nigerian troop carriers on the Enugu-Onitsha highway.

Session Set On Opening Campus

The Mill Valley Human Rights Commission will hold a meeting, tentatively set for 8 p.m. July 17 at the city council chambers, to discuss an open campus at Tamalpais High School.

The commission Wednesday night discussed an open campus but made no recommendation. Commission chairman Roger J. Fleischmann said he expects the panel to take some action then.

A discussion on jobs for minority groups in Mill Valley was put off by the commission Wednesday because no representative of the Chamber of Commerce or other business groups in Mill Valley attended the meeting.

Mexican Summer Planned By Coeds

By MOLLY MARIN

Three Marin girls and one from Sonoma are leaving Monday to spend a working summer in Mexico City.

Lorie Adams of Kentfield and Debbie Donaldson of Sausalito, College of Marin students; Jean Murray of Sonoma, a student at Sonoma State College; and Susan McClees of San Rafael, University of California student, all music majors, will be among the group of 14 co-eds playing in the orchestra of the Mexico City supper club, El Forum.

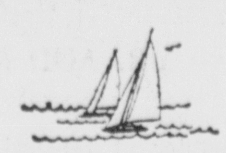
The club is owned and operated by the four Castro Brothers, a Latin American singing act, which appears in U.S. night clubs and has been on "The Joey Bishop Show." In Mexico they have their own weekly television show. Arturo Castro, leader of the group, is sponsoring the tour.

The girls will live at the Suite el Parque, the Mexico City hotel built for the 1968 Olympics.

THE ALBERT J. Bigons will be aboard the Lurline when it sails Saturday from Los Angeles harbor for Hawaii.

MRS. JAMES M. Mertz of Rye, N.Y., was a recent visitor at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

Allegra Knapp Mertz, chairman of the Adams Cup committee for the North American Sailing Union, was in Belvedere for the Women's North American Sailing Championships when they were hosted by the Belvedere club in 1966. She is a four-time winner of the Adams Cup herself, and one of the country's outstanding yachtswomen.



Martha McDougle of SFYC, who took second in last year's Adams Cups finals in Bay Head, N.J., will represent the local club in Adams semi-finals in Southern California this summer. Crewing for Martha will be Ann Elders and Connie Stong.

A NEW YACHT for the Ben Hirsches of Belvedere and the Herbert Rosses of San Francisco. The two couples have bought a Frisco Flyer, a 26 ft. sailing sloop, to be named Chere Amie, and berthed at San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere.

THREE BRIDAL showers have been held in Novato honoring Sharon Sawyer of Novato who will be married to Paul Herriott of Novato on July 12.

Mrs. Paul Brindel and her sister, Margaret Hardina, honored Sharon at a shower Saturday. Other showers were given by Mrs. Robert Nichols and Mrs. Gifford Briggs.

Sharon is the daughter of Mrs. Harold Goerndt.

The Mahons were married in Berkeley and have lived in Mill Valley since 1952. Dr. Mahon is on the staff of the St. Francis Hospital and the Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco, and Mrs. Mahon is currently the president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the California Medical Association. They have one daughter, Mrs. Paul Wilhelm of Oakland.

Marin guests at the dinner party will be Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Fellows of Mill Valley and Dr. and Mrs. John Kirkpatrick of San Anselmo.

A Shimmery Look In Fall Style

NEW YORK (AP) — The look of summer sunshine will be carried over into fall fashions this year.

Designers have made abundant use of rhinestones, water glass and sequins in their evening wear, putting shimmery touches to simple fabrics like wool and jersey.

Kaplan's long formal gowns came with their own matching maxicoats. A red velvet floor sweeper covered a white silk dress with huge red and white jewels on the bodice. Price—just under $400.

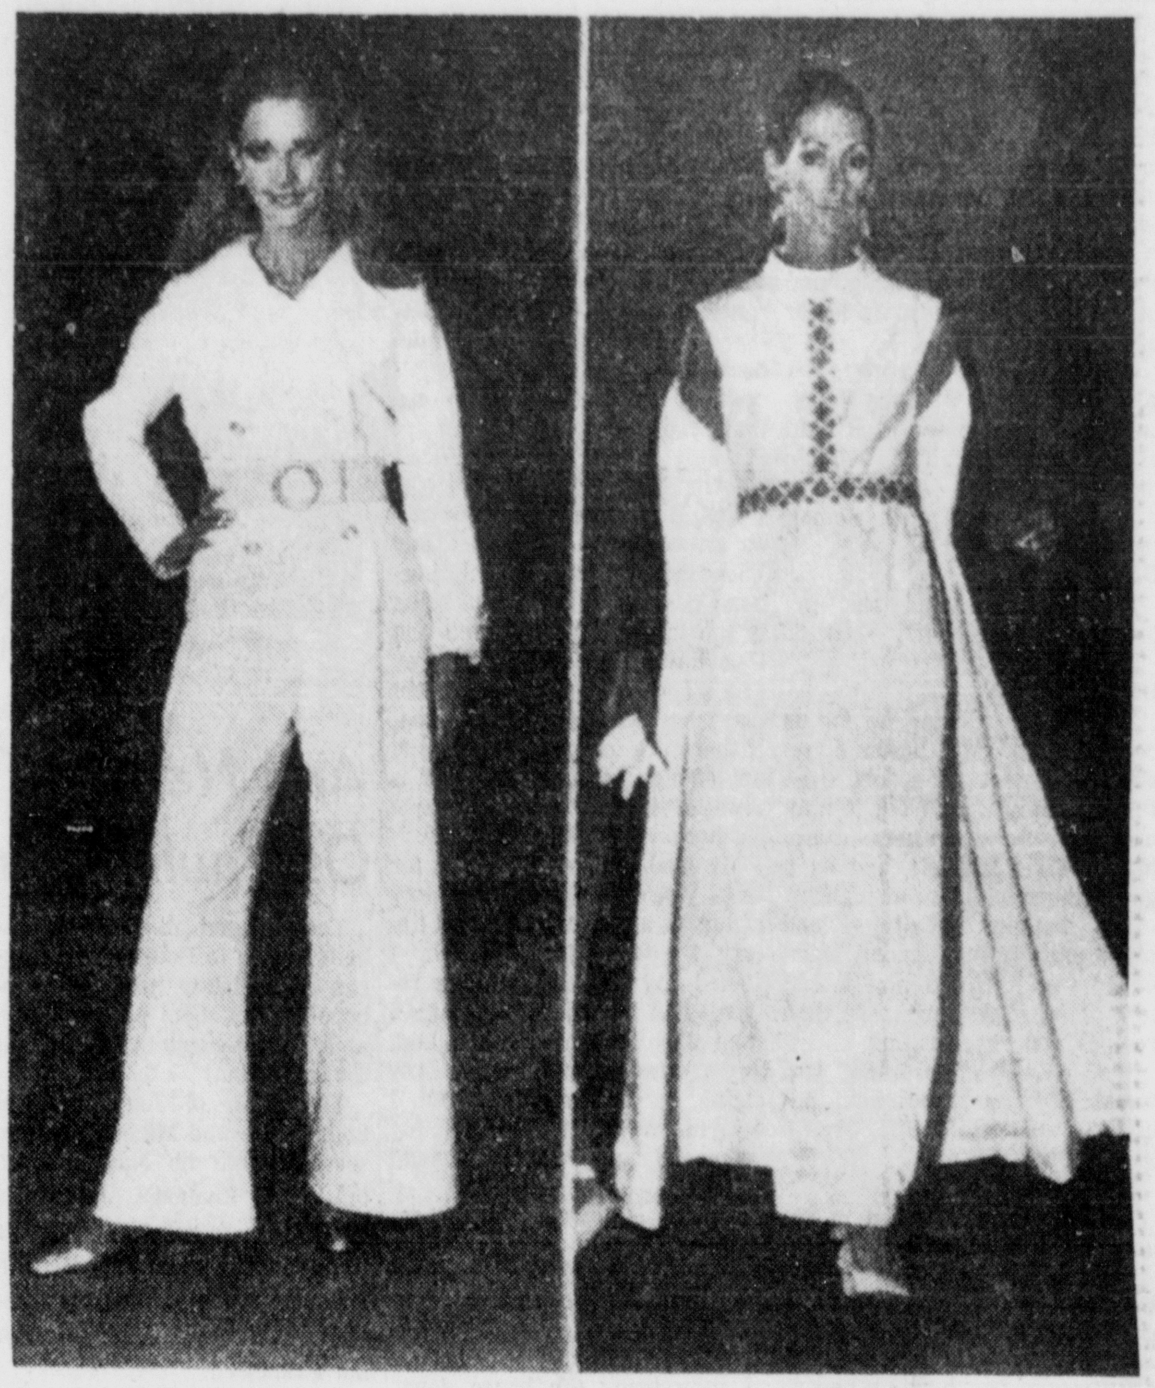
Bill Travilla, the Hollywood dress designer, likes the glittery look too. His collection, definitely glamour girl inspired, featured several evening pajamas and lots of brocades. One short cocktail dress was made from a gold and ivory striped fabric so delicate it moved like tissue paper.

TRAVILLA, WHO designs Diahann Carroll's clothes for the television series "Julia," likes those plunging styles, both in front and back. One model inadvertently put the dress on backwards and the designer, resplendent in a red plaid suit, shirt and tie, noted that the built-in bra he had carefully styled was doing a great job of holding up her shoulder blades.

His dresses start at $300 and go as high as $1500.

Autumn is the season for the great look of suits and Davidow has guaranteed a colorful, bold fall look with huge plaids of red, white and blue, mauve and moss, yellow and black. The skirts are short and swingy.

Coats come in bright plaids too and they are simply styled with high pockets, thick belts in a long, A-line shape. Suits and coats are priced from $170 to $250.



SEASON SWITCH?

The look of summer sunshine is carried into fall. Hollywood designer Bill Travilla's white wool jump suit, left, has a trench coat look and is finished with a gold belt and buttons. The white silk dress by Nat Kaplan, right, has red and white jewel trim and matching red velvet coat. (AP Wirephoto)

San Rafael Stylist To Go On Teaching Tour

San Rafael hair stylist Wayne Clark is under contract to a national beauty supply firm and will tour the country demonstrating new techniques in hair styling.

The first of his four hour private classes will be held Sunday in Spokane, Wash. Monday morning he will be in Lewiston, Idaho, and that evening beauticians in Kennewick, Wash., will have the opportunity of attending his class.

While in New York to sign the contract, Wayne learned a new technique in hair cutting — French tapering.

"It makes the hair easier to back comb and it stays better," he says.

Wayne feels that the new cutting techniques is leading to a new trend in hair styling with the hair wavy on top, closer to the head, giving an overall softer look.

The hair stylist is a native of San Rafael and a graduate of San Rafael High School. He studied in Europe in 1965 and that year received an honorable mention for his daytime style in the Paris Haute Coiffure show.

MODEL MRS. Wayne Clark is shown wearing what her beautician husband feels is the new trend in hair styles — a soft look with the hair wavy on top, closer to the head. The style is made possible by a new cutting technique, French tapering. He will demonstrate new techniques to beauticians during a tour of the country beginning Sunday in Spokane, Wash.

Why Not Serve Teen-Agers Hamburger For Breakfast?

Hamburgers for breakfast?

"Why not?" asks nutritionist Frances Hall of Chicago. 'Especially where young people are concerned, the important thing is to get enough of the right nutrients into them at breakfast. One of the excuses they use for skipping or skimping at breakfast is the monotony . . . they're tired of the 'same old thing'."

Mrs. Hall, assistant director of nutrition research of the National Live Stock and Meat Board and mother of two college students, observes that there's nothing nutritionally wrong with 'the same old thing" . . . if that happens to be eggs and/or bacon or sausage and/or milk and fruit.

"But you don't have to belong to the mod generation to know traditions are being broken all over the place . . . including so-called established food patterns," she said. "Look how many people are eating breakfast-type foods, like eggs and pancakes, for supper; cereals for lunch, etc. All of us should get a fourth to a third of our daily required nutrients at breakfast . . . and teen-agers require even more nutrients than adults. So what does it matter whether its hamburgers or hot dogs or pizzas or ham sandwiches for breakfast — perhaps — so long as they eat?"

It might matter to the mother who has to get up and fix it, Mrs. Hall admits — pointing out at the same time, however, that one reason teen-agers and others don't eat breakfast is because no one takes the time to prepare it. Also, if the idea of "different" foods at breakfast catches on, the teen-agers might just possibly get interested enough to prepare their own breakfasts.

Women Just Naturally Judge Trip Miles By Map 'Inches'

DEAR HELEN:

Every vacation it's the same thing. My wife thinks in inches, while I know miles are involved. We plan a cross-country trip, and she immediately wants side trips.

"But honey," she says, "It's only another two inches from Yellowstone to Glacier Park, and we may never be that close again." She forgets that two inches equal 250 miles on our atlas map. We end up fighting. If I win, she mourns for Glacier Park all the way to Chicago and back, and if she wins, we never get to Chicago.

Also, she's the type who, if I ask, "How far is the Long Beach turn-off, looks on the road map and says, "Oh, about half an inch."

What do you do with women like this? — NED

DEAR NED:

Maybe you should ask my husband. He's got one! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Thanks for sticking up for us career girls. My husband resents my part time job, even though I only work from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. and am home to see him and the kids off, and fix a good dinner for them at night.

I'm happier, healthier and much more human since I started to work — and now I can talk about something more than recipes and redecorating.

I've only been working two weeks. Do you think he'll adjust? — DOROTHY

DEAR DOROTHY:

Most men adjust to their "working wives" — if work doesn't interfere with comforts. Stay with it! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have no compassion for those women who complain of being treated as "brainless slaves" by their husbands. Didn't they take a long hard look at their men before they married them? Or did they act "brainless" to catch a husband, then resent being treated that way?

I can talk to my husband about politics, world affairs, everything and he respects my opinon. After all, we're both college graduates. He was aware before marriage that I expected to be treated as more than a machine to cook, clean and give him children.

Women should never have to hide their brains from a man. If they feel they must, he isn't much of a man and they'd better look farther. A real man doesn't need to dominate women and children to keep his male ego intact. — KAY

DEAR HELEN:

Yes, a man can treat his wife as an equal — in respect and friendship. However, the husband deserves the right to bring in the largest loaf of bread and thus have the majority vote on final decisions if agreement can't be reached by discussion. If there are too many chiefs and not enough Indians, someone is always fighting for the eagle feather.

My husband and I battled for five years. I demanded my rights as a free thinker, and liberty to do what I pleased. I flexed my muscles and he retreated. I ended up making a mad dash in his direction and, as a result, I maintain my rights as an individual but I opened my eyes, lowered my voice and now we listen instead of battle.

I have also discovered the delights of homemaking. Now he is the sole bread winner and I the sole baker. I don't have to kiss his foot though I sometimes pick up his shoes.

I may bring the house down by suggesting: Ladies, give the man his world back, and enjoy the results! — JULIA

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Next week Petaluma will be host to its 102nd Sonoma-Marin Fair. It is one of the Bay Area's most colorful annual events, with much of the flavor and fun of the old-fashioned country fair. Tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine offers a special salute to the Sonoma-Marin Fair, with two special articles prepared by Bonnie Bard, this newspaper's Petaluma Bureau reporter. There's also a compelte program for the fair included in the magazine.

Don't call it folk dancing, say its devotees. It's Scottish country dancing. And it is the favorite recreation of a group of Marinites who gather once a week in Mill Valley for lively sessions of jigs and reels. There are kilts and there are tea and scones. It all amounts to a wee bit of Scotland in Marin. And I-J Marin Magazine editor Don Keown reports on these dancers and their hobby in the weekend supplement tomorrow.

DUTIES KEEP THEM HOPPING

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Going back to work after already retiring has its ups and downs for three gentlemen who became ticket agents of the San Anselmo bus depot May 1.

For example: Four hour shifts often stretch to five. Either the legs or the feet can give out. And then there's that occasional ticket buyer on the phone with a foreign accent who swears because the agent is unable to understand his English.

One who came out of retirement is Charles B. Mills, 72, of 26 Paloma Drive, Corte Madera.

A machinist for 15 years, Mills said, "I used to work with decimals. Now it's all dollars and cents."

Standing bothers Mills somewhat, he says. Although he has a stool, he is usually kept hopping between the ticket counter, the candy and express business and the telephone.

The best thing about the job is the people, in Mills' mind. He praised the bus drivers and customers for being helpful. "In fact," he said, "sometimes they'll (customers) come in and tell us how to make out a ticket. That's a fact. That shows you how nice they are."

Then there is the drama. One day a hippie couple came in and the girl kept sobbing and sobbing and saying "Don't go. Don't go." She kept sobbing until they went out together, according to Mills.

Splitting the work with Mills at the depot at 718A San Anselmo Avenue are Lynn B. Falch, 65, of 23 Stetson Avenue, Corte Madera, a retired public relations man; and Norman D. Gray, 63, of 13 Washington Avenue, San Rafael, formerly in stocks and bonds.

Retired accountant William H. Newlon, 63, of 9 Jordan Avenue, San Anselmo, does not sell tickets but is responsible for all bookkeeping.

The Marin Senior Coordinating Council took over the Greyhound ticket agency on retirement of Ada McVerry of Ross when an agent could not be found and the depot was threatened with closing.

Mills, Falch and Gray each take a shift a day, the depot being open from 6 a.m. to 6:15 p.m. and take turns working on Saturdays when hours are 9:15 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. They are paid $140 a month.

The agency receives a small amount from the ticket sales and express proceeds and pays all operating expenses out of this.

"In fact," he added, "we're exploring four separate business opportunities which we are thinking of going into to be called Senior Enterprises."

One of these would be to assemble pieces made by a local plastics plant, Ryken said. The principle behind it is to create a business that older people can actively operate and be paid for doing. Hopefully, he continued, it will channel back into the community some of the vital skills which have been lost because of retirement.

The coundil's hope is to get people in Marin to look to older people for jobs. Many people think of senior citizen jobs only as guards, assistant gardeners or lawn watchers but Ryken says the council has helped find jobs for seniors in secretarial and answering services, in opening fix-it shops and in assisting the tax collector during tax season.

Ryken likes to tell the story of a little old lady who came into the San Anselmo bus depot three or four days after it opened under new management and said: "I'm so delighted the seniors took it over and kept it from closing because it allows me to get to where the action is."

Lower Water, Sewer Rates

The Cotati City Council last night reviewed a tentative 1969-70 budget of $163,983 and approved reductions in water and sewer rates.

The budget, as submitted by City Mgr. Gordon C. Howe, exceeds the 1969-70 budget by $60,600. Under the plan, tax rates will remain the same. Residents in areas served by city utility districts pay $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation while others pay $1 per $100 assessed valuation.

Budget allocations by department (with this year's budget in parenthesis) are: city manager, $24,232 ($19,112); treasurer, $4,000 ($6,600); city attorney, $4,000 ($4,785); planning, $6,463 ($2,000); building, $2,000 ($1,125); police, $29,901 ($34,876); building inspection $1,600 ($1,334); streets and utility districts, $7,500 ($7,500); public works, $39,914 ($37,181); water department, $47,638 ($17,000); sewer services, $37,000 ($12,000); parks and recreation, $4,174, $2,269), and street lighting, $3,500 ($2,800).

The budget will be reviewed and considered for adoption at the July 3 meeting.

With major repairs completed on the water system, the council cut back water rates by 40 per cent. Minimum charge will be $3.75 for 4,000 gallons, 40 cents for the next 4,000 gallons and 20 cents for up to 12,000 gallons.

Sewer service rates were reduced by approximately 30 per cent. City Mgr. Howe said that although major repairs had been completed, revenue will be needed to finance the sewage tie-in with Rohnert Park.

New monthly sewer service rates will be: single family homes, $6; multiple residences, $4 per unit; light commercial, $10; heavy commercial, $10 and churches and public buildings, $6.

The council also approved the rezoning request of John Geis to change his property at 8152 La Plaza Street from residential to light commercial.

Bank Behind Interest Hike Defends Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bank that started the climb in prime interest rates to a historic high told Congress today its action reduced rather than increased dangers to the economy.

Alfred Brittain III, president of Bankers Trust Co. of New York, testified that "we have prevented our lending capacity from being overrun and have made sure that funds will remain available for the essential needs, above all, of our small businesses and other customers who cannot finance themselves in the securities market."

Bankers Trust was the first to announce an increase June 9 from 7½ to 8½ per cent in the prime rate. Banks across the country quickly followed.

In testimony prepared for the House Banking Committee, Brittain said the bank will continue to finance residential mortgages at 7½ per cent and raise rates to small business borrowers less than the 1 per cent jump in the prime rate charged its biggest and best customers.

The committee opened an investigaiton of the prime rate increase yesterday with another confrontation between Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., and Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy.

Patman again accused the secretary of conflicts of interest because of continued financial ties with Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago, which Kennedy formerly headed.

Kennedy denied the charges, telling newsmen afterward he arranged his financial affairs in accordance with recommendations of the Senate Finance Committee and is convinced he has no legal or moral conflict.

One of the verbal clashes at the hearing came when Patman asked Kennedy what he did to try to head off or turn back the prime rate increase.

"There was really nothing I could do," Kennedy replied. "There was no legal possibility of rolling back."

"No, I did not . . .," the secretary answered. "I could do no more than you did. You shouted from the housetops and nothing happened."

Kennedy said he had talked with bankers, corporation executives and labor groups about the general need to contain inflation. But, he continued, "I have not tried to say 'thou shalt not increase this rate.' I have no right to do this . . . just to get up on a high pulpit as though I were God and say 'thou shalt not.' "

Frankfort hs been Kentucky's capital since 1792.

Petaluma Parks Budget Approved

The Petaluma Council yesterday approved a recreation and parks budget of $96,208 for 1969-70 and reviewed allocations for seven other departments.

The recreation and parks budget represents an increase of $4,412 over the 1968-69 budget to include increased salaries and the purchase of new groundskeeping equipment.

Also approved was the $22,600 budget for maintenance of the municipal swimming pool and a $16,905 allocation for recreational and instructional swimming programs.

A budget of $29,330 was approved for the planning department, an increase of $2,730 over this year's expenditures. To be decided at a later budget session is the request of planner William C. McGivern for an additional planning technician.

An engineering budget of $76,050 was approved, an increase of $4,662 over the 1968-69 expenditures. A street department budget of $170,161 was approved, with an increase of $526. A building maintenance fund of $30,905 was approved, showing an increase of $150 over this year. A budget of $13,801 was approved for the corporation yard with an increase of $442.

The council will continue its budget deliberations Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Appendix Troubles Hospitalize Nave

Richard P. Nave, president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, is recovering from a ruptured appendix at Saint Mary's Hospital in San Francisco, his brother, Robert reported.

Nave, who lives at 272 Center Street, San Rafael, was taken to the hospital Tuesday with what was throught to be a bad case of flu. He may be able to undergo surgery in a day or two to seal the broken appendix, his brother said.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Film Report of the Film Estimate Board. FAMILY

"Ballad of Josie" — An amusing western set in Wyoming at the time the state was a struggling territory and Doris Day struggles for woman's independence.

"Dr. Dolittle" — A beguiling excursion into a delectable world of fantasy. A Victorian physician communicates better with the animals than with people.

"Gone With The Wind" — Famous film classic now transposed to super screen with stereophonic sound remains one of the landmarks in American filmmaking.

"High, Wild and Free" — Filmed in northern British Columbia Photographer Gordon Eastman gives us a tribute to some of the last unspoiled country left in the northern hemisphere. Excellent.

"Pinocchio in Outer Space" — Feature length cartoon attempts to blend fantasy and scientific fact with several jolly tunes at intervals.

"Shoes of the Fisherman" — Film retains author's concern with human integrity. Magnificent pageantry surrounding the Papacy and the grandeur of the Vatican.

"Swiss Family Robinson" — Adventure story is a delight for all ages.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Charly" — Poignant dramatization of a fictional case history of first human subject of a new type of brain surgery on a mentally retarded young man. Thought-provoking, sensitive performances from the cast.

"Guns of the Magnificent Seven" — Mexican revolutionaries fighting the tyrannical Diaz regime in 1890s. Much violence and torture shown.

"Hannibal Brooks" — A warm, gently comic wartime film that affirms human values can surmount the brutalities of war. Too much violence for young children.

"If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium" — Comic treatise on the habits and customs of the American tourist. Camera is kept on the tour people and not the grand tour. Number of bedroom scenes thrown in.

"Illustrated Man" — Carnival man has each of his adventures tattooed on his body. The stories are, to say the least, weird and best left to interpretation of the viewer.

"Winning" — Story of a race driver, his wife and stepson. Will appeal to those who enjoy car racing.

BORDERLINE

"I Love You, Alice B. Toklas" — Establishment and the hippies are spoofed to a fare-thee-well in this lively contemporary comedy.

(Some say adults only)

ADULTS ONLY

"Goodbye Columbus" — Picture of a Jewish family is real and humorous. The warmth of the people comes through all the surface vulgarity. Explicit sex and nudity.

"Killing of Sister George" — Title taken from character which an actress portrays on TV. Film treats lesbianism with unprecedented explicitness with lewd scenes blatantly shown.

CLASH OF SYMBOLS—Geoffrey Mayer, College of Marin percussion student lends his resounding enthusiasm to the college's graduation ceremony. Speakers Take Moderate Approach To Unrest

Student speakers at College of Marin's 42nd commencement exercises last night expressed moderate views on the issues of student violence and protest.

Aileen Madera of San Rafael, speaking for the graduating class of 463 candidates receiving associate degrees in science and arts, asserted that riots, demonstrations and protests were the symptoms which obscured the important causes.

She called for people to hear each other regardless of disagreement. "First listen, then criticize and evaluate," she said. It should not be only young people who are seeking change, she said.

She accused students of questioning indiscriminately, and trying to implement just causes in an unjust manner. But, she said, "too many people ignore the reasons for student protest in favor of halting it. We cannot use force as a frequent answer to long standing injustices and survive; nor can force be used as a vehicle of change."

Mark Alan Lund of San Rafael, student speaker and president of the graduating class said he didn't believe his generation was the saving force of the world and regarded that old line as garbage. "I don't see how anyone participating in the kind of violence at Berkeley, Colombia, and San Francisco State, or even condoning it, can honestly claim to be concerned with safety, justice, and rights of all."

"This is a misguided generation, and injustices can only be corrected by peaceful means, admittedly slow, but logical, peaceful, orderly, democratic," he said.

"Let us recognize violence as the real threat that it is, not only to our personal safety but to our government and way of life. Violence is the preacher and teacher of anarchy, the disease that destroys all values, breeds terror and removes all rights from everyone. It will bring the end of freedom and democracy," he predicted.

He later said he sincerely felt that most of the fellow graduates at Marin were responsible, people who did not applaud violence. "It is in this majority that the real hope for the future lies. "We must work on our attitudes and set an example for future generations."

Donovan J. Fandre of Sausalito, guest speaker told the graduates, "We have conquered every technological challenge we have encountered but in our quest for material gain we have abused and insulted ourselves and our environment to the point of disaster; Fandre said.

"The pendulum is swinging from material to man because you are concerned about man, but you can't solve the problems (of man) without technology." He suggested the humanist might began to direct the energies and abilities of the scientist if they could manage the problem of communication.

"Here in our own state; he said, "We have a governor (Ronald Reagan) who preaches individual responsibility but who wants to censor our books and entertainment, control our campuses and to teach morality to our children. We see hippies and rebels flaunt their disdain for our government that has created the situation against which they rebel."

Herman Kamai; secretary of the graduating class presented the class gift to the college, a painting of Harlan Hall, soon to be razed to make way for a new Harlan Center Kamai introduced a third generation member of the Harlan family, Kadeane H. Harlan, granddaughter of the college's first board president, George Harlan.

Rex T. Silvernale, vice president of Hutchinson Co. received an outstanding citizen award for his work on behalf of the college and the community. Silvernale served as chairman of a finance committee for College of Marin during the past year.

Mill Valleyan Hurt In Crash

Bruce Beardsley, 20, of 145 La Goma Avenue, Mill Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for multiple scrapes after his motorcycle collided with a car in Sausalito.

Sausalito police said Beardsley's cycle collided with a stopped car at Bridgeway and Bay Street. The car was driven by Douglas Railpon of 231 Princeton Avenue, Mill Valley, police said.

The accident occurred at 2:10 p.m.

6-Week-Old Infant Dies In His Crib

A 6-week-old San Rafael boy was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital today after he was found by his mother apparently lifeless in his crib.

Patrick David Edward Reynolds was pronounced dead at 4:15 a.m.

Coroner's investigator Keith C. Craig said the mother, Diane C. Reynolds, found the baby at 3:30 a.m. wedged between the mattress and the crib frame in the family apartment at 109 Canal Street. The baby's father, Edward G. Reynolds, managed to free the child.

An ambulance crew attempted unsuccessfully to revive the baby on the way to the hospital. Mrs. Reynolds told Craig the baby had a cold recently, but was apparently all right at 1 a.m.

The baby, who is also survived by a sister, Michelle, was born May 9.

Craig ordered an autopsy. Funeral is pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Two Supervisors To Miss Hearing

Two members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors will be absent Tuesday when the board considers plans for the next phase of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project through Ross, board chairman John F. McInnis said today.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and William A. Gnoss will be out of the county. As a result, McInnis said, no decision is expected to be reached on the project.

Petaluma Man Jailed In Beating

Michael Ray Patterson, 22, of 323 Howard Street, was booked into Sonoma County Jail and scheduled for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

His wife, Anna Louise, 19, was reported in satisfactory condition at Petaluma General Hospital with cuts and bruises of the face and stomach.

Police said Mrs. Patterson called them to her home at 8:25 p.m. and placed her husband under citizen's arrest. Police said he had a gun in his possession when they arrived, but it was not loaded.

Girl, 11, Injured In Auto Accident

Britt Anna Erlandson, 11, of 235 Irwin Street, San Rafael, was listed in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion and multiple bruises suffered in an auto accident yesterday at 4 p.m. on Woodland Avenue.

The car, driven by Joyce Aileen D'Ambra, 37, of 16 Hazel Court, San Rafael, ran into a utility pole near Lovell Avenue, police reported. Two other passengers were not hurt.

ABAG To Delay On Tax Relief Policy

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY — The Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee, which hastily set up a property tax relief committee six months ago when San Francisco threatened to tax commuters, took its report "under advisement" when it finally got it last night.

The special tax committee had been given three months to turn in its report, but apparently pressure for it to act lifted somewhat when San Francisco's proposed commuter tax was voided in court, and when Mayor Joseph L. Alioto agreed to put off any other tax that would hit commuters as long as ABAG was working to find new tax revenue on some regional basis. (See story page 5 on related Alioto remarks.)

But San Francisco's representative on the tax committee opposed the key recommendation voted last month by the tax committee, and this opposition clearly was on the executive committee members' minds last night.

The key recommendation was that an amount equal to 10 per cent of the state income tax be distributed to cities and counties according to population. But San Francisco argued the distribution of tax revenue should be on the basis of where the taxpayer works, not where he lives.

The older, core cities, bearing the brunt of the region's urban problems, cannot buy the needed solutions with tax revenue paid on the basis of population alone, San Francisco argued.

Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort, terming allocation by population "far from perfect," said "we shouldn't attempt to skirt the issue if we are to be a valid organization." But he also said it probably was better than any other form of allocation that has been tried.

J. Julien Baget, ABAG's executive director, noted that the Flournoy Commission had been unable to find another basis than population after a nine-month study.

Bort warned that "we are at the brinkmanship point in property taxes — we've come to the wall." The only solution will be more state aid to cities and counties, he said.

Alioto's deputy for development, John Tolan, also citing the need for more revenue, compared San Francisco's $600 million budget with an "actual need right now" of $2.25 billion just to catch up on dilapidated city facilities, from sewage treatment plants to Golden Gate Park.

The tax committee also recommended that cities and counties be empowered by the state to adopt a uniform 5 per cent utility user's tax, that the state increase its aid to schools, and that the financing, and, if necessary, the administration of welfare be shifted from the counties to the state and federal governments. These three recommendations were not disputed by the executive committee.

After more than an hour of talking about the tax report, the executive committee postponed action on it to its next meeting, 7:30 p.m. July 17 in the Hotel Claremont.

The executive committe of the Association of Bay Area Governments also:

ROSS VALLEY — Endorsed Ross Valley Sanitary District's application for a federal grant of $480,000 toward a $1.2 million project to build a sewer generally parallel to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through Ross, a pumping station in Kentfield, and a main from the station to the treatment plant in Greenbrae.

LAKE LAGUNITAS — Endorsed Marin Municipal Water District's application for a $56,936 federal grant toward a $113,872 improvement of about 50 acres at Lake Lagunitas for recreation and boating.

JUSTICE PLANNING — Agreed to hold a conference on criminal justice in late August or early September to explain the federal Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1968, which authorized grants to improve the criminal justice system on a regional basis.

Prisoner Is Accused Of Perjury

An indictment charging San Quentin convict Clarence Morris with perjury was filed last night by the Marin County Grand Jury.

Morris, the indictment says, lied when he filed a petition claiming he had made a deal with a Los Angeles prosecutor and then was double-crossed.

Morris filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus Aug. 5, 1968, charging he was wrongfully imprisoned. He claimed his own attorney, Fred Gabourie, told him he had made a deal with deputy district attorney Simon L. Rose to get Morris a six-month jail term instead of a prison sentence.

Instead, Morris was sentenced to three concurrent terms at San Quentin when he pleaded guilty to two counts of possessing marijuana for sale and one of possessing a dangerous drug for sale. He was admitted to the prison in September 1967, to serve terms of two to 10 years on the marijuana charge and a term of six months to three years on the drug charge.

Assistant District Attorney Leonard Shaw said both Gabourie and Rose will testify for the prosecution in the perjury case.

Vatican Sells Some Holdings

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican announced today it has sold all but 5 per cent of its interest in Societa Generale Immobiliare, Italy's largest real estate company.

It denied, however, that it planned to unload all of its vast holdings in Italian stocks.

It had been assumed in financial circles the Vatican owned between 15 and 30 per cent of the huge company at a market value of from $24 million to $42 million.

The Vatican was known to own 60 per cent of the stocks in the Rome-based company until 30 years ago, when lack of capital forced it to open the door to other investors, mainly Italians.

Larkspur Trustees Adopt Lower Budget

Larkspur School District trustees last night adopted a preliminary budget totaling $1,594,747 for fiscal 1969-70, a cut of $47,000 under the budget for the current fiscal year.

The cut is expected to allow the district's total tax rate of $3.54 per $100 assessed valuation either to stay the same or drop by one cent, reported Supt. Milton S. Cohen.

The final budget will be set at the board's Aug. 5 meeting.

The cut in the budget was possible largely because enrollment dropped by about 50 pupils, Cohen said.

In other business, trustees approved changes in class scheduling next year in the two junior high schools. The three principal changes were to delete the requirement that a foreign language be studied, to combine the social studies and reading programs, and to group two science periods in a row.

The changes were authorized by the Legislature in 1968 to allow more flexible scheduling, previously mandated by the state into a fixed number of minutes for each subject each day.

Larkspur School District Trustees Also:

PAINTING — Accepted as low bidder Larry Gates Painting of San Rafael, at $3,995, to paint San Clemente School. There were four bids on the work, to begin Monday.

MEETINGS — Agreed to have only one meeting each month during summer, and set them for July 2 and Aug. 5, both at 8 p.m. in the administration office, 20 Magnolia Avenue.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of three teachers from Henry C. Hall School: Marianne Linder, kindergarten; Bronte Reynolds, seventh grade social studies, and Roland Carr, seventh grade science.

RECREATION — Agreed to let the City of Larkspur use several schools for its summer recration program.

APHASIC — Agreed to contract with the County Schools Office to house two aphasic classes at San Clemente School for $1,200 a year. The classes for children with severe speech and language problems, will be started this fall and will be limited to eight children in each class.

COMPLIMENT — Received a letter from parent John Flanagan praising both discipline and teaching, especially of reading, at the Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

Vetromile Gets Recreation Post

John P. Vetromile, of 127 Buchanan Drive, Sausalito, last night was elected chairman of ths Sausalito Recreation Commission to succeed Elinor Cruikshank, who resigned.

The commission elected its newly appointed member, Margaret Meeks, as secretary of the panel.

A special meeting of the commission was set for 8 p.m. Thursday in the city council chambers to discuss setting a date for bids on Princess Park and a location for a teen dance to be held in two weeks.

Plans For Two-Day Air Show Outlined

Plans for a two-day air fair on Aug. 16 and 17 at Gnoss Field north of Novato are being made by the Southern Marin and Novato Kiwanis clubs, according to Burt Freeman, chairman of the show.

The tentative plans call for static displays, an air show, sky diving, a World War II P-51, acrobatics and other demonstrations, Freeman said.

The Marin County Airport Commission has given its approval for the show. It will come before the board of supervisors Tuesday for its approval, he said.

Drug Peddling Bill To Reagan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation stiffening penalties for selling dangerous drugs was passed by the Senate today and sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The measure by Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, makes first offenders convicted of possessing the drugs for the purpose of selling them subject to a mandatory 2-to-10 year state prison term. Presently, the penalty is one to three years in prison or one year in the county jail — depending on the judge's wishes.

TOP MUSICIAN — Terra Linda High School senior Glenn Campbell of San Rafael, winner of the wind instrument category in the 1969 Pepsi-Cola Young Musician Competition, has received a $500 merchandise certificate from Sherman Clay and a $500 scholarship to the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

Three Marines Killed In War Are Honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon presented Medals of Honor today to the next-of-kin of three Marine enlisted men killed in Vietnam combat.

Two of the Marines were given the nation's highest award for heroism because they saved comrades by throwing themselves atop enemy grenades during separate combat actions in 1967.

They were Sgt. Paul H. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Foster of San Francisco, and Cpl. William T. Perkins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Perkins of Northridge, Calif.

Cpl. Larry E. Smedley was honored for leading a charge against an enemy machine gun. He is the son of Russell E. Smedley, of Albany, Ga., and Mrs. Mary E. Willis of Orlando, Fla. His father accepted the award.

The White House ceremony was private. No photographers or newsmen were admitted.

The Philippines number more than 7,000 islands.

ATTENTION GOURMETS

Lesson In Cooking Kindergarten Style

You'll learn, for instance, that the best thing for hamburgers is "ground pound." A lamb chop is done "when the buzzer rings." and fried eggs are ready for consumption "when they get fatter."

These secrets of fine cookery came from the kindergarten class of Helene McClish at Lark View Elementary School when she asked the youngsters to make up their own recipe book.

About those hamburgers. You go to the market, says Jamie Thomason, "and get one whole loaf of meat, ground pound. Then you pay for it and go home. Rip off the top of the meat, take a little piece and make it round like hamburgers. Put it in the pan and turn on the stove at two degrees hot . . . it will feed adults and kids, 5 to 20 people."

Eric Abrahamson had a further suggestion, hamburgerwise. They should, he said, be fried until "black." They may be warmed up, he said, by putting them in the oven "in a brown bag at three degrees."

Macaroni, anyone? "It doesn't have to be cooked," says Jerry Carroll. "It has to be cold."

Debra Logan, the egg expert, known in class as the eggspert, says the best way to fry em is: "Let them set for a while, about three minutes, until they get fatter. Then put them on a big plate, take them to the table and put salt and pepper on."

For ham sandwich fanciers, Natasha Pohle suggested: "Buy some ham at the store. Put it in a pan, get some salt and put some onion on it. Stir it. Put it in the refrigerator. Take it out and put some more onion on it and cook it. Put it on any kind of bread."

Billy Small knows all about french fries. "They are made of Frozen potatoes. Cook them in the oven at six degrees hot, til 8 o'clock."

Carla Coleman is a candy hearts fancier, with commercial instincts. "You get some spices and some salt. You get some speaking (sic) pink stuff and then you spread it on and put it in the refrigerator and let it frozen. Then put it on the stove and let it frozen out. Then give it to the store so people can buy it."

"Lamb chops," says Robert Muller, "cook for seven minutes. I'd put garlic on. That's for when it's done. It's done when the buzzer rings."

Professional Backed For Any Landscaping

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission last night unanimously passed a resolution requiring that any public landscaping done in the city be designed by a professional landscape architect.

Commissioner Donald K. Loomis, who sponsored the resolution, said it was offered "to avoid some of the hazards and pitfalls of long-term high maintenance and damage to streets and utilities caused by inappropriate landscaping."

He said the taxpayers are having to pick up the tab for such repairs and maintenance caused by "poor landscaping in the past that didn't seem to perform the requirements that land and existing conditions would dictate."

The commission also received a report on a proposed park on the Shapiro property from the Berridge, Becker and Julian landscape architectural firm of San Francisco. The report offered two recommendations on boundaries of the proposed neighborhood park, depending on road access location.

Loomis said action on the park should be taken either July 3 or 10.

Officials In Three Marin Cities Paid Above Averages

Novato city officials' salaries fall below the median for cities of 25,000 to 50,000 population — a class in which it barely qualifies — but are well above the median for 10,000-25,000 cities.

The comparison is made possible by an Urban Data Service publication of the International City Managers Association which analyzes the salaries of eight municipal positions in all U. S. cities above 10,000 population. The four cities mentioned are the only ones in Marin County exceeding 10,000.

Cities' pay in the west is well above the nationwide average, the study shows. For instance, median salary for city managers in 25,000-50,000 population cities nationwide is $18,500, while that for the same size cities in the west is $20,500.

San Rafael currently pays its city manager $21,500. Novato was paying J. Julien Baget $20,000 per year when he resigned early this year.

In 10,000 - 25,000 population cities, the national median for city managers is $15,000 but that in the west is $17,400. Bert Balmer was being paid $20,123 per year when he resigned the city managership of Mill Valley —which barely qualifies for the population range. San Anselmo has no city manager.

The eight positions surveyed were those of city manager, planning director, finance director, public works director, police chief, fire chief, parks and recreation director, and personnel officer. None of the cities in Marin has a personnel office as a separate position.

Median pay for planning director in western cities of 25,000-50,000 is $13,873, less than the $14,899 paid in San Rafael but more than the $13,060 paid in Novato. For 10,000-up cities the median is $12,348, well below the $15,828 paid by Mill Valley. San Anselmo has no planning director.

San Rafael and Novato pay their finance directors considerably less than the median for western cities of their class: $12,000 and $11,150, respectively, compared to a median of $14,268. Mill Valley's salary for this office of $13,992 is well above the $12,300 median for 10,000-25,000 cities.

San Anselmo's finance director, Alfred C. Kaeppel, doubles as city administrator, so his $17,004 salary is scarcely comparable.

Public works directors do very well in San Rafael and San Anselmo, but not so well in Novato and Mill Valley. Median for 25,000-50,000 western cities is $16,860. San Rafael pays $17,067; Novato, $14,796. Median for 10,000-25,000 cities is $14,600. San Anselmo pays $16,452; Mill Valley, $13,020. However, Charles R. Leitzell, San Anselmo's public works director, also has planning duties in the absence of a city planner.

Parks and recreation directors are paid below the medians in the two larger cities, but well above them in the smaller pair. San Rafael pays $12,461 and Novato $12,216 compared to a median for their size group of $12,504. Mill Valley pays $13,992 and San Anselmo $12,276 with the median for cities of their size (and up to 25,000) being $10,344.

The case of San Rafael's Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa serves to point up what inflation has been doing to city salaries.

The San Rafael police chief is elective. Therefore, salary is set before the start of each four-year term and cannot be raised during the term. When the San Rafael chief's salary was pegged at $10,800 in 1965, that was well above the median of $8,749 for all cities in the U. S. over 10,000 population. But in the meantime that median has gone up to $11,000, and the median for western cities in San Rafael's class has risen to $15,096 — nearly $3,000 above the $12,216 that Novato pays its police chief. The San Rafael chief's salary must remain at $10,800 until next year.

Meantime, Mill Valley pays its police chief $13,992 and San Anselmo pays $12,276, while the median for western cities in their class is exactly the same as the San Anselmo salary.

Salaries of most city officials have escalated more rapdily than those of professional, administrative and technical jobs as a whole, according to the International City Managers' Association report.

From 1966 to '69, median salaries of city planning directors rose by 26.2 per cent, of police chiefs by 25.7 per cent, of fire chiefs by 24.2 per cent, of finance directors by 23.8 per cent, of city managers by 21.5 per cent, but of public works directors by only 8.9 per cent and of parks-recreation directors by only 8.6 per cent.

The report lists figures on average salary increases in nine professional-administrative-technical categories drawn from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. For the three-year period ending with 1968, highest increase in this group was 16.6 per cent for job analysts, and lowest was 13.7 per cent for personnel directors.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Proper Training By Parents Can Avoid Many Bad Accidents

VAN DELLEN

Pre-schoolers have more to fear from automobiles than from pneumonia, diphtheria, smallpox, or influenza. Accidents kill twice as many youngsters of this age group as do germs.

Annually, accidental deaths claim thousands of boys and girls 1 to 4 years of age. One-third occur as a result of motor vehicles. Many tots are killed crossing busy streets or when darting from between parked cars.

TRAGEDIES SUCH AS THESE may be unavoidable. First, the youngster does not realize what he is doing and secondly, the driver does not have time to stop. But there would be fewer accidents if parents did not relax their rules or allow older siblings to keep an eye on little brother.

Driving with the child standing on the front seat or on the floor of the car with the face glued to the windshield is extremely hazardous. Suddenly putting on the brakes may result in a fatal head injury.

Fire claims almost as many lives as do auto casualties. Death by fire often occurs when youngsters have been left without adequate supervision. Hot liquids, steam, and ordinary fire are the usual culprits.

EVERY MOTHER KNOWS that the handles on pots and pans should be turned toward the center or back of the stove, yet toddlers are scalded every day. All children are inquisitive and fire and matches hold a strange fascination for them.

Third on the list is drowning, followed by poisoning, falls, firearms, machinery, and electricity. Boys and girls should be taught safety after their second birthday, and the first lesson includes setting a good example.

Keep floors clear of playthings by providing a toy chest. Insist also that after playing, each article is put back. Teach the youngsters how and where to cross streets. In addition, instruct older tykes in the safe use of matches, tools, and kitchen equipment.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

GAINS AFTER HYSTERECTOMY

G. N. writes: I would like to know if a woman who has had a hysterectomy can keep from gaining weight. I have constantly put on weight since the operation. Do you have any booklet on the subject?

REPLY

Yes, our leaflet on reducing will provide some helpful suggestions. The hysterectomy is a good excuse, but has nothing to do with gaining weight.

BABY NEEDS EYE DOCTOR

V. O. writes: Several days ago we inadvertently pointed a small flashlight into the eyes of our young son, who was lying in his crib. The reflection of one pupil was yellowish white. Does this mean anything?

REPLY

Yes, especially if the color stems from the light being reflected from a cloudy lens or tumor. Consult an ophthalmologist as soon as possible.

INHALING 'FAT'

Y. M. W writes: A friend of mine said if you work in a fish cannery smelling or inhaling hot oil, you will gain weight. Is this true?

REPLY

No one ever gained weight inhaling or smelling food of any kind.

CHARMED AWAY WARTS

W. S. writes: Do you think warts on a dog's mouth could be charmed away by psychology?

REPLY

Only if you have a talking dog.

Senate Refuses Divorce Measure

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate refused today to accept the Assembly version of a bill reforming California's divorce law, throwing the controversial issue into the hands of a two house conference committee.

The Senate insisted on requiring a judge to grant a divorce if both husband and wife agree the marriage can't be saved. The Assembly version gives the judge more latitude. He would grant the divorce when he believed the marriage was doomed.

And, the Senate required every county to set up conciliation services to try to save troubled marriages. Contending this would cost counties between $ million and $10 million a year the Assembly removed the provision.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

Groucho Swings A Mean Typewriter On Violence

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—When I took a typing course as a kid, I used to practice by copying an article by Groucho Marx just so I wouldn't go nuts from the drudgery of the finger exercises. Memories, therefore, came back when I ran across another article by Groucho in the latest issue of the Producers Guild Journal.

Groucho's piece starts like this:

"I don't know what the problems of today's kids are, I'm sure the older generation had problems too, but we didn't burn down the schoolhouses to remedy our complaints. I'm not much in sympathy with the kids. I sympathize with the parents. I happen to be one, and I think it's nonsense to blame the parents when kids take LSD. Kids today are detestable, and thank God mine are grown up.

"What you should do with kids is slug hell out of them when they're small. Explain to them what life is about, and if they don't obey give them the cat o' nine tails. I read a piece about Ruskin or maybe it was Racine, who had 10 kids, and every time he passed them he took a swing at them. And they named a town after him."

Well, anyway, Groucho swings a mean typewriter, and although I don't know exactly what he was doing in the journal's issue on television violence, he wrote the best piece there. Actually, more to the subject was an article by George Edwards, chief judge of the United States Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit. Edwards, formerly on the Supreme Court of Michigan, made his remarks, adapted into the article at a discussion held by the Television Academy in Beverly Hills.

"I spent a term," he said, "as a judge of the Juvenile Court for four years in the city where I live, Detroit, and I never managed to get around to thinking, from what I saw of Juvenile Court, that television, movies or the pulp magazines were producers of juvenile delinquency in any direct or casually related sense."

Touching on violence in the context of news broadcasts, Edwards said: "I do not think television creates violence in our society, or rather I do not think it originated violence in our society. The human race has had a capacity for violence since the dawn of recorded history. There is nothing to indicate that we are necessarily to subside into peaceful quietude.

". . . But it is also true that news can be made by emphasis, and that the cheapest thing to package in the way of news is violence, and the more difficult things to package in the way of news are the things which are not violent."

Desertions Near 50,000 So Far

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says it expects 50,000 soldiers will have deserted by the end of the current fiscal year, an increase of nearly 30 per cent over 1968.

In testimony released today, Lt. Gen. A. O. Conner, Army deputy chief of staff for personnel, told the House defense appropriations subcommittee, the jump in the number of soldiers going over the hill is the result of:

"Getting more kooks into the Army, for one thing. We are getting more young men who are coming in undisciplined, the product of a society that trains them to resist authority."

The subcommittee also released testimony from Vice Adm. G. M. Davis, chief of Navy medicine, that 2,372 sailors were discharged for drug abuse in 1968—a three-fold climb over 1967.

Soldier Injured On Tomales Road

A Petaluma soldier was injured at 2:15 a.m. today in a one car accident on Tomales Road, near Petaluma-Valley Ford Road, west of Petaluma.

Sgt. James C. Smith, 26, of Two Rock Ranch Army Station, was treated at the post dispensary for facial cuts. The California Highway Patrol said Smith's car struck a fence and tree.

Those Classrooms Are Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The city art commission approved 7-1 yesterday a Board of Education recommendation to buy 81 portable classrooms that will house about 2,000 students this fall.

The prefabricated units will be built by the Speed Space Corp. of Santa Rosa for a little over $1 million.

Ernest Born, chairman of the commission's civic design committee, called the units "second-class shacks," but said:

"We are consenting to the approval of the design only because it appears, at this late date, to be the sole means by which the . . . critical shortage of classrooms can still be met by September."

Psychiatrist Is Arraigned

Lowry was told to appear in court July 7 to enter a plea to the charge. Lowry, head of the psychiatric unit at Ross General Hospital, was not booked at Marin County Jail but appeared in court with his attorney, Frances L. Hancock of San Francisco.

Mrs. Lowry's complaint charged Lowry attacked her during an argument over some camping equipment at her home. Lowry filed for divorce in February, 1968, then asked for an annulment. Mrs. Lowry filed a cross-complaint for divorce last August.

Baseball, Gambling Casinos Just Don't Mix

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced today that high officials of the Atlanta Braves and the owner of the Oakland Athletics are ending their financial ties with Las Vegas gambling casinos.

In a prepared statement, Kuhn announced that William Bartholomay and John J. Louis Jr., directors and stockholders of the Braves, and Charles O. Finley, president of the Athletics, had advised him of their intention to sever their relationships with Parvin-Dohrmann Co.

Kuhn said Parvin-Dohrmann was a restaurant and hotel supply company whose shares are publicly traded on the American Stock Exchange and operates the Fremont, Stardust and Aladdin hotels in Las Vegas, Nev.

The commissioner also said Delbert Coleman, a director of the Braves and chairman and chief executive of Parvin-Dohrmann, will resign from the board of the Braves.

Bartholomay and Louis will terminate their relationships as directors and shareholders in Parvin-Dohrmann. Finley will sell his stock in the company.

Kuhn emphasized that the actions were volunteered over one month ago and there was no question of "wrong doing or impropriety."

Kuhn's announcement made no mention of the stock Finley has said he holds in Del E. Webb Corp., which owns two other Las Vegas casinos, the Sahara and the Mint.

Kuhn's statement was issued while pro football also is entangled in a controversy over commissioner Pete Rozell's demand that New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath sell a bar allegedly used by gamblers. Namath vowed to retire from football.

Baseball traditionally has frowned on any ties with gambling since a World Series scandal in 1919.

Bartholomay and Louis own only a relatively small 2,000 shares each. Finley bought 30,000 shares valued at $2.7 million in April. Coleman controls 207,000 shares.

Kuhn began his probe of the baseball involvement after The Associated Press made public the stock ties of the Braves and Athletics owners a month ago.

A source in the SEC, which has been investigating Parvin-Dohrmann, said the Namath controversy "put the heat on baseball."

"They really couldn't take a weaker position," he said. "Joe's restaurant was just being used as a bookie joint where these were in a business openly involved in gambling."

Coleman led a $10 million takeover of Parvin-Dohrmann last fall and chose Bartholomay and Louis to join him on the board of directors. Each man is also listed in Braves' papers as a director and owner of 46,000 certificates in the Atlanta Braves Baseball Club, Inc.

Kuhn's move is one of the strongest taken since Commissioner Kenesaw Landis banned for life eight Chicago White Sox players accused in the 1919 scandal, even though they were found innocent in court. Landis also forced two New York club officials to sell their interest in a Havana race track.

Formula Cars Roar At Sears Point

Sports

FOURTH SECTION 39
Friday, June 20, 1969

Two days of formula car racing at Sears Point International Raceway kicks off tomorrow with the B/C class, followed Sunday by the Formula A open-wheelers.

Thirty-five fastest qualifiers of Formula B/C tomorrow will be racing in a 40-lap, 100.9-mile championship race which headlines the first day's action. Sunday the Formula A cars, up to 35 qualifiers, go 49 laps or 123.6 miles. The Saturday race begins at 2:30 p.m., the Sunday go at 2:15.

OREGONIAN LEADS

Mike Eyerly of Salem, Ore., will be going for his third Formula B victory of the season in tomorrow's race on the southern Sonoma County raceway. No. 2 man on the Formula B/C trail is Jon Milledge of Berkeley and Ed Leslie of Monterey is No. 3.

Dick Smothers of television fame is also among the early entrants for tomorrow's race.

Providing the "local" flavor to the race will be two Marin County drivers, Tony Settember of Mill Valley and Dan Feagin of San Rafael.

The major difference in Formula A and B/C racers is that the "A" cars have bigger engines and attain higher speeds. All Formula cars are single-seaters, similar to Indianapolis type racing cars.

CONTINENTAL 49ER

Sam Posey of Sharon, Conn., is leading the series for Formula A drivers going into Sunday's "Continental 49er" race. Four points behind Posey is George Wintersteen of Villanova, Pa., followed by John Cannon of Pasadena and Dick Simons of Salt Lake City.

Eyerly will be driving a Brabham Ford in tomorrow's race, and indications from early entrants are that Ford will dominate in numbers, if not in winnings.

Tomorrow's schedule opens at 8:45 a.m. with regional practicing followed by 9:30 qualifying heats for Formula B/C. Sunday's practice begins at 9 a.m. with a pair of regional races on the schedule.

Ticket prices are $3 tomorrow and $6 Sunday, or $7.50 for the entire weekend. Children 12 or under free when with an adult. Paddock passes available in spectator areas at $5 each.

The raceway entrance is lo-

JIM GILMARTIN

Dolinsek Third Marin Star In NCAA 'Series'

JIM SHORTS:

Outfielder John Dolinsek of Novato, whose heavy bat has helped the Arizona State Sun Devils into tonight's finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's baseball tournament, in Omaha, Neb. against Tulsa, is the third Marinite to play in the collegiate World Series.

Others were John Boccabella of San Anselmo, now with the Montreal Expos, for Santa Clara, and pitcher Bill Lee of Terra Linda, now in the Boston Red Sox farm system at Pittsfield, Mass., for University of Southern California.

Co-Coach In Auto Accident

With only four days to coordinate his 16-man squad, Endriss' task has been compounded by the fact his co-coach, Jim Keating of St. Ignatius (S.F.), was shaken up in an auto accident earlier this week and has been unable to spend full time on his assignment.

Thus, Endriss has shouldered much of the chores, but it's okay because Big Al has big shoulders.

The San Rafael Chamber of Commerce should give Endriss a pat on the head, incidentally. While his team has worked out all week in San Francisco, Endriss brought his All-Stars to San Rafael's Albert Field this afternoon for a final practice. "The weather in San Francisco has been so lousy," said the coach, "that I wanted one good final workout in San Rafael's good weather."

Early Finish At Sears Race

SEARS POINT Raceway officials have scheduled an earlier than usual 3:45 p.m. finish for Sunday's Continental 49er sports car race in hopes of easing traffic congestion.

That early finish should enable most of the raceway patrons to get out on the homeward-bound highways before the bulk of the usual heavy Sunday traffic.

By the by, the Sports Car Club of America provides more action than did the recent National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing event at the Sears raceway.

More Action This Weekend

While the NASCARs spent much of the weekend qualifying cars one (ho-hum) at a time, this weekend's SCCA event features action-packed qualifying races so you can expect to get your money's worth. Sunday's 123.6-mile main event will start at 2:15 p.m. and not 1:15 as itemed here the other day.

BOXING BUFFS who would like to see the closed-circuit telecast of Monday's Joe Frazier-Jerry Quarry heavyweight title quarrel can purchase tickets to the Richmond Auditorium screening at the Carmel Barbar Shop, 828 B Street, San Rafael. The pasteboards are priced at $4, $5 and $6 a clip.

UPSET QUEEN — Sharon Walsh, 17, of San Rafael, who has scored a number of upsets already this year, did it again yesterday at Berkeley in the 80th Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Championships, eliminating top-seeded and seventh nationally-ranked Patty Ann Reese of St. Petersburg, Fla., 6-1, 4-6, 6-2 in girls 18 and under singles quarterfinals. Bee Kilgore of Tiburon also registered an upset with a win over Susan Craft of Tulsa, Okla., the number three seed in 14 and under age group.

Major Upset In Mill Valley Net Tourney

Only one major upset rippled the ranks of the top seeds in the second day of singles competition in the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association's national men's age 35 hardcourt tennis championships at Mill Valley Tennis Club yesterday.

That came when unseeded Jacque Grigry of Santa Cruz knocked off seventh-seeded Don Jacobus of Berkeley in straight sets, 6-2, 10-8.

The rest of the seeds advanced as expected.

The results:

Third Round — Clif Mayne d. Sandy Walker, 6-3, 6-2; Bob Bacon d. Enver Mehmedbasich, 6-3, 6-4; Jack Darrah d. Dick Moody, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2; Jerry De Witts d. Robert McIvor, 6-1, 6-1; Don Gale d. Richard Mechem, 6-0, 6-0; King Van Nostrand d. Fred Rogers, 6-1, 6-2; Jacque Grigry d. Don Jacobus, 6-2, 10-8; Kauder d. Terry Cooke, 6-4, 6-3.

Doubles

Second Round — Gale-Van Nostrand d. Jensen-Kimble, default; Moody-Bacon d. R. Mechem-K. Mechem, 4-6, 2-6, 6-2; Woolfson-Roche d. Darrah-Peterson, 8-6, 6-3; Mayne-Ditzler d. Gerdsen-Wee, 6-2, 6-2; Kauder-DeWitts d. Cooke-Kunz, 6-1, 6-4; Scott-Lowell d. Atherton-Walker, 6-8, 6-0, 6-4; Hambruch-Bacon d. Morehouse-Hoogs, 6-3, 6-2.

2 Marin All-Stars In Lineup

Left-hander Russ Dillon of Novato High will be the starting pitcher and Rick Denning of Marin Catholic will be the third baseman tomorrow when the North meets the South in the first California High School All-Star baseball classic at Candlestick Park, San Francisco, 1 p.m.

North co-coach Al Endriss of Redwood High School in Larkspur announced his starting lineup this morning, listing Denning, three-time All-Marin County Athletic League selection, seventh in the batting order.

He also gave the nod to Dillon as the starting hurler over righthanders Mike Rusk of Gunn High, Los Altos Hills, and Chris Sorensen of Santa Cruz. Said Endriss: "Dillon and Rusk have been particularly sharp all week and both will see action. After I remove Dillon from the mound I'll put him in the outfield because he's also one of our best outfielders and we can use his hitting."

UNDEFEATED

The pitcher Dillon was undefeated in MCAL play this year and posted a season win-lost record of 13-1; the hitter Dillon batted .300 plus. He has been drafted by the Atlanta Braves.

The game will feature several high draft choices, including the nation's number one pick, outfielder Jeff Burroughs of Long Beach, prize selection of the Washington Senators, for the South, and the Detroit Tigers' number one draftee, first baseman Len Baxley of Redding, for the North.

Endriss described the North as more of an offensive than defensive threat. "What we may lack in defense we hope to make up with the long ball," he said.

In a practice game this week against a pickup team of junior college stars, the North preps romped to a 9-1 victory featuring the hitting of shortstop Jim Winters of St. Francis High, Mountain View, Baxley and Gary Sacckes of Sacramento's Mira Loma High.

BATTING ORDER

Endriss said Vallejo High's Elgin Williams will lead off in the batting order and play center field, followed by second baseman Hank Garcia of Sacramento, Winters, Baxley, Sacckes, catcher Emory Mitchell of Sacramento, Denning, right fielder Frank Cardiel of San Francisco's Balboa and Dillon.

The game is sponsored by the California Police Activities League for the benefit of its Joe DiMaggio League program. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Marin Golfer Turns Back Pages In Cal Tournament

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Mat Palacio Jr. of San Rafael will be turning the pages of history back 33 years next week in the California State Amateur Golf Championships.

That's when Mat became the youngest golfer to ever win the state amateur championship at 20. The year was 1936.

Now he's a chipper 53 and he's among the entrants for the 58th annual tournament at Pebble Beach and Cypress Point golf courses. Qualifying rounds are next Monday and Tuesday, with the top 64, advancing to the match play finals.

Palacio, auto salesman at Nelson Buick in San Francisco the past 15 years, won his first big tournament in 1932, the California State Junior Championships, defeating Bob Roos Jr., and then went on to win the National High School Championships that year.

S.F. NATIVE

A native of San Francisco, Palacio and his family came to San Rafael when he was a tike of 5. He has lived here ever since, with the exception of a few years in the mid 1940s when he was a captain in the Army, stationed in the midwest.

Matias Donisho Palacio Sr., Mat's father, got him going in golf in his early teens and was his most ardent backer. The elder Palacio, 85, is now residing in a Santa Venetia convalescent home.

MAN OF GOLF — Mat Palacio Jr. of San Rafael, winner of the California State Amateur golf title in 1936, will be competing in his 24th state amateur next week.

(Independent-Journal photo)

"He put up a net in our front yard," said Mat, "and I used to hit balls in that net all day. I loved the game even then," he said, adding that he spent about five to six hours per day hitting golf balls. "Sometimes I would just hit balls out in the cowfields and my father would shag them for me. He's still quite a guy," he said.

He played in the Oakland Open in 1939 with Sam Snead, and still looks back to that time with fond memories.

"There will never be another swing like that in golf," says Palacio about the famed golfer whose swing has been described as "sweet syrup."

"I've patterned my game after Snead's," says Mat. "He's my hero. My teacher was Henry Espenosa of Portola Driving Range in San Francisco and he teaches the Snead method, 'Swing the Clubhead.'"

Blessed with a fine sense of humor, Palacio is quick to flash a smile, and he had a wide one when he recalled how former football coach Paul Miller of San Rafael High helped his golf career, by kicking him off the team.

"He (Miller) sent me in for one play and then brought me out. He told me to stick to golf."

MANY HONORS

It will be the 24th state amateur tourney for Palacio, who was runner-up the year after he won the title. He won the Northern California Championship in 1938; runner-up to Bud Ward in finals of the Pacific Northwest

No Rest For Giant Pitchers

ATLANTA (AP) — There'll be no rest for the shell-shocked San Francisco Giants' pitching staff when it opens a four-game series with the powerful Braves tonight.

The Giants start left-hander Mike McCormick, 4-3, against Ron Reed, 6-5. Juan Marichal, 8 - 2, duels Phil Niekro, 11-4, tomorrow, and a doubleheader concludes the series Sunday.

27 RUNS

Giants' pitching, particularly the relief, was blasted for 27 runs and 47 hits by the sizzling Cincinnati Reds in a four-game series at Candlestick Park—and that's not including Marichal's five-hit shutout Tuesday.

Cincinnati pounded 16 hits in and 8-7 victory yesterday, winning its third game of the series and making prophets of the Reds' Pete Rose and the Giants' Willie McCovey in the free - swinging contest.

Following the Reds' 11-2 romp Wednesday, Rose explained

A's To Host Twins In Key 3-Game Set

OAKLAND (UPI) — The most talked about player in the major leagues leads his team, the Oakland Athletics, against the Minnesota Twins in the opener of a crucial three-game series starting tonight, 7:30, at the Oakland Coliseum.

Sturdy Reggie Jackson, who has clubbed 26 home runs to top all hitters in that department, is the man of the hour. During their last road trip, the A's wound up with a 9-3 mark and Jackson was instrumental in almost all of the victories.

He ripped nine homers in the first of the month — and has driven in 25 runs.

The two-out-of-three winner of the series will carry with it a one-game advantage in the American League West. Oakland currently holds a .002 edge (.559 to .557) over the Twins on the strength of its 36-26 record against Minnesota's 34-27.

After the Minnesota set, the A's will host Kansas City, Chicago and Seattle before embarking on another road swing.

Pennant For Pilots? Anything Can Happen

OAKLAND — Break up the Seattle Pilots!

Or, better yet, if you have a few bob idling in the sugar bowl, take it and flee to Reno, Tahoe or Vegas and see if the books are still willing to lay 200-1 against Seattle's chances of playing in the World Series this year.

In this perplexing, and often preposterous, baseball season, it would be unwise to bet against ANYTHING happening. Looking back to spring training, it's quite possible that Seattle manager Joe Schultz truly was sincere when he predicted the Pilots would — or at least could — win the American League's Western Division crown.

MINNESOTA AND the A's are certainly waiting for the Pilots, or anybody for that matter, to run away with the division title. Quite possibly, nobody will win it. The American League simply may proclaim its Eastern Division champion as the league's World Series representative and forget about a playoff. Considering the excellence of Baltimore, that might be the humane thing to do.

In a normal, one-division race, the A's would be hanging around the fourth or fifth spot. That's the only status their current record merits. A year ago at this time they were hanging around fifth and the .500 mark. But with the divisional arrangement, they're playing at a not much better pace and within reach of some sort of title.

THE TWINS don't want to wait for them, and actually shouldn't be considering Minny's hitting about 20 points higher than the A's. Yet the Minny hurling has been slim for a couple of weeks what with Dean Chance hurt and Jim Kaat unexplainedly mediocre. So wait they will.

The A's have been nice enough not to pull away either. For a month they did without a starter (Jim Nash), for three weeks without adequate relief pitching, for six weeks without help from their leadoff man (Bert Campaneris).

SINCE MID-MAY the Twins and A's have taken turns folding. Minny was hitting when Oakland wasn't. Then when Campy and Reggie Jackson blazed at the plate during this last road trip, the Twin bullpen collapsed. Chance was healthy when Nash wasn't. Then when Dean ailed, Jumbo Jim improved. Meanwhile, the only constant for the contenders was a catching problem.

And all this time — unbelievable — Seattle was playing around .500 too and moving into, you should excuse the expression, contention. Mike Hegan and Tommy Harper are doing all of their hitting, and Diego Segui (now in relief) their only decent pitching. But keep in mind that the Pilots have personnel with Pennant Pressure grace: ex-Yankee Jim Bouton, ex-Tiger Ray Oyler (who may do the impossible and hit over .200 this season), ex-Twin Rich Rollins, ex-Oriole Gene Brabender.

NONE, individually, is making a significant contribution to this thrilling Pilot pennant drive. But collectively they are contributing a winning attitude to Joe Schultz's Pollyanna-ish plans. When the Pilots play, they often perform so poorly that the foe is reduced to the same, stumbling level. And almost half the time, Seattle wins these monuments to athletic mediocrity.

IF THE Red Sox pennant of 1967 was an Impossible Dream, and I guess it was, a Pilot flag in '69 would be tantamount to an Impossible Nightmare. Don't bet it can't happen.

Remember: He also serves who stands and waits.

MARIN BOWLING NOTES

Kegler Goes 100 Pins Over Average With 234 Game

Daulat Rai had quite a night of it in the Lucky Strikes League at Country Club Bowl, going exactly 100 pins over his average with a 234 line.

Kathy Doner, 10-year-old kegler, rolled games of 188-171-136 for a 495 in Adult-Junior League action at Country Club.

Other big junior scores came from Keith Ray, 212-543, Rich McPherson, 214-556 and Nancy McPherson, 193, all in the Greenbrae Lanes Adult-Junior League, and Alex Shaw, 217-583 in the Monday Junior Doubles at Greenbrae.

High scores at Nave Lanes this week came from George Scherba, 244, Paulette Kirschbaun, 214-572, and Anne Gildersleeve, 569. Jean Tikotsky rolled a 532 line in the Keglerettes League at Country Club, thanks to the help of that 4-6-7 conversion.

Kathy Parrish and Jim Parrish really believe in togetherness, each converting a 6-7-10 split during play in the Alibi Mixed at Country Club. Ken Moran picked up a 4-7-9-10 leave in the Hi-Lo's at Country Club.

On the tournament trail, Nave Lanes is holding a "Strikeout for Babe Ruth" No-Tap tournament for men and women July 19-20 and 26-27. Cost is $6 per couple, with proceeds going to the Babe Ruth League of Novato.

For juniors, Castle Lanes of San Francisco is holding its Pacific Coast Junior Scratch Invitationals July 3-4-5-6, touted as the largest scratch tournament in the country.

He Must Really Love Softball

Gene Hiller of Greenbrae must be crazy about softball.

Hiller was a busy man in the San Rafael Recreation Department's Adult Softball League yesterday, winning a pair of games while pitching in two different divisions.

He hurled a three-hitter to give Cliff's Chevron a 72- win give Cliff's Chevron a 7-2 win play, then came back to hurl his own Hiller's Men's Wear team to a 5-2 victory over the Refectory on a four-hitter in C-II division play.

Mrs. Wieland Wins Tourney

Mrs. William Wieland scored 39 points to win the Marin Country Club's women's point-par golf tournament yesterday at the Novato course.

Nixon Watches McNally's Gem

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

McNally pitched a two-hitter last night to gain his 10th victory without a defeat as the Baltimore Orioles downed the Washington Senators, 2-0, before a crowd which included President Nixon.

The President, who last week watched Oakland's Reggie Jackson put on a slugging display, arrived at the game in the eighth inning as Don Buford, who doubled and took third on a bunt single, scored the Orioles' first run as Frank Robinson hit into a double play.

McNally, who allowed only singles to Tim Cullen and Paul Casanova, walked one and struck out five in winning his 12th consecutive game over a two-year span. But despite his sizzling start this season, McNally refused to consider the prospect of a 30-victory season.

NOT ENOUGH STARTS

"Oh, no," said McNally emphatically. "I'm not even thinking about 30. With the pitching staff we have, I won't even get enough starts to win 30."

Elsewhere, Minnesota ripped California, 8-1, Chicago outlasted Seattle, 13-10, Boston blanked Cleveland, 3-0, and New York downed Detroit, 5-3, in the only other games scheduled.

Ray Culp pitched a two-hitter for his 10th victory of the season and Carl Yastrzemski snapped out of a mild batting slump with a two-run homer to lead the Red Sox over the Indians.

Culp, now 10-4, struck out eight batters to tie the Indians' Sam McDowell for the league lead in strikeouts with 104. He did not allow a Cleveland runner to reach second base.

The Yankees scored three unearned runs in the second inning on pitcher Earl Wilson's three-base throwing error en route to their victory over the Tigers.

SCORE TIED 1-1

The score was tied at 1-1 in the second when Gene Michael and Jake Gibbs singled and moved up on a sacrifice. Wilson walked Horace Clarke to fill the bases before throwing Jerry Kenney's high bouncer into right field, allowing all three runners to score.

Rod Carew drove in two runs with a single and a double to raise his league-leading batting average to .374 and lead the Twins over the Angels. Rookie Dick Woodson pitched a three-hitter to boost his record to 4-2.

Bob Allison drove in three runs and Carew two as the Twins scored five unearned runs off the Angels, who committed four errors.

Wind Is On Archer's Side In Kemper Open

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Gangling George Archer ambled in with an early 67, felt a freshening breeze in his face and shoulted, "Blow, you beauty, blow.

"It's a terrible bad break for those guys who have to play in the afternoon," he said, a big grin stretching across his face. "Blow, baby, blow."

It did, but not enough to keep big George alone at the top in the first round of the $150,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament yesterday.

NEW PUTTER

Paunchy Phil Rodgers, a non-winner since 1966 who was using a new putter and a new putting style, survived the gusty winds and matched Archer's five-under-par effort for a share of the lead going into today's second round on the 7,205 yard, par 72 Quail Hollow Country Club course.

But their lead was far from secure, with 47 players locked within four strokes of each other. In fact, almost half the field of 144—70—matched or bettered par on the long layout.

The closest are New Zealand lefty Bob Charles, forer Masters champ Bob Goalby, Jim Colbert and Bob McCallister. All but McCallister played before the winds sent scores up.

FAR BACK

Arnold Palmer didn't make a birdie, en route to a 73, far, far back in the field. U.S. Open champ Orville Moody had a 72, also well back.

The group at 69 was made up of Bruce Devlin, Doug Sanders, Tom Weiskopf, Mason Rudolph, Dale Douglass and Bob Payne.

Among the 17 players at 70 were Lee Trevino, South African Gary Player and a trio of veterans—Sam Snead, Tommy Bolt and Lionel Hebert.

Arizona St. Reaches NCAA Finals

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The Arizona State Sun Devils and the Tulsa Golden Hurricane are to meet tonight to fight for the biggest prize in collegiate baseball — the College World Series title.

The card for the final match was completed last night when a scrappy Arizona State club — not a stranger to the annual event — scored a decisive 4-1 win over New York University to gain a berth.

The Sun Devils have already defeated Tulsa in the double-elimination tournament, topping the Oklahomans 11-3 in fourth round action.

A win for Arizona would mean the third time the Sun Devils had won the classic. Arizona State teams bested all competition both in 1965 and 1967.

Big righthander Lerrin Lagrow led Arizona in downing NYU, smashing three hits and pitching five-hit ball. One of his singles knocked in two runs in the sixth. A sacrifice bunt by Lagrow in the eighth set up another score.

The Violets from NYU had scored first in the sixth.

But then the Sun Devils came back with a big three-run bottom half on the inning, including Lagrow's two-run smash.

Rams Get QB Karl Sweetan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams have added a third quarterback to their National Football League roster — Karl Sweetan of the New Orleans Saints. In exchange, New Orleans later will get two college draft choices.

Sweetan, 26, will contest his former Detroit teammate, Milt Plum, for the No. 2 quarterback role behind Los Angeles starter Roman Gabriel.

Sweetan, 6-1 and 205 pounds from Wake Forest, has been in the NFL since 1966. He was a starter for the Lions in 1966 and was traded to the Saints last year. He was Bill Kilmer's backup for New Orleans.

Shamsky Proving Worth To Mets

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Art Shamsky, whose insistence that he didn't belong in the minor leagues fell on deaf ears among the New York Mets early in the season, has quite a listening audience now that he is proving he belongs in the majors.

Since his return from the minors Shamsky has spoken eloquently and persuasively with his bat, hitting .351 with nine runs batted in and three homers in 21 games.

FOUR HITS

He made a big impression on Philadelphia, too, last night by cracking two singles and two homers as the Mets edged the Phillies 6-5.

He kept the Mets in the game by driving in three runs and scoring three until Ken Boswell was able to slam a two-out, two-run single in the ninth inning for the victory.

But Shamsky wasn't the only four-hit man of the day as Lou Brock's fourth hit, a homer, broke a tie and sent St. Louis to a 5-3 victory over Montreal and Lee May had four hits for Cincinnati before Tommy Helms' double in the ninth gave the Reds an 8-7 triumph over San Francisco.

Don Wilson and the Houston Astros beat San Diego 4-2 in the only other game.

Shamsky was one of the lesser known names who threatened to retire this season when the Mets decided to ship him to their Tidewater farm club at the beginning of the season after a bad back hampered his spring training.

BALKED

The 27-year-old left-handed swinger, who never hit more than .260 in four major league seasons as a part-time player, balked at the demotion, but like the rest of the retirees, he changed his mind. And after proving himself at Tidewater, the Mets sent for him and he has made certain he stays.

Marin Lakes Restocked; Sierra Waters Opening

Phoenix and Launitas lakes were restocked this week with catchable-sized trout. Rodeo Lagoon was stocked last week. Some of the trout will begin to show up with small parasites on their gills and in the flesh. These parasites become problems to trout through the warm summer months. As they attack only cold blooded creatures, they cause no problems to man, except for being unappetizing.

With the Sierras opening up to new lakes each week as the snows melt, it would be worthwhile to try some of the higher elevation lakes. It's like opening the season each week. And don't forget that Lake Tahoe is good for Mackinaws, rainbows and kokanee right now!

FLASH. I just got word that Davis Lake is still going good. Pete Testa, one of the old sportsmen of Marin, took himself and his three grandsons to Davis Lake in Plumas County. They took a boat along, and the three boys, Andy, 6 years, Matt, 7, and Cary, 9, all had a ball. Using fireball eggs and light leaders and small hooks, they all limited out, bringing home 30 beautiful fat, red-meated trout. They tell me that Andy, the six-year-old, took all the prizes for first fish, biggest and the most.

STRIPED BASS fishing will steadily improve. This week I checked stripers at Lime Point, the Richmond Bridge, The Brothers and up on the flats off China Camp and Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia. I also checked some good sized sturgeon at the flats and pumphouse areas. Don't forget to look for those tagged fish. Some of the fish (3,000 of them) have $10, $5 and $2 bonus tags attached.

SALMON FISHING continues to be good off the party boats out of Sausalito. Even with the new three fish limit, most of the boats seem to limit out unless the winds are bad. The fish are beginning to show better sizes, too. A fish that weighed six pounds in February should hit the scales now at about 10 pounds. Call the Sausalito Boat and Tackle or Caruso's at Sausalito for latest information. If you like rockfishing, they will set up a trip for you.

I RECEIVED some information for deer hunts at Fort Ord, Hunter Leggett Military Reservation and Camp Roberts. Here it is:

Army authorities at Fort Ord, Hunter Leggett Military Reservation and Camp Roberts this week said deer hunting again will be permitted on the reservations this year.

The following rules have been announced for each of the three military bases:

FORT ORD — Hunters will be admitted to the base on a first-come, first-serve basis and hunting will be limited to the weekends. Shotguns with slugs are the only weapons that may be used. Only 50 hunters will be permitted on the base each day.

HUNTER LEGGETT Military Reservation — Hunters will be admitted to the base only if they have advance reservations.

Reservations may be applied for through July 14. Applications must be made on a postcard, carrying the name, address and age of each hunter. Up to four persons may apply on a single card. Cards should be mailed to the Wildlife Conservation Office, Post Engineer, Hunter Leggett Military Reservation, Jolon, California 93928.

Hunting will be limited to the weekends.

Two hundred and fifty hunters will be admitted to the base each weekend, and persons receiving permits will be entitled to hunt both Saturday and Sunday.

Persons whose names are drawn will be notified by mail.

CAMP ROBERTS — Hunting will be limited to weekends only. Interested persons should request reservations by writing the Wildlife Conservation Office, Post Engineer, Camp Roberts, California 93446.

These persons should specify the dates on which they want to hunt. There is no cutoff date for requesting reservations at Camp Roberts. Twenty-six hunters will be admitted to the base each weekend.

The Department of Fish and Game reminds hunters that the three military bases are in the area of the coastal deer season which opens Aug. 2 and runs through Sept. 21.

Persons hunting deer on military reservations must have valid state hunting licenses and deer tags.

Palacio A Social Golfer With A Long Victory List

Championship in 1941; winner of the Broadmoor Invitational at Colorado Springs in 1943 and 1945; winner of the Beatrice Open in Beatrice, Neb., in 1946, and champ of the Kansas State Championship in 1949.

Closer to home, he has formerly held club champion titles at the old Marin Country Club in San Rafael, San Francisco's Olympic Club, and Sonoma Golf Club, where he's the defending champ, winning the Sonoma title the past three years.

Now a four-handicapper, Palacio divides his golfing time between Sonoma National Golf Club, where he is six-time champion, and Marin Country Club of Novato.

He had to take some time out from golf about two years ago when his dog accidentally bit his left hand. But three months later he was back on the course, although he had to wear a padded glove for protection.

"The last two or three months I have been playing a lot of golf," said Palacio, who has been getting out twice a week for a round with friends. "I'm a social golfer. I play for the fun of it."

Palacio, who plays with the same driver he used in the 1936 state championships, can still put the ball 250 yards down the fairway. "I just keep shellacking the club face to keep it hard," he says of his ancient driver.

Palacio had an offer to turn professional in 1945 from Pollard Simmonds, the financial backer of Ben Hogan. "I didn't want that gypsy life, I was near-sighted and had trouble with new courses, and the purses were just not big enough then," he said in explaining the reasons for not turning pro.

Palacio and his wife Aleta live at 100 Garden Avenue. Both were proud last March when Mat was elected to the Athletic Hall of Fame at his alma mater, University of San Francisco.

In other games, the Cardinals, behind Gordon Glasgow's 14 points, whipped Pier 15, 56-38, and the Buccaneers downed Lincoln, 51-40, as Larry Smith scored 15 points for the winners.

San Rafael '9' In Do-Or-Die Tourney Tilt

It's do-or-die for the San Rafael Braves tomorrow when they take on Shivers and Marie baseballers from Oakland in the regional playoffs for the State Semi-Pro Baseball Championships.

The game will be played at Albert Field, San Rafael, 1 p.m.

Winner of tomorrow's game remains alive in the tourney, but for the loser it will be all over. Both teams have 3-1 win-loss records in the double elimination tourney.

The Braves have split a pair of games with Shivers and Marie, losing 5-0 in a practice game and winning 7-5 last Saturday in an 11-inning tournament game.

ON TO ALAMEDA

If the Braves, batting .386 as a team, can get past the visitors tomorrow, it's on to Alameda's Washington Park Sunday for a 1 p.m. game against Santa Rosa, a team the San Rafael nine has already beaten once in the tourney, 14-3.

Either Ben Burch or Bill Clark is scheduled to pitch for the Braves tomorrow.

Paul Lee, who just joined the team last week, is leading the San Rafael batters with a perfect 5-for-5 for 1.000. BOWLING TIPS

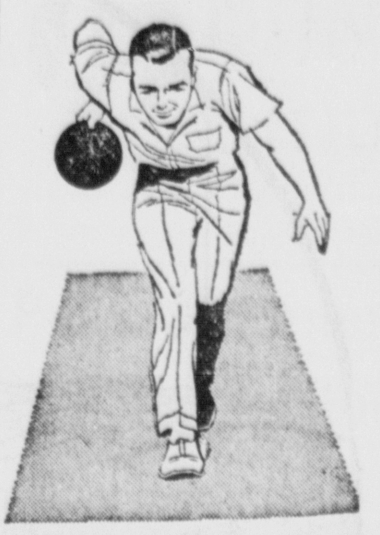
By DON CARTER



Deliver your strike ball and spare ball in exactly the same manner. The key to good bowling is to develop an easy rhythm to your delivery and this will be much more difficult to achieve if you deliberately throw differently at spares and at strikes.

GIANTS

Cincy's success: "We've been having pitching problems so if the other team scores seven runs, we've got to go out and score eight."

CORRECT

McCovey, facing a four-man outfield shift throughout the series, pointed out: "no shift will work if I knock the ball out of the park, unless they stack the outfielders on top of each other."

Both players were correct yesterday — Rose predicting the exact outcome as Tommy Helms' ninth-inning double snapped a 7-7 tie, and McCovey blasting a two-run homer against the shift to give the Giants a 6-3 lead after seven innings.

PERRY BETRAYED

Right-hander Gaylord Perry, gunning for his 10th victory, was betrayed in the eighth when third baseman Jim Davenport bobbled Tony Perez' grounder with one out.

Darrell Chaney walked, and pinch - batter Fred Whitfield cracked a run-scoring single to right. Chaney was tagged out going to third on the play, but Rose singled and Bob Tolan tagged a three-run homer for a 7-6 lead.

EYES NINE-SECOND BARRIER

Carlos Sets High Goal In NCAA

But before that day comes, the young man who stirred controversy and was sent home after his black-fisted salute in the Olympics is thinking of today and his special goal: Running the world's first 100-yard dash in under nine seconds.

CONFIDENT

"If I get a good start tomorrow the record's gonna go," the San Jose State star said after "easing off" and winning his 100-yard heat as the NCAA championships opened yesterday.

"Eight-something's gonna come; and you can quote me on that," Carlos said.

Villanova's Erv Hall, who equalled the world record in the 120-yard high hurdles with a 13.2 clocking, was as surprised about his race as Carlos was brash.

Villanova, paced by Hall's qualification after an injury-plagued season and a trio of milers who also advanced, loomed as top challenger to favored Kansas and San Jose State after one day of action.

EASY RUN

Kansas miler Jim Ryun, running just hard enough to qualify, came from last to first in the last quarter and trotted across the line at 4:03.4.

Asked why he lagged behind, Ryun, who holds the world mark of 3:51.1, said, "I can sprint better the last half than the first half, and in qualifying you don't usually have to worry about controlling the race.

"But I won't be able to do that in the finals."

The only final event held Thursday was the six-mile run, and Frank Shorter of Yale covered the grueling distance in 29.00.2. It was the first time he'd ever run the event.

JAVELIN RECORD

Bill Skinner, a 29-year-old sophomore from host Tennessee, set an NCAA mark in the javelin with a heave of 273 feet, 3 inches.

Besides the featured 100-yard dash, finals were set today in the hammer throw, long jump, shot put, 120-yard high hurdles and 3,000-yard steeplechase.

"Do you want to come into our house for a party?"

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, June 20, the 171st day of 1969 with 194 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1898 the U.S. Navy seized Guam, largest of the Marianas Islands, during the Spanish-American War.

In 1965 veteran statesman, Bernard Baruch, died at the age of 94.

In 1967 the American Independent Party was formed to back George Wallace of Alabama for president.

A thought for the day: Roman playwright Plautus said, "Patience is the best remedy for every trouble."

Cry For Help Goes Unheeded

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Seven persons watched outside a doughtnut shop — but did nothing — as waitress Anita Joseph screamed and tried to fight off a would-be hold-up man.

She finally broke away yesterday from the attacker, who appeared drunk, rushed outside, got into a parked car, and locked the doors.

The intruder, unsuccessful in his efforts to open the cash register, finally fled.

She then reentered the shop and called police.

She told officers she asked one man in the crowd to help her. But he turned, got in his car, and drove away.

"Those people didn't have to get involved," she said. "All they had to do was call police."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Important To Look Sharp Twice To Pull Of Victory

The average bridge player is fully capable of making one good play per hand, but then he may be so busy patting himself on the back that he fails to notice the need for a second good play. Test yourself on today's hand, taken from Victor Mollo's fine new book "How Good Is Your Bridge?"

LEADS SPADE

West opens the king of spades, and you easily survive the first test. Of course you refuse to win this trick. If you took dummy's ace of spades you would have no later entry to the clubs. If you could get only two club tricks you'd have little chance for the game in no-trump.

West continues with the seven of spades, and you win with the queen, saving dummy's ace for later. Now don't sprain your wrist patting yourself on the back. More work is ahead of you.

If you are careless, you take the king and then the queen of clubs. Misery. East discards a diamond on the second club. Now you cannot run the clubs, and you don't have time to bring in the diamonds. When East takes the king of diamonds he knocks out the ace of spades; and when he takes the ace of diamonds he defeats the contract with the rest of the spades.

FAIR WARNING

Since you've been warned, you surely see the winning line of play. Win the second spade with the queen, cash the king of clubs and then lead the queen of clubs.

But don't be content to win the second club with your own queen. Overtake with dummy's ace.

WELL AND GOOD

If the jack happens to fall, well and good. Since it doesn't, lead the ten of clubs to drive out the jack. Now you can return to dummy with the ace of spades to cash the rest of the clubs. No matter what the defenders do, you have five clubs, two spades and two hearts.

ANSWER: Bid 1-no-trump.

This opening bid promises 16 to 18 points in high cards (some experts prefer a range of 15 to 17 points, but most promise 16 to 18), with balanced distribution and strength in at least three suits.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Excellent Merit In Braniff, Iowa Beef

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My husband and I recently purchased Braniff Airways and Iowa Beef Packers as an investment for our children's education. Braniff's stock price has fallen but we believe it has potential. Would you please comment? — R. H.

A. I agree. Earnings recovery appears to be in prospect for Braniff. Some analysts look for $1 a share, up from 58 cents in 1968. First quarter operating revenue and net income rose 13 per cent and 9 per cent, respectively. Updated equipment, new route awards and a growing cargo business will continue to upgrade Braniff's long-range prospects.

Iowa Beef Packers has revitalized methods used in the tradition-bound meat packing industry. Much of the beef processed by Iowa is packaged in serving-sized portions before leaving the cattle-growing country. By eliminating several middlemen between consumer and grower, the company has improved its profit potential.

A temporary order by the Justice Department restraining further action in a planned merger with Blue Ribbon Beef Pack has been lifted. Sales and earnings for the current fiscal year, including Blue Ribbon, should show some improvement over 1968. Both Braniff and Iowa have excellent long-range merit and shares should be retained.

Q. I am in the upper five-figure income bracket and have recently had a will drawn up leaving my estate to my widowed sister and her son. After reading your column on inheritance tax I wonder if I should have placed it in a trust. I understand I can give away $3,000 annually plus a lump sum of $30,000. Any advice you have would be appreciated.

A. Yes. Under the Federal Gift Tax Law, you are allowed to give away tax-free $30,000 in your lifetime. In addition, annual gifts of $3,000, not to exceed $30,000 per person, may be given to as many individuals as you wish. Before you make any commitments you should seek expert advice from an attorney thoroughly versed in estate planning. He would be best qualified to advise you as to the most advantageous method of arranging your financial affairs.

$3.75 Billion Income Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Personal income of Americans rose $3.75 billion in May, the government reported.

The Commerce Department said the May increase equalled April's advance but was about $1 billion less than the average monthly gain in the first three months of the year.

About $2.5 billion of the May increase came from wage and salary boosts while interest payments and Social Security checks increased by $500 million each.

The overall increase pushed personal income to an adjusted annual rate of $735 billion.

Oil Firms In Alaska Dispute

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two giant oil companies are locked in a legal battle over possession of oil lands on Alaska's north slope, it was disclosed yesterday.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. has filed suit against Atlantic Richfield Co. to secure the right to purchase one-half the north slope acreage Atlantic Richfield acquired with the purchase of Sinclair Oil Corp. earlier this year.

Atlantic Richfield disclosed the suit in a preliminary prospectus covering a proposed offering of 1.5 million shares of common stock. Humble filed in the U. S. District Court for the central district of California in Los Angeles.

Humble claimed a 1964 Arctic slope agreement with Sinclair gives it the right to purchase half the Sinclair acreage at the same price Atlantic Richfield paid when it acquired Sinclair.

The lands in contest are not those in Prudhoe Bay on which Humble and Atlantic made discoveries.

Atlantic Richfield said it believes Humble's claim to be without merit and that it will contest the action.

Legal Step

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bangor Punta Corp. says the withdrawal of its motion to dismiss the suit of Chris-Craft Industries Inc., to block the merger of Piper Aircraft Co. into Bangor Punta, is merely a legal step. The company said it had filed an answer to the Chris-Craft complaint and intends to press the matter.

Paris Statement Disturbs Investors; Stocks Tumble

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks tumbled sharply in the final hour today, and shortly before the final bell declines topped advances by more than 2-to-1. Trading was moderately active.

The selling continued to reflect the tight money situation which has pressured the list for more than a month. Also disturbing to investors was a remark from Mme. Nguey Thi Binh, the Viet Cong's chief negotiator at the Vietnam Peace Conference in Paris.

She said peace will come in Vietnam only when the United States withdraws all its troops and "all material." This followed President Nixon's last night statement that more than 260,000 U.S. combat troops could be withdrawn by the end of 1970.

Oils were mixed, although several issues fell from best levels, including Natomas, Clark Oil, Standard of Ohio and Superior.

Electronics showed scattered strength after some sharp losses in the previous session. IBM closed at 312¼, off 1¾, but Xerox was up 2 at 89⅝.

A few chemical issues moved a point or better, but on both sides of previous closings. Du Pont closed at 131 3-4, off 1 3-4.

Nixon Adviser At Hot Dog Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon's consumer adviser put the White House on record yesterday as favoring leaner hot dogs than does the Agriculture Department.

Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer rejected the department's proposal to limit fat in frankfurters to 33 per cent and called for a 30 per cent limit.

Appearing at a department hearing, she also proposed a requirement that processors disclose the ingredients of hot dogs on their package labels, another conflict with the department's views.

The three-day hearing was set up to consider limitation on fat content on federally-inspected cooked sausages.

Research Program

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Monsanto Co. has started a research program under a $127,000 government grant to develop beverages to combat nutritional deficiencies in American diets. Beverages suitable for consumer marketing are the target of the plan.

The acquisitions are Caveman Camper, Inc. of Grants Pass, Ore., and Bell Manufacturing Co., Kalispell, Mont. Value of the transactions, which involve the exchange of Di Giorgio common stock, exceed $3 million.

Meanwhile Di Giorgio will divest itself of all common stock of its restaurant franchising subsidiary, 21 Flags, Inc. to Franchised Food Systems, Inc., Washington, D.C. It will retain an interest in 21 Flags through preferred stock and warrants.

SSI COMPUTER CORP., San Francisco, has effected its merger with Statistics for Management Data Processing Corp., New York, through the formation of ITEL Corp. Common stock of the new corporation has been admitted to trading on the American Stock Exchange and the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange.

Meanwhile the company has announced the purchase of the Islandia Hotel on San Deigo's Mission Bay and plans for many improvements, including a high rise tower.

NATIONAL AIRLINES' net income of $1,441,000 has set a new record for the month of May. Earnings, equal to 17 cents per share, compared with May, 1968 income of $962,000 or 11 cents per share. Operating revenues increased 14.5 per cent from a year ago.

AERO COMMUTER CATALINA AIRLINES, Long Beach, has changed its name to Golden West Airlines, Inc., because it more correctly reflects its statewide operation. The company provides commuter airline service to and from Los Angeles and San Francisco International Airports as well as feeder airline service to and from Central California.

BASALT ROCK CO., Napa, has leased its ready-mix concrete facilities in Santa Rosa to the Santa Rosa Building Materials Co. Within the last several months the plant has been extensively revamped and electronically automated.
